|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Haines' Southeast Store.  But Keenan Bros.  Gents' furnishers.  Gents' furnisher.  Gents'  | ercy  | NAME.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | BUSINESS.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LOCATION.                         |
| Keenan Bros. Gents' furnishers 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n. w Gents' furnisher 708 Seventh street n. w. Hufus H. Darby. Printer 508 Fourteenth street n. w. P. B. Anderson Printer 512 Tenth street n. w. P. B. Anderson Printer 512 Tenth street n. w. P. B. Anderson Printer 512 Tenth street n. w. Printer 1108 E street n. w. N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory) Kraft & Sons. Bakers Eighteenth and Penna. aven. e. w. E. Gundershiemer Baker 516 Second street n. w. and stall in Center Market. The Cry's Mangan. Horseshoer L street, bet. 16th and 17th n. w. John H Fitzgerald Horseshoer L street, bet. 16th and 17th n. w. John H Fitzgerald Horseshoer At Plorida ave and Third st. n. e. Wilbur F. Nash Meat dealer Center and O st. Markets. Co. E. Hencke Sheets & Miller Electrician Tinner 2008 H street n. w. Louis A. Dieter Paperhanger and decorator National Mosaic Company Mosaics. 207 Fourth st. n. w. Li Grosner Clothing Harber Shoet Sheets Waters Carriage Builder Fourteenth and D streets n. w. A. H. McGhan. Painter and contractor Street n. w. Corus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter Carriage Builder Goston Steam Laundry Laundry Agl to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric to. Street Railway Gity and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | not   | THE RESERVE ASSESSMENT OF THE PARTY OF THE P | THE RESIDENCE OF THE PARTY OF T |                                   |
| B. Solomon Rufus H. Darby Printer 508 Fourteeth street n.w. For Pinter 508 Fourteeth street n.w. For Printer 1108 E street n.w. For Printer 1108        | But   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| Rufus H. Darby                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | has   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| unty y, he did he cy's nov- The ngly have Left of Sons.  Capet dealer. John H Fitzgerald Horseshoer.  Horsesh | 4 40  | Rufus H. Darby                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Printer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                   |
| N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory) I he                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | it to |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| A he kraft & Sons. Bakers Eighteenth and Penna. ave n.w. E. Gundershiemer. Baker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | unty  | H. L. McQueen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Printer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                   |
| E. Gundershiemer. Baker. 516 Second street n.w. and stall in Center Market.  Peter Grogan Carpet dealer. 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. J. Mangan. Horseshoer L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. Horseshoer 443 Prather's alley n.w. S. S. Daish. Coal and wood Florida ave and Third st. n.e. Ce Hencke Electrician 711 G street n.w. Sheets & Miller Electrician 804 E street n.w. Sheets & Miller Electrician 804 E street n.w. Louis A. Dieter Paperhanger and decorator National Mosaic Company Mosaics 277 Fourth st. n.w.  I. Grosner Clothing 914 F st. and 803 Market Space M. Minster. Gents' furnisher 187 st. n.w. A. H. McGhan. Painter and contractor 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w. Charles Walters Carriage Builder. Fourteenth and D streets n.w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Boston Steam Laundry Laundry 491 to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric co. Street Railway 419 and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | . ho  | N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Cigar manufacturer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                   |
| Carpet dealer   Sin Center Market                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |       | E Gundershiemer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| Peter Grogan Carpet dealer Street n.w. L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. Horseshoer L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. Horseshoer St. S. Daish. Coal and wood Florida ave and Third st. n.e. Center and O. St. Markets. Center and O. St. Markets. St. Daish Street n.w. Solets & Miller Electrician St. Solets & Miller Street n.w. Solets & Street n.w. Solets & Miller Street n.w. Solets & Street n.w. Solets & Miller Street n.w. Solets Street n.w. Solets & Street n.w. Solets & Miller Street n.w. Solets St | d he  | is. Guidershiemer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Daker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                   |
| J. Mangan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | cu'e  | Peter Grogan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Carpet dealer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                   |
| The wilbur F. Nash Meat dealer Center and O st. Markets.  C. E. Hencke Electrician Til G street n.w. Sheets & Miller Electrician 804 E street n.w. Louis A. Dieter Paperhanger and decorator National Mosaic Company Mosaics.  Old A. H. McGhan Gents' furnisher 187 st. n.w.  A. H. McGhan Painter and contractor Charles Walters Carriage Builder Fourteenth and D streets n.w. Cyrus B. Reese Employing steamfitter Cyrus B. Reese Employing steamfitter Carbon Steam Laundry Laundry Wash. Traction & Electric Co.  Sheets & Miller Electrician 804 E street n.w. Charles Walters Gents' furnisher 1872 st. n.w. Street National Mosaic Company Mosaics 207 Fourth st. n.w. Size | -     | J. Mangan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Horseshoer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. |
| Wilbur F. Nash   Meat dealer   Center and O st. Markets.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | nov-  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Horseshoer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 443 Prather's alley n.w.          |
| ngly have  C. E. Hencke Sheets & Miller Sheets & Miller Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company I. Grosner Old A. Minster Charles Walters Charles Malters Walter N. Walters Walter N. Walters Walter N. Walt | The   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| Sheets & Miller   Electrician   804 E street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| have Louis A. Bennett Tinner 2008 H street n.w. Ye street northwest. National Mosaic Company Mosaics. 207 Fourth st. n.w. L. Grosner Clothing 914 F st. and 803 Market Space M. Minster 914 F st. and 803 Market Space Gents' furnisher 1343 % st. n.w. A. Minster Gents' furnisher 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w. Charles Walters Carriage Builder Fourteenth and D streets n.w. Cyrus B. Reese Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Cyrus B. Reese Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Boston Steam Laundry Laundry 491 to 499 C street n. w. Tolman Steam Laundry Laundry 491 to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Street Railway City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | ngly  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| Louis A. Dieter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | nave  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| National Mosaic Company. Mosaics. 207 Fourth st. n.w. I. Grosner. Clothing. 914 F st. and 803 Market Space M. Minster. Gents' furnisher. 1343 F st. n.w. A. H. McGhan. Painter and contractor 817 E st. n.w. A. Minster. Gents' furnisher. 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w. Charles Walters. Carriage Builder. Fourteenth and D streets n.w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Boston Steam Laundry. Laundry. First and G streets n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Street Railway. City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | lave  | Louis A Dieter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| old A. H. McGhan. Painter and contractor 817 E st. n.w. A. Minster. Gents' furnisher 813 E st. n.w. A. Minster Gents' furnisher 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w. Charles Walters Carriage Builder. Fourteenth and D streets n.w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Boston Steam Laundry. Laundry. First and G streets n. w. Tolman Steam Laundry. Laundry. 491 to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Street Railway. City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
| old A. H. McGhan. Painter and contractor 817 E st. n.w. A. Minster. Gents' furnisher. 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w. Charles Walters. Carriage Builder. Fourteenth and D streets n.w. Cyrus B. Reese. Contracting painter. 609 G street n. w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. Cyrus B. Steam Laundry. Laundry. First and G streets n. w. Laundry. First and G streets n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Street Railway. City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |       | I. Grosner                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Clothing                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                   |
| A. Minster Gents' furnisher. 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w. Charles Walters Carriage Builder. Fourteenth and D streets n. w. Contracting painter. 609 G street n. w. Cyrus B. Reese. Employing steamfitter 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. C. A. Schneider & Sons. Union Iron Works. 212 Twelfth street n. w. Boston Steam Laundry. Laundry. First and G streets n. w. Tolman Steam Laundry. Laundry. 491 to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Street Railway. City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Gents' furnisher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1343 F st. n.w.                   |
| Charles Walters  Carriage Builder  A. Markward  Contracting painter  609 G street n. w.  Cyrus B. Reese  Employing steamfitter  1519 Fourteenth and D streets n. w.  1519 Fourteenth street n. w.  1519 Fourteenth street n. w.  1519 Fourteenth street n. w.  1519 Fourteenth and D streets n. w                   | old   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 817 E st. n.w.                    |
| A. Markward                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |       | A. Minster                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w.     |
| Sure C. A. Schneider & Sons. Union Iron Works. 212 Twelfth street n. w. |       | A Markward                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Fourteenth and D streets n.w.     |
| Sure C. A. Schneider & Sons. Union Iron Works. 212 Twelfth street n. w. Boston Steam Laundry. Laundry. First and G streets n. w. Tolman Steam Laundry. Laundry. 491 to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Street Railway. City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | and   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 1510 Fourteenth street n. W.      |
| Boston Steam Laundry Laundry First and G streets n. w. Tolman Steam Laundry Laundry 491 to 499 C street n. w. Wash. Traction & Electric Co Street Railway City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Sura  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 212 Twelfth street n. W.          |
| Wash. Traction & Electric Co Street Railway Gity and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Sure  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | First and G streets n. w.         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |       | Tolman Steam Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 491 to 499 C street n. w.         |
| ans- Lansburgh & Brother Dry Goods                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                   |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ans-  | Lansburgh & Brother                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Dry Goods                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 420 to 428 Seventh street n. w.   |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | The state of the s |                                   |

Union Directory.

To Secretaries: Please notify this office of | Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No any change in officers' addresses, time or place of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

American Federation of Labor—Headquar-ters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'lGompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary.

International Association of Machinists, Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson, vice-president and editor of the Journal; George Preston, Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple. C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street north-west. Residence, 166 I street norrhwest.

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest. Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America, Division No. 161, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight, alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street northeast.

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Mon-day evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I imalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Local No. 148, meets every Thursday evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo.Bakersmith, Secretary, 3315 Brightwood avenue northwest.

Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local Union No. 102, meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. J. A. Daly, Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street northwest.

Rakers Union, No. 118, meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street south-meets first and third "hursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast. Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p. m. at 430 Eighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310 Seventh street southwest.

Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

A. D. Manger, Secretary, 230 Seventh street courtheast.

Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tuesday in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Capitol street. Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest. H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-

Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers, Local Union, No. 368, meets every Friday night at 43. Eighth street north-west. John L. cochran, Secretary, 510 E st.

northwest.

Carriage and Wagon Workers' International
Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204
Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor.
Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jerue northwest.

Sey avenue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. W. H. Robertson, Secretary, 507 Eleventh street northwest.

Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C street northwest William L. Hageman, Secretary.

Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers,

Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bieligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. Local Branch, No. 28, N. A. meets every Friday at 8 o'clock p m, at 922 Pennsylvania thenry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton

Ridge Road Station A.

sociation of Machinists, meets first and third Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest. Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett, Secretary. Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E. meets second and fourth West.

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E. meets second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 609 F street northwest.

Only West.

Only Secretary. 40 Fenton streets northwest. Thos Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local Union No 190, meet every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth street northwest, top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secretary. 936 Fourth street northwest. top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secretary. 936 cach month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, Secretary. 939 G street southwest

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E. meets second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 609 F street northwest.

Washington Branch in the Secretary of Secretary, 1306 Riggs street northwest.

Washington Branch in the Secretary of Secretary 1306 Riggs street northwest.

fourth street northwest. Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second and fourth Saturday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, 117

Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a.m., at Union Veterans' Hall. 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C. Egloff Secretary, 614 Sixth street sou hwest. Fraternal Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers meet every Thursday evening, at 80 clock. Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. S. J. Foreman, Secretary, 2223 Cleveland avenue northwest.

Monday evenings in each month at Cadet Armory, 708 O street northwest. Denn Brown, Secretary, 1237 Fourth street north west.
International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No.
5, meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.
Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac

International Brotherhood of Electrical

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 25, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secretary, 200 E street northwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. W. T. Malloy, Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Tuesday night at 8 p. m., at Bessler's Hall, 922 Pa. ave. northwest. H. Tolson, Secretary, 310 Thirteenth street southwest.

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Setters', Association, No. 3255 meets first and Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Setters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Secretary, 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers—Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Recording Secretary, 335 C street southwest.

Iron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, meets 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall, corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secretary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest.

Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meets first and third Wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest. Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17, meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E street northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Local Union, No. 17 meets first enorthwest.

street northwest.
ourneyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters'
Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary, 3122 Dum-west. A. E. Anderson, Secretary. 3122 Dumbarton avenue northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters'
Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Cos
tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest.

Joseph Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place
northwest.

Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161 meet every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth National Alliance Theatrical Stage Em

ployes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. John A. Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box

424, Station G. Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street

Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast.
Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee. Sectary, 1122 I street southeast.
Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first
Wednesday in the month at Tynogrophical

Wednesday in the month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts, Secretary, Kensington, Md.
Pipe Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets every Thursday night at 1208 E street northwest.
A. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street northwest.

Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets firs Finding Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets first Saturday of each month at Typographical Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Emil Petersen, Secretary. 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w. Plate Printers Union, No. 2, meets at Macabee Temple, Ninth street northwest, the third Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secretary, 717 Seventh street northeast.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street northwest.

Steam Fitters, R. A Lanis Association, L. B. No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gaut, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1407 Sixth street northwest

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International As- Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos

No. 42, meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 Q

Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

National Capital Brews

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-~

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293. Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. BOOTS AND SHOME.

CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand

52 H Street Northwest. CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755.

J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO.,

458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W.

PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts. FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH. Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W. TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO.

412 5th St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest.

SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest. between L and M. GROCERIES. "Good things to eat." PAGE,
1210 F St. N.W

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . . 322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest. LUMBER AND MILL WORK.

THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST.

All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO. (Late Ryneal's), 418 7th St. N. W

PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W

FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180. TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND.

WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.

1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O. HARDWARE AND TOULS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS. Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W. FIRE INSURANCE.

FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY. Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave. RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E

HATTERS AND FURRILES. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON.

37 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

See our $2 and $3 Hats.

TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest.

Eight Branch Stores. ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 20.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Removed From Unfair List.

Report-Credentials Received.

weekly session at Typographical Temple Monday night, President Feeney presiding.

Many organizations were represented by their delegates.

Credentials were received from the Pipe Coverers' Union certifying Charles Williams, Charles Tount, H. Burch, G. E. Young, and H. Angelo; from Retail Clerks certifying George A. Mc-Cathran and E. A. Bachrach, vice Misses Beattie and Berry, resigned; from Washington Lodge, No. 193, of Machinists certifying W. G. Cleveland; from Bookbinders, No. 4, certifying John A. Weidman, vice Edward Wagner, resigned; from R. A. Lanis Association of Steam Fitters certifying Har- since that unhappy incident. vey T. Rogers and George Mertzler; certifying H. J. Wells, E. F. Miller, C. exercise the right of franchise. L. Hickman, J. L. Dorsey, and W. F. Coggins; from Sheet Metal Workers the Feeders' Union certifying William Devine.

Many communications were received and the matters referred to the Griev

The communication of Amalgamated Meat Cutters was referred to the Contract Committee.

the Cigar Makers' Union.

The firm of Lansburgh & Bro. was of Kraft & Sons, bakers. Communications were received from property on M street northwest.

American Bonding Company, Pattern Makers, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Railway Carmen of America, of Labor, and Treasury Department, Galveston during the cyclone of one which were read and placed on file. Many unions reported the placing of a fine upon their membership who patronized the Washington Traction and Electric street railway.

The firm of Minster furnishers, were placed upon the unfair list.

The following communication was received from President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24, 1901, Labor Union.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER-I was communicated with by Hon. James F. Walsh, Secretary of the William McKinley National Memorial Arch Association, Kellog Building, Wash-ington, D. C., who informed me that I as the most feasible of any submitted. had been selected as a member of the Executive Committee of the Association; that I had been appointed chairman of the Committee on Labor and that I was requested to select such associates upon this committee as I might desire, and I have taken the liberty of suggesting your name. proval. Permit me to suggest that you address a note to Mr. Walsh, advising him of your acceptance of the appoint-I should be pleased to hear light. from you in regard to the matter.

Fraternally yours, SAM'L GOMPERS, President A. F. of L.

The Referendum Vote.

Chicago Union No. 16 gave the following majorities on the proposed at a distance may safely return to the amendments to the International Con- lower cut style by a story or two and

4. For, 629; 5. Against, 52; 6. For, to whom it may concern. 276; 7. For, 551; 8. For, 561; 9. For, 464; 10. For, 464; 11. For, 251; 12. For, 662; 13. For, 125.

Baltimore Union's majorities on same 113; 12. For, 180; 13. For, 165.

Printers to Dance.

The Entertainment Committee of Columbia Typographical Union is busily engaged arranging for a big en-Lansburg & Bro. and Kraft & Sons tertainment and dance on Monday, Novembey 25, at National Rifles' Armory. Those who attended the last one given by these people will recall MINSTER & PATERSON UNFAIR presented on that occasion, also the dance which followed.

The program, which has not yet been Many Communications Received-Action of completed, already contains the names Central Body Indorsed in Street Railway of some of the best talent in the city, Matter-Grievance Committee Receives among them Prof. Jasper Dean McFall, Many Cases-The Excursion Committee baritone; Mrs. Joseph Chunn, soprano; Miss Isabel Shelton, charactor songs; Miss Marie Hodgson, "endurance' toe dancer; Prof. G. W. Harvel, auto-The Central Labor Union met in malist; W. H. Conley, humorist; Lafayette Stock Company, and Thomas J. Quigley, tenor.

music for dancing. Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Specification Notes.

and Smalley each and severally are on and work in one town, and its business "It is a great mistake to suppose

Buffalo on her return trip from St. are subordinate organizations, more or each member by the day or by the way back in the peanut gallery ever are the "chapels" of the printers, the same performance. A very large

Thirteen of Uncle Sam's patriots from Paperhangers and Decorators from this room start for home to-day to > which go with a hack ride are the essantial features.

A white object was sighted from the rear region of F street yesterday and certifying Max Wolfsteiner, and from all the old spavs removed their glasses for long range.

The Marinelli matter was referred to the civil service examiners which sets the head whirling.

Tom Collins has said good-bye to his The firm of Lansburgh & Blo. was also that placed on the fair list as was also that placed on the fair list as was also that summer residence at Langdon and time been making to establish an allignment with the favor of any labor organ. taken possession of his magnificent

Mrs. Clara Bennett, of Texas, began probationary period yesterday. I undertand that Mrs. Bennett has toured Kernan Theatre, American Federation the South quite extensively and was in > fishing down in North Carolina with ooo; Plasterers, 7,000; Stonecutters, unions as those of the printers and the this District can scarcely be distinguished by the full control of their local affairs. hook baited with minnows he landed a hook baited with minnows he landed a loo, Flasterers, 7,000; Box Makers, 5,500; Piano iron molders the faster and more skill-guished from any of the un-American and more skill-guished from any of the un-American could or can have a properly regrifted duck. It rather looks as if there was Workers, 7,700; Engineers, marine, ful men sometimes get wages materito be a contest between Steve and old 6,000; Engineers, locomotive, 37,000; ally above the union rate. man Rogers, who originally was a tar Firemen, locomotive, 39,000; Couducheel and is an expansionist in the line tors, railway, 25,800; Trainmen, rail- modern conditions of production have der the new rules in a manner which unenumerated organizations, say, 191,- many unions not only look back to it Mr. C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary Central shows that the scheme for a more equal distribution of "phat" was well thought out and understood by him oldest national labor organization exist. tions. A considerable number of before it was submitted for approval. The scheme originated with him some Slug 60 had an experience yesterday which confirms the generally-expressed may possibly, however, be as old or appears. Some of the stronger unions opinion that one may always find just older. It had an established position are able, however, to maintain somewhat is wanted in The Trades Union. and a regularly published official thing like it by their own power. They ist. In some way a sheet of copy was journal by 1857, but the date of its provide that an apprentice shall agree form of Government; "a Government races would probably be eliminated as It seems to inclosed in the fold of the paper taken origin is not known. The United Sons to stay with an employer for a fixed of the people, and for voters. me that this would meet with your aphome, but afterwards found. The man who neglects to subscribe for a paper the Amalgamated Association of Iron, who neglects to subscribe for a paper the Amalgamated Association of Iron, term is up he shall not be permitted to such a Government Abraham Lincoln, radically changed for the better, a reof this kind simply stands in his own

The scheme allowing heads to go around by slugs, and which is now a week old, is working its way into the The Excursion Committee made their confidence of all concerned. Those who were in the habit of wearing high collars to conceal necks abnormally lengthened from an overweaning desire to know the contents of the copy-box dispose of their stock of rubber with-1. For, 172; 2. For, 617; 3. For, 443; out regrets at falling market from all

CYCLE.

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscrip- since 1834. as follows: 1. Against, 161; 2. For, tion solicitor at this office; one who is

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONERS

Make an Interesting and Valuable Re- tion in which a somewhat high degree Cogent Reasons Why Such Condiport Upon Labor Organizations.

Weapon of Labor.

present conditions and historical de- ing the fidelity of members and collectvelopment of trade and labor organiza- ing their dues, and in the gaining of Haley's superb orchestra will furnish tions. We quote below some of the recruits from among non-union men of principal paragraphs which may be of the trade. The office of business agent general interest to organized labor:

Huntsberry, Ball, Stull, Armstrong, union includes only members who live part in the building trades. is done by vote of all the members, that the standard rate of the labor Miss Burke will visit Niagara and meeting in one place. Sometimes there organization means a uniform wage for Austin telescopes himself or goes ployed in single establishments. Such form compensation to all members for which long antedate any more formal proportion of the trades unions secure organization of the craft, and the 'shop this uniformity of compensation by meetings' of many other trades. It means of piecework prices. In that often happens that workers in a place case the recognition of superior skill where no local union of their trade and speed is automatic. When the exists attach themselves to the nearest, circumstances of the trade and the though they may not be able to take experience of the members make time part in its ordinary deliberations.

Miss Regan stopped long enough in trade unions are bound together in the usual method is to adopt a minimum Niagara to learn that the etcetras great federal organization, the Ameri- price, below which no member of the can Federation of Labor. In one or union is allowed to work. Barringer has at his tongue's end a certain purposes among small numbers might undertake a classification of its mathematical proposition submitted by of national unions in related trades. members according to their efficiency, The International Typographical Union, and the establishment of a series of for some years maintained a 'tripartite of which each member should be mate of the aggregate membership of of rates above the fixed minimum, and 950,000; Custom Clothing Makers, 3,800; mum wage is the actual wage of practi-Steve Poole tells the story that while Lithographers, 2,100; Bricklayers, 39,- cally all the men; but in such strong 000. Total, 1,400,000.

Cigar Makers' Union in 1864.

'Local unions had preceded the not be permitted to replace him.

States. The local body has power to do anything which is not specifically forbidden in the national constitution. The local union offers only one posiof specialized executive ability may sometimes be developed. That is the position of the business agent, or, as he with pleasure the splendid program UNIONS ADMIRABLY GOVERNED used to be called, the walking delegate. REMARKS OF SENATOR BLAIR But even he is usually elected for six months only, and, while he may be The Early Formations of Unions-Uniform re-elected, and may even hold the place Wages Not the Standard Rate-No Clas- for several terms, it is not the general sification According to Efficiency-The disposition of the unions to make his Apprentice System-The Boycott as a position permanent. The business agent is the representative of the union in dealing with the employers, to get redress of grievances, and to see that The Industrial Commission has union rules are kept; in finding work issued a very interesting report of for unemployed members; in maintainexists in only a minority of locals. A "Among American trade unionists local must have considerable strength Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. Pigs' crubeens. three types of trade union are formally before it can afford the expense, and in recognized—the local, the national and many trades the need is hardly felt. the international. The typical local The office plays an especially large ress formal, composed of members em- week. The standard rate means a uniwages seem the more effective means "The great majority of the national of maintaining the standard rate, the two instances there are alliances for "It may seem as if the union itself the pressmen and the bookbinders have daily and or weekly rates, to some one

"The unions very rarely, if ever, con-"The following gives a rough esti-

ing in the United States. The conven- national organizations urge their memtion out of which the International bers to strive for some action of the Typographical Union has grown was state which shall promote the formal held on December 2, 1850. The indenture of apprentices. It is believed national association of the stonecutters that such indenturing hardly anywhere an apprentice without good reason shall carpenters of New York city in 1866. It is not known, however, how far the purposes and methods of these societies and regard the tendency of the courts from that portion of the earth within duence. carpenters of New York city in 1806, minded and most conservative of the unions. A union of tailors is said to have been formed in 1806, and one of rulers. The right to deal or to refrain hatters in 1819. The Baltimore union from dealing with whomsoever he of printers claims to have existed since pleases, and for any reason which may 1831; the Newark union of stonecutters appeal to him, is, they say, one of the most elementary rights of a free citizen. But if one man may select the persons "Each local union, even when subor- he will deal with, two or a million may as follows: 1. Against, 161; 2. For, tion solicitor at this office; one who is dinate to a national organization, is a legal resident males over 21 solicitor at this office; one who is dinate to a national organization, is a do so. The boycott is simply a common the refusal on the part of a number of legal resident males over 21 solicitor at this office; one who is dinate to a national organization, is a do so. The boycott is simply a common the reason that it is contrary and false 95; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, need apply. References or ability must self-government unit. Its theoretical refusal on the part of a number of tions Should Exist.

SUFFRAGE FOR THE DISTRICT

The Different Forms of Government Defined-The Present Form of Government Contrary to Principles of American Liberty-Reply to Mr. Bloomer-About 67,-000 Voters in District.

Shall "a Government of the people, by the people, and for the people"the only form of Government in harmony with our institutions and our professions of love for the glorious principles of universal liberty-be re-established in the Capital of the Republic, is a question now agitating the minds of thousands of patriotic American citi-

That the present form of Government for the District of Columbia is unrepublican, undemocratic, un-American, is conceded, even by its most ardent and interested defenders.

Commissioner Macfarland, in his able address on "District Day" at Buffalo on September 3, said that "it is an exception to all other Governments in the United States in that it provides for taxation without representation, and is autocratic in form. * * * The Government of the District of Columbia is, therefore, admittedly the best in the United States, because it is a Government by the best citizens."

Webster's definition of autocracy is supreme, uncontrolled, unlimited au-

Aristocracy he defines as "Government by the best citizens; a privileged class; those who are regarded as superior to the rest of the community, as in rank, fortune, or intellect."

Government in which the supreme dition of affairs that the residents of power is lodged in the hands of the the District of Columbia have no word time been making to establish an allimeet with the favor of any labor organich; also a controlling or influential the only spot of American soil, except class of rich men."

Oligarchy he defines as "a form of sions, so conditioned." the labor organizations of the United manifestations of a feeling hostile to persons "-three Commissioners, for ritories have legislatures elected by States on July 1, 1901: Unions affiliated such higher rates seem to be compara-instance, who owe their official posiwith the American Federation of Labor, tively rare. In most unions the mini-forms above defined.

"Considering how thoroughly the Government Webster defines as "a true American could be opposed to it. road, 46,000; Switchmen, 15,000; Letter destroyed the old apprentice system in Government in which the supreme box so hedged about as to make the Chairman Gutelius is proceeding un- Carriers, 15,000; Knights of Labor and most trades it is surprising to see how power is retained and directly exercised alleged misgovernment of thirty years by the people; * * * a State in ago impossible of repetition." with longing, but retain expressions of which the sovereign power resides in In reply to this permit me to call his "The printers have perhaps the desire for it in their written constituenth the whole body of the people, and is attention to the fact that thirty years ty hem; a Commonwealth."

or beneficial in the Capital of a free a large proportion of them are as well institutions-a Democratic-Republican lot. Besides, the illiterates of both of Vulcan, one of the predecessors o term, and that if he leaves before the the people." To the preservation of Steel and Tin Workers, was formed in work at the trade under the jurisdiction in his immortal address on the battle-1858, the Iron Molders' Union of North of the union. It is sometimes provided field of Gettysburg, declared that the ago would be impossible. America in 1859, and the National also that an employer who discharges American people should be dedicated that they should "highly resolve that in improving the city from 1870 to 1878 national by nearly half a century. The "There is probably no union man, new birth of freedom, and that the minded person (and I count my friend New York Society of Journeymen Ship-however, who doubts the legitimacy of Government of the people, by the Bloomer in that class) that the debt he wrights is said to have been incorpor- the boycott as a weapon of labor, or people, and for the people, by the refers to was piled up by and under perish from the earth."

the boundary lines of the District of Columbia-" the seat of Government' surface where there should not only be a republican Government, but a model States and 3,300 unnaturalized foreignform of such Government?

The present form of Government in 162; 3. For, 195, 4. For, 195, 5. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 182; 8. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 195; 6. For, 96; 7. For, 195; 9. For, 195; menace to free Government eyery- men.

where-an ulcer on the heart of the body politic, the only antidote for which is a mixture of liberty, freedom, and self-government.

Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, in a speech in the Senate urging the reestablishment of a republican form of Government in this District, said:

It would be supposed that the Governmen of the United States would be administere in the republican form; that the Capital of the foremost Republic on the face of the earth, that one spot exclusively under it control, would itself be a model republic without the trace of despotism or of aris corracy; that such a community would illustrate in the highest possible form the practical workings and the superior blessings of a democratic and representative form of Government; that in such a specific locality

nrse. * * *

I venture to say that no act of more stuendous and dangerous inconsistency [the everthrow of local self-government in the fational Capital in 1874] has ever been perentrated by the logislative power of any

National Capital in 1874] has ever been perpetrated by the legislative power of any free people in violation of the principle of their own form of Government since the foundation of the world.

This is no trifling matter, and I verily believe that it constitutes a drop of poison in the heart of the Republic, which, if left without its antidote, will spread virus through that circulation which is the life of our liberties. * * * our liberties. * * * * What shall be the future of this puissant Nation and of this her fair Capital wherein we have already planted the seeds of an un-appy fate? However grateful the shade in which these agnificent distances are embowered, yet an must remember that the upas tree is a magnificent distances are embowered, yet we must remember that the upas tree is a thing of beauty, and it is time to know whether it be the tree of liberty or of political slavery which was planted here when popular Government was subverted in 1871 and the foul work consummated by legislative rape of the rights of man in this alleged temple of liberty in 1878.

In discussing this question in the last issue of THE TRADES UNIONIST, Mr. Plutocracy he defines as "a form of Bloomer said: "It is an anomalous conthe Territories and the new possespower is placed in the hands of a few ently, overlooked the fact that the Terselves, and all cities and towns in the The present form of Government in Territories have self-government and could or can have a properly restricted A Democratic or Republican form of franchise here, I do not see how any Government by the people; a form of But for one I should want the ballot exercised by representatives elected ago 95 per cent or more of the colored voters were illiterate and that now 75 Which of these forms of Government | per cent of the males of that race over would be most becoming or desirable 21 years of age can read and write, and people? It would seem that there can educated as are the whites; and, furbe but one reply to this question from ther, that if suffrage was restored here those who sincerely love Republican it would undoubtedly be by secret bal-

Therefore, the conditions having so

In regard to the immense debt created forms of Goyernment administered by fluence.

An analysis of the last census bul--that 69 square miles of the earth's letin shows that, after deducting 6,000 (estimated) residents who vote in the born residents, with suffrage limited by a reasonable educational test, there would be about 67,000 voters in the

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON ..... A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION

Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifledly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as proached her and asked: by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-John Wanamaker. Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

-GLADSTONE. When you pay more for the rent of your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known,

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

S.") Sutton, and Percy Rhodes.

Many who read of the death of Dr. William Geddes, which occurred on about the lady's appearance that was October 21, will remember him as a compositor in the G. P. O. some twentyodd years ago. At that time he studied Philadelphia circumstance before remedicine and later on he secured an appointment in the Paymaster General's Office, U. S. Army, as clerk, which he the kids back to where their mothers held until the day of his death. He was noted among his fellow-employes as a particularly obliging, accommodating man and his active benevolence in the relief of cases of distress was so well known and so marked as to call for mention in newspaper announcements of his death. I do not know that he ever entered upon the active practice of medicine.

Dr. Richard A. Kingsman, who was a compositor at the same time, began and was for some years a clerk in the Surgeon General's Office (I think), is now one of the most popular physicians | Jenkins. in Washington. Dr. "Dick" practiced for a time outside of his clerical hours, and had about all he could do. One asked. day Mrs. Kingsman said :

"Dick, you are never at home a minute, day or night, and I'm getting will it be?"

a dignified exponent of a great and mornings," I suggested. learned profession, and then said:

bait, eh? Well, I'll chuck the office he retorted, impatiently. job. There's more boodle in listening to people's complaints and worries than there is in straightening out army em piece-brace without using ensurgeon's reports, and there is more dashes?" asked H. Y. Brooke, the satisfaction in ordering patients around other evening. than there is in taking orders from those with a bigger pull than I have. So cession for me to make. that's settled.

years about equal to the salaries of a them in this way: ---, which, couple of Cabinet ministers, he isn't you see, when closed up, makes a foursorry he made his choice the way he em or four line brace: did. He is located on East Capitol apprentice in a country office down in street in a magnificent big house and Alabama showed me how to do it. I he never worries whether he'll have asked him how he discovered it. 'Why, money enough to pay rent.

* * * * and Suburban Street Railway Company (by whatever names it may be known in its different ramifications) might possibly bring it to a reasonable frame of Pike statue I met Andrew Keiner there, mind, and it seems disposed to deserve smooth shaved except his mustache. it. The discharge of the president of the organization of employes on the woods, Andy?" I asked. charge of talking to a motorman who was on duty deserves contempt as a in my lodge the other night and I under Rhoderick there must be a mismiserable subterfuge. His real offense wanted to give the grand officers some take somewhere. was being president of the union, for show, so off they came," he replied. on fifty occasions I have seen unemployed motormen and conductors talk- of the sacrifice?" I asked. ing to a motorman in charge of a car.

The refusal of the company to recog- was something clean-cut and whole- friends congratulate him on giving up Bohemia.

nize the union by receiving committees some about our lodge, and I suppose therefrom is practically a refusal to re- that meant me," he said. ceive them as the attorneys of the employes and to recognize them as such. If we have occasion to enter on a boy- other evening. cott, let us do it right and teach these Editors. people that there are some rights that story from your pen?" I asked tremthey shall respect.

* * "That reminds me," said Billy Brockwell. "Some years ago I was in Phila-One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 delphia, standing on a busy corner, when I noticed a lady, with a basket kindly, noticing my agitation. "But and two children, crying bitterly. Now, not a line of it is written yet. Howyou know I could never bear to see a woman suffering without doing my best expansive brow. to relieve her, no matter what may be the nature of her trouble. So I ap-

"'Madam, you seem to be in distress. What is the matter?'

"'Oh,' she said, still weeping, 'I've side of the city, and I haven't got a they have formed of me.' cent of money, and with this big basket and these children I can't walk home.'

" What amount of money will it take to get you home?' I asked, my heart swelling up in me as big as an ox's.

" 'Fifteen cents,' she answered. "I gave her the money and she dried her comfortably aboard, with all her business house than for advertising your impediments, I walked down the street devising in my mind the best way to forget all about the circumstance. I way from this city to Philadelphia, with answered. my family, when a lady with several Death of Dr. William Geddes-Dr. "Dick" children entered the car as we neared Kingsman-Shall We Boycott the City that city and seated themselves in adand Suburban ?-A Few Interviews with joining seats. Her children and mine Billy Brockwell, Zach Jenkins, H. Y. having scraped an acquaintance, I took compartment, it being about my time down fine now." for a smoke. There was something familiar, but as I was suffering a little with brain jag from trying to forget the were, and as I approached the stranger they do; but they don't know why I wish them much happiness in their lady was recounting to my wife the fifteen cent incident, for it was the very same lady." "Did she return you the 15 cents?"

"Oh, no," said Brocky, wearily; "I told you this was in Philadelphia. But she gave one of my boys a red apple was monarch of the region round. out of her basket."

"The action of the Union in declaring, as a definition, that everything to the study of medicine with Dr. Geddes, smoke is a cigar that is not a pipe or a cigarette, while apparently a little And when he backward did repair drastic, is good legislation," said Zach Saw Rhoderick seated in his chair.

> "But does it not encroach on the domain of the dictionary maker?" I

"As how?" he queried in return.

"Well, take what Charlie Otis drysmokes, those rolled-up crimes that tired of it. Now, you've got to give up Hambright chews, or even those your clerkship or your practice. Which tobacco-habit-curers with which you and Jimmy Ross destroy nature's odors city last Saturday. He reports a profit-Dick pondered a moment, as becomes as we wend our way homeward of

"I don't know of any law that re-"It's up to me, is it? It's fish or cut quires cigars to be made of tobacco,"

* * * * "Do you know how to make a four-

I admitted that I didn't-a large con-

"Well, I'll show you," he said. As he has had an income for several "Take four end-pieces and arrange

I had to have a four-em brace, and I

On the day of the unveiling of the matters.

"Yes, 'Rhoda Roland' has run her I think it is a right every man has to course, the curtain has fallen, and the do his business by an attorney and to play is over," said that noted printerdelegate his personal powers to others. litterateur, Henry S. Sutton, to me the

"But we will soon have another

"Possibly," he answered, with manifest ennui, "but not immediately." "Not soon?" I queried, my heart sinking into my patent leathers. "Maybe by Christmas," he answered ever, the plot is all here," tapping his

"That assures the story," I said, perhaps too openly showing my admiration. "Something of Washington life again?"

"Perhaps," he replied; "but on even a higher plane than 'Rhoda Rolost my transfers and it is seventeen land.' At any rate I shall not disap- Thornton's Shoe Store, miles to where I live, on the other point my friends nor change the opinion "That I am sure were impossible," I said, and with a wave of the hand he signified that the interview was over.

"There are few who know Washington as I know it," said Percy Rhodes, her tears and waited for a street car at ties around his fingers, "and none who as he nonchalantly twisted yellow twen-

"You have peculiar facilities for analyzing it?" I suggested.

"One can not know a city by living suppose I would eventually have done simply in one place, relying on his race is concerned. Judging from the so, but a year or two ago I was on my daily walks for his knowledge," he great number who have under advise-in that way?" I asked.

me," he answered. "I want to know the prospective candidates from this the details of every street, square, and room can be seen almost any day con-Brooke, Andy Keiner, Henry S. ("Maude all the boys and went into the smoking alley, and I've about two-thirds of them ferring with his chief lieutenant.

"But how do you accomplish this?" I queried.

acquainted with a section I move, re- event Dan purchased a home several peat the operation, and again move. move so often.

A. F. BLOOMER.

Proof Room.

Fitz James and Rhoderick dhu. Fitz James of late was blithe and gay, The sun of peace shone on his way: And in the quiet he had found,

What he had done with Rhoderick dhu, None of his friends nor henchmen knew But thought from little proofs they found, He lay in Fitz's burial ground

Fitz James arose the other day And left his chair, around to stray.

Not more was Macbeth's dread surprise When Banquo rose before his eyes And when he caught stern Rhoderick's eye His primal impulse was to fly. He steeled his bosom like a brave

And asked, "Why have you left your grave? Get out of this! Sit down! Sit down!

Walter Johns took advantage of the afternoon. They were both absent and round robin routed; run, revisers, run. were seen to go away together.

Charlie Stutzman started last Saturday for Des Moines, Iowa, where he will spend the thirty days' leave that Uncle Sam gives to the faithful in his employ. Incidently, he will do a little voting. It is said that Henry Boernstein contemplates retiring from the printing Feast, and right well did he uphold his business to become an electrical engineer. He has been engaged for several Milwaukee famous was prime minister weeks in helping to build an automobile which has some unique features.

members of the chapel in advance that sitting back with that self-satisfied didn't have any en-dashes to build one the dues were price and a half last pay smile the following program, with addi-A well-applied boycott to the City with, so I just had to discover it,' day. As a result he was called all tions to numerous to mention, was renkinds of a robber by many. He had a dered: very unpleasant half hour explaining Medley of popular airs

> Some of our fellows are as sensitive about their age as a woman. In a dis- song-Answer-"Wherefore the removal of the cussion on the subject among the re- Ventriloquism and magicvisers, Rhoderick confessed to being Song-When the Band is Playing Dixie-"Why, we had our grand visitation 51. As Jim Maloney was an apprentice Plano solo-

> > Gus Nothnagel was married last week

FOR THE BEST == READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES, CONSULT-

Parker, Bridget & Co.,

Washington's Leading Outfitters, . . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W

Gents, Ladies, Misses, Boys, and Children's FINE SHOES.

For Style, Comfort and Fit, we are unex-elled. We cut the price. 706 Seventh Street N. W.

his bachelor life and wish him joy and happiness in his new state.

One of the gentlemen in this room who is mentioned quite frequently by the various correspondents, on being invited to reply to some of the insinuations made against him, replied: "Oh, one and the same time. After seeing will know it as I will before I end my let it go; if I say anything they will tell the truth about me. I am getting off easy.'

> Next year promises to be a particularly lively one so far as the delegate ment the question of becoming candi-"Will he not get a good general idea dates it might be wise for the International to so amend its laws that it

> Cards are out for the wedding of Dan C. Vaughan to Miss J. D. Chandler, which will take place November "Why, when I become thoroughly 12, 1901. In anticipation of this happy months ago. They will be at home to marriage.

The daily exhibition of the high binders who persist in reaching the street before those who work two or three stories below them could be dispensed with and thereby contribute to the safety and comfort of those so un fortunate as to work on the lower floors. It is suggested that the new building be provided with a chute extending from the upper stories to the street, and then the aforesaid binders and others of like predilections can emulate the immortal Kelly-slide.

The war-whoop of the Espano-Amercan warrior who earned military renown by the decapitation of a dead Spaniard is uttered with such terrific orce as to call forth the following acts and expressions from the north end of "correctors of the press": Post pushes a post hole in his proofsheet with his pencil-point; Weber wobbles and wilts and wends his way to the wash-room gentle Gallagher says, "gee-whiz, gol-gosh;" Baker, "bake his bacon;" Bridger, "bridge his bones;" Beach, Walter Johns took advantage of the low rates to Richmond and visited that city last Saturday. He reports a profitable and enjoyable trip.

The curious ones would like to know what was up between Arthur Chambers and Jimmie Huggins last Saturday They were both absent and some strangers. They were both absent and some size of the broncho; "Beach, "the bloody bloke;" Buchanan, "buck the broncho;" Doty, "down the dolt;" Vaughan, "villian, avaunt;" Marston, "maim the mule;" Noyes, "the ninny-jack nickers;" Mull, "hit him with a peanut hull;" Maloney, "mark the mocking bird;" O'Neil, "owly Orion, the ould 'orse;" Rhoderick, "robbing round robin routed; run, revisers, run."

A Night in Bohemia.

Northeast Washington Council, No. 755 N. U., held its regular monthly meeting last Monday night, after which the members and their friends made a short journey to the land of conviviality and good fellowship-Bohemia. The succulent bivalve was crowned King of dignity. The amber fluid that made and accompanied his majesty on all his visits which were numerous. When the cigars were passed around and all were highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient by Skilled Our chairman failed to notify the cigars were passed around and all were

Messrs. Dougherty and Kirkland

Recitation-Texas Down by the Rio Grande-Mr. Johnson Prof. Harvel

Mr. Quigley Mr. McEneany

Profs. Eckert and Casserly Shortly before midnight the gather-"Did they show their appreciation to Miss Marie Behlen, of Cleveland, ing dispersed, each one carrying away Ohio. Gus acts on the principle that pleasant memories of Northeast Wash-"Well, the Grand Master said there "it is better late than never." His ington Council and the night spent in

HENRY T. OFFTERDINGER, The MANUFACTURER. New 9TH STREET, Nicke Cigar. UNION MADE

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Condition The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

RACING RACE COURSE AT BENNINGS D.C. FALL MEETING

NOVEMBER 11 to NOVEMBER 30.

SIX RACES DAILY. Electric cars and Penn. R.R. trains direct to Track.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR!

"A good general idea does not satisfy will meet at least twice a year. One of MATTRESS MAKING, CARPET CLEANING, ALTERING, AND RELAY-ING AT REASONABLE RATES.

> W. H. ROBERTSON, 507 Eleventh Street Northwest. (Secretary Carpet Upholsterers' Union 7597, A. F. of L.)

Independent Oil Co.,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

counted, I couldn't quite bring her to mind. My smoke being over, I took you may have heard some of the boys and their methods. The friends after December 15, at No. 77 U street northwest. The friends of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order,

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

******* Che busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO. .........

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others ind-tate it because it's good.

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

B, LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

SAMUEL C. PALMER.

SODA and MINERAL WATERS In Founts, Syphons, and Bots

Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot. 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690. MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates. Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St.

Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY,

Jeweler and Optician Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G St. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON.. WALTER V. SMITH ...... Vice-President W. M. GARRETT..... .. Secretary JOHN R. BERG.. .Organizer C. C. HIPKINS. .....Sergeant-at-Arms D. E TYRRELL. ... Doorkeeper FRANK HART .... TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M.

Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E.

Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

COMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong.

FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman; T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A.

Bynum, and C. G. Morrison.

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chair-

CONFERENCE—George F. Halsey, chairman; a printer. Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H.

Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. and B. M. Connelly.

RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman : J. M. Len-

hart, and Hugh Reid CHAIRMEN. First Division—Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-W. R. Abbott. Fourth Division—Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division—L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette—George Gerberich.

Document Proof Room—Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division—S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division—E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter, Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-F. I. Gleason. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times—William E. Dix

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau

Army and Navy Register - C. H. Draeger

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein.

Globe Printing Co.-Harry Essex.

Judd & Detweiler's-Charles Nace.

McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig.

Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher

Patent Record-T. N. Surguy.

Pearson's-Alex. England.

Law Reporter-A. S. Jones.

Down Town.

Indian summer?

Work down town continuance slow. the latest arrival.

operators at Hayworth's. Albert W. McGill and "Whifty"

Barnes have left this city. Billy Hinton is subbing on the New York Commercial-Advertiser. All are anxiously waiting to hear from Messrs. King & Bro. regarding their claim.

for those who are lucky enough to receive invitations.

Meyer, of the Star, are being men- as far as his position is concerned. To tioned for Cincinnati.

of the District of Columbia and Mary-less corporation exists than the Washland for the G. P. O. There are a very large number of applicants.

According to the Civil Service Commission the ratings of those who took the examination last month will be sent out the same time as those who took it this month, owing to the lack of clerical assistance.

squared himself with the Charles County election supervisors. He took a couple of "heelers"-Don Murray and Fred Decker-with him and Fred's silver-tongued oratory and Don's ability to satisfy the board's unquenchable thirst won the day. "Major" is now in good standing again. The ex-Oracle and the now Oracle now Oracle-a 5-spot and told him to Cheer up! Next time. the writer to put it on it. "On what?" asked the sheet writer. "I ain't going to tell you," said the now Oracle; "it is on the quiet. Just put it on it.' And now he wonders why he did not Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

First Division.

John J. Herron is the last assignment week. He is said to hail from Chicago. friends.

Those who leave us this week for NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt their annual leave are Messrs. C. A. Howle, J. C. McDaniel, H. H. Pierce, J. B. Miller, N. P. Mover, J. T. Rud. dach, and F. M. Richardson.

GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Tommy, the Diamond Broker "-is pro-bottles of beer, numerous sandwiches, Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank moting the negotiations for floating a and cigars. The Governor's action was large block of gilt-edge mining stock. warmly applauded. The Governor says man; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and Tommy will be a Crossus if he pro- the "smoker" was a pronounced suc-

Mr. Charles H. Coe, of this Division, has conceived a most excellent idea of LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, turning his amateur photographic talent into profit. He manufactures a very tasty cabinet calender for 1902, which he illuminates with photographic views of the objects of interest in and about Washington.

> Charley Leeds spent a portion of last week at Carlisle, Pa., his old home, assisting the natives celebrate the 150th anniversary of the town. It was not only a celebration, but a reunion. as thousands visited "home" once more, and greeted friends of the days of yore, who have wandered far and wide.

We have all heard of thieves, robbers, pilferers, and such ilk; we also skill chapel rules could not prevent know how perplexing it is to be destitute of a certain "sort," and do little more than grumble if our cases are "touched" to a limited extent when clasping a small cold bottle. our backs are turned, but of all the criminal depredations that ever came to my notice was the case of last Friday, when "cap A's" were at a premium. A "take" was emptied with about thirty of these letters in a column down the galley. After the galley had been proven, some deft fingered follower of Guttenberg lifted the letters out, and I suppose will ever after be happy, but Foreman Roberts would like to have a photograph of the imp.

Attention of the members of the various trade unions employed in the be elected delegate. Government Printing Office should be given to the declaration of the Central Labor Union in placing the Washington Traction and Electric Company on the unfair list. That means that all at Great Falls Sunday afternoon. Charley Smith, of Virginia, is the labor unionists should refuse to ride on McCahill and Fisher are the machinist for the action of the various unions. an enjoyable trip. The cause of the Street Railway Emthe support of organized labor of this so ask Joe M. Johnson, of the Fourth. locality. Within the past year 173 members of this union have been discharged of their association. The railroad company absolutely refuses to meet their men as members of a trade union, and The Pressfeeders' entertainment will give no redress to the individual. promises to be a most enjoyable affair Intimidation and a series of spotting the Michinganders. union, and for a man to accept an office Breidenstein, Dix, Parsons, Rodier, in his union or to take an active part in and Webster, of the Times, and Gabe its affairs, is to sign his death warrant, deny the freedom of organization to its Thurscay and Friday are the days employees is the policy of the comset apart for examination for residents pany, and no more arbitrary and heart-Keep off their cars.

> Miss Myrtle A. Jacoby, piano teacher, would like a few more pupils. Best of avenue N. W.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Fourth Division.

Emmett Jones is on the sick listdangerously ill with pneumonia.

days wrestling with a severe case of on the other, and Croker coming down rheumatism.

bout between Sheehan and Outcault of friends at his boat house last Sun- union label.

able hustling the now Oracle raised keeps up. As it does not take THE utensils, dishes, silverware, and berths the carfare and walked up to the long TRADES UNIONIST let us hope some which let down from the wall at night. counter, handed in his 5-spot and told friend will present it with a copy. A Windows, curtains, and blinds assist to word to the wise, you know.

> F. (farmer) Watson returned to his arduous labors in the G. P. O. last vacation down the river. Saturday. He has (so he says) succeeded in raising pickles (not cucumplants. He also says that everything on his place is "green."

"I do not say," says Brother Wilof wisdom are married, yet I assert that all sensible men endeavor to be.' Mr. Willard is perhaps biased, as a Bay State and bore therefrom one of $100,000. Charles F. Mullen received a proba- its charming daughters. Success and tionary appointment in this Division many of them is the wish of all his Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

One of the prominent figures at North east Council smoker Monday night was Governor Waite. When time for refreshments was announced the Governor was the first man to respond, and Tommy Harris-that is, "Handsome emerged from the inner room with four

> Since the National Union smoker IT IS SAID

That Doten looked sweet.

That Cummins surely felt the absence of the ladies.

That Comrade Maley thoroughly enjoyed himself. That Governor Waite believes in prompt action. That efforts were made to identify the unfortunate. That Northeast Washington Council as a host is all "skeegy."

That Speaker Luitich sacrificed his oyster on the altar of duty.

That it was believed Sam Wise was present until the sneeze was identified. capable of writing in that style. That in view of Professor Harvel's him from working the hook. with one hand while the other was busy

That Cotter was disappointed because no one sang "The Green Fields of Virginia" or "The Blue Grass of Kentucky."

That Hanft proved a success as the man behind the bar. He was not offended at the song "There is nothing too good for the Irish "-he didn't hear it.

MORGUE NOTES.

Percy has not moved this month. Eight Morgueites think they could working at Newport News.

Our candidate for president is growployees is a just one, and must receive ing in favor daily. If you don't think Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. on trivial charges, but in fact because Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Fifth Division.

Gus B. Diers is on his annual leave. Geo. Albertson is rusticating among

W. F. Councilman went to the Night Bill Force last Wednesday. L. D. Wheeldon was transferred to the Treasury Branch last Wednesday. Eugene Smith goes to Macon, Ga., this week to spend his leave (and the fates that it was only the wall he bear fruit, as a number of bankers are never use spirits!" investigating the advisability of opening a bank near the printing office.

Joseph Fritz went fishing last Saturreference. Residence, 621 New Jersey day and returned with a 4-pound bass. He had more work with it on land than in the water, for in the tussle he Thomas Herbert, of the Post, has Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. was sometimes on top and sometimes

Ed Heidingsfeld went to New York last night to be on hand at the coming dole with him in the loss of his brother. election. He cuts a swell figure with Harry Murray has been absent several Whitney on one side and Vanderbilt the street to consult with him.

had a tip on a horse one day last week, had to be postponed. It was a source day. Among them were Geo. Schoeneand the ex-Oracle handed Ztif-or the of disappointment to their many friends. man and R. A. Nelgner. The craft is a veritable floating palace, furnished go over and play it. After consider. That man animal bray in alley 9 still with a range, folding table, cooking make it homelike and attractive. With this outfit one may spend a delightful Ernest LeGrys, of New York, was reinstated last Thursday. He was bers) on his farm, by using vinegar in- formerly located in the Third, but for Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. stead of water to sprinkle the growing the past six months resided in England. He was one of the passengers of the Oceanic when she reached New York with 2,238 persons, the largest number liard, of this Division, "that all men of passengers carried on one voyage by any steamer this season, More than $16,000 duty was paid at the pier, and the ship companies net earnings J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and to the S.-G. Cat. force of lu—I mean, short time ago he journeyed to the old for that one trip amounted to above

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Record Notes.

Messrs. Lee, Miller, and Rynex said au revoir Wednesday evening. They will return on the 15th.

George Mohler is acting in Brooks' place during the latter's vacation. A deserved recognition of merit.

Foreman Bass is absent on leave. He returns Monday.

Slentz is on this floor again, having Re finished, with Burnside, the laying of the new fonts of type to be used in the coming session. We will have the neatest cases in the building outside of the Job Room.

Friend Moss is not a professional "kicker," but when he does essay the role his effort is remarkable for an amateur.

Shelby Smith, in a confidential heartto heart talk last Wednesday, confided to me that although he admired with J. A. Sauerland, marveling rapture the wonderful logic of the politics-Sabbath-school tract bearing the signature of "S. S." (only two S's, please) the candid truth inspired-nay, demanded-denied of his authorship of the communication in question. He says he is really not Trainham is yet nursing au injured fist, the account he gives of his injury being ludicrous, requiring unbounded 209 Seventh St. N. W.

Opposite Center Market That Kirkland was playing the piano faith in his veracity, which, of course, we all have. As related, on last Thursday night, he, tired and weary, laid down to blissful slumber, as he expected, and as he became the peaceful and inoffensive citizen that when awake he undoubtedly is. But verily then did a mysterious psychological event transpire, surpassing even the wonderful Mrs. Piper, of New York, and her spook "Contral." No sooner did this model young man, husband and father, recline himself in slumber than did the other side of a sadly dual nature obtain the ascendancy, and lo behold, he became a holy terror-a pugilist. And this subconscious Trainham meanly waited until the good fel-Our namesake, Si Daougherty, is low we all know had gone dead to the world-lying open-mouth. Dr. Harrald held several seances pooing" after the manner of man, and then left the body without protection Brother P., of this Post, returned against any mischievous psychic invathe cars of these lines, without waiting from Colorado Springs last week after sion. And there did take possession of the slumberer a vertible slugger of the spirit world. And when tired of its wanderings in space, his true self did return to enter the habitation wherein it has a lease hold, the intruding spirit got up its back and refused service of ejectment. And there did arise a difference of opinion between the true but truant self and the intruder, and one or the other-looks from results as if it might have been both-impelled the mighty biceps of our suffering friend against-well, lusty was the blow and the crash thereof, and the house of Trainham did totter. And when he awoke he asked, "Did I get him?" His wife was kept busy getting splints, plasters, and water but she thanked smote. When Horace G. heard the Mr. Keefer's efforts to supply this weird tale, he said: "Huh! I kicked section of the city with a bank may Mrs. G. out of bed one night, and I

Death of John H. Bailey.

Mr. William H. Bailey, of the Third Division, G. P. O., has returned from New York where he was called to attend the funeral of his brother, John H. Bailey, who was a merchant in the picture frame business in that city; his age was fifty two years. The many friends of Mr. Bailey con-

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's N. Cap and G. Pigs' crubeens.

Philadelphia letter carriers will not Owing to the lateness of the hour the John Sherman entertained a number wear any uniform unless it bears the

********** J. E. BONINI'S

BUFFET AND CAFE. 727-729 N. Capitol Street.

MAERZEN BEER ON TAP.

A first-class Lunch Counter. Sea food in season. Union throughout. ************

Woodward & Lothrop, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

 $\Gamma^{ m ANZER'S}$  HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City throug ${
m H}$

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA

 $N^{\rm eat}$  and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREET

nowned for choicest UNDERWEAR, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS

An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor, ourth St. Opposite Pension Office

Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM ...

Late of Aman's SALOON,

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, 728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

-VISIT-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . Everything the Best.

BOBINGER BROS., = = Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873.

S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

1315 14th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00. The Evans Dental Parlors,

1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office CALDWELL & SMITH'S e e Casino, e e

The Largest Ball Room in the City. Notice.—To Organizations, Societies, Clubs, etc., who wish to rent a first-class hall for entertainments, assemblies, balls, banquets, etc., The Casino is open for an agregments.

CALDWELL & SMITH, Proprietor- and Managers Members of Musicians' Protective Union, American Federation of Labor.

'Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO.,

Undertakers and Embalmers, 443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets M. W ~~~~~~~~ Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher, 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

**** THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldw BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

SHERWOOD Specialties.

Cool Lager Beer on Draught. BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 21c. PER CUE.

> THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE, BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma.

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES.

ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

237 300 1-ib. Loaves to the Barrel.

Every Laboring Man —requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

decrees received J. L. KERVAND,

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

1012 Penna Ave. - - Washington, D. C. Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock.

COPYRIGHTS &C. Scientific American.

MUNN & CO. 36 Broadway. New York I. M. WRIGHT

Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood.

Opposite CENTRE MARKET. EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY,

211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C.

605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER,

Fine Wines and Liquors. BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

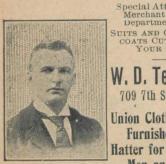

1219 E Street Northwest. FOR LUNCH

TRY THE Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

A SWELL OVERCOAT

The Young Man's Overcoatin blacks, Oxfords, and fashionable overplaids — long cut—broad shouldered—full back— "swing" that are exclusively ours. The prices range from $12.85 to $35- a clean saving of from $3 to $5.

D. J. KAUFMAN. 1005=7 Pa. Ave.

UITS AND OVER-

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W., Union Clothier, Furnisher, and

Men and Boys. We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Handy Andy's Aphorisms.

Joe Birmingham resigned his position last Monday.

Work enough ahead of us to last until next Spring.

Joe Watson told the foreman that he wanted to go home to vote. Joe hails from Atlantic City and the only officer to be elected there this fall is bathing

A cablegram to the War Department from the Commander's Office at Manila, was received Tuesday. It announced the arrival of the transport, Hancock, on which were Public Printer Leach, Anderson, Roberts, et al.

Joe Watson celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his marriage one day last week in a modest but enjoyable manner. May you keep on celebrating, Joe, and may you and your better half long enjoy good health and prosperity.

John Dunlap is holding back his leave until election so that he canwell, it is whispered that John means to take the leave that goes with his job and leave of single blessedness at the same time. Are congratulations in order?

The Twentieth Century Girls, an association composed of ladies from the bindery and folding room, will hold a terpsichorean "fest" on Tuesday evening, at National Rifles' Armory, and day. trip the "light fantastic" from 8 to 2 to the strains of unfair music.

"Soldier" Dan Beckwith is spending his leave cooking meals and washing his hat drawn down over his eyes endishes. This is thusly because the servant girl "broke camp" and left Dan with all his leave money and no time to spend it. In the evening Dan sings riotous songs and makes faces to amuse the baby and pass away time.

Photographers from Collier's Weekly visited the press room this week and got a good snap shot at a quartette of presses on the "Speedway," on which were four pretty feeders. The genial Fubershaw stood out in bold relief like a Roman warrior. They also took a crack at Richardson and his card-trick machine. Pete Deane will do the rest.

Once upon a time a young farmer in Cumberland, Md., became tired of the hard work on the farm and emigrated to Washington, where he gathered enough "pull" together to become a crossing policeman. Last week this rube demonstrated to the boys in the G. P. O. what the duties of a crossing policeman are. He grabbed a couple of the bindery boys and locked them up for skylarking outside the door of the G. P. O. They were not intoxicated but he desired to show his authority and so he wouldn't reprimand them, but instead run them in.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Press Feeders' Notes.

We stand ready to render assistance in the formation of the proposed Ladies' Auxiliary Label League.

Union meeting on November 8, and all members should attend as business THE BIJOU BURLESQUE STOCK CO.

of great importance will be transacted. Business is reported brisk at Kansas City. Several firms are working two shifts and all are employing union help.

The Board of Directors of the I. P. P. & A. U. have endorsed the scale of wages of the following unions: Baltimore, No. 16; Cedar Rapids, No. 104, and Evansville, No. 50.

Our president is once again using the SUBSCRIBE FOR THE "scraper," being employed temporarily at the Weather Bureau. Will the Allied Trades Council now refuse to seat him as a delegate?

The Entertainment Committee was unable to secure a suitable hall to celebrate our fourth anniversary on Thanks- and are not regarded as deserving their patronage: giving eve, so it was necessary to change the date. Typographical Temple has been secured for Tuesday evening, November 19. A good time is assured to all who are fortunate enough to receive invitations.

Steps are being taken to organize a feeders' union at Chicago, under the jurisdiction of the I. P. P. & A. U. It is the opinion of the Board of Directors that the Franklin Association, of that city, was guilty for much of the dissatis-YOUR MEASURE faction that exists among the feeders in several large cities. No. 42 extends their hearty support in connection with the movement.

> The St. Louis feeders' newspaper scale was held in abeyance on account of the action of the union in sending out a circular to other feeders' unions, advising the formation of an international feeders' union. It was the sense of the Board that No. 43 should be disciplined for its actions, and the president withhold the scale of No. 43 pending further investigation.

Franklin Association, of New York City, has scored another victory over the "yellow cards." Walter Stolcer, president of the seceders, was arrested for conspiring to do bodily harm to George F. Kenny, organizer of No. 23. Two persons have made affidavits that Stolcer offered them $50 to "do up" Kenny and upon these affidavits he was placed under $500 bonds to appear for trial by Magistrate Duell.

HOT SPUR.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Bindery Notes. Charlie Eckloff is back from his Several bookbinders are to be appointed soon. Richard Ballou and bride will leave

Des Moines this week for Washington. The question is being asked, "Will the foreman ever take up that new

Did you ever hear Al. Buehler sing, 'Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean?' We expect to hear Al. at our next

Meyer Cohen, ex-sport, picked a winner one day last week, but his friend, Bill Reese, informed him that the horse dropped dead the previous

Jack Walsh walks to work mornings so as to avoid riding on boycotted cars but in the evening he can be seen with joying the ride homeward.

Since the new rule went into effect to sew every signature across, the sewers and forwarders have been kicking continually, and Presidents Smoot and Feeney are having a hot time.

leave in Iowa, will return to Washington with a bride. While away he lost his wallet containing $250, but had the good fortune to have it returned to him. Cow Boy.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N.Cap. and G. Pigs' crubeens.

Scholarships for Sale.

To any one contemplating taking a business or commercial course it will be to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholar ships, which will be sold at a very rea-

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

DIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, NOV. 4.

MONTGOMERY and STONE

and Five Other Big Acts. During their engagement here Montgomery and Stone will present two different acts. On Mon. Tues, and Wed. their great "Black Face Sketch," and on Thurs. Fri. and Sat. they will introduce for the first time in this country an entirely new act. an entirely new act.

Directed by JOHN GRIEVES Introducing the Eminent Comedian MR. DAVE LEWIS

Coming November 11. LABELLE TORTAJADA. The Sensation of Two Continents.

In a New Burlesque.

Trades Unionist.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor

| 1 | NAME.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Business.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | LOCATION.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|   | NAME.  Haines' Southeast Store. Keenan Bros. B. Solomon. Rufus H. Darby. P. B. Anderson. H. L. McQueen. N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). E. Gundershiemer.  Peter Grogan. J. Mangan. John H Fitzgerald. S. S. Daish. Wilbur F. Nash. C. E. Hencke. Sheets & Miller. James A. Bennett. Louis A. Dieter. National Mosaic Company. I. Grosner. M. Minster. A. H. McGhan. | Department store. Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher. Printer Printer Printer Cigar manufacturer. Baker  Carpet dealer. Horseshoer Horseshoer Coal and wood Meat dealer. Electrician Tinner Paperhanger and decorator. Mosaics. Clothing Gents' furnisher Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher. | Eighth and Penna, avenue s.e. 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.w. 708 Seventh street n.w. 508 Fourteenth street n.w. 512 Tenth street n.w. 1108 E street n.w. 1101 Penna, avenue n.w. 516 Second street n.w. and stalls in Center Market. 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. 413 Prather's alley n.w. Florida ave and Third st. n.e. Center and O st. Markets. 711 G street n.w. 804 E street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2014 F st. and 803 Market Space 1343 € st. n.w. 817 E st. n.w. 817 E st. n.w. 819 en and 501 Penna, ave. n. w. |
|   | Charles Walters A. Markward Cyrus B. Reese C. A. Schneider & Sons                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Carriage BuilderContracting painterEmploying steamfitterUnion Iron Works                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Fourteenth and D streets n.w.609 G street n. w.1519 Fourteenth street n. w.212 Twelfth street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| , | Boston Steam LaundryTolman Steam LaundryWash. Traction & Electric CoMinster & Paterson                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | First and G streets n. w.491 to 499 C street n. w.City and Suburban Lines.1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

Director

TO SECRETARIES . Please notify this office of I any change in officers' addresses, time or place of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

American Federation of Labor—Headquarters. Typographical Temple. 423 G street northwest. Sam'l Gompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary.

International Association of Machinists Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building, Fitteenth and F streets northwest. James O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson vice-president and editor of the Journal George Preston, Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple. C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street north-west. Residence, 106 I street norrhwest. Allied Printing Trades Council meets las Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treasurer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest.

Amalgamated Association of Street Rail-way Employees of America, Division No. 161, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight, alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street north-east.

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Monday evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N street northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Local No. 148, meets every Thursday evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith, Secretary, 3315 Brlghtwood avenue northwest. Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local

Union No. 102. meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. J. A. Daly, Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street northwest. Bakers Union, No. 118, meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street south-

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third 'hursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p. m. at 430 Eighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310 Seventh street southwest.

Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. A. D. Manger, Secretary, 230 Seventh street southeast

Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tuesday in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Capitol street.

Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer, Secretary, 245 North Capitol street. L. D. Kilborn, who is spending his Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom, Secretary, 818 New Hampshire Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and

Carriage and Wagon Workers' International

Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor. Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jerue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. W. H. Robertson, Secre-tary, 507 Eleventh street northwest. Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C stree northwest William L. Hageman, Secretary 1007 Fourth street southeast. Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers, ocal Union, No. 12, meets second and fourth uesdays of each month at Bieligk's Hall, 737 eventh street northwest. William Keith, ceretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bie-ligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International As-

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists, meets first and third Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest. Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett, Secretary. Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway tarmen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, Secretary, 939 G street southwest Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, J. S. U. E., meets second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 609 F street northwest.

John W. Stockton, Secretary, 411 Twenty-fourth street northwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second and fourth Saturday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, 117

Fifth street northeast.

Fire Department Employees P. and B.

Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a.m., at Union Veterans' Hall. 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C. Egloff Secretary, 614 Sixth street sou hwest. Engloff Secretary, 614 Sixth street sou hwest. Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers meet every Thursday evening, at 80'clock. Hare's Hall, 404 Elghth street northwest. S. J. Foreman, Secretary, 2223 Cleveland avenue northwest.

5007, meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Masonic Hall. Anacostia D. C. C. W. Teates. Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia.

Hodcarriers' Union, No. 1, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets Armory, 708 O street northwest. Denni Brown. Secretary, 1237 Fourth street north Mess.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No. 5, meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 26, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tons, 200 E street northwest.

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set ters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Secretary, 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers—
Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Recording Secretary, 355 C street southwest.

Iron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, meets 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall, 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Score avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secretary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest. ourneymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meets first and third Wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest. Jerusham Horseshoers' Union, No. 17, meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E street northwest.

street northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters'
Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary, 3122 Dumbarton avenue northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters'
Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Cos
tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest.
Joseph Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161 meets every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest.

MCGREGOT

MCGREGO National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. John A. Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424. Station G.

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street

Southwest.

Operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets this and third Friday evenings at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast. Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee. Sectary, 907 E street southeast.

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first Wednesday in the month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts, Secretary, Kensington. Md.

Pipe Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets every Thursday night at 1208 E street northwest. A. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street northwest.

Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets firs Saturday of each month at Typographical Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Emil Petersen, Secretary, 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w. Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macabee Plate Printers Union, No 2, measurement the third Temple, Ninth street northwest, the third Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secretary, 717 Seventh street northeast.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty pographical Temple, 423 G street northwest J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north Steam Fitters, R. A. Lanis Association, L. B. No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gaut, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516

Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Friday at 8 o'clock p m, at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary,

and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos

second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourth floor) Ninth street northwest. T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street Washington Branch Granite Cutters' Nat-

Washington Lodge of Machinists, No. 193,

meets first and third Tuesday evenings at southwest corner of Tweifth street and Penn-sylvania avenue northwest. C. G. Miller, Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest. Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Monday night at Hare's Hall 404 Eighth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh street northwest.

Silver Medal

Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels,

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man—.

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up. BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. BOOTS AND SHORE.

CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY,

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Tom Keene 5c. Cigar.

COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PRINTERS.

> JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W.

J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts. FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES. C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS.

TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's, beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

GROCERIES. "Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . . 322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

HIGH GRADE CIGARS.

J. ED. MATTERN,

437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK.

NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO.

Late Ryneal's), 4187th St. N. W PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers.

FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTO

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

HARDWARE AND TOOLS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 1004 F St. N.W. 522 10th St. N. W. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS. FOSBURG & MURRAY, Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E

HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats.

TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores.

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO.

> DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W HECHT & CO.

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. WILLIAM DIETZ.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 21,

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1901.

· Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

The "Famous" Clothiers, 437 Seventh Street Unfair.

COUPON AWARDS ANNOUNCED

Miss Clara G. Smith Acted as Assistant Sec retary-Credentials Received-Manager Osgood, of Academy, Communicates-The Bureau of Engraving and Printing Wage Increase Matter-The Allied Metal Mechanics State Case.

The Central Labor Union was called to order at Typographical Temple, on Monday night, by Vice-President Hammerstrom, President Feeney being absent from the city.

Miss Clara G. Smith, of Federal L'abor Union No. 8193, acted as Assistant Secretary, it being the first time in the history of the Central Labor Union that a lady ever held an official position in said body.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

Credentials were received from Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers' Union No. 368, certifying James A. Jennings, vice Charles J. Linguist; from Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners certifying J D. McKay, vice Ed Burley, resigned; from Hoisting and Portable Engineers' Union No. 77, certifying George F. Randall to fill vacancy of W. C. Houghton.

Many communications from various organizations were received stating that their respective bodies had placed a fine upon any of its membership who patronize the boycotted Washington Traction Street Railway Company.

A communication was received from National Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes stating all the Washington theatres were fair toward their organization; also one from Manager Osgood of Labor House, first, last, and all dorsed by Musicians' Protective Union

The following communication was received from President Gompers, of the A. F. of L., which explains itself: WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28, 1901. C. DIETRICH, Secretary Central Labor Union, Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—In regard to the call which we made upon the Honorable Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Ailes, I beg to say that I received a letter in this morning's mail, of which the following is a copy:

Referring to the argument made by you in connection with your request that the pay of operators receiving $470 and $548 per annum in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing be increased twenty-five cents a day, in the connection with your proposition, he finds there also to advise that while the Secretary is have to advise that while the Secretary is favorable to your proposition, he finds there are not sufficient money for making the ire rease. Upon the recommendation of the crease. Upon the recommendation of the Printing an estimate will be submitted to Printing trade in case of emergency.

For, 13,560; against, 2,652; majority for, 10,908.

No. 4. To specify the manner in which our laws shall be classed or grouped in the book of laws. For, 14,194; against, 1,274; majority for, 12,917.

No. 5. To place the appointment of organizers exclusively in the hands of the president and the executive council. For, 9,241; against, 6,75; majority for, 2,466.

No. 6. To fix the salaries of the president and secretary-treasurer at $1,800 per year each. For, 9,548; against, 6,589; majority for, 2,959.

I enclose a duplicate of this letter herein,

I enclose a duplicate of this letter herein, which you will have the kindness to present equal to their earning capacity, or the scale to the delegates of the union particularly in of their union. For, 13,969; against, 2,071; interest, so that it can be placed in your majority for, 11,898. minutes of the archives of the organization. With best wishes, I am, Fraternally yours,

SAM'L GOMPERS, President A. F. of L.

The Labor Day Excursion Committee announced the numbers of ticket cou- 2,052; majority for, 10,952. pons entitled to an award. The list will be found in another column of this issue.

The Famous, doing a gent's furnisher business at 437 Seventh street northwest, was placed upon the unfair list.

The following communication was received from the International Association of Allied Metal Mechanics, of Jority for, 4,715. Toledo, Ohio:

TO THE OFFICERS AND DELEGATES OF CEN-TRAL BODIES.

BROTHERS: Enclosed you will find a circular letter the National Metal Trades Association, and which should not receive the patronage it is for the purpose of bringing it more or moral support of trade unionists: forcibly to the attention of the union men of this country that I am the second time addressing you on this subject.

The National Metal Trades Association is an organization composed of employers, and west. judging from their past and present tactics their purpose is to disrupt the trades unions of this country. The first step in this directo to the striking collar girls of Troy. pany and the Computing Scale Company, of men's Union of America in Cook members in the Davis Sewing Machine Com-Dayton, Ohio, to sign the individual appli- County, Ill.

lad." Realizing that if they were success ful in this attempt at disruption of our organization, it would only be a short time imilar fight. For that reason, fter very eareful consideration and taking all the conequences into consideration, we decided to strike sooner than sign those degrading ap lications. As a result, to-day we find ourelves in a fight for life with the National Metal Trades Association. The men who entered in upon this fight knew what it neant. It might mean a strike of weeks onths or years. They decided that sooner trike for the balance of their lives, if need The same men who went out in obedice to the order of the International Union are still out and will remain out until the iron clad" is withdrawn.

eation card, otherwise known as the "iron ave two of those companies whipped. All ing them discontinue their use, and I would further request that you send a communica tion to the Davis Sewing Machine Company and the Computing Scale Company, of Day con, Ohio, notifying them of the action of your body. It is essential also that each lelegate make a special report back to his local union on this matter.

With kindest regards to your body as well as the locals affiliated therewith, I am, Fraternally yours, in the cause of labor,

INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENT. P. S. We are glad to inform you that the other day 3,000 Davis sewing machine vere returned because they were made by

A communication was received from pearing the name of Hod Carriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers Union, No. 9468, had been received from the American Federation of Labor.

The Federal Labor Union, of Oakland, Cal., communicated that they were in a struggle with the Southern from this body.

The I. T. U. Referendum Vote.

Below will be found the vote cast and the majorities given upon the propositions of the International Typographical of the Academy, stating his place of Union recently submitted to its entire fire, and enjoyed themselves. amusement was strictly a Federation membership. The remarkable feature of the result is that it is the first time the time. The communication was in in the history of the organization that all the laws submitted by a convention have been approved:

No. 1. Shall the stereotypers and electro typers be allowed to withdraw from the International Typographical Union and form an international union of their own, which shall enter into an agreement with the Inter of laws. For, 14,194; against, 1,274; majority

No. 7. To allow organizers compensation

No. 8. To provide that appeals to the council must be in triplicate. For, 12,936; against, 2,466; majority for, 10,470. No. 9. To change the time for auditing International accounts. For, 13,004; against,

No. 10. To allow unions to pay for the Journal monthly at the rate of 5 cents per copy. For, 11,801; against, 4,217; majority for, 7,548. No. 11. To abolish the present organizing listricts. For, 9,221; against, 5,692; majority

No. 12. To allow the executive council to submit questions direct to the membership. For, 14,102; against, 1,872; majority for, 12,230. abrogated? For, 9,857; against, 5,142; ma-

Notice to Trades Unionists.

published a card for the use of members of Columbia Union, 101, containing the Charlie Eye all over. The "open let-

Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st. northwest.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E st. Jet north ED. H. THOMAS.

The New York brewers donated $25 There are eight lodges of the Switch- mind him of this for me.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

Charlie Eve and Billy Brockwell's Interview with Senator Vance-A Letter from Mr. Eve-A Little More About District Suf-Make Good-Who Has Any Second-Hand Printing Material to Sell?

A few evenings ago Colonel Brockwell narrated a tale about Col. C. W. Eve, a fellow-North Carolinian, whom Division for a term of years ending a Connecticut peddler in a trade. Philabout a dozen years ago. It seems that then President Kennedy had sug that then President Kennedy had sug We have authentic information that we gested that a committee of two from worldy gentlemen returned home; they each State be selected to interview it requires is to give them a scientific finish as a warning to other firms who adopt disrupting tactics. With that end in view I appeal to you to appoint a special committee from your central body to wait on all merchants handling the Davis Sewing Machines or the Computing Scales with a view to have replied to their inquiry:

'No, sah; the Senator isn't in, sah." "Go back and see again," said Eve, colors. him at once.'

marked to Brockwell:

"That old devil can't get out this Secretary Brown stating that a charter weather. He's all crippled up with rheumatism. I know he's at home."

In a minute the colored man returned with the word that Senator Vance would see them in the parlor; that he had been misinformed about his being out. The Senator welcomed Eve warmly, being well acquainted with him, and Railway Company and asked for aid Brockwell was duly introduced. Then Eve and the Senator fell to talking about North Carolina men and matters,

"Remember old Lige Kyartah?" asked the Senator.

cuss? Yes indeed," said Eve. Is he alive yet?'

"Alive and got more children than ever," answered the Senator.

"Got more dogs than children, I reckon," said Eve.

And so on. This is only quoted as a sample of the conversation, interspersed be employed in the clinical section, dis and said:

reckon I'll be going."

Brockwell of Eve, quietly, after waiting the occasion last Saturday nightorgot about that. Vance, we came to monial sea at St Mark's Pro-Cathedral, will tell you about it."

Brockwell struck an attitude, put his nand in the breast of his coat, and stated the matter in "a few well chosen words," as is usual under such circumstances.

"Why, certainly," said the Senator. I will do all in my power to build a new office for you boys. The present building, if it was cleaned out, might make a pretty decent stable."

Then they took their departure.

This story was all fresh yet in out minds when along came a letter last No. 13. Shall the tripartite agreement be Saturday night from Eve to Ed Thomas, that I take the liberty of printing it, together with an "open letter" that he Secretary Garrett has caused to be had addressed to Senator Prithard and transmittal:"

BUENA VISTA, N. C., October 31, 1901.

Lawler Enforces the Scale, but Has to educated them all for lawyers, knowing that they would deny everything and insist upon proof, a sure guarantee did so on borrowed money, with patches on the seats of their breeches as big as night, and rang the bell, which was His house is constructed of pine logs answered by a colored servant, who floor is of puncheon boards. The walls are adorned with wood cuts of Biblical scenes, printed in the most gorgeous colors. The incongruity of some of "Go back and see again," said Eve, and tell him I must see him. Give him my name," and as the servant hesitated, he said decisively, "Nigger, you go and tell Senator Vance that Mr. Eve and Mr. Brockwell want to see him at once." colors. The incongruity of some of these works of art in regard to chronology and nationality is startling. One of them represents a Roman soldier standing guard at Solomon's Temple armed with a Springfield musket; and the sentinel was exactly three inches taller than the Temple. Another was a printing of Mount Sinai with a poet. a picture of Mount Sinai, with a post-After the servant departed Eve re-narked to Brockwell: and rail fence around it. The furniture consistsed of four home made chairs, two of them rush bottoms—bottoms rushed out. The literature of the household was a history of the Johnstown Disaster and a large family Bible in the latter the owner had kept his grocery account in the Register of Deaths. On the back of this Divine history was printed in letters of gold "Search the Scriptures." I mechanically opened the book and found the tray of spades marking the twelfth chapter of St. Matthew. I spent the night at this house and my host re fused to receive anything as compensa-tion for his labor and expense. The general idea of the mountaineer is that up the bottled rejuvenator, stuck their feet up on the mantel over the open the city man, but from the hardy life he leads is generally more muscular and of greater girth around the chest.

Yours truly, C. W. EVE.

fully passed the examination of the but 65. District Medical Board by the magnificent total of 85.44 per cent. He will young lady.

who will be glad to know it.

monly made assertion. But an argu- his business. DEAR ED: As it is the unexpected ment has been made in favor of suffrage that happens, you can moderate your (not in the article referred to) that it surprise at the reception of this letter. would bring about equalization of tax- in Texas, indicates that he is pleasantly Have tried to draw a line from my old ation. After mature thought, I am situated and well pleased with the friend Keeman, but failed. Please re-doubtful about that, for everywhere country. In connection with his new The inclosed contains a sub-stratum there are "tax dodgers" where there venture, he wants to buy about 50

Boston are unable to do so?

I was once riding with a gentleman sibly oblige two parties. through the "swell" portion of the city and I remarked that property there did not pay the proportion of taxes that I do.

"We do not want to discourage the erection of fine houses by taxation,' said my companion.

"Well, why do you discourage me by taxation?" I asked.

"Because we need the money," he replied. "But we must offer advan- the pen-name of "Handy Andy" in tages to the wealthy in order to induce them to make their homes here, so that this may become a great rich city."

these wealthy mendicants among us, if they are not willing to pay their share in a stuped, blundering manner. of the expenses of the government?

"Oh, they help the trade, the business of the city," he replied.

And those are the stock arguments n favor of leaving the burdens of tax- dance to music furnished by members ation on the poor and those of moderate

If "E. W. O." can show me any way ing card to the proper parties. o reach these legalized anarchists, who violate every law and every right of to be able to vouch for the respectaothers when to their interest to do so, bility of the attendance, to turn down The he will make an ardent District suffragist of me.

* * * *

ee that my old friend, John McKillop, of the State office, Boston, who was which sometimes causes investigation. sked the Senator.

"That old loose-jointed, spaving drop me a few lines relative to the boys in the office, I remain, of the State office, Boston, who was admitted to the Home September 28 fellow and at one time had a prosperous business of his own, but misfortune Dr. Johnny Atkinson got his certifi- overtook him. The cause of death is cate last Saturday that he had success- given as "old age," though he was

Tom Lawler-you remember Tom Lawler, who worked in the G. P. O. more rabbit-footed alley mates were with story-telling, an art in which both pensary department (do I express that two or three times and on the Post for jubilantly luxuriating on phat takes. were adepts, which, beginning about 8 aright?), of Garfield Hospital, and will several years, and was vice-president o'clock, lasted until 11, with Brocky contine cutting up little niggers, patch of the Union in 1893—runs a saloon in Ailes, I beg to say that I received a fetter this morning's mail, of which the following to re-establish jurisdiction over any branch of the printing trade in case of emergency.

Of the black bottle. Then Figures. of the black bottle. Then Eve rose alleviating human misery-except his withstanding that he is "out of the reference to the source from which it nightly performances in the Night business," his love of unionism is as may come. And yet there appear to "Well, Senator, it is getting late and Proof Room, which are better calcustrong as ever. Recently he encour lated to add to than alleviate the stock aged the printers of Sunbury to form a think to seem wise by voting against "Aint you going to say anything of miseries. With some congenial typographical union, and they, out of propositions introduced by Shelby about the new printing office?" asked spirits he and several friends celebrated gratitude and to avail themselves of Smith. A little independent thinking his experience as a union man, elected might convince them that Mr. Smith all evening for the subject to be sprung. among the number, Dan Vaughan, who him as its first president. After organ-"Oh, h-l, yes," said Eve. "I clean will undaunted embark on the matri izing a scale of prices was formulated, fixing wages at $12 a week. Tom's ask you to help get a bill through for a Capitol Hill, at high twelve next Tues-saloon is on the lower floor of the chinery well oiled and always under a new printing office. Brockwell here day, Miss J. D. Chander being the building occupied by the principal print. full head of steam. ing office of the place, and the proprietor of the office is also proprietor of "Whitey" (W. J.) White, alias "Aus- the building. As $12 a week had been tralian," is reading proof at the "Saw- the ruling wages of the town, there was never better illustrated than by the mill" in New York, where he has been no trouble on that score, except that for several years, and Jim Campbell, there was a lady compositor in the office his brother-in law, is one of the editors, aforesaid who was receiving but $8 per begining his duties at 2 a. m. and finish- week. As president of the Union, Tom ing 5 (also a. m.). Both have fat sal- wrote to the proprietor, stating the aries, and they have many friends here facts about the organizing of the Union and requesting that the lady's wages be made equal to those paid other "E. W. O." made a very able and members of the Union. The proprietor strong argument in THE TRADES responded, stating that a woman was Unionist last week in favor of home not worth as much as a man and dewhich is so characteristic of the man rule for the citizens of the District of clining to comply. Tom went back Columbia and one that it is difficult to again, more forcibly demanding an enrefute. I think the greatest obstacle is forcement of the scale in behalf of the the general apathy on the subject with lady. The proprietor yielded, but notiwhich was enclosed. Both letters are which most of the citizens are afflicted. fied Tom in his capacity as tenant that I "stand corrected" as to the great the amount added to the lady's wages setting forth the reasons why we find ourselves in a life and death struggle with selves in a life and death struggle with like head of the following is the "letter of the following is the " issue. The following is the "letter or fastened on the people of the District accounts Tom was paying the lady's starter was the harkson's potential." by the "popular" government of the increase of wages in the way of rent, it starter was the barkeep's potential early seventies, I having accepted com- being impracticable for him to move ounce of verity and a ton of falsehood. always susceptible of being "reached," type, a few fonts of display letter to do You see for the past ten years I have as readily as they are here where the circular work, and about a quarterresided in a horse-swapping community and my imagination has received citizens do not vote. People remark median job press, with the necessary fungus or mushroom growth. My how low the taxes are here-$1 50 on additions of rules, leads, etc.-all sec-Eve—A Little More About District Suf-boys accept my most positive asser-frage—Death of John McKillop—Tom tions with such incredulity that I have its true value $1 on $100 would yield a with the business in which he is engreat deal more money. I find that gaged, the ranch being 40 or 50 miles the taxes on my little "shack" are from printing facilities. Some one of of success. So you see I am responsible for adding two more to the innumerable pack of hounds that prowl in the kennel of Justice.

> A letter to me from Billy Moorhead, of truth—a slight sub-stratum! An is great wealth, and the assessors are pounds of long primer or small pica Driscoll's, N.Cap.and G. Pigs' crubeens.

A man's environment is often remainded the magnificent mercantile and the magnificent mercantile and mains of his former venture satisfying han work under such conditions they would all the older employes will remember responsible for his moral makeup. The office buildings of the business section the specifications given above, may as working in what is now the First native mountaineer is off on book edu-do not pay 5 per cent of their rental find a purchaser by communicating with cation, but he can knock the socks off value as taxes. How can we correct "Wm Moorhead Moorhead Tox" value as taxes. How can we correct "Wm. Moorhead, Moorhead, Tex.," this condition by the ballot when the and any one knowing of such material citizens of New York, Philadelphia, and for sale will confer a favor by communicating with Mr. Moorhead, and pos-

A. F. BLOOMER.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

TWENTIETH CENTURY GIRLS

Remind Mr. "Handy Andy" of His Misstatement of Facts.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: The correspondent who wrote over your issue of October 31, could not have chosen a more fitting sobriquet, for iu Samuel Lover's story of that "What is the advantage of having name the hero is a genius with the faculty of saving and doing every thing

Instead of dancing "to the strains of unfair music," as stated in his announcement last week, those fortunate enough to secure invitations to the Twentieth Century Girls' dance will of the American Federation of Labor, each of them ready to show his work-

We have tound it necessary, in order several requests for invitations, but yet we do not see that the aired grievance of one of this number has hurt us when By Superintendent Deacon's report I the chief characteristic of his tale of woe is Maclay veracity—an attribute

TWENTIETH CENTURY GIRLS.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Long Primer Sorts.

Emerson wrote that "a strenuous soul hates cheap successes." But then he never struggled to keep up his average on straight matter while his

It is the part of wisdom to settle be quite a number of printers who hits the nail on the head now and then, besides deserving the thanks of the thoughtful for keeping his mental ma-

The Government Printing Office is a big institution, and its magnitude is manner in which it makes the able compositor realize that he is a little cog in a big wheel.

If all printers were born Franklins, it is still likely that an occasional proofreader would continue to overwork the gay and festive comma.

Much of the objection of the Ghoulish work of Resurrectionist Bloomer is doubtless due to the fact that the objectors have a doubt as to whether they will be worthy of resurrection a few years hence. It is, however, hard to understand why their souls should be consumed by envy just because "Old Pard" grew his bristles at a time when badge of office.

OF INTEREST TO THE GIRLS OF THE G. P. O. The difference between a modiste who has wits And one who has none like this is he modiste without wits always misses the fits.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON ..... Editors A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

One year (in advance) - - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C. as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifledly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy If you can do business, let it be known.

the Sun. A good reason why any hon-advocacy of trades unionism and kindred matters." May it fulfill its mis sion and be an aid to bettering condifavors fair conditions of employment on a union made cash register. The

On December 15 the Industrial Combility of non-compliance of contract.

unfair or selfish-to-labor firm.

tions of the toiling masses.

Hallwood is a union register.

in existence.

It was the low man who won in New York. The deuce!

sentence.

Many of the great merchants in New Dickman, Broadnax, and Burgess York state they "don't want to buy were callers on Monday. enemies," hence do not advertise in

Miss Irma Palmer, of South Dakota, entered upon a probationary course last get out of his office. orable person should not patronize an gentleman toward trades unions. The

It seems to us that it was about time the trades unionists of the country

Bench, and thereby see that more due course of law was indulged in and that

Specification Notes.

A ROCK CREEK INCIDENT.

One day there strayed from parent nest

Two tiny birds with eyes yet closed,

The mother bird expressed her woes

In language known to all the birds,

And as they fell from lofty crest

Who, eager as the raw recruit.

In all the ranks of all that host

As mother bird at duty's post,

Joined parent brood in bot pursuit.

Not one was there so swift of wing

Who far outstripped her mated king

And cooed and wooed to life again

Ere nature's work had wings yet formed

The mother love was thus expressed

For those who strayed from parent nest

The little ones her breast had warmed

On leave this week: Austin DuGarme. WE are in receipt of Vol. 1, No. 1, of C. J. Duffy, Roy C. Meek, and Louisa The Argus, of Akron, Ohio, which flies the following: "Devoted to the

We wonder how in his heart of hearts the Tammany tiger likes the dissent of the governed.

There is considerable concern as to what became of Brumm during the It is the duty of every man who shuffle of Tuesday.

Connor, Gutelius, McCann, and to see, when he is buying an article French have been called to the proofthat it bears the Union Label, and to room in the absence of a like number insist that his purchases are rung up on leave.

> Melick sat down with a professional checker player at one of the down-town clubs the other evening and took every game from his competitor.

mission goes out of business by law. Some people are so fickle. When-As to whether or not any good came from the labors of the same towards ever a new girl is assigned to cases the benefitting organized labor or whether old ones, figuratively speaking, are it was simply a political institution given a recess. There isn't any old favoring at most times trusts, com- sort the new girl can't get, figuratively bines, and corporations it is for the speaking.

members of organized labor to decide A five-year-old son of L. O. Knowles, for themselves. No doubt conditions of this room, accidentally lost the third dew invigorated all vegetable life, the corn would have been just as favorable to finger of his right hand recently from them had this Commission never been the blow of an axe wielded by a colored fatted cattle beneath the shed would low a THE Deputy State Supervisors of hand narrowly escaped.

ganized labor generally should appre- proof room, found many surviving me, what estatic bliss to sit under your own ciate. In awarding the printing of the friends here during a lunch-hour visit vine and fig tree and view the scenic effect ballots a union firm—Rosenthal & Co.— on Friday last. "Zach" can not come I returned in May 1991 and were given the contract, notwithstand too often, but he can make his stay too pels me to say no feature of this beautiful ing the bid for the same was higher- brief.

Company. Although the latter firm ler, his old Kentucky home. There is whether it is gratitude that prompts or hunendeavored before Judge Davis to re- associated with that locality a juice of ger that pinches. I knew little about farm strain the former one from getting the the press which in its revivifying effects contract. The Judge decided, after approaches the elixir of life, and which to catch hold of the top and pull. hearing arguments, that the Supervisors has the indorsement of all the Kenhad the right to act as they did, as there tucky colonels; so in the order of was less liability of trouble arising in a things Armstrong may be advanced a union office, thereby avoiding a possi- number.

The supporters of the suffrage move-THE opinion of the Federal Court in ment in the District of Columbia would Indianapolis, Ind, October 16 19, Judge restore the resident citizen to a voice JOHN H. BAKER, presiding, in the case in elections. Now while it must be adof EDWARD E. BESSETTE, a represent mitted that the voice feature has been tative of Chicago Typographical Union somewhat impaired it has been ob-No. 16, in which the court holds, though served that when the returns are of a that every farmer kept one of these seed not named in the injunction and not favorable complexion on election night sowers and proffered the use of his whenever even a resident of the courts' jurisdic- the voice complained of is easily retion, that said BESSETTE is amenable stored and is capable of good service to court for violation of the injunction, for hours upon a stretch, and round out and can be imprisoned without bail beautifully as soon as it is clearly and his patience pending an appeal, has renewed the proven which way the cat has jumped.

agitation and caused the laboring Huntsberry is now on leave at some This was in May. By September I was under classes to ponder as to what are the point in Illinois. On the day of his the care of Dr. Will Hilliard, who discovered rights and powers of the Federal Courts | departure he gave an exhibition at the | that I had not only ruptured a blood vessel. in that one man power outrage in con- telephone in a tangled effort to com- but that four sections of the vertebral column tempt proceedings relative to injunc- municate with a friend. He appeared tion. In this case the defendant, BES- to great disadvantage in making him inforced with a liver pad and resumed oper-SETTE, was delegated by the Chicago self understood, because the button ations. The cleansing of the Augean stables Union, through an extension of juris- wouldn't push, and declared the pith was a fairy tale compared to the task I had diction, to do all in his power to thwart had not been drawn from the receiver, clear of them and then I commenced to day night, November 9. the success of the Conkey book firm— which he placed to his mouth and lisone of the most notorious rat book tened for an answer through the trans- vegetables, and I determined to do so. In concerns in the country. The court, mitter. With thirty days at his dis- the month of January I laid in a large stock shoes daily. presided over by the Judge above men-tioned, was of a one-sided opinion and with the workings of the new-fangled of seeds and bulbs, but by some mischance they got mixed with my boy's ammunition, and in the spring I sowed two pounds of its decision proved the animus of said concern.

Proof Room

decision was that BESSETTE be fined Bill D'Orsay did not go to Nebraska for contempt, charged in the sum of to vote this year. He has sore feet. $250 and the costs of the prosecution, Post has been transferred to the and that he stand committed to jail at night force and Rhoderick is happy.

Marion County, Ind, until the fine and Harry Faust is visiting up in Penncosts are paid, or until he is discharged sylvania. Murray says he is after ap by due course of law, and the marshal ples and potatoes. s charged with the execution of said

The Philadelphia contingent went over to a man to assist in retaining a pure city government.

Admiral Doty and Rear Admiral were awakening from their lethargy and Mattingly wear their uniforms conslumbers and have a voice by their stantly now that the weather has grown ballot and judgment whom they should select for positions on the Federal frosty.

Mr, Pafflow, late of the Library Branch, has been made a reader and the constitutionality of that abomina- added to the Surgeon-General's Catable monstrosity—a measure for the logue force.

corporations only—injunction would be George Burlin's friend, Texas Brown, ascertained. The Chicago Federation went to work in the office a few days of Labor has taken right steps in the ago. George was delighted to welmatter by organizing an anti-injunction come him back.

A. H. King left several days ago to spend a part of his leave up in New York State and exercise his great American privilege.

Major McKelvey did not go to vote, but heard from the election officers that a man had registered his name, which is the same thing and saves him the expense of the trip.

John Henry Boner is improving in health to such an extent that he feels like returning and resuming work. It he continues to gain he will make the effort about the first of December.

Fault is sometimes found with us for compounding words too liberally. The following is a sample of what we meet with occasionally in the work of the office: The haphazard-quicker-thanlightning-don't-jaw back - 1'm -angry-if you-do-off-comes-your-head superin tendent of the road told the fellow to

AN OPEN LETTER.

Old Washington Typo. Poses as a Trucker.

[From the Asheviile (N. C.) Citizen.] Hon. JETER C. PRITCHARD:

DEAR SENATOR-As an introductory I will state that I am an office-seeker; kicked, cursed, and coralled into that vast army of mendicants that seek to fodder at the public crib. When necessity drives the devil holds the lash, and I am goaded into an effort to regain the position I resigned in the Govern ment Printing Office. In that hive of typo graphical industry I spent 16 years of youth and later manhood.

Many years ago (about the time of the political revolution which placed Groven Cleveland in the presidential chair), by one of those accidents or incidents which rarely occur in a nomadic life, I became possessed of 87 acres of land. In the struggle in the city to have my six children taught the art of literary gunnery, how my heart yearned for the time when I could return to this rural home, and, by well directed effort make every foot of it teem with fatness. In fancy I saw, in the balmy month of June, banners of green waving over every acre within its confines; ah yes. And when the hoar frost spread its carpet, where late the cribs would burst with their fullness and the wheat bins groan with their weight; the man. Two other fingers of the same pean of welcome as the last loads from the fields brought up the golden-tinted pumpkins, and as I returned from the Asheville Elections of Cincinnati recently made "Zack" Jenkins, erstwhile a mema stand which union printers and or. ber of this force, but now of the main mouthed welcome as I drew near home. Ah,

I returned in May, 1891, and candor comdream was ever realized, but the dog part. over the non-union firm of the Pugh Arthur (Shorty) Armstrong is at Buthe howls incessantly. I am unable to say ing and less about that feature of it known as trucking, my idea of raising beets being

I had never been over the farm in its en-tirety, and when I did so I was amazed. Evidently during the glacial period one of these vast bodies of ice, earth, and rock had moved over this place, and, in the grinding process, the rocks had become disintegrated and found lodgment here. Refore I had superinduced by this discovery, a neighbor assured me that all the farms in this section labor by the Central Labor Union at the were in the same fix; that the difficulty of seeding was overcome by firing the grain among the rocks with an old Belgian musket; time on I felt better. The genius of ill luck might continue to hound me down, but I was not the only one wearing out his hoes take cognizance of said action.

The first year, with the aid of a wheelbarrow, I commenced to remove these rocks. were dislocated. After remaining 90 days under the care of this eminent surgeon, I re CYCLE. | blasting powder mistaking it for egg plant | during the past week.

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

-FOR-

Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

CONSULT-

Parker, Bridget & Co.,

Washington's Leading Outfitters, . . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

Gents, Ladies, Misses, Boys, and Children's FINE SHOES.

For Style, Comfort and Fit, we are unex celled. We cut the price.

Thornton's Shoe Store 706 Seventh Street N. W.

seed. An early variety of potatoes got mixed up with the dahlia and tuberose bulbs which my wife had ordered, and at the intersection of every potato hill I had a flower. This may nave been poetical, but it was not profitable But I was determined to persist in what had undertaken. My maternal ancestor had set me an example (vide the old Testament) and I felt it to be a duty. A friend, to en courage me, expressed from New York a highly colored picture of the garden of Eden the old lady's estate; but it was not true to nature. There were bustards, cranes, shite ookes, and all sorts of birds sitting around on dead stumps. I regarded this as pictorial lander and returned it with thanks.

Well, I did persist, and at this writing l ean raise marketable vegetables, provided an get the fertilizer. It seems to run thus: Borrow a little money to get a little fertilizer to raise a little crop to get a little fertilizer an endless chain, with which the planter not infrequently hangs himself. I have improved, but I'm not at the top. Oh, no. Few armers ever get there. In order to do so you have to be a chemist, have thorough knowledge of botany, ornithology, osteology, and carry around with you as a vade mecun a history of the entire insect creation. By the time you have mastered these studies farming will have become repulsive; you will feel that you are qualified for something better, possibly that of puddler in an iron

I have held my own with my neighbors but at what a sacrifice! I am lean, gaunt, angular, and cadaverous. I look like the Genius of Famine, or a living allegory of the Aspect of Ireland during the Potato Rot.

Yes, Senator, I must give it up. If I had the purse of Fortunatus and a backbone of steel I would stick. But I lack these requisites to successful trucking in the mountains It is imperative that I should go back to my legitimate business, and from this time on I shall importune you to get me the appoint ment. Apply at once. Don't be shunted or sidetracked by indefinite promises from the oss man up there. Approach him with the dignity of a senator, the affability of a suc essful statesman, the prismatic smile of Matt Ransom, and success is ours!

Hoping to hear from you soon and to learn that you are hammering away on the appli cation of a poor constituent of humble birth and iron fortune, I remain, Yours truly,

Enough Said.

Atlanta Constitutio Here is a rural obituary which says more than a sermon:

I faithful plowed. An' I faithful hoed, An' I ain't afeared Of the last, long road

TICKLISH TOPIC TERSELY TREATED.

When would a man who has the misfortune to Both deaf and dumb, tho' with two good eyes

Find himself in a stew, if not in a pickle Should he ever attempt nine persons to tickle Simply because, by a cruel edict of fate

The best he can do is to ges-ticul-ate. -THIRD DIVISION, G. P. O.

To the Public.

I have been requested by the secretary of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers to state that Lansburgh & Bro., dealers in dry goods, 420-26 Seventh street northwest, have been declared fair to organized request of the Brotherhood of Painters. Decorators and Paperhangers. This statement is made for the benefit of all members of bodies represented in the Central Labor Union and Messrs. Lansburgh. I sincerely hope all unions will > Respectfully. C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary Central Labor Union.

Missouri Society.

All Missourians, or persons born in Missouri, are invited to attend and join the Missouri Society, on the second and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Federal Union Hall, 719 Sixth street northwest. Next meeting Satur-

New England makes 360,000 pairs of

The Brooklyn Blue Label League issued 280,000 labels for union cigars

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

RACING

RACE COURSE AT BENNINGS D.C FALL MEETING

NOVEMBER 11 to NOVEMBER 30.

SIX RACES DAILY.

Electric cars and Penn. R.R. trains direct to Track.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR!

MATTRESS MAKING, CARPET CLEANING, ALTERING, AND RELAY-ING AT REASONABLE RATES.

> W. H. ROBERTSON, 507 Eleventh Street Northwest. (Secretary Carpet Upholsterers' Union 7597, A. F. of L.)

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

************* The busiest spot in $ SODA and MINERAL WATERS the busiest part of ? town is the 8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO. X------

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredients by Skilled

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imatate it because it's good,

ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO... Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C.O.D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

SAMUEL C. PALMER,

syphons, and Bottle

Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot. 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. elp, a good cause. Mention this ad when calling, Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. . And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS

In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY,

Jeweler and Optician Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

| E. A. M. LAWSON | President        |
|-----------------|------------------|
| WALTER V. SMITH | Vice-President   |
| W. M. GARRETT   | Secretary        |
| JOHN R. BERG    | Treasurer        |
| C. C. HIPKINS   | Organizer        |
| D. E TYRRELL    | Sergeant-at-Arms |
| FRANK HART      | Doorkeeper       |
|                 |                  |

Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett

DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and 4 has been infested with the usual

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

COMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman; the same act Tuesday. James R. Armstrong. T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor.

PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison.

GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A.

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

CONFERENCE—George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor.

LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Len-

hart, and Hugh Reid CHAIRMEN.

First Division—Charles M. Sizer.
Second Division—John E. Fulenwider.
Third Division—W. R. Abbott. Fourth Division—Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers Night Bill Force—A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-F. I. Gleason. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix

Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.-Harry Essex. Judd & Detweiler's-Charles Nace. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England. National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig.

Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register - C. H. Draeger. General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

Down Town.

Monday-Bennings Day.

Matt Hayes left town last week Sidney Lucas is at Bennings, and if I, I. O. B. C. he starts he'll finish.

working at the Census office. Tuesday, November 5, 1901, was the first overcoat day this winter. Franklin Wellington ("Bill") Simons is working in the Second Division of the G. P. O.

There are lots of fish in the Potomac River, because very few were caught the past summer.

There is a rumor of a change in the printing circles down town that we hope will prove true.

Sam Gamble will spend his leave and money at Bennings backing his new purchase, Lady Hasbeen.

I-don't-read-the-New-York-Sun buttons are worn by over 3,000 trades unionists in the District of Columbia.

John P. Purcell, formerly of Newark, N. J., aged 41, died October 30 at the Fritz. Union Printers' Home at Colorado Springs. Death was due to diabetes. Mr. Purcell will no doubt be remembered by many here. He was a brother "Andy" Purcell, who for a long time out of his bill of fare. was employed in this city.

The demand for job printers along the river (Missouri) is greater right now than at any time during the last fifteen years. I predict that the demand will continue to exceed the supply for some Grant E. Price, Griffith Evans, F. H. time and the wages of the good men Berger, W. H. Davis, Judge Under-ships, which will be sold at a very reawill raise because the employers will wood, James G. Boss, James E. Brister, sonable price. Sioux City, Iowa, and Lincoln, Nebr., homes to vote. Nebr., but the way to get them is to days ago and exposed the wrong side avenue N. W.

could get to exceed six men to leave in the art of picture taking. Omaha, but they might get that many .-'Sadie Maguire" in Western Laborer.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's N.Cap and G. Pigs' crubeens.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Fourth Division.

Ex-Chairman Murphy was at the National Union smoker.

The following are enjoying their annual leave: Outcault, Kahlert, Kirby, and Bateman.

Since Abraham Cook returned alley checker enthusiasts.

As Kirkland removed his coat the other morning he looked around and said: "It's a girl."

P. L. Herndon returned to work NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell.chairman; Matt Monday, after having exhausted his L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and leave balance. Prof. Harvel performed

Judge Brower is holding down the italic cases during the absence of com- ippines. rade Haines. It is needless to add Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank that the Judge presides with his usual dignity.

After an illness of some days Jones the usual place. They had hardly committee. settled before Emmett had a run-in with the chairman.

Hegarty has been transferred to the enabled to perceive the performances all join in wishing him good health and of the "bang tails" that are booked to do "stunts" at Bennings.

Joe Sheehan and Jim Healy are en

On Wednesdy the accusation was made that a "floor hand" who visits the desk, informed a compositor what not occur again.

The following joke (?) was sprung unexpectedly last week:

"Are you going to the Farmers' Ball, Harry?" "When is it to be given?"

"Why, when the harvest days are over." A rush was made for the spiked club, his escape.

MORGUE NOTES.

Harry Hayne is out at Lima, Ohiovoting.

Percy Rhodes made a hurried trip to Ohio to vote this week.

"Smooth" Maddox is endeavoring to emulate Percy Rhodes. He have moved again.

All candidates should get the in- This is very cheap. orsement of Si Daogherty Post, No.

Billy McSween and Tom Neal are organized post on the Night Bill Force, with H. W. Templar, assistant.

> C. M. (Pi) Warren attended the meetmaking the race for delegate this year.

> Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's. N. Cap. and G. Pigs' crubeens.

Fifth Division.

C. E. Sikken, recently returned from New York, came in last Friday. Charles F. Webster, from Alexander, Va., now labels his work "544." Thomas J. Travis, lately of Byron S.

Adams', printer, is located on slug 10. M. F. Barrett, from Gibson Bros., was among those assigned to this room last Friday. Mr. Petrie spent three days in the George Barnes: vain attempt to catch a mess of fish. He should consult our fisherman, Joe

Fried bacon does not agree with the esthetic nature of our chairman, so that hereafter he will have to cut that

Frank Sloan, from Harper's Ferry, W. Va., lately employed in the job room of the National Publishing Company, is now a member of the Fifth.

J. W. Mathers, W. H. Cornish, Jr.

come to Omaha look up the men and of a plate to the lens. Mr. Morton offer them more than they are getting used to work in a photograph gallery now. At an increase of $2 per week some twenty years ago, but then a with us. over the Omaha scale I doubt if they score of years has made great changes Messrs. Alfred Dietz, of Baltimore,

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Treasury Branch.

William Bullis and H. H. Brayton are proud fathers. Both are sons.

About a dozen went home to vote, which is a great many for an off year.

Foreman Pearson and A. H. Mc-Knight returned from their leave the first of the month.

Miss Leelia Bullard, of the folding room, has been detailed to the Civil Service Commission.

folding room, has been sick for about son, and mind, I am to be Mr. Smith a month. Her condition is still very for this whole evening."

M. C. Foss, a former foreman of this went. division but now a clerk in one of the one day last week.

It seems to be puzzling to many to know who will be the John Leach of bevy, ignoring the would-be introducer. Columbia Union affairs since the departure of that gentleman to the Phil- mered the erstwhile debonair masher,

Samuel Gompers, chairman of the Committee on Labor of the William McKinley National Memorial Arch Association, has selected C. E. Dietrich, strolled in and perched his No. 13's in of this division, as a member of that Fletcher Bowden resigned about two weeks ago to accept a position in the Weather Bureau, at Galveston, Tex. Night Bill Force. Thus will Daniel be He was deservedly popular here, and prosperity in his new field of labor.

The following compositors were transferred to this division last week: gaged in a battle for the pinochle L. D. Wheeldon, of the Fifth; C. J. championship. As soon as the scorer Sheriff and W. Brice Coston, of the can get himself untangled the record Third; W. S. Hennen, T. F. McKeon, will be published. Affidavits will be and W. J. Galbraith, of the First. Mcmade and evidence submitted this Keon and Coston have worked here before.

Albert K. Mundheim has been appointed assistant foreman in place of Charles B. Hough, deceased. He was take the "all" was on. We do not formerly foreman of the Bond Publishknow whether it was done maliciously ing Company at Baltimore, and at one cuss that ever swapped hosses. He's or for lack of discretion, but it should time a maker-up here, but recently he running a stable now; made it all offen was connected with the Sixth Division chapel.

Among the promotions announced recently by the Treasury Department, we notice that George C. Havenner, of Thought they'd run him outer Jeff City the Bureau of Statistics, has been in- long ago. Reg'lar deadbeat, that felcreased from $1,000 to $1,200. "Doc." recently resigned from the Document Proof Room to accept this position, time I saw him he was carrying the but in the melee the perpetrator made and his many friends are pleased to learn of his early advancement.

SUBSCRIBER.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's. N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Bindery Notes.

Have Harry Fish recite to you the wful tale of the Tacoma fire.

Al. Rodway's comic sayings and jokes will be sold for 5 cents a copy.

Bill Lang had his palmist. She was a beauty. Bill says an antique colon, or a primer 'a?'" Bill Brockwell, E. C. C., has a well it cost $10. She advised him to put his money in oil.

Jim Feeney has written a new song entitled "Kitty and I." It is a charming of the Post. "Pi" is anticipating ing little ditty and very catchy. Have Jim sing it to you.

Joe Day will invite a number of his friends to a French dinner on his arrival in New York, where he will make a dramatic speech in rag time.

John Burns, while practicing a song to sing in the binders' minstrels show, this city as to the advisability of orattracted the notice of all the neigh- ganizing a union of leather workers. bors. They rushed to the house and Charles T. Conine, general organizer knocked on the door to see what was of the United Brotherhood of Leather | * * * the matter with him and offered their Workers on Horse Goods, also editor assistance to help put him out of pain.

Darling Johnny's brow Is wrinkled now, And sadness weighs him down: The free beer of yore He sees no more;

And he wears a constant frown, Cow Boy.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Scholarships for Sale.

business or commercial course it will be matrimony. to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholarare advertising for job men in Omaha, C. E. Morton bought a camera a few reference. Residence, 621 New Jersey street northwest.

Record Notes.

Messrs. Bass and Brooks are again and C. P. Boss are new appointees. We lost on Saturday, by transfer to Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. the Bill Force, Messrs. Wolfe and Yetter.

> A young man employed on our force tells the following on himself. Not wishing to be too personal, his name is translated into "Smart," for purpose of narration:

"Was going along the avenue last evening," he commenced, with a sickly reminiscent smile, "when my partner said to me, 'Smart, see those girls? Say, they are beauts! And-Holy Moses! They are smiling at us! Come Miss Sarah Martin, forelady of the along; I'll introduce you as Mr. John-

Nothing backward about Smart. He

"Good evening, ladies; so charmed! departments, was a welcome visitor allow me; this is Mr. Johnson, of -" "Good evening, Mr. Smart," demurely replied the brightest eyed of the

> "H-his name is J-johnson," stamnow looking as if slapped. "Mr. Smart, I have met you before."

was the collected, cool reply. And the chappies didn't linger. Ask slug 47 if they did. One of our recent acquisitions is Ridings of Missouri. He came during Tomlin's leave. Tomlin, you know, is also from that great State. On the return of the latter the writer, thinking i but a proper courtesy, introduced the two fellow statesmen, and knowing the ways of such people, went back and sat down to await the fun. They were of course overjoyed to meet. But they fairly went into spasms when they found that their swings around "The State of Misery," as Walton calls it, covered the same ground though years apart, and that neither could recall a person or typical character to the other unknown. The conversation was similar to this: T.-"Do you know J. M. Stokes?" R .- "Do I know Jim Stokes? Should say I do. He's the meanest, lyingest a spavined, one-eyed mule he bought for $10. And, speakin' of mean men, Will H. -

T .- Not Bill Blank! Is he alive yet? ler. And Howard J .--

R.-"How. Johnson? Why, the last banner in St. Io.'

And on they babbled till even I could not bear it longer, and in preference and sheer desperation rushed out and on-yes, up to the seventh floor-with a truck heavily laden with a half page of nonpariel. Recuperated by that clear atmosphere, and the peaceful personalities of Messrs. Nelson and Burnside, I ventured back. They were still at it, unmindful of poor slug 44, whom I found leaning over the case with his face buried in Dick Lowd's towel. hand read by a "What's the matter, old man?" Lost

"No, Clem," gasped the poor fellow. 'He's dead!"

"Who?" "They've just mentioned one good Missourian, and he's dead." We wept together.

L. J. CLEMENTS.

Leather Workers May Organize.

At a meeting held Tuesday night at 404 Eighth street northwest, plans were discussed by the leather workers of * * * Leather Workers' Journal, gave a very The following was handed to our interesting talk upon the advantages correspondent for publication by Mr. and benefits of organization. There are about thirty-five men eligible for membership in this city, and no doubt an organization will shortly be perfected. E. J. Ratigan, organizer of the American Federation of Labor, was also present

Greenfield-Foland.

At the residence of Rev. Dr. Green, 1320 Q street northwest, on Wednesday, November 6, Mr. Thomas Greenfield, of Indiana, and Miss Hattie May To any one contemplating taking a Foland, of New York, were united in

Only a few friends were present by invitation,

Mr. Greenfield is an employe of the Government Printing Office.

*************** J. E. BONINI'S

BUFFET AND CAFÉ. 727-729 N. Capitol Street.

MAERZEN BEER ON TAP.

A first-class Lunch Counter. Sea food in season. Union throughout. ************

Woodward & Lothrop,

DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ide

Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and Seventh Stree T

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE Renowned for choicest UNDERWEAR, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

Is now open. It contains all that is up to date
A Choice Line of

LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas...

UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL. WASHINGTON, D. C.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, 728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

-VISIT-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . Everything the Best.

BOBINGER BROS., = = Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873. S. H. HINES & CO.,

UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00.

The Evans Dental Parlors, 1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office

Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO... Undertakers and Embalmers, 443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes. Once Tried You'll Always Use It. Take no Substitute. Ports * ** and Sherries for Family Use* * Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes

* * of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round. JOHN CONNOR,

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

s becoming more popular every lay—people are just beginning to cealize its good qualities. "Oron-too" is the best thing you can take or a cold. 50c. full pint; $1 quat. belivered anywhere. 'Phone 2134 Your order.

EDWARD J. QUINN, 604 Pa. Ave.

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscription solicitor at this office; one who is will raise because the employers will and Joe Fritz went to their respective bid against one another for the men. It is office; one who is not affected with climatic lassitude only would like a few more pupils. Best of home after December 1, at 715 Third need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission May a happy and long life be theirs. paid. Apply at this office.

ABBBBBBB Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher, 1012 7th St. N. W.

888888 THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldw BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

ONE PRICE.

SHERWOOD } Specialties. Cool Lager Beer on Draught. BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 2½c. PER CUE.

> THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

BOOKBINDER. 628 LA. AVE. N. W.

EDWIN F. PRICE.

Ruling and Binding of every description.
Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO. Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY BICYCLE SUNDRIES.

ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

and a source

Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per me.

300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel. Every Laboring Man

-requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of-Cream Blend Flour

It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy. Your Grocer will supply you. B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

cossess sessessed

J. L. KERVAND. Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

1012 Penna Ave. - - Washington, D. C.

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock. 50 YEARS

COPYRIGHTS &C. Scientific American.

MUNN & CO. 36 Broadway. New York I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER

211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET. EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL

Drawn from the Wood.

INSURANCE COMPANY, 605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER, Fine Wines and Liquors,

1219 E Street Northwest.

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS. FOR LUNCH

A SWELL OVERCOAT

The Young Man's Overcoatin blacks, Oxfords, and fashionable overplaids — long cut— broad shouldered—full back with the style, shape, and "swing" that are exclusively ours. The prices range from $12.8 to $35- a clean saving of from $3 to $5.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005=7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring Department. COATS CUT TO YOUR MEASURE

V. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W., Inion Clothier, Furnisher, and latter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Pressmen's Union Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Washington Printing Pressmen's Union for November brought out the largest attendance of the year, the interest in the nomination of officers for the year 1902 apparently being the magnet.

The past two years have been the most prosperous in the history of the organization, the increase in membership being fully 25 per cent, and the ac cumulation of finances in the various funds-general, funeral, legislative, and relief, showing that that the Pressmen's Union is keeping step with all that is progressive in the management of a trades union.

The younger element of the union have been encouraged to take interest in the management of affairs, and that they appreciate this is evident in the nominations for the coming year.

Many of the nominating speeches were of the highest order showing that the speakers shared in the belief that the placing of a candidate before the membership is an important factor in a campaign. Those of Bright, Shine, and Franklin were particularly notable; that of Mr. Mooney was the best of the evening, and showed that in this young man the union has an orator able to cope with the best in any of the labor organizations in the District. The nominations were as follows:

For President-R. C. McAuley, J. D. McKinnon, Clarence E. Bright, and H. T. Mooney.

For Vice President-T. A. Franklin. For Secretary-George M. Ramsey, For Freasurer-William M. Weher. For Sergeant-at-Arms-H. R. Fellinger.

Executive Committee (three to be elected)-Charles H. Shulte, C. H Evans, James H. Galbreath, Frank as often as any are cited before a judge Ferris, N. C. Sprague, and E. A. for alleged violation or "contempt" Baulsir, ratify the action of the Central Labor Union in boycotting the Washington the alleged arbitrariness of the judges Traction Company, claiming it would be ineffective as 50 per cent of the membership are compelled to ride on League will not hesitate to ask for the these cars daily. It was thought best impeachment of members of the judi to allow the good sense and union ciary on charges of oppression of the principles of the membership to guide citizen and malfeasance in office. them in this matter rather than adopt a measure doubtful of being effective.

The apparent intent of the I. T. U to withdraw from the tripartite agree ment has caused the pressmen some concern, but it can not be seen why the withdrawal of one party to an agreement abrogates that contract with respect to the other two parties concarned. If the I. T. U sees fit to with draw and the Bookbinders and Pressmen adhere certainly they are the Allied Printing Trades, and the seceding party can not hope to supersede the Allied Trades Label with an individual label of its own. That there has been some grounds for dissatisfaction on the part of the I. T. U. is admitted, but largely of its own manufacture, but these things can all be settled without disrupting an alliance that has taken BIJOU years to acccomplish. The local Allied Council has done a great deal of good, although the friction at times has been intense, and it is the interest of the Pressmen's Union to see that this council is maintained in the future.

The next convention of the International Pressmen's Union will be held Most Stunning Woman in Vaudeville in Baltimore, in June next, and there will be candidates galore for the honor of representing No. 1 at that meeting. SUBSCRIBE FOR THE The election for delegate occurring in April next.

Labor Day Awards.

The following awards and numbers winning same have been announced by the Central Labor Union:

No. 3322 wins. 2d prize, parlor rocker; ticket No.

2091 wins. 3d prize, one year's subscription to the Post; ticket No. 2069 wins. 4th prize, one year's subscription to the Star; ticket No. 862 wins.

5th prize, one year's subscription to the Times; ticket No. 854 wins. 6th prize, fountain pen; ticket No.

3698 wins. 7th prize, lady's pearl handle umbrella; ticket No 260 wins. 8th prize, lady's silk waist; ticket

No. 3967 wins. 9th prize, willow rocker; ticket No.

3783 wins. 10th prize, parlor table; ticket No

3733 wins. 11th prize, parlor rocker; ticket No. 4265 wins.

12th prize, silver-plated bowl; ticket No. 671 wins.

13th prize, iron waste basket; ticket No. 295 wins. 14th prize, one compendium; ticket

No. 2764 wins. 15th prize, pair gentlemen's kid gloves; ticket No. 50 wins.

16th to 27th prizes are gentlemen and ladies' belts; tickets Nos. 2749, 1871, 3067, 1614, 2779, 234, 4447, 3681, 2032, 2095, 2096, and 4006 win each one belt.

Prizes can be secured upon delivery of the numbered coupon only. Call upon the Secretary of the Central Labor Union at his residence any even ing, between the hour of 6 and 7 o'clock p. m., residence 106 I street northwest, Coupon holders will please retain their coupons, as prizes not called for by the first of December will be drawn for again, and any person holding such coupon will receive the prize. By order of the Central Labor Union Committee.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

The public owns all the street car lines in St. Petersburg, Russia.

To Fight Strike Injunctions.

Labor's scheme for an organization o fight the injunctions of judges and courts against strikers has been realized by the founding of the Chicago Anti Injunction League at a special meeting of the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor recently.

Provision for starting a fund to wage legal battle against the imprisonment of any strikers or pickets under the injunction processes is a notable feature of the new body.

Alleged abuses which are to be fought with special vigor and persistence are the practices by which the attorneys of industrial combinations are declared to to have "railroaded" strikers and strike sympathizers to jail on injunction proceedings. Legal fights by the best legal talent obtainable will be made for the liberty of each striker or picket of an injunctional order.

Frequent use of the writ of habeas corpus is threatened, and in case that is not voluntarily restricted or com pelled by agitation, the Anti-Injunction

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, NOV. 11. The Sensation of Two Continents.

LA BELLE TORTAJADA Direct from Metropolitan Opera

House, New York. MISS LENORE WHITE

AND HER Living Art Studies.

Past six months the feature at the Court Street Theatre, Buffalo, N. Y.

BURLESQE COMPANY -45 PEOPLE-Directed by JOHN GRIEVES IN A NEW BURLESQUE

Coming November 11. First appearance here of MISS ALEXANDRA DAGMAR

Trades Unionist.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor ist prize, silk damask rocker; ticket and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | NAME.                                                             | Business.                                                                        | LOCATION.                                                                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Haines' Southeast Store                                           | Department store. Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher. Printer. Printer. Printer. | Eighth and Penna avenue s.e. 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.w 708 Seventh street n.w. 508 Fourteenth street n.w. 512 Tenth street n.w. 1108 E str et n.w. |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).E. Gundershiemer             | Cigar manufacturerBaker                                                          | 1011 Penna. avenue n.w.516 Second street n.w. and stallin Center Market.                                                                           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Peter Grogan J. Mangan. John H. Fitzgerald. S. S. Daish.          | Carpet dealer. Horseshoer Horseshoer. Coal and wood                              | 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w.L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w.443 Prather's alley n.w.Florida ave and Third st. n.e.                          |
| The state of the s | Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Hencke Sneets & Miller James A. Bennett      | Meat dealer. Electrician Electrician Tinner                                      | Center and O st. Markets.711 G street n.w.804 E street n.w.2008 H street n.w.                                                                  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company I. Grosner M. Minster     | Paperhanger and decorator. Mosaics                                               | F street northwest.207 Fourth st. n.w.914 F st. and 803 Market Space1343 · st. n.w.                                                            |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | A. H. McGhan. A. Minster. Charles Walters. A. Markward            | Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher Carriage Builder Contracting painter     | 817 E st. n.w.499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w.Fourteenth and D streets n.w609 G street n. w.                                                      |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Cyrus B. Reese                                                    | Employing steamfitterUnion Iron Works.Laundry.Laundry                | 1519 Fourteenth street n. w.212 Twelfth street n. w.First and G streets n. w.491 to 499 C street n. w.                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Wash. Traction & Electric Co.Minster & PatersonThe Famous | Street Railway                                                                   | City and Suburban Lines.1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w.437 Seventh street n. w.                                                                       |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                   | D:                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                            |

To Secretaries: Please notify this office of Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No. iny change in officers' addresses, time or place of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

American Federation of Labor-Headquarters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'lGompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary.

Morrison. Secretary.

International Association of Machinists,
Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building,
Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James
O'Connell, president; D Douglass Wilson,
vice-president and editor of the Journal;
George Preston. Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple. C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street north-west. Residence, 106 I street norrhwest.

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest. Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America, Division No. 161, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight, alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street northeast

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Mon-day evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I

Workmen, Local No. 148 meets every Thursday evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith. Secretary, 3315 Brightwood avenue northwest. Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local Union No. 102, meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. J. A. Daly, Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street northwest northwest.

Bakers Union, No. 118. meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street southwest.

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third hursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p. m. at 430 Eighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310 every Sunday at 2 p. m. a north west. Jere F. McCa Seventh street southwest Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Penn-ylvania avenue southeast.

A. D. Manger, Secretary, 230 Seventh street southeast. Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tuesday in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall, 737 Seventh stret northwest. F.M. Farmer. Secretary, 245 North Capitol street.

Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118. meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and P nnsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

424. Station G.

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street southwest.

Operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets

Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers, Local Union, No. 368, meets every Friday night at 43 Eighth street north-west. John L. cochran, Secretary, 510 E st.

Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor. Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jersey avenue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. W. H. Robertson, Secretary, 507 Eleventh street northwest. Ceramic. Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers, Local Union No. 12. meets second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at Bieligh's Hall, '37 Seventh street northwest. William Keith, Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Ble-ligk's Hall. 737 Seventh street northwest Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists, meets first and third Weinesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest. Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Tem-ple, 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett,

Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway carmen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, Secretary 939 G street southwest Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, L.S. H. E. most second and fourth Nicht ouglass Association of the Court of the Medical Structure of the Month at 609 F street northwest. John W. Stockton. Secretary, 411 Twentyfourth street northwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union, and fourth Saturday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, 117

west. and the provided street of the street

8097, meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Masonic Fall, Anacost a. D. C. C. W. Teates. Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia.

Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers' Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory, 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec-retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No 5, meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac street northwest. International Brotherhood of Electrical tary, 200 E street northwest.

Workers, Local Union No. 26, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tary, 200 E street northwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. W. f. Malloy, Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Wednesday night at Eighth and D streets northwest. N. A. James, Secretary, 3512 O street northwest.

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set ters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Secstreet northeast.

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher

International Union of Steam Engineers.

Westernational Union of Steam Engineers.

Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursda evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvani avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest Iron Molde s' Union, Local No. 215, meets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Scoresary, street northwest.

10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvanic avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Score-tary, 1256 Tnirty first street northwest. first and third wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17, meets hrst and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G str ets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E street northwest.

ourneyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters'
Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month a Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A E. Anderson, Secretary, 3122 Dumbarton are northwest.

musicians' Protective Union, No. 161 meets every Sunday at 11 a. m., at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest.

street northwest.

National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. John A. Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424, Station G.

Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New
Frank Rom. Secretary, 811 G st. southeast.
Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New
Frank Rom. Secretary, 8

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first Wednesday in the mon h at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts. Secretary. Kensington, Md

Carriage and Wagon Workers' International
Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C.,
meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204

M. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street

Printing Pressmen U. ion, No. 1, meets first Saturday o each month at Typographical Temple. 923-425 G street northwest. Emil Petersen, Secretary 200 Thirteenth st. n. w. Plate Printers Union, No. 2, meets at Macabee Temple. Ninth street northwest, the third Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secretary. 717 Seventh street northeast.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262. meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Typographical Temple. 421 G street northwest. J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street northwest.

Steam Fitters, R. A Lanis Association, L. B.

No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth stree northwest. Thos. I. Gaut, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Steam and Ho Water Fitters and Helpers, Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Friday at & o'clock p m, at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary,

Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first

Washington Branch Granite Cutters' National Union, meets every fourth Monda in each month, at 1204 Pennsylvania avenu northwest. Wm. Silver. Secretary, 49 Massa

No. 42, meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 Q

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

National Capital Brewing Co.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E. 'Phone 1293. Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

BANKS.

THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

BOOTS AND SHORM. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. CIGARS.

MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Jnion-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand 52 H Street Northwest. CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. Wholesalers.
Tom Keene 5c. Cigar.

COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER.

E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W. CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENT E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PRINTERS.

JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. HARDWARE AND TOULS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 1004 F St. N. W. 522 10th St. N. W FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's, beers and popular brands of whiskies, 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

ALTERING AND REPAIRING.

MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST, Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7 HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY,

1010 Pennsylvania Aye N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST.

All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO. (Late Ryneal's),

418 7th St. N. W PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO

Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Pelephone, 2180.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER.

SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O. PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast (orner Second and History)

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS: Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. Sth and Water Sts. S. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave. RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E HATTERS AND FURRILERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS. 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. See our $2 and $3 Hats. TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores. GROCERIES. "Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave. DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & MCCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W.

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

HECHT & CO.,

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 22.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Public Printer Palmer Honors Organized Labor Again.

DIETRICH CHOSEN DELEGATE

Communication of Secretary of the Navy riage Makers' Appeal-Headquarters of Electrician's International to Come Here The Grievance Committee Report.

The Central Labor Union met in carriage makers in Cincinnati, Ohio, weekly session at Typographical Tem- were on strike and requested financial ple, Monday night, President Feeney aid of this body, which was granted. in the chair.

Credentials were received from Fire Jno. A. Sweeney; from Bakers Drivers' Union, Local No. 33, certifying J. E. Toone; Engineers No. 14, certifying Edward Venerable; from Tile Layers No. 2 certifying Raymond Thompson, and from Granite Cutters certifying J.

filed and matter turned over to Label Hamerstrom, 58. Secretary Dietrich's Committee.

A very lengthy communication bearing upon the matter of musicianscivilian and the Marine band members from Assembly 4308, K. of L., was read and same was referred to Musicians' Union. This communication was a vigorous protest opposing the discrimination against the Marine band by Musicians' Union No. 161. It contended that if the members of the joying the rights of the union the same action should be taken in regard to other Government organizations.

Communications were received from Engineers No. 14 and Beer Drivers No. 234 and were placed on file.

The following communication from the Navy Department, was referred to Columbia Lodge of Machinists for ac-

NAVY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Nov. 5, 1901. DEAR SIR: Referring to your letter of November 4, stating that it has come to the notice of the Central Labor Union that an effort is being made to have graduates of manual training schools employed as mechanics in the Navy-Yard, I have to advise you that upon the recommendation of the Superupon the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Naval Gun Factory the Department has declined to accept the certificate of a manual training school in lieu of the usual trade certifi-cate required of mechanics who register for employment at the Washington eventful trip. Navy Yard.

Very respectfully, John D. Long, Secretary.

Mr. JOHN HAMERSTROM, Vice-President Central Labor Union.

Communications relative to the Washington Traction and Electric Company Railway, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters No. 190, and American Federationist, were placed on file.

The following from the San Francisco Labor Council was indorsed, and copies ordered sent to the President of the United States and the Secretary of the SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., October 30, 1901.

DEAR SIRS AND BROTHERS: A condition of affairs that calls for speedy persistent agitation throughout our ness of Public Printer Palmer. He Roosevelt.

Therefore, I was instructed by the San Francisco Labor Council to request you to address a letter to President Roosevelt along the lines of the Labor Council s letter. Likewise send letters to your Senators and Representatives in Congress requesting them to give their support to this matter. Interest also some of your affiliated unions, especially the iron trades unions and get them to write such letters. "Voices from the people" often accomplish wonders when all other methods have Bespeaking your earliest compliance with this request, I remain,

Yours truly, ED. ROSENBERG,

The following resolutions, which were adopted, were offered by Delegate A S. Nolan, of the Feeders' Union

WHEREAS, The Hon. Frank W. Pal-mer, Public Printer, has appointed J. L. Feeney, President of the Central Labor If "Taxation Without Representa-Union, to the position of Superintendent of the Sewing Department in the Government Bindery, thereby recognizing an active trades unionist and an earnest worker for our cause; there-

Resolved, That we extend to the Public Printer our thanks and appreciation of the honor conferred on the President of this body, as a just recognition of one who has been a faithful adherent and strong advocate of organized labor; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Hon. Frank W.

Delegate Brinkman stated that 1,700

The body then proceeded to ballot for a delegate to the American Federa-Department Employes' Protective and tion of Labor Convention, to be held ment. Beneficial Union No. 8846, certifying at Scranton, Pa., on December 5, 1901. Three candidates-Messrs. Charles E. Dietrich, of Columbia Typographical Union; John Hamerstrom, of the Machinists' Union, and William Silver, of the Granite Cutters' Union-were nominated. Messrs. Crowley, Hough, and LeClair were appointed tellers. The election was then made unanimous.

A resolution prevailed that instruction of delegate be made special order thought that the great mass of the peo- liberty. of business at 9 p. m. at next Monday's convention of Electricians it was voted small proportion of its inhabitants. to move their international headquarters to this city.

Many organizations reported the placing of fines upon their members and Traction Railway.

The Grievance Committee reported progress

The Secretary was instructed to secure 5,000 cards for roll call system.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Bindery Notes.

All the delegates to the Central Labor Union attended the last meeting.

Julius Greiber received a large consignment of liverwurst from his friends in Cincinnati, Ohio.

John Atkins is taking only a few day's leave at a time. By so doing he avoids setting them up for the boys.

Have Bill Haslett tell you about the ppy as the day is long since that Theodore Hardy has returned to work and shows the effect of his severe illness. We are pleased to have him with us again and hope he will regain his good health.

Boby Gaylor moved out to Hyattsville so he would have the right of franchise, and we admire him for it, but the returns do not show that Boby captured any votes.

The Minstrel Circle at the Bookbinders entertainment will be all members of the craft. There will be thirty singers in the first part. Do not miss it. New Year's eve.

James L. Feeney, President of the To the Officers and Members of City Union, received a promotion. It was Central Councils and of Labor State a personal appointment of the Public Union, received a promotion. It was Printer. Feeney has long been a hard and earnest worker in the interest of Francisco. Only vigorous and bindery are greatly pleased at the kindof flowers.

ON A RECENT WEDDING.

Now that Miss Sarah Jane Greer Has become Sarah Jane Hayes. May the best of good cheer Be with her all days And may bessings galore, With true love as a guide, Be at all times in store For both bridegroom and bride May their lives be a dream Of contentment and peace, And may sorrows but seem Of their joys an increase And if athwart their love light A little haze should appear, May it be welcomed all right With a sweet "Hush-a-by, dear

THIRD DIVISION, G. P. O.

DISTRICT RULE TYRANNICAL

tion Is Tyranny" as Declared.

SUFFRAGE THE ONLY REMEDY?

Many Great and Prominent Men Cited-The Poor Man Pays the Heavier Tax on Property-The Ballot Would Enable the Peo-

If "taxation without representation is

If, as Abraham Lincoln declared, umbia since 1874.

If, as Thomas Jefferson declared, 'independence can be trusted nowhere Communication was received from first ballot resulted: Dietrich, 54; great principle has not been properly unrepublican in form, "autocratic," so guarded at the present time.

> ple are "not in it" with the rulers of the District of Columbia, who are ap-Notice was given that at the recent pointed through the influence of a very

> > "The will of the minority as a permanent arrangement," said President Lincoln in his first inaugural address, "is potism in some form is all that is left."

electing of representatives do not enjoy here and build fine residences." liberty, but are absolutely enslaved to those who have votes, and to their representatives."

"Let them [the common people] beware," said President Lincoln in his possess, and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of charming widow he visited in Camden, advancement against such as they, and N. J., when he was up to vote. Bill is to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them till all of liberty shall be lost."

Strike down manhood suffrage, take away from workingmen that most powpower to peaceably redress their grievduring the past twenty-five years?

Had not the road to the ballot box been open to them does any one imagine that the interests of the laboring fellow workman. He is deserving and classes would have been "jealously prochange exists as to the repair work done on United States transports at honest, and his many friends in the tected?" Would the Chinese restrictions of the contract of the con tion law, the law prohibiting the imcountry can remedy the evils referred was presented with a beautiful basket tract, the National, State, and municity of flowers. pal eight hour laws, etc., be on the statute books but for the fact that the workingmen of the country outside of this District are sovereigns and American citizens with all the privileges and powers pertaining thereto?

Those who oppose the re-establishment of a republican form of government in the District of Columbia assert that it was not intended by the framers of the Constitution that the people in the capital of the Republic should be given self-government; but that clause of the Constitution which gives to Congress the power of "exclusive legisla- Fish, the assessor, for the reason that Thomas unhitched the horses-the tion" over the District has been inter- he favored an "equitable" assessment dear, good old animals-and one of preted by many of our ablest and most of property. (See House Report, No. them began to roll and all of a sudden statesmen to mean that Congress shall have exclusive legislation as against plate and does not warrant the overthrow of local self-government in this

"The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government," says the Constitution.

Can this wise provision be rightly interpreted to mean that the United States shall guarantee to the States a ple to Adjust Wrongs-Roswell A. Fish, republican form of government, but is empowered to annihilate every principle of such government in this portion of the original ten miles square?

The fact that local self-government tyranny," as it was declared to be by was established here by Congress as our revolutionary forefathers, then the soon as possible after the District bepeople of the District of Columbia are came the "seat of government," and living under a most tyrannical govern- that such government was maintained for seventy years thereafter, is proof positive that the framers of the Consti-'we cannot have free government with- tution did not intend that the people in out elections," then we have not had the capital of the Republic should be free government in the District of Col- despoiled of their inalienable right of local self-government.

There are numerous objections to the present form of government in this Disbut with the people in mass," then that trict, but the undisputed fact that it is Shirt Waist Workers' Union relative to Hamerstrom, 46; Silver, 33. The sec- guarded in the District of Columbia and therefore completely out of harlabel on said goods; same was ordered ond and final ballot was: Dietrich, 69; during the past thirty years, and is not mony with our institutions, should insure for it the unqualified condemna-It is conceded by nearly all persons tion of all those who believe in the who have given the matter serious the fundamental principles of American

Another serious objection is that it is different sections of the city, both as to improvements and assessment of prop-

The law directs that all property shall wholly inadmissible; so that, rejecting small homes of the poor are assessed, "Liberty or freedom," said Benjamin | property and homes of the rich. Thus share in the appointment of those who representation," but we have it in its 809 of them. frame the laws; * * * and the poor most unjust and oppressive form; and Large tracts of the most valuable vacant land in the District, held by speculators for a rise in value, are assessed, in violation of law, at from one-fifth to tary of the Associated Charities, who first annual message, "of surrendering land on which the poor man has his a political power which they already humble home is assessed at a very much higher rate.

Five years ago last January a gentleman purchased two and three-tenths acres of land in the northwestern part of the District, for which he paid $1,840 -$800 an acre. When he bought it it was assessed at $225 an acre as agrierful of all weapons, the ballot, and you cultural land at $1 on the hundred. As deprive them of nine-tenths of their land was rapidly increasing in value in What would be the condition of the was assessed at less than one-tenth of sharks.

power to right such wrongs with the ballot and fail to do so, they themselves are to blame if the injustice continues; but if, as is the case in this District, the people have been deprived of that weapon, they are powerless to right the unjust and unlawful assessment of land or any other wrong, however

It is impossible to say whether or not the re-establishment of a republican form of government would bring about an equitable assessment of property, but it is certain that such a result would more likely be brought about were the

distinguished lawyers, jurists and WASHINGTON TRACTION AND ELECTRIC COMPANY UNFAIR

any state or states, but did not contem- Reasons Given by Division 161, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America, Why this Corporation Was Declared Unfair, and Should Not Be Patronized by Organized Labor.

> The Central Labor Union has declared the Washington Traction and Elecric Company unfair-

Because of its long continued hostile attitude towards Organized Labor as shown in its efforts to break up an organization of its employes, known as Division No. 161, A. A. of S. R. E. of A.

From the very origin of this Association its officers and leading members have been discharged for the most trivial offences, and often without any reason at all being given. Although these men were, as a general rule, among the most efficient of the employes of the system, two presidents, a vice president, a treasurer, a secretary, and warden, besides six executive committeemen, and a large number of prominent members have been discharged in a short time. And this, too, in spite of the protest of the Central Labor Union which sent communications and committees in vain.

This syndicate has also refused to grant its employes a nine-hour work day, which is the time worked on the other lines of this city.

It has refused to receive a committee of the organization of its employes to reat of matters pertaining to their general welfare.

It has persisted in maintaining a system of swings and trippers, in some ases requiring the greater part of both day and night to get in a day of eleven hours; and these men earning sometimes only $4.00 or $5.00 per week, while on the extra list, while ruining their health with constant service.

For these reasons, and for many others to numerous to mention, Organized Labor and its friends should not patronize nor permit their families to patronize any of the cars of this company.

The different lines of this company are: Metropolitan, City and Suburban, Columbia, Anacostia and Potomac, the Brightwood, Tacoma Park, Glen Echo, Great Falls, and Tennallytown Railway Companies.

By order of the Central Labor Union

sion, pages 104 and 105.)

unjustly administered as between the the rascals out" if they failed to hon- my yellow shoes. In a trembling voice duties.

man has an equal right, but more need, the only argument in favor of this in- of the last census, is well to the front Next morning we drank coffee made to have representatives in the Legis- equitable and unlawful assessment of in another matter. Out of 135 cities with water that looked like sour milk. lature than the rich one. That they property, as stated by Mr. Bloomer, is her death rate is higher than 119 of I was sick all day in consequence, city in the United States?"

alleys of our beautiful city.

E. W. O.

AN INTERESTING LETTER. Howard Ferguson, a Former Typo of G. P. O., Describes His Travels.

DEPT. OF THE INTERIOR, INDIAN SCHOOL SERVICE, FORT LEWIS SCHOOL, BREEN, COLO., Oct. 28, 1901.

DEAR COUSIN: G, what a long time into sand hills or time-worn rock piles. In 1889 the Commissioners "distree. I was so disgusted and tired that ciation and thanks, and departed 1469, Fifty-second Congress, first ses- stuck his legs straight up into the gloaming. I thought and so did Thomas With suffrage the people would at that the beast was going to give up the least have it in their power to "turn ghost, and my heart went down into estly and faithfully discharge their I urged Thomas to take the halter strap and get him up if possible. Many persons imagine that the tax Thomas obeyed; and Jerry rolled over levy in Washington City is very low in and sprang to his feet, shook the dust be assessed at its true value, but the comparison with cities in the States, off him and then laughed at us. During but in a statement prepared by Mr. the night he tried to eat up everything Marine band were deprived from enfor patronizing the Washington Electric the majority principle, anarchy or deson the basis of true value, at from 50 to Theodore W. Noyes, and printed by the in the wagon, including poor me, when 100 per cent higher than the business Board of Trade in 1898, it is shown that I demurred and climbed out, bunking out of 1.083 American cities the tax on the sand, keeping one eye open all Franklin, "consists in having an actual we not only have "taxation without levy of Washington is greater than in night looking for coyotes, for one had looked at us a short ways back with Washington, according to the figures something of evil in his hungry eye.

who have no voice nor vote in the that "it encourages rich people to come them. Why should this distinction(?) coupled with lack of sleep. Jerry had fall to the lot of the "best governed pulled the cork out of the water jug during the night and drank up all the The inquisitive are respectfully re- good water. Not only that but he upset ferred to Mr. Charles F. Weller, secre- a bottle in which I had saved about a swallow of snake medicine that I had one tenth of the true value, while the has recently been "slumming" in the taken along in case of violent attacks. Well, we were off. The next nightmare was a boggy stream ahead. All sorts of awful stories were extant as to the direfulness of this most formidable stream. I held my breath as we crossed it that the load might be lightened. We crossed in safety. Our destination was Two Gray Hills, New Mexico. We had been traveling overland in that forlorn State for two or three days already. Two gray hills? The entire that section he expected his assessment I have been answering your (Charley's) horizon was studded with gray hills. to be increased the following year, but letter. I really have been suffering How were we to know just what "gray President Jefferson, in his first in- to his surprise it was reduced to $200 an some compunction because of my neg- hills" we were to bump up against? augural address, urged his countrymen acre, and remained at that figure until lect. I have varied experiences since To travel thus without having any into exercise "a jealous care of the right last January, when he sold his $1,840 I wrote you last and they have been telligent idea as to locations and nothof election by the people—a mild and tract for $5,000 cash, and, after deduct- both pleasing, profitable, and satis- ing at the termination of the journey safe corrective of abuses which are ing $23 for five years' taxes, put into factory. During September I made an except the mythical names of objects lopped by the sword of revolution his individual pocket $3,137 of "un- official visit through the Navaho Reser- as a guide, the heart grows sick. Very where peaceable remedies are unpro- earned increment." This vacant land, vation in search of Indian pupils. I sick at heart, care worn, and with a bought and held for speculation only, took an interpreter along, Thomas horrible gnawing beneath the belt, we Hunt. Thomas and I had a most en- finally reached a certain "Two Gray workingmen of this country today if the price at which it sold for cash. joyable experience. For two whole Hills." Here we remained and recuthey, like the workingmen of the Na- This is a fair sample of the manner and days we traveled over the deserts of perated for three days. During our tional Capital, had been disfranchised the methods by which the whole com- New Mexico where about all that could sojourn we had the privilege and exmunity is being squeezed by the land be seen was sand and the dim outline treme pleasure of attending the Ya-beof mountains in the distance which, ap- chi dance of the Navahos. Before be-Where the people have it in their parently the more we traveled in their ing able to witness any of the festividirection the further they seemed from ties, however, through my interpreter, us. As one travels over the desert there I told about two hundred bucks assemseems to be something of a magnifying bled the object of my visit among nature in the atmosphere and other them. I went into their Hogan (erected elements that tends to make objects especially for the sacred dance) and appear mammoth when viewed from a addressed myself to the chiefs. They distance, but when they are practically listened very attentively and replied reached they diminish and dwindle laconically, digging up all sorts of excuses and reasons why their children We camped for one night on the desert, could not come to Fort Lewis school. and let me tell you it was very lonely. I left them, but not until I had been We had driven very hard that day and given the promise that some children they told us to be sure and make Cot- should be sent to the school. I entertonwood. I, of course, thought Cotton- tained the chiefs at luncheon in the wood was a berg of some sort, but Hogan on the following day. Busied when we reached it at seven o'clock in myself helping the squaws clean out assessors directly responsible to the people than under the present system. when we reached it at seven o clock in the evening, behold, it was nothing but a common every day cotton wood. They are heartily, grunted their appresent system. missed peremptorily" Mr. Roswell A. I felt willing to hang up most anywhere. secured several very nice little blankets from them.

Yours, very truly, HOWARD FERGUSON, Clerk, in charge.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

A. J. E. HUBBARD ...

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C. as Second-Class Matter

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unquali-

THURSDAY. NOVEMBER 14, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising. -JOHN WANAMAKER.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known. -FRANKLIN.

A Boor Who Needs Disciplining.

His natural workmate, fellow-servant, and affinity is the mule. Equally posian assured income from the Government which educated him up to a point enabling him to fill certain positions, contempt for the man who works with and insulted should bring the matter a man can do in this world. to the attention of the Central Labor Union and the joined forces or unionism should carry the matter to the Sunday reading thus: Secretary of the Navy, the President, trol of civilians, leaving such boors as LUETZE and BOWYER to their legitimate work of hounding and maltreating enlisted men, to a realization of reading: whose wrongs the world has not yet been educated.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

An Old Story Told in the Old Way-The Newriches Contrasted with the Oldriches-Templar's Mean Man Story-An Arbitration Squib (or Two)-Candidates Will Be Numerous-New National Union Council-Zack Jenkins Goes to Scrappletown-The Immediate Relief.

"Come, Bill, let's go home," said has one because he is compelled to. Charlie Goodsoul, coming into the guzzle joint and seeing that Bill Boozer places clozup?" asked Bill.

you, Bill," said Charlie. "Letter b'ankchus," said

"she's b'n'ankchus b'fore."

do," said Bill; "an' me too."

see you. Come on," and Charlie off for a day or two. So he had his hour later, by which time Bill had succumbed to the liquor he had drunk and If all the men run for President at in without being asked to wipe his were going, just as an excursion. shoes, seated in the most comfortable chair, his hat taken, and Bill's pet pipe fiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union brought to him, while Mrs. B. would is being instituted among the Navyand the Building Trades Section, as well as offer him a drink out of her own private Yard employes, having about 150 names by the various locals connected with the two bottle, Mr. B. having in the meantime to start with. Senator Billy Briggs is the good old way:)

> said Mrs. Boozer. "And you," turn- larly and rapidly. ing fiercely to poor Charlie Goodsoul; "if it wasn't for such beastly wretches as you my husband would never get drunk! Get out of my sight, you low scoundrel, and if you ever get my husband drunk again I'll have you arrested! Clear out, you drunken hog, and let decent men alone hereafter! '

* * * * The Charlie Eve matter caused me to overdo myself last week, but I have about recovered.

You often read gibes at the newly The opinion is held by some that no rich, the "nouveau riches" of the Weyand, who said he had eaten noth-"coon" was ever fit to drive a horse. Frenchman, under the names of Nuriche, Cumrox, etc., in regard to the show they make with their money in tive is the evidence that a commis- the way of fine houses, equipages, sioned officer of the Army or Navy diamonds, and all that. These are the Immediate Relief, appurtenant should never have the superintendence usually written by the Neverriches, in thereto. As a good many do not seem of free American workmen. Brought the hope of pleasing the Oldriches, to know much about the I. R., it will up in the disciplinary school which who are generally too stupid to write do no harm to explain what it means. teaches him to lick the boots of his anything. Mr. Newrich has not always It is a local organization composed of superior and to administer kicks to his been in position to have everything he members of the National Union, and inferior, it seems impossible for him to wants, but now that he is so situated the qualification for membership in adrealize that in buying a man's labor he he "lets out his twine," spends his dition thereto is your own statement does not also buy his soul. Having money, and is really of some service in that you are in good health and not the world. Mr. Oldrich is too mean to over 54 years old. A dollar is the exspend a cent he doesn't have to, plods pense of going in, and the payment of he appears to entertain the most lively too fearful of loss to risk speculations oftener than three times a year) is the his hands for wages, and a suggestion principal amusement is sneering at the vantage is that as soon as you join the of trades unionism starts him to foam- generous outlays of Mr. Newrich which heavenly throng (this is not an absolute ing at the mouth. It is mutiny on the he is himself too mean to make, though essential, but you must be dead) its part of the rank and file and treason really jealous and envious of the agent comes around and worries your on the part of the leaders. At no greater display and more elegant com- widow by forcing $200 in cold cash place is this more clearly shown than forts of Mr. Newrich. Mr. Oldrich upon her, which does not come out of at the Washington Navy Yard, or, more thinks he is of a superior clay to the your regular policy. Now, if you want might find a profitable sale. And with properly, the Naval Gun Factory, and rest of mankind and he is anxious to to know more about it (this is all I the petty rules and exactions there bequeath the only claim he has to that know), go and see Charlie Leeds, Tim would be more in place in a peniten- superiority to his posterity-his money. Ring, or any other prominent National tiary. A day or two ago Commander Mr. Newrich made his fortune himself, Union man-the secretary of your coun-BOWYER or BOYER (or some such name), feels that he could do it again, and is cil, for instance. It has been in existwalking through one of the shops, saw even more certain that his sons could ence for about ten years and has over a posted notice conveying information do the same thing; but there is his 600 members. as to whom the members of the Ma. mistake, for his sons will belong to the Members of the G. P. O. Council, group of prin er poets whose dexterous notice of the next meeting. Calling a rich, in spending his money and making foreman and almost annihilating him a great show, is worth a hundred grindwith voice and look, he tore down the ing, cent-per cent Oldriches so far as offending notices and strode away. serving mankind is concerned, and that

* * * * The Post had a copied squib last

"Are you willing to arbitrate?"

"Are you willing to arbitrate?"

enough to buy the decision of the third whom they will select.'

But it isn't one-half as true.

The man who is always sneering at "labor skates" and "labor fakirs and denouncing union measures may have a union card, but he generally

H. W. Templar told me a story the had already had two men's allowances. other evening illustrating the fact that "Whasher masher 'thwaitin' tlozzer meanness brings its own reward as well as virtue, and this about a former 'Your wife will be anxious about fellow-townsman, too. There was a smallpox scare and everybody was or-Bill; dered to be vaccinated. Mr. Meanman was a machine operator who never "Come on; I'll go with you," said lost a day's work or gave a sub a show under any circumstances. When he on my "reminiscences," dear Adam "Be'fo' dols she'll knock y'out 'fyou found he had to be vaccinated or quit Bugg. I've got 'em licked to a standwork he consented, but refused to have still. "No, she won't; she will be glad to it on his arm for fear it might lay him !

tucked Bill under his arm and started shin vaccinated—about the worst place for the latter's home, where, after many imaginable-and it got so sore and weavings and meanderings, owing to affected his leg so greatly that he could Bill's lopsidedness, they arrived a half not get out of his house for two weeks.

was almost asleep. Charlie rang the the coming election that I have heard bell and Mrs. Boozer came to the door. mentioned the field will be as large as (At this point, if this were being told is usually that for delegate. And the by one of those sapheaded, brain- delegate fever seems to have struck frazzled, fish browed, slop-minded un- many a one already too. So far I have bored simples who attempt to spoil heard of 4 or 5 from the Proof Room stories that were good but old before alone, and if that proportion holds out they were born and run in their gar- in the other divisions the ballot will baged versions on us through the have to be lengthened. Cincinnati blanket sheets of the Post and the seems to be a popular place, for I have Star, Mr. Goodsoul would be invited heard several of the "ex's" say they

A new council of the National Union fallen upon a sofa, where he continued engineering it, and is very proud of the his nap. But I propose to finish it in encouraging outlook. The National Union has a larger membership in the Thornton's Shoe Store, "Drunk again, Bill Boozer-come in District than any other fraternal insurhere, you nasty, drunken hound!" ance organization and is growing regu-

Zach Jenkins has been on leave for a couple of weeks, and on his return he name in print blushes, perhaps, every went to the composing room of the time he faces a looking-glass. Night Bill Force, I think in charge of the new division that was split off of the force, which has been almost nightly growing until now it must number over 150. Jenkins went to Philadelphia, ostensibly to vote, but really to get a meal of scrapple, or "ponhaus" (this may not be the way to noted. He also brought along with ing so fine since he left Beaver.

Do you belong to the National Union? If so, you ought to be a member of along in his dull, money-making way, a dollar whenever called for (never where much might be gained, and his only requisite of staying in. The ad-pay their dues, and in another place a generation to make 'em. But Mr. New-Greene, jr., Night Bill Force.

The Lodge of I. A. M. thus offended is really the only great and good thing lives together, with the attendance of has grown asthmatic! Or that the prosperity and happiness.

which Thomas L. Jones is chairman, han is fettered in chairs of legal lore with George R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, that bind his muse jocund and lettered! and even to Congress, and then a combined effort should be made to put Government workshops under the conGovernment workshops under the pared a really meritorious programme twanged the tuneful lyre not many will be in accordance with our way of the entertainment to be given by thinking."

the Union at National Rifles' Armory the Union at National Rifles' Armory That is a great deal funnier than this Hall, on Monday evening, November 25, and every one who can go should Youth dwells in the heart of the poet. esteem it a privilege as well as a duty asked the workingman.
"Certainly," replied the employer.
"You will have one arbitrator, I will have one, and I think I have money to do so. Among the artists are the following; Jasper Dean McFall, baritone; Mrs. Joseph McChunn, soprano; to do so. Among the artists are the tone; Mrs. Joseph McChunn, soprano; W. H. Conley, humorist; Miss Isabel Shelton, character songs; G. W. Har- With the love of the man for his brother, vel, automatist; Thomas J. Quigley, tenor; Miss Marie Hodgson, toe dancer; Miss Marion Johnson, violinist; Miss The years may come laden with anguish. Margaret Linton, elocutionist, and G. W. Sunderland, trombonist, many of For youth dwells in the heart of the poet, whom I have had the pleasure of seeing and hearing. An excellent orchestra Amidst the world's tumult and clamor, has been engaged. After the entertainment, which begins at 8, there will be dancing-from 10 o'clock on. This Are illumined with hope in dark places promises to be one of the most successful, from every point of view, of the entertainments given by the Union, and Till at last in the stress of their scheming, Chairman Tom Jones, as the master In the glow of their hoping and dreaming. spirit, has worked hard to that end.

I am not worried about the kickers

A. F. BLOOMER.

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

-FOR-

Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

Parker, Bridget & Co.,

Washington's Leading Outfitters, . . . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

Gents, Ladies, Misses, Boys, and Children's FINE SHOES.

For Style, Comfort and Fit, we are unexelled. We cut the price.

706 Seventh Street N. W.

Long Primer Sorts.

The man who never likes to see his

A big phat table is like an oleaginous smile, inasmuch as it often bridges difficulty without much conscientious effort on the part of the bridge-builder.

Chairman Clements, of the Record Division, is one of the most genial and accommodating gentlemen who ever spell it), for which that city is chiefly held that position. He is gifted with the knack of making things easy for him a mess of chitterlings for Gus the new-comer as well as satisfying the requirements of the chapel membership in general. Besides this he has good judgment and is painstaking in the per formance of all his duties. In short he is just the kind of a fellow whom labor organizations should be proud to honor, and if he were more of a mixer and possibly a little more strenuous, there can be no question that he would long ago have achieved merited distinction in the arena of Union politics.

> The last installment of "Flotsam entertaining, as indeed the whole series has been. It is hard to understand how anyone could object to the effort therein made to record something of the life of a time whose like in the printing trade will never be seen again. Indeed it is to be hoped that Mr. Bloomer may yet find it possible to put at least the cream of his recollections in book form. No doubt such a work an introductory and more or less philosophical chapter dealing with changed conditions and other matters, it might be made an instructive as well as an entertaining addition to economicsociological literature.

What has become of the gladsome harp no more be heard upon this mortal shore? Will Rodier not vouchsafe a His many friends are a unit in wish- strain as fervid as of yore? Monting Dan Vaughan and his bride long gomery's muse, oh, tell us not that she erstwhile classic "Bab" seeks language more emphatic! Let not the The Committee on Entertainment, of thought consume our souls that Moyni-

> THE POET'S HEART. And will not be gainsaid. O'er the shrine where in worship of beauty He seeks the fulfillment of duty

> With the love of the man for the woman Glows his song at its height; With the love of the child for the mother-All its pain and delight.

All its splendor is shed.

Yet he grows not afraid. He shall grapple despair and o'erthrow it. And will not be gainsaid.

Lo, his van-cry of song Rises clear in the night, and men's faces Where they battle with wrong

In his song they shall find sweet compassion And grow quick to forgive Perfect manhood shall live.

ADAM BUGG. Orange County, Cal., has 300 acres

Dallas leads in saddle and harness production.

HENRY T. OFFTERDINGER, The MANUFACTURER. New 9TH STREET, Nicke BET. E & F. Cigar. UNION MADE

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product. Made Under Fair Conditions

The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

RACE COURSE AT BENNINGS D.C FALL MEETING

NOVEMBER 11 to NOVEMBER 30.

SIX RACES DAILY.

Electric cars and Penn. R.R. trains direct to Track.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR!

MATTRESS MAKING, CARPET CLEANING, ALTERING, AND RELAY. ING AT REASONABLE RATES.

W. H. ROBERTSON, 507 Eleventh Street Northwest. (Secretary Carpet Upholsterers' Union 7597, A. F. of L.)

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

The last installment of "Flotsam and Jetsam" was especially bright and Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

******* Che busiest spot in : the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO.

To all Judges of Good

BREAD We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imi-tate it because it's good,

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334.

Phone m. 2201-4. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

SAMUEL C. PALMER,

SODA and MINERAL WATERS In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles. Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad when calling

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY,

Jeweler and Optician

632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

| E. A. M. LAWSON      | President            |
|----------------------|----------------------|
| WALTER V. SMITH      | Vice-President       |
| W. M. GARRETT        | Secretary            |
| JOHN R. BERG         | Treasurer            |
| - C TITDIZING        | Organizei            |
| - WEND DET T         | Sergeant-at-Arms     |
| FRANK HART           | Doorkeeper           |
| TRUSTEES-J. E. Brigh | ht chairman : Joe M. |
| TRUSTEES-J. E. Brig  | is E A. M. Lawson,   |

and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J.

H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

COMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

James R. Armstrong.

FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman; T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A.

Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor.

LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly.

RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman ; J. M. Lenhart, and Hugh Reid OHAIRMEN. First Division—Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-W. R. Abbott. Fourth Division-('harles H. Gove Fifth Division-L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room—W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room—Chas. T. Graff.

Treasury Division—A. M. Allison.
Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-F. I. Gleason. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau.

Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein.

Globe Printing Co.—Harry Essex.

Judd & Detweiler's—Charles Nace.
Patent Record—T. N. Surguy.
Pearson's—Alex, England.

McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig.

Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher.

Law Reporter-A. S. Jones.

Down Town.

Union meeting Sunday.

Cheer up! Guess work. Are you a candidate? Speak out! Everybody went out Monday; not so many Tuesday; fewer Wednesday. Thomas K. McNeir, of Annapolis, Md., is in town this week looking the ponies over out at Bennings. Tom looks well and prosperous. John Atkins, one of the most popular bookbinders in the G. P. O., visited Bennings Wednesday and when asked how he made out, exclaimed: "I beat Death for a place." Lucky Jack.

First Division.

Congratulations to the house of Haworth. Tom was absent on Monday admiring a ten-pound boy.

Mr. D. L. Moynihan was called to his home at Troy, N. Y., last week on account of the death of his father, who had reached the ripe age of 89.

Mr. Henry D. Ponney, who left here about a month ago on his leave to visit his family in Oregon, has resigned and taken a position at Portland. Oregon "Poney," as he was familiarly called, will be missed by the practical jokers.

Many of the new appointments have been apportioned to the First. Among Sylvester, Massachusetts, W. W. III.

gram, Tennessee; Roland L. Davidgram, Tennessee; Roland L. Davidtion. son, Tennessee; E. P. Bennett, Wis- tion. Consin; E. E. Schooley, Indiana, D. X.

Ohio, where he went to vote. Mac

Lyons, Louisiana; S. Eubank Brown

Ohio, where he went to vote. Mac have organized a suicide club. Those Ships, which will be sold at a very reaconsin; E. E. Schooley, Indiana; D. R. Lyons, Louisiana, S. Elder, says this being an off year the Republes desiring membership and who join Election day attracted few, as none pectations. except hear by total from Kentucky, where he spent the relendurance, but those who join later avenue N. W.

messenger boy calling him up in the indisposed. trick." The message came from his force Wednesday. alley mate in the First.

make no further sales. The price has to keep up this record. gone up and Tommy has ordered aninduce Mr. La Pelle to "promote" the stock of the Angora goat farm, which promises to be a great Maryland industry, and in which Mr. La Pelle is a heavy investor. Tommy was promoted to the ring alley the first of the week.

Theodore A. Cays, better known among his old time friends, especially in New York city, as "Patsy," who has for a number of years been gradually growing blind, was dismissed on Wednesday last for total inability, NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt Mr. Cays has a wide circle of friends L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and who sympathize with him in his great calamity. In his younger days he was an ardent union worker in New York and was recognized as one of the swiftest and most intelligent compositors of the old days.

The seasons are generally indicated by the flight of the birds. After a dreary winter to wake up in the morning and listen to the "caw" of the crow, one needs no other assurance that spring is at hand. By the same token we know that a session of Congress is at hand by the presence of familiar Bill Force characters, who have been summering in foreign climes, such as the "Spec," etc. The latest rare old bird to blow in was our old friend. "Boob" Thompson. It wouldn't seem natural to have a Bill Force without BAB.

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Third Division.

Schooler is still in the saddle. "Dandy Jim" Harris is the swell dresser of the Third.

The new officers of the "Sym." will be announced next week.

W. C. Beddow has returned from his vacation spent in the East.

Frank O. Hart, No. 101's doorkeeper, is a "star" in this division.

F. M. Claffin celebrated his silver wedding several days since. Brice Coston and Clyde Sheriff have oined the Treasury workers. Charles B. Johnson has returned from a pleasant trip to Kentucky. There are thirteen probationary and eight temporary employes in this divi-

George H. Hayden, Alexandria, Va.,

is one of the latest additions to this force. Mr. H. A. McPike is the poet of the Third, and some of his verses are very year.

something to do.

The ponies have not attracted much attention yet from the sporting fraternity in this division.

Bill Bailey was hob nobbing with the Cabinet officers Tuesday evening at filled by appointment. the Masonic Temple.

The new symposium will start off with a large membership. The "sym" grows in popularity daily.

Albert Prince Edward Doyle, George R. Merriam and F. W. Kern have been transferred to the night force. Messrs. Hambright, Ripley and Hes let have resumed their respective stations since the return of Foreman

There seems to be quite a number of men anxious for night work, fifteen from this division making application this week.

To Col. William H. Bailey belongs the credit of distributing several thousand buttons which read, "I don't read the New York Sun."

those assigned during the past week King, three swifts from this division, ing it very promptly a few hours after are: H. A. Nesbitt, Maryland; G. W. are: H. A. Nesbitt, Maryland, G. W. were sent to the Specification Room on Clark had stirred up the entire police

> J. M. McLaughlin has returned from lican majority was not quite up to ex- within the next thirty days will have

"collect" message. Hastily breaking Third. Tommy being an old stager he according to your own notion. the seal, he read this message: "A can give the other boys points. vote against Shepherd is a Low-down Tommy was transferred to the night purchasing tickets for the printers' en-

Tommy Harris' sales of mining stock | married Thursday evening of last week. were so heavy that he has received tel- Tom worked the day of and the day conditions will not always last, and egraphic orders from headquarters to after the wedding, and says he intends next summer, when these same philos-

Thomas L. Jones, chairman of the other diamond. He is now trying to entertainment committee of No. 101, is a member of this chapel and is working hard for the success of the entertain ment to be given Nov. 25.

The Missouri contingent in the Third who are members of the Missouri Republican Associat on will have a good time Friday night at their smoker. Nat Watts will see that they all get Foreman Shanks returned this week from Kentucky, where he had been soourning during the late election campaign. He reported four men killed in Schooler's county on election day, and concerned for the safe return of the lat-gaining his membership in Si Daough- fend. This does not, however, excuse Morgue has been supplied with a to establish a system where there would bucket of kalsomine and brush prepara- be perfect fairness among the men, but tory to the process of whitewashing ex- it is the duty of a person placed in a popelled members.

letter of the Governor of Kentucky to a majority vote of the members of this chapel. the Governor of Indiana. Patsy broke a tooth trying to masticate a 'ooarding house sandwich and looks as if he was suffering with the mumps.

Last week Nat. Watts received the following telegram from Billy Beddow, account. which explains itself:

Buffalo, N. Y., 11701.

Nat. Watts, Time-Alley, 3d Div:
Got loaded, and your suit-case left me at Philadelphia.

That's all That's all. W. C. B.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. Pigs' crubeens.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the the program. place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Fourth Division.

Averages are dead easy this trip. It's about time candidates for chairman were bobbing up.

Like the brook, the music in Alley 9 continues on its tuneful(?) way.

Joe Sheehan, Fred Harrison and W. . Bateman went to the night bill force Explanations of how it happened are the ponies only come around once a

The transfer of Joe Sheehan will Silas Phelps is once more at the cause the tear of regret to intrusively came to work in the G. P. O. last Mon-"folio" cases, and occasionally has swell in the eyes of the members of the day. He was on the reportorial staff of

By the transfer of Bateman to the his appointment. night force, the office of secretary of the chapel became vacant, and, owing to the nearness of election day, will be

Tickets and dodgers for the ball and entertainment November 25 are now in the hands of Chairman Gove, who it is expected will break last year's record in leading the list of tickets sold.

"The Democrats may carry Texas." A party of explorers searching the in the tomb of the founder of that ancient city. It is still doing service at clist and was thrown to the ground, of something newer and better.

leaned his snorting, chainless steed and friends. against a tree. During his absence some libertine, described as long and Messrs. Goldstein, Cochnower and lanky, just merely borrowed it, return-

Joshua Whitcomb and Scipio Jones

York city to cast his vote for Seth Low mainder of his leave. Van reports a will have to journey to the unknown received quite a shock from a district very quiet time, owing to being slightly quantity over any pike that is designated by imperial edict. Get in on the middle of the night and handing in a Tommy Solan is the adonis of the ground floor and blow your lamp out

> It seems many are refraining from tertainment and ball because they im-T. H. Greenfield, of this division, was agine there is no necessity for finances in the relief fund at present. Present ophers land on their rudders, a fund to draw from will be needed perhaps. There are always those who will offer some excuse for not patronizing their own union's efforts for their better

The Fourth Division has a first-rate set of chapel rules now-not perfect, of course, but rules, if properly enforced, that insures to everyone a chance to work without the constant fear that unless he is continually watching the copy box or the "morgue" he will get the worst of copy to set and nothing but "objectionable" matter to distribute. And the rules, when the chairman is present, are enforced. When, however, the chairman is not at work the now the time-alley is feeling deeply rules apparently fall into contempt and are more "honored in the breach, etc.," owing to a good-natured desire on the Shelby Smith is in a fair way of re- part of the acting chairman not to oferty Post No. 1. The Post in the men in breaking regulations intended sition of authority or trust to leave his Owing to the soreness of Patsy Mc- indifference or good nature outside Auliffe's right jaw we have been de- when he finds that they interfere with a prived of an interview with him on the just enforcement of rules that received > Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. Fifth Division.

A. N. Goebel is squaring up his leave

H. Newsom went to the Treasury Branch the first of this week.

The races are on at Bennings, and Thomas J. Fitzwilliams is on his leave,

G. D. Ellis and P. H. Gallagher were transferred to the Night Bill Force last

L. D. Weeks, from the Washington Times, was enrolled in the Fifth, last Monday. William T. Hall is on his annual vacation. A trip to New York is part of "Heidy" had a lead-pipe cinch on Carbuncle in the handicap last Monday, but it went wrong. Alfred Aldrich, of Baltimore, on the Night Bill Force two years ago, came to work again last Monday. Thomas J. Rowe, of the Duluth (Minn.) News-Tribune, was given cases in Alley I Monday morning. F. M. Werneke, lately from the ad force of the Chicago American, was installed on Slug 41 last Tuesday. B. P. Pratt, whose departure we rife these frisky mornings. Oh, well, failed to note, has returned after a three weeks' absence in New York and his home in Virginia. Ben A. Lineback, of Lexington, Ky., the Lexington Leader when he received

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

Edward Eberbach Injured.

We regret to chronicle the accident which befell Mr. Edward Eberbach ruins of Pompeii found this inscription | Wednesday. In going to work on his wheel he collided with a fellow bicythe dawn of the Twentieth century. breaking his hip. Dr. Chadwick re-Murray sprung it with a gusto worthy duced the fracture and the patient is now at Sibley Hospital. Mr. Eberbach J. L. Clark, the smooth manipulator is employed in the Job Room as a on Slug 2, went out to see the election make-up and for many years worked returns last Tuesday evening, and, in on Specifications. He has the symorder to facilitate "rubber-necking," pathy of a large circle of acquaintances

> Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's N.Cap and G. Pigs' crubeens.

Scholarships for Sale.

To any one contemplating taking a business or commercial course it will be to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholar-

****************** J. E. BONINI'S

BUFFET AND CAFÉ, 727-729 N. Capitol Street.

MAERZEN BEER ON TAP.

A first-class Lunch Counter. Sea food in season. Union throughout

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS

*****

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA

 $N^{\rm eat}$  and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes TZeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREET

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE

Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of

LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings,

Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest, Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

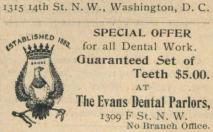

-VISIT-CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. Everything the Best.

BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873. S. H. HINES & CO.,

UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

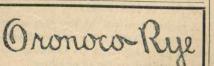

Phone Main 1879. J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers,

443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey—

* * * Our Specialty. Never Changes.
* * * Once Tried You'll Always Use
* * * It. Take no Substitute. Ports
* * and Sherries for Family Use— Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of Cigars. Ales and Porters on Draught all the Year Round. JOHN CONNOR,

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W

Is becoming more popular every day—people are just beginning to realize its good qualities. "Oronoco" is the best thing you can take for a cold. 50c. full pint; $1 quat. Delivered anywhere. 'Phone 2134 Your order.

EDWARD J. QUINN, 604 Pa. Ave.

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscrip tion solicitor at this office; one who is Miss Myrtle A. Jacoby, piano teacher, not affected with climatic lassitude only the privilege of choosing their own would like a few more pupils. Best of need apply. References or ability must Election day attracted lew, as hold references or ability must manner of exit from this zone of mortal reference. Residence, 621 New Jersey be given or shown. Good commission except near-by voters were absent. James W. Vanarsdell has returned be given or shown. Good commission endurance but those who join later around N. W. paid. Apply at this office.

Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher

A----

1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

****

Specialties. SHERWOOD

Cool Lager Beer on Draught. BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 2½c. PER CUE.

> THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE, BOOKBINDER.

Ruling and Binding of every description Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

628 LA. AVE. N. W.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per me

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

· ········

Every Laboring Man

made of-Cream Blend Flour

ply you.

1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E. descess some

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

- - Washington, D. C.

1013 Penna Ave.

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock.

Scientific American. MUNN & Co. 36 : Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's

ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood, 211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET.

EOUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date. $221,187.00.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER,

Fine Wines and Liquors. BLUE LABEL CIGARS. 1219 E Street Northwest.

LUNCH TRY THE

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w

300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel.

-requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as in

It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands—therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers.

J. L. KERVAND.

The Man's Store

RAIN COATS, $10 TO $25

-but good for rain or shine-"storm wear"—an all-around coat. Good ones here at $10 to $25, a saving of $2 or $3 -no matter which one you buy.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005=7 Pa. Ave.

UITS AND OVER-COATS CUT TO YOUR MEASURE

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W., Union Clothier, Furnisher, and Hatter for Men and Boys. We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Specification Notes.

Unusually large issue of patents this week.

Ed. French stepped into McNelly's shoes as imposer.

Ned Handley has gobbed up a property in Brookland.

Montgomery has given up farming and will winter in Washington.

Hoover has started in to see how far he can make that leave money go.

Charley Duffy never said a word, but went off and got married last week. Harvey Southwick is sick with typhoid at his home in Albany, N. Y.

A man is no longer known by the company but by the dollars he keeps.

Tommy Tompkins still hovers around alley 5, notwithstanding the hint to go back out of the way.

Plans are on foot to organize a basket ball team, and the Temple is mentioned as a suitable place for the sport.

Perry Belmont Grimes is off for fifis to follow in the footsteps of Duffy.

W. B. Johnson, of the "side show,"

Glenn Buckingham yesterday had on certificate. He refused to allow it to go round by slugs.

Adam good thing.

to report for duty soon.

The transfer from main office to this room at this time had a depressing effect on some of the sports who con- dance on Monday evening, November 25, templated a rich harvest at Bennings.

ferred from here as maker-up to Proof cluding lady and gentleman, 50 cents. Room, main office, and in consequence Arthur McNelly is advanced a number.

from main office and came in yester- is certainly a painful tale. day just to help out: E. P. Murray, J. C. Cochnower, F. E. Garrison, J. L. King, and L. L. Dixon.

Mr. Williams, the well-known dealer in second-hand books, and who was accidentally killed by the cars last week, was the father-in-law of Mr. E. C. Grumley, of this room.

W. J. Wilkinson, who resigned from here to accept the foremanship of a new (now defunct) Baltimore daily, was a welcome visitor one day last week. He has concluded to take a rest from printing for a while; but "Wilkie" is a born printer, and so in good time he will return to his first love.

If every friend of organized labor in the District of Columbia would solicit one new subscriber to THE TRADES Unionist the cause would be greatly strengthened. The trades paper is a weapon of defense, and by liberal and a porcelain lamp shade last Monday earnest support may be made the most valuable of all the educational me-

With this number the undersigned surrenders all rights, title, appurtenances, and emoluments as correspondent of Specification chapel, and the Potts, from Little Rock, joined the same by right of succession and by Press Room contingent during the of engines and crew being made. I mutual agreement passes into the hands | week. of one peculiarly blessed with that keen scent for news which is inherent son in the nose while visiting Atlantic rounded with oriental tapestries and with the born newsmonger-a gentle- City at election time. Joe votes in trimmings, an effect that no doubt gave man of exalted tastes, a stickler for Camden, N. J., but he went to the city- it a purely native air, and in keeping terest in the welfare of each student.

touch and sweet communion with the vote. muses. The change is necessitated on left-handed partner.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Driscoll's, N.Cap. and G. Pigs' crubeens.

Night Bill Force.

H. D. Lowd has resigned. Postmaster Burnett now, if you

Fred Counsell has been promoted to as reviser.

to the day force.

It is rumored N. J. Lillard has returned to the city.

This force now numbers 147. Quite a number of frames in the Second Division are occupied by the night men.

W. F. Crump revels in poetry, and disdains prose when rhyme will fill the bill. In commenting on the salubrity of the weather recently he hurled the the following at me:

The melancholy days have come The saddest of the year; A little too warm for whisky, And a little too cool for beer.

I want to throw out the glad hand of welcome to "Adam Bugg," who reappeared on THE TRADES UNIONIST'S journalistic field last week. "Adam" is one of the most interesting contribu- back, so with considerable embarrass- son, first vice president of the Pennsyltors to these columns, everything comwholesome. His dissertation on the five two cent stamps. night man a couple of years ago was A-dam.

ter. TEMP.

Columbia Union will entertain and 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the George A. R. McNeir has been trans- place. Don't miss it. Admission, in- Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Handy Andy's Aphorisms.

Moran says he hit the races for $40. Wait until the last day Davy and let us know how accounts balance.

The annex will be shy a feeder next week, and she's not drafted on the night force either. Are you good at famous Chinese statesman, recalls a guessing?

Pressmen's Council, N. U., will initiate eleven applicants at their next that is valuable for its rarity, in fact a meeting, and there will "be some curio which will enhance in value with doin's" on that occasion.

And now Dame Rumor has given John Dunlap the limit and fearlessly announces his matrimonial leap for the twentieth of November.

A night force will be the next order of business. Assistant Foreman Myers has already adjusted his thinking-cap and consulted his list of eligibles.

Charlie Dennis bumped his face into and broke the shade into tid-bits. This is the only face in the room that could do it.

One Maverick pressman, branded Phillips, from San Antonio, another and gave orders not to be disturbed. distant relative of Ira Cole, and a Mr.

truth, a romancer, and one in constant by-the-sea to get courage enough to with the life-long habits of the noble

Major Sylvester has decided to have account of time consumed in gathering the color of the helmets worn by cross- was introduced to the several members type from the floor belonging to my ing policemen changed so as to distin- of the party who had not retired for the guish them from the regular force. night, and presented with a souvenir of Fancy our "rube" with a red helmet surmounting his Titian whiskers.

Cards of various kinds containing names of candidates for the presidency of the Pressmen's Union are afloat and the fitness of this and that one urged upon the prospective voter. Well,they are all good men and true, but one is always thought better of than Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. another. No one seems to have confidence enough to make book as yet.

others. The committee is anxious that the book with the following: George Hayden has been transferred all the ladies of the union attend and sociable evening.

Not long ago two young lady feeders, peror of China, to the United States.' whose sole assets were forty cents, decided that it were better far to eat cof- description of the route from New York the Army and Navy Club and ordered members of the party, consisting of and the texture of the napkins until the H. Ruger, U. S. A.; W. W. Rockhill, they ceased giggling and tried to dig China by the late President to look up another dime, but it could not be after American interests during the refound. It was not like buying muslin cent disturbance, and Major George or tinware, they couldn't give the goods W. Davis, U. S. A. Mr. Frank Thomment they "stood the waiter off" for vania Railroad, was also a guest. ing from his pen being bright and the dime and the next day sent him Among the attaches were Drs. Irwin rich, and you can say what you please things organized a society which they The secretaries of the embassy numabout us again and we wont care called the Twentieth Century Girls. bered seven-six native countrymen of The following have been added to I am informed, one must have been on B. Drew, whose uniform courtesy made this force recently: E. H. Andrew. earth before or outlived her usefulness. our short stay both interesting and in Clair C. Barnes, F. H. Barnhart. Wm. Occasionally they gave out invitations structive. I. Bateman, J. H. Brodnax, John B. for a dance, and charged the gentleteen days, but denies the rumor that he Campbell, D. W. Corkins, Wm. H. men fifty cents for a hat check and a Cornish, jr., W. F. Counsell, John F. lady twenty-five cents to hang up her the inside of the back is pasted a map Desmond, Thomas Doonan, Albert P. shawl. On one occasion they hired of the United States, a red line mark took unto himself a wife the 23d ult., E. Doyle, G. D. Ellis, John C. Euler, bum music and advertised the leader's and is now in Georgia celebrating the J. P. Farwell, P. H. Gallagher, Benja- name on the aforesaid invitation. min B. F. Graves, Ferd Harrison, C. When their attention was called to point of view, is not elaborate, but C. Hipkins, John H. Hogan, Edgar W. their bum music, they forthwith dis- modest in composition and display, the exhibition a hanpsome new $1,000 gold Hopkins, M. E. Howe, J. E. Irvin, John charged the leader and his band and cover design being the only gorgeous G. Jameson, Z. T. Jenkins, John C. hired a bunch of musicians with union Keelan, F. W. Kern, Edwin M. King, labeis in their hats and then resented unique, rather than showy. R. E. King, Will K. Martin, George R. the imputation by writing some cute Eve's letter in the last issue of The Merriam, John R. Moss, J. F. McCorthings to this paper about yours truly, TRADES UNIONIST was read with in- mick, W. J. McEvoy, W. F. O'Brien, his nom de plume and his disappoint- in the realms of Morpheus, the writer terest, discussed, and pronounced Jeremiah O'Connell, J. A. Onyun, W. ment in not receiving an invite, etc. E. Philes, John R. Purvis, John A. Ray, As a matter of fact I had an invite, but back to grind out "copy" for the gap-F. T. Maloney, who recently sub- Leo Rullmann, E. J. Scanlon, Joseph was shy the price of a hat check. mitted to an operation for abcess, is E. Sheehan, H. A. Watkins, Charles Sorry, girls, I was unable to be presreported as improving, and he hopes Wilhelm, Bert V. Wolfe and H. C. Yet- ent, for then I might have had something more "interesting" to write about.

HANDY ANDY.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, Have friend Lucy tell you of the lady 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the The following named were drafted in Oklahoma who had the lockjaw. It place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

> Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

A Qualnt Curio.

The death of Li Hung Chang, the very important epoch in the writer's life and brings to view a publication time. The writer, at the time of Earl Li's visit to the United States, was "digging up local" on a Harrisburg late years in the methods of teaching. Sunday newspaper, and was assigned The oldest school is not always found to to "do" the special train bearing the distinguished party, which was scheduled to arrive in Harrisburg at 10:20 p. m., Saturday, September 5, 1896.

train coming to a stop under the large train-shed, boarded the car aud inquired for Mr. George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, in charge of the special train, who informed me that the Viceroy had retired after leaving York, 28 miles south of Harrisburg,

The stop at the capital city of Pennsylvania was a short one, only a change was permitted to view the distinguished A half a broiled lobster bit Joe Wat- Chinaman as he lay on his couch, sursleeper.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Boyd, I the occasion in the shape of an itinerary of the trip. In this connection I might add that but two of these souvenirs were given out at Harrisburg, a brother scribe and myself being the fortunate recipients.

The cover bears the signature of the deceased earl, over which are grouped the United States and Chinese flags and the American bird-the eaglemaking an odd combination, in keeping with the fact that one flag stands The next cause for excitement will for the new and the other flag for the be the feeders' anniversary reception old civilization. A full-page bust porand dance at Typographical Temple, trait of Li Hung Chang adorns the sec-Nov. 19th. Among those selected to ond page, under which again appears make up the program are Miss Nellie the name of the titled foreigner in Chi-Corrigan, Miss Laura Black, Mr. Thos. nese characters. The next page, which L. Jones, Mr. Wm. A. Morsell, Mr. is the title, printed in red and black, Zach Jenkins is assigned to this force Wm. H. Barnholt, Miss Ratcliff and inducts the reader into the contents of

"Tour of His Excellency, Li Hung contribute toward the enjoyment of a Chang, Ambassador Extraordinary from His Imperial Majesty, the Em-

Then follows a brief but instructive fee and toast in a high-toned joint than to Washington and Niagara Falls, over to consume a platter of kidney stew in which the special traversed. A full a cheap dairy lunch room, dropped into page is taken up with the names of the a convalescent lunch for two. They about eighteen persons not including ate and giggled, and whispered, and the servants. Among the government remarked about the small china cups officials were Major General Thomas waiter gave them a glassy stare and a Assistant Secretary of State, who was pink check marked fifty cents. Then appointed special commissioner to and Mack, who looked after the Vice-Once upon a time a bevy of sweet roy's physical comfort and welfare. In order to be eligible to membership, the Viceroy and one American, Mr. E.

> The last page of the souvenir contains the schedule of the train, and to ing the route.

> The souvenir, from a typographical part. Indeed, it should be called After a short stop the train sped on its way, and, leaving the Viceroy still Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand in the realms of Morpheus, the writer 52 H Street Northwest. dropped from the train and hurried ing jaws of the composing room. H. W. TEMPLAR.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Labor Notes.

Russia is to use a military kite.

St. Petersburg enjoys 3-cent car fares. Pittsburg negro barbers are organiz-

There are 69,000 brotherhood carpen-

There are 107,000 brotherhood track-Chicago printers' union is fifty years

THERE is a great demand for a business education and parents are beginning to realize that their sons and daughters ought to be well grounded in the subjects taught in business colleges; viz., bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, grammar, arithmetic, spelling, and writing. In considering a business education it is of primary importance that the best school should be selected. It is a well known fact that there have been many improvements of be the best and the cheapest school is not to be considered for a moment. Our childled to arrive in Harrisburg at 10:20 by the most competent teachers. Wood's Commercial College, 311 East Capitol Street, Washington, D. C., is a popular business school. It is well patronized and ren are entitled to the very best instruction is remarkably prosperous. It is conceded that real success invariably springs from real geuuine merit, and the public is justi fied in believing that Professor Wo d's facilities for imparting a practical education are of the most exceptional character. Superficial smattering, or mere words on paper would never bring the prosperity which attends this institution. Skill in the schoolroom, and superior skill at that, absolutely necessary to win the confidence and favor of the educated public. The prosperity of the school is due to con tious service, thorough instruction, kind, careful, individual attention to every student, and it is safe to say that Professor Wood has discovered the secret of success in his personal attention and individual in-

Silver Medal

Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E. Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

BOOTS AND SHORD. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY,

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

DANIEL LOUGHRAN,
1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar.

COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. 27th and H Sts. N. W. CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS.

D. N. WALFORD. 477 and 900 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PRINTERS.

JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W.

HARDWARE AND TOOLS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 1004 F St. N.W. 522 10th St. N. W.

FURNITURE AND CARPETS JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W

GAS FIXTURES. C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART,

Heurich Brewing Co's, beers and popular brands of whiskies, 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp, Center Market WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits, cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7 HIGH GRADE CIGARS.

J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest. LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS.

JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS.

THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO.

418 7th St. N. W PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers.

636 G St. N. W FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE,

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1842 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O. PLUMBING.

J. B. LANAHAN,
Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter,
Southeast Corner Second and H sts. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS. FOSBURG & MURRAY, Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats. TEAS AND COFFEES.

REAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores

GROCERIES. Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W.

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. WILLIAM DIETZ.

HECHT & CO.,

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 23.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

Chas. A. Muddiman & Co., Joseph Mathey, and A. S. Reavis Unfair.

Thanks of Columbia Union - Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers' Resolution-Delegate Dietrich Instructed-Credentials Received - Many Communi-Acted Upon-Other Matters.

order Monday night at Typographical Temple.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and improved.

Credentials were received from Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, certifying Thomas Rose and Thornton Carter; from Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers' Union, No. 9, certifying Charles Lin kins, F. A. Hill, Thomas Alvey, F. Deacon, and Thomas Fraber.

Communication from National Union of United Brewery Workers was read, and the following appointed as a committee to act with a like committee from said organization in the premises: Messrs. Babcock, Dickman, and Ham

Carriage Makers' Union communicated relative to their ball at a future date for the benefit of their relief fund

Communication from Hoisting Engineers relative to one Tapocott was referred to the Grievance Committee.

Complaint of R. A. Lanis Association No. 10, against Machinists' Nos. 174 and 193, and of the Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers against the Italian Marble and Mosaic Workers were read and referred to their proper channels.

Upholsterers' Union, No. 58, communicated for information which the secretary was instructed to furnish.

The communication of the Garment Workers of America was referred to the Label Committee. Communications from Beer Drivers and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, Brotherhood of Bookbinders, No. 4. Hoisting Engineers, and S. C. Palmer were read and ordered to take their proper

The following offered by Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers, No. 77, was adopted:

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union, of Washington, D. C., instruct her delegate to the next annual con vention of the American Federation of Labor to vote for and use all honorable Labor to vote for and use all honorable men of the Proof Power and the Proof Power P means in his power to support and cause the application of strict trade autonomy for all affiliated bodies.

The following from Columbia Union, No. 101, was read and ordered spread upon the minutes:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov 18, 1901. To the Officers and Members of the Central Labor Union:

GENTLEMEN-At the last stated meeting of Colum-Typographical Union held on Sunday November 17, 1901, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Central Labor Union, of Washington, D. C., has honored one of our members, Charles E. Dietrich, by electing hi as a delegate to the general convention of the American Federation of Labor to be held at Scranton, Pa., December 5, 1901, be it Resolved, That this body extend their thanks to the Central Labor Union for the preference shown the delegate from Colum bia Typographical Union, No. 101, by electing him as said delegate.

Resolved, That the Secretary forward a copy of these resolutions to the Central aid delegate.

d. That the Secretary forward a these resolutions to the Central Labor Union.

I have the honor to remain,

Yours fraternally, WM. M. GARRETT, Secretary.

This body instructed its delegate, Mr. C. E. Dietrich, to work at the American Federation of Labor convention to secure its next session in this

George G. Nachman, first vice-presi dent of Baltimore Federation of Labor, and president of American Federation of Musicians was present and made valuable remarks which will greatly correctly and bad manuscript. The aid in strengthening Musicians' Union.

Carolina Federation of Labor, also commanding Light Battery 6, the comp. spoke upon conditions of organizing.

Iron Molders' Union, No. 215, communicated relative to resolution of Retail Clerks pledging their support

WHITE HOUSE.

November 13, 1901. MY DEAR SIR-

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 12th instant, with enclosure, and to state that by direction BUILDING TRADES' RESOLUTION of the President it has been forwarded to the Secretary of the Navy.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE B CORTELYOU.
Secretary to the President.

Communication from Immigration Restriction League relative to the Chinese Exclusion Act was referred to to the Legislation Committee.

An appropriation of $50 for striking Carriage Workers from Columbia Ty-President Feeney called the body to pographical Union was announced.

The following resolutions were ofand were indorsed:

nas created the Building Trades Sec-ion and pledged to it its support, and

Section, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Central Labor been harping on for some time.

Jnion use its best offorts to have these organizations now allied with the Cenral Labor Union, and not represented in the Section, send their representatives to said Section and abide by the few of the weary brain-workers of the notify those organizations which have not identified themselves with the Secion and request them to do so.

Special Committee on Butchers' conracts report progress.

Grievance Committee reported that Messrs. Joseph Mathey, stove dealer, 1918 Pennsylvania avenue, Charles A. Muddiman & Co., gas fixtures, 1204 G street northwest, and A. S. Reavis, tin, stove, and sheet metal works, 715 Second street northeast are unfair, and this body indorsed the same.

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, 1901. National Riflles' Armory is the olace Don't miss it Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

Proof Room.

Frank Stretten tells a good story on now the two Vaughans got mixed up ecently-Dan and the Major.

Chas. W. Otis went to Ohio on Saturday night for the purpose of attending the funeral of a near relative, which occurred on Monday afternoon at Cambridge.

To help Dan Vaughan carve his way jest." his marriage.

Nothnagle, Ottinger, Stutsman, and plants take notice. Doty were transferred to the night force last week; Judge Ennis and Percy Rhodes the week before. This leaves us a nice, quiet force on the day side.

Much sympathy was expressed for Charlie Graff when it was learned that he lost a $10 bill in making change last week. Of course there were a few unwere not on we would never have heard the rabbits that roam thereabouts. of it.

It is regretfully learned that John Henry Boner's stay among the "whispering pines" of his native Tar-heel it, brother Feeney? Isn't he one of State is necessarily prolonged, the pure those engaged to play at the Book air of his boyhood haunts having failed | Linders' annual entertainment? as yet to restore health and vigor to his wasted frame.

Maj. C. A. Vaughan was promoted reader. Out of the goodness of his ant says that the President of the Interheart he sent a box of cigars for those national recites in a letter that a precewhom he could not "take across." dent has been established for such So we have been smoking to the action and also declared that the candi-Major's good health and wishing him date receiving the highest vote for any more promotions. However, the last particular office would be seated on so pages of solid matter. If this divibatch of cigars was something fierce.

Amusing errors frequently occur from not interpreting abbreviations following came under our notice re-W. Maurice Tye, President of North cently: For Captain Sixth Artillery, set up Captain Sixth Artillery; com-British European Colonies set up British not within the province of the Auditor However, "Comrade" was so visibly European Oysters.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION the President was read and placed on them, with two exceptions, having picnicing at four per day. This is cerbusiness at the same old stand" for a worked in the room before. P. W. tainly a remarkable empirion for one control to the president was read and placed on them, with two exceptions, having picnicing at four per day. This is cerbusiness at the same old stand of the president was read and placed on them, with two exceptions, having picnicing at four per day. This is cerbusiness at the same old stand of the president was read and placed on them. Wiley, Henry Lyon, Willis E. Young, experienced in law and equity. H. L. Murray, J. R. Alford, and F. H. C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary Central Labor Union, Washington, D. C.

Hambright were detailed for day work and I Walter Sharp E. H. Bernhart. sent to the night force.

in the following notices on the bulletin board:

Will the enterprising second-hand book collector who borrowed Doty's pocket dictionary please leave it on Mr. Livermore's desk.

You may keep the tobacco; I bought some more.—Doty.

Ellis G. Darnell, of Lebanon, Ind., for several years a reader in this room and now postmaster of his town, has fered by the Building Trades Section recently published a neat little book of twenty six pages entitled "Points for WHEREAS, The Central Labor Union Post Office Patrons," which contains a great deal of information for the pub WHEREAS, But fifteen of the twenty- lic and stamps him as a wide awake wo building trades organizations have postmaster. We are all glad of his adopted the working device of said success, which is another illustration of success, which is another illustration of Section, and have representation in the the truth of what "Pard" Bloomer has

It is not a little strange that so much time and attention should be given to Constitution and By-Laws governing Proof Room. Prof. J. A. D. Turner will Resolved, That the Secretary of the Central Labor Union be instructed to garments-a veritable tailor made man. His pride in such matters finds a parallel in the person of his musical con ferre-Prof. Henry Weber, of "Weber orchestra" fame, who, not content with filling the shoes (figuratively speaking) of the late W. W. Deloe. gleefully appeared in the office one morning recently with his pedal extremities encased in a cheap, shiny pair of brogans that had never been introduced to the clayey banks of Sycamore Creek, Hoopole County, Indiana.

Handy Andy's Aphorisms.

Did you see Sprague doing the West town glide?

The race for president has narrowed down to the two Macs-McAuley and

The night force is at it hammer and tongs, and its up to us to hide our oil cans and tools.

excellent style. Tommy Solon did not materialize.

A Federation of Labor orchestra fur men of the Proof Room presented him nished the music for the pressfeeders a suitable present on the occasion of and they didn't have to join the union

> John Dunlap and Miss Maggie Burke were married on Wednesday afternoon. A reception followed the ceremony, and the happy pair left on the 8 o'clock train on a short bridal tour.

Foreman O'Leary and a party of sportsmen intend to spend Thanksgiving Day in the vicinity of Laurel, Md. kind enough to say that if the races This announcement is made as a tip to

John Pistorio is authority for the statement that Smith (Joe Caldwell's partner) is a backslider. How about

It was rumored last night that Clar ence Bright's friends had announced that he was an independent candidate last week from a copyholder to a proof for the office of Secretary. My informappeal to the International body. How sion had a chairman of Billy Guitelius' about this?

And now the Comptroller of the Treasury thinks that per diem em. pay off the debt on the G Street Temple. ployes are not entitled to pay when they work on holidays The four dol- ing overly good when he tackled his lars or two dollars we receive by Con- first specification take, which, by the On Friday last we received quite a one penny more to a man who works handed him that he threw a figurative Labor Union, are all members. The following from the Secretary to large assignment of readers, all of eight hours than to the fellow who is handspring that kept him from "doing

Well, the pressfeeders had their anand I. Walter Sharp, F. H. Barnhart, evening and it was a complete success Frank Kidd, and C. C. Barnes were artistically and socially. All the good people were in attendance and quite a The usual annual pilfering of the sprinkling of pressmen encouraged the night force has begun earlier this year celebration by their presence. The than usual. Mr. Doty tells his troubles program of the entertainment was somewhat disarranged by the absence of some people who had promised to "do stunts" and then weakened when 'time' was called, but the entertainment furnished was most enjoyable. Dainty confections and 1ce cream were served after the entertainment and ther followed a session of terpsichorean

> A party of friends gave John Dunlap a dinner Tuesday night in celebration of his departure from bachelordom The festivities occurred at Curtin's hostelry and lasted until the very small hours. Jehn Kelly acted as toast master and in an attempt at brillian perioration fell over backwards from a Morris chair and fractured his thirst in three places. He was restored to consciousness with a Paul Jones red eye potion. Barney Collins was singing his favorite ballad, "And There You Are," just as Kelly fell and was there fore held responsible for his injuries Mine Host Curtin led out the perform ing "monk," who did several tricks with a beer bottle and a sandwich. Bil Slater sang, "It Is Better to Get Mar ried Than to Starver" Dunlap responded in his usual eloquent manner to the toast, "Au'revoir but not goodbye," concluding with a verse from 'Maryland, My Maryland." Then the party gave three cheers and some o them are cheering yet.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N.Cap.and G. Pigs' crubeens

Specification Notes.

The pass-the-heads-by-slug system is working smoothly.

Congratulations are in order. A new boy at Reader Waterman's home.

It is not generally known, but we have a Main Office Symposium President in our midst. Will he use his 'roll" to get back?

Speaking of popular alleys, what's the matter with No. 2? Where would Walter Whittaker got his nerve up you find twelve more congenial and and played several accompaniments in better printers? (Bring cigars Monday.

Having been especially requested to take up the work where Brother "Alas! poor Yorick! I knew him well, "Cycle" left off, I hereby make my Horatio. He was a man of infinite initial bow. By the time I get hot, however, I'll be transferred to the main mill.

The list for those who desire to ex press a willingness to labor at night to get the job. Twentieth century was passed around in the main office two weeks ago. Are the Specification printers to be farmed out as "night

Miss Palmer likes very much to hear the whistle and roar of the wind as it cuts the four corners off the big Union Building. It reminds her so much of Monday. home, sweet home. She is a native of South Dakota specification room would prove a typographical nut too hard for his little ing. hammer to crack, but after two doses of Foreman Ramsey's 8 hour pills, he feels refreshed and cries for more.

The non de plume "Cycle" will be missed in the future in connection with Company. notes from this room. "Cycle" wrote entertainingly and pleasantly always; TRADES UNIONIST correspondents with here to take his place. honors easily and honorably won.

It is said a "book-worker" in a certain main office division drew four tab this division Wednesday. takes in a row out of a total of 365 or

"Comrade" Cochnower wasn't feel- and killed it.

Mr. Maloney (familiarly known as Flip ") has been seriously ill for some time, having undergone a painful operation about three weeks ago. Mr. Maloney had just about spent his annual leave when stricken down. I suggest that his address be posted, so many of his friends can then take advantage of the knowledge and call. Everyone is · Flip's " friend, all of whom hope that he will speedily recover, and be with us again.

Eleven alleymates desire the window kept down during damp, chilly weather for many are suffering with "coughs, colds, and hoarseness." But the welfth expresses a fondness for thick clothes and fresh air, and keeps the window up. Result: No. 12 thinks rr alleymates selfish and inconsidurate; while II alleymates think No. 12 -***!!! However, I will not vouch for the exact language, as most of it is spoken in pigeon Dutch. Colonel John Sturgis asked me recently if Colonel Al. Bloomer was the official morgue correspondent." old him that if the dead, yet living, was neant, he might drop a line to Presilent Shelbysmith, of Si Daugherty Post, Fourth Division, and receive a definite answer. But if he had that class in view who were absolutely be yond all recall, Brother Glenn, of the Third Division, was the man to be interviewed, as I understand he thoroughly believes in Spiritualism. Jack Childress says when Brother Glenn looks nto space and sings, "You are there, 'll be there, and some day we'll all be there," he really sees 'em.

Last week's notes stated that Buck ngham had recently displayed a thou sand dollar bill. Some one sent a copy of THE TRADES UNIONIST to Buck's Southern home, and now he is over whelmed with letters of appeal. " nad no idea I had so many kin folks, and so --- poor," said the Texas Colonel to me recently, displaying 74 etters just handed him by Major McBride. "The devil of the whole thing is," continued the Colonel, "that that - M spot wasn't mine." I borrowed it from "Doc" Hauer. Yes, t was the $1,000 bet that "Doc" made with the bleachers one day last season hat he could holler louder and longer han the bunch of 'em, and got Pitcher Lee so 'nutty' that he would quit the game. Yes, it was a nervy bet, but Doc" was full of nerve that evening, and won hollering easily."

OLD PROG.

Treasury Branch.

Edward S. Moores is on leave. C. J. Sheriff is now a resident of Langdon, D. C., having moved there about a week ago.

T. McMahon returned Wednesday, after having been absent a month at his old home in Columbus, Ohio,

J. B. Knapp is confined to his home with a severe cold. Wm. Bullis, who was sick last week, returned to work

The members of the different unions are reminded of the fact that there is a boycott on the Washington Traction

J. P. Farwell was transferred to the night force recently. Hubert Newsom, and he retires from the list of THE of the Fifth Division, was transferred

Martin Flynn's many friends will be One of the recent consignments, glad to learn that his son, who under-Willie Goldstein, thought at first the went a slight operation at the Children's Hospital last week, is rapidly improv

> Misses Ella G. Miller, Mary Fitzgerald, Ellen H. Croggon, and Elizabeth G. Mitchell were transferred from the main office to the folding room of

W. A. DeGroot, who resides on his farm in Virginia, lost a valuable horse recently. His son drove in the woods stamp and back-bone he could collect enough money in fines in a month to site direction from which he had intended, falling across the horse's neck

International Typographical Union will be well represented from Washing gressional enactment for holiday pay is way, was quite a complicated affair of ton to the next annual convention of manding Lientenant Battery 6, and for quite sufficient says this sage and it is roman, italic, and superior letters.

The American Federation of Labor, as to attend, and we will not ask him to However, "Comrade" was so visibly F. W. Fox, of Bakers Drivers' Union; remove his hat but allow him to protect of the Treasury Department to allow affected when the initial proof was E Dietrich, secretary of the Central a rendezvous for hair nor a dome for

SUBSCRIBER.

TEXTILE WORKERS CONVENTION. About OneHundred Delegates Discuss Plans of Amalgamation.

Monday there assembled at Typographical Temple, in this city, about one hundred delegates representing various organizations of Textile Workers from many different localities, the purpose of said meeting being to consider the advisability and feasability of amalgamating the interests of the workers throughout the country, and the project in view was to perfect one organization of the many now in existence and abolish the many separate associations. Of the five distinct Textile Workers Associations only one was recognized by the American Federation of Labor, and that one has already surrendered its charter so as not to hamper the amalgamation scheme. All of the others disbanded and Tuesday, after an address by President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, a temporary organization was perfected with Jas. Tansey, of Fall River, Mass. as chairman, and Albert Hibbert, of Dover, N. H., as secretary. Speeches of interest were made by several and a committee of fifteen appointed to draw up plans and laws for a permanent organization. The following organizanons will amalgamate. The International Union of Textile Workers, The New England Federation of Textile Operators, and the National Male Spinners Association. The committee have nearly completed the draft of the constitution and no doubt will be able to finish the organization this week. Joseph G. Jackson, of Fall River, Mass., was made chairman of the constitution committee, and John Hannigan, of New Bedford, Mass., chairman of committee on resolutions. The name of the organization will be The United Textile Workers of America.

Now, "Handy Andy" Be Good. WASHINGTON, D. C., November 19, 1901

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: When I read "Handy Andy's" latest contribution to literature, I marvelled that the gentleman whose photograph adorned his advertisement in the Pressmen's Excursion Booklet would dare criticise the personal appearance of anyone. Whether we are Colonial Dames or Twentieth Century Girls, we still possess our share of woman's crowning glory and not a skating rink can be found in the crowd.

Considering that this is our second visitation to this mundane sphere, even 'Handy Andy" must admit that we are in a pretty fair state of preservation, and if antiquity is the opposite condition to the freshness displayed by the eader of the Swamppoodle Drum Corps, then November 28 will be appropriately celebrated by the "bevy of sweet things," who find their difference to this omnipotent scribe to be cause for thanksgiving.

But even the weak ebullitions of his irresponsible mind need to be noticed when he uses his undeniable genius to criticise people in just as good standing in the American Federation of Labor as any member of Pressmen Council, N. U., No. 738.

The musicians employed November were identically the same men who played at our dance of April 25 last, and who were advertised at that time by THE TRADES UNIONIST, where the invitations and programs were printed for the dance given by us seven months

When I finally managed to turn my gaze from the face on which it had been riveted and read the advertise-"Talent furnished for entertainthe terrible truth dawned upon ment," the terrible truth day in ment, "Handy Andy" must have been me. "Handy Andy add not allow him incensed because we did not allow him to furnish the music for our dance. But as he remarked. we were looking out for the financial end, and fewer would have been put away and fewer shawls hung up if we had advertised music furnished by an unknown leader. "You all know him" may have been true when you saw by the personnel of committees that he wore a soul-inspiring attitude from the printed page, but to the devotees of the terpsi-chorean art he is unknown, even as he s personally to the members of the Twentieth Century Girls' Club

The next time that we give a dance we will especially see that he is invited thought. A TWENTIETH CENTURY GIRL.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

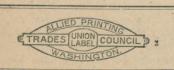

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION

One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C. as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unquali fiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Unio and the Building Trades Section, as well a by the various locals connected with the two

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

-GLADSTONE. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy If you can do business, let it be known.

Does you union subscribe for The TRADES UNIONIST? If not, then why DEMAND that a union clerk wait upon you and that he or she show her card. It is your right.

WIVES and daughters of trade unionists will kindly speak of THE TRADES UNIONIST as an advertising medium when patronizing union stores and mercantile houses.

W. MAURICE TYE, President of the North Carolina Federation of Labor. and editor of the Laborer and Journey man, of Charlotte, N. C, made this office a pleasant call Monday.

SISTER unions are requested to send news of their respective organizations' doings for publication. Let the public know you exist and that you are to be reckoned with in case they do not give to organized labor its inalienable rights -fair day's wage for a fair day's labor.

W. E SHIELDS, an ex President of Columbia Union, and formerly foreman of the Fourth Division of the G. P. O., but lately of the Sun, Baltimore, Md, left Monday night for Denver, Colo., in quest of better health The best wishes of his many friends and acquaintances follow him and hope he may obtain that which he seeks. Here's luck.

why they should organize an interna-Pressmen's Union. The I. P. P. U. when the former body seceded.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

tor-"Adam Bugg," Contributor-Major been resorting to. Vaughan, Benefactor-Paschal Moran, me entitled "Points for Post Office in Frank Hambright's town of Lan-Patrons. Compliments of Ellis G. Dar- caster, Pa. He noted some very queer nell, P. M., Lebanon, Ind." Darnell combinations of businesses there, will be well remembered as a reader "Head Cheese, Hominy, and Highand reviser in the government office un- Class Job Printing," "Sauerkraut and til six or seven years ago. Four or Stationery," "Pigs' Feet and Pressfive years ago he secured the postmas- work for the Trade," "Blood Pud- of the Job Division of the G P. O., He leaves a widow and daughter. tership, and I am glad to see that he dings, Book and Job Printing," etc., is holding onto it. The pamphlet has and entering a modest-looking little portraits of Darnell, Postmaster Gen place with a sign, "Confectionery and eral C. Emory Smith, Senators Fair Job Printing," he applied for work and banks and Beveridge, Hon. C. B. was engaged. After working about a Landis, Acting First Assistant Post- day one of his proofs reached him. As P. O., and enjoyed the acquaintance master General J. M. Masten, A. W. Frank is a very fair compositor, there and friendship of a large circle of Machen, F. M. Dice, Perry S. Heath, were few marks on it, but the mark friends there and throughout the city. S. R. Rathbone, jr., and T. A. Kit- "t. r." appeared several times. Obtredge, mostly postal officials, and is serving that they were not transpofull of information about post-office sitions, he asked the foreman what it matters. Darnell was once sued here meant. logging being caused by bursting pipes. Lillie felt that he knew enough to work city printing.

He entered a countersuit for damage in Philadelphia, so he is now pounding verdict of some twenty-odd dollars extra or sub, and doing well. against the other fellow. He visited Washington at the last inauguration ong enough to drag out of him the in- A. F. of L. ormation that his son Irvie is making excellent progress on the violin, having sique, plays remarkably well.

lass, a son of the famous Fred-there done so. was a tremendous struggle before it was accomplished and a great deal of Beach was talking to a bunch of the proaching, and he remarked:

had over Douglass?"

"The nigger you took into the Jnion?" asked one of the visitors.

"Yes," said Dan.

not have many shades the advantage of Ellis in color, by the way.

"Why, you d-d scoundrel!" said Ellis, making a pass at Beach, who neatly ducked, and Ellis passed out, friend "Cycle."

"The bad blood over the affair does not seem to have all passed away yet," to "tumble."

Don't fail to keep in mind Columbia Union's entertainment next Monday night. Tom Jones has a programme arranged that must please, its only have said "turkey" yet. weakness being that Tom does not appear thereon himself. His well-trained enor voice is always enjoyable.

Now that the Central Labor Union and Electric Company unfair and un do not suppose that it is intended to require such of our members as are necessitated to use the various roads of this company to refrain from doing so, but that we shall avoid patronizing FOR sending out circular letters to it whenever we can. We all ride on years was in the employ of the Governdent Albert S. Nolen, Vice-President sister unions setting forth the reasons many occasions when we could as well ment printing service, will be greatly Baulsir, of the Pressmen's Union; Miss walk, and if we withdraw from them tional feeders' union the St. Louis all the nickels we can in this way we Pressfeeders' Union have been charged will hurt them sufficiently to bring them as being guilty of insubordination and to a reasonable frame of mind. I do told to cease hostilities by the board of not think a fine is necessary to keep directors of the International Printing the members of Columbia Union from the in this city. He left here sometime aiding and abetting a recognized enemy take the same stand the I. T. U. did of organized labor, but that their sense of what is to their own interests and and that he would soon be with us those of their fellow-toilers will make again. Apparently he improved while them all willing helpers in the task we Ellis G. Darnell, Postmaster-Irvie Boern- have before us of bringing an unfair tibly was moved on a stretcher to the stein, Violinist - Harvey Ellis, Bogus corporation to terms. Let us all give Negro-Capital Traction Company, Op- our best efforts to that end, and see if to be gaining rapidly in the line of impressors-Frank Lillie, Raconteur-Frank we can not teach these people that proved health. Rosecrans, Comebacker-"Funny" Rob- fairness is better in the long run than erts, Organizer-Frank Munsey, Proprie- the contemptible measures they have

Frank Lillie was in town last week, A little pamphlet has just reached and he told me about his experiences

o his property from water, and got a a machine on the North American, as

"Funny" Roberts showed me a beauand called on his old friends of the tiful set of diamond studded sleeve printing office. Lebanon, Ind., by the buttons last Sunday that had been pre way, is Dr. Johnny Atkinson's town sented to him by the girls forming the Stub Book Makers' Union, of Niagara Falls, for settling a strike and gaining The "foreign legation" has frequently them an advance in wages, a duty to had occasion recently to stay late in which he had been detailed by Presithe Proof Room reading Spanish, and dent Gompers. Roberts is having by that means I saw Henry Boernstein great success as an organizer for the

I met Frank Rosecrans on the street played at public entertainments recently one day last week, he having just arwith marked success. He is a wonder- rived in town. He was for a time a ully talented little fellow, and, not- reader and for a longer time a composi withstanding his extremely slight phy- tor in the office, leaving four or five years ago, since when he has been reading proof on State work in Albany, There are some who will remember N. Y., along with George Christie, that when the first colored man was Bob Youngblood, Ned DeCaindry, and admitted to Columbia Union, a little others. He will probably go to work over thirty years ago-Lewis H. Doug- in the G. P. O., if he has not already

It is understood that Mr. Frank A. bad blood was shown on both sides. Munsey, who has purchased the Times, Somewhere along in the early '70's-I of this city, will greatly enlarge it, and think it was when the I. T. U. met in that he has already ordered two new Baltimore in 1871-a large delegation presses-one for color printing-and from the convention came here to be also several additional Mergenthalers. entertained and see the sights. In the There is room for another first class lobby of one of the big hotels Dan paper here, of the standard of the Post and the Star, and from the enterprise visitors, when he saw Harvey Ellis ap- Mr. Munsey has shown in magazine work he is the man to bring the Times "You remember the big fight we up to the position it ought to occupy.

Naturally, I am very much gratified by the kindly remarks of "Adam Bugg" last week concerning my contributions, By this time Ellis had come up to and the least I can do under the circumstances is to re-echo and indorse "Gentlemen, allow me to introduce the remarks of my friend "Temp," of Mr. Douglass," said Beach, who did the Night Bill Force, regarding the re turn of "Adam" to the literary circle of THE TRADES UNIONIST. But with every joy comes a sorrow, and the last issue contained the valedictory of our

On the occasion of his promotion last week to the full dignity of proofremarked one of the visitors who failed reader, Maj. C. A. Vaughan brought up a box of cigars and did the handsome. Frank Kidd, I. Walter Sharp, Flavvy H. Barnhart, Tom Doty, Harry Hayne, and others, were added to the night proof force, but none of them

N. J. Lillard, who recently returned to the city from a trip in the South, brought the news from Harry Springer, who is reading proof on the Atlanta has declared the Washington Traction | Constitution, that Paschal J. Moran, the managing editor of that paper, worthy of the patronage of good union who was a compositor when I was in men, we should make the boycott Atlanta, died very suddenly last Fri effective in every way which we can. I day night, without any previous illness. A. F. BLOOMER.

Death of James E. Shortall.

The many friends of James E. Short- gram first-class. all, of Rome, N. Y., who for several surprised to learn of his death at his Mabel Raymond, Miss Laura Black, home, on Monday, November 18, 1901,

Mr. Shortall was well known to a large circle of friends and companions since for his home believing that such action would be beneficial to his health, home, and from the per-on whom vertrain when he left this city he seemed

The many friends and acquaintances of "Jimmy" here unite with the rela- Oak Hill cemetery, November 12, the tives and friends in sympathy of his demise and regret that he could not be spared for that life of usefulness for which he seemed to be destined.

"Requisecat in pace" or may he rest in peace, as the saying goes, is the last wish of his many friends and acquaintances.

Death of Mrs. R. W. Summers.

deeply sympathize with him in his af fliction-the loss of his wife, on Monday, November 18, 1901.

Mrs. Mary Veronica Summers, aged unions. Interment took place Wednesday.

Council Bluffs' city council recently tramways are being made on the Hudpassed a resolution providing for the son. by his landlord because he moved out "Dot means, 'taint right,' answered eight-hour day on all city work; also The world is promised another revoof a water-logged house, the water the foreman, and with this information one requiring the union label on all lution in fuel by which the oxygen is separated from the air.

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES. CONSULT-

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

Outfitters, . . . .

Gents, Ladies, Misses, Boys, and Children's FINE SHOES.

For Style, Comfort and Fit, we are unexcelled. We cut the price. Thornton's Shoe Store,

Columbia Union Meeting.

706 Seventh Street N. W.

On Sunday at Typographical Temple the regular monthly meeting of Col umbia Union was held, President Law son presiding.

Cards received were read and a numbers of candidates initiated.

An appropriation of $50 was made for the striking carriage makers at Cincinnati, Ohio.

The body authorized the board of trustees to pay the last note of $1.500 on the Temple and to expend $1,500 for repairs and improvements.

The matter of Washington Traction and Electric Company Railway boy cott was referred to Grievance Com

Mr. Oyster offered a resolution requesting that this body take action rel ative to the renewal of the Chinese exclusion act. The resolution prevailed

A resolution of appreciation and thanks to the Central Labor Union in selecting for its delegate to the Ameri can Federation of Labor at Scranton, Pa, in December next, Mr. Charles E Dietrich, a delegate from this union, prevailed.

Reports of the various officers and committees were read and placed upon

The report of the board of auditors was placed in the hands of the membership and showed a satisfactory con dition of affairs.

Pressfeeders No. 42 Entertain.

Tuesday evening, at Typographical Temple, the Pressfeeders' Union, No. 42, celebrated their fourth anniversary.

A very entertaining program, both iterary and musical, was rendered, which was followed by refreshments and dancing.

The affair was nicely conducted, the audience appreciative, and the pro-

Among those taking part were Presi Thomas L. Jones, Miss Nellie Corrigan, Finley Hayes. George Mellis, Miss Stella Raymond, William Barnholt, and Katherine Radcliffe.

Much credit is due the committee of arrangements, consisting of Mrs. Zook, Misses Dunbar, Jordan, Mulcahy, and Messrs. Nolen and Flynn.

May this union celebrate many more anniversaries.

Death of a Well-Known Pressman. Frank Simms, a m mber of Washington Pressmen's Union, died on Saturday, November 9, and was buried in funeral being largely attended by his friends. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were from the membership of his union, namely, Messrs. M. D. Fenton, Frank B. Clarkson, Charles F. Davis, C. J. Lucy, William J. Weber, and George M. Ramsey. Mr. Simms was a native of Washington, and for many years prior to his late illness was in charge of The many friends of R. W. Summers, the pressroom of the National Tribune.

Labor Notes.

Germany has fifty-five central trade

Louisville colored waiters have organized.

Textile unions have been formed at Gastonia, N. C. The cables for the Glasgow, Scotland, HENRY T. OFFTERDINGER, MANUFACTURER. New 506 9TH STREET, Nickel BET. E & F. Cigar. UNION MADE.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product. Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best! Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

FALL MEETING

NOVEMBER 11 to NOVEMBER 30. SIX RACES DAILY.

Electric cars and Penn. R.R. trains direct to Track.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR!

MATTRESS MAKING, CARPET CLEANING, ALTERING, AND RELAY-ING AT REASONABLE RATES.

W. H. ROBERTSON, 507 Eleventh Street Northwest. (Secretary Carpet Upholsterers' Union 7597, A. F. of L.)

Independent Oil Co.,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

------Che busiest spot in $ SODA and MINERAL WATERS the busiest part of town is the 8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO.

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others instate it because it's good Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW. SAMUEL C. PALMER,

In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles. Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. nd organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. . And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician

Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M.

| OFFICERS        |                |
|-----------------|----------------|
| E. A. M. LAWSON | President      |
| WALTER V. SMITH | Vice-President |
| W M. GARRETT    | Secretary      |
| JOHN R. BERG    | Treasurer      |
| JOHN R. BERG    | Organizer      |
| C. C. HIPKINS   | Organizor      |
| D. E TYRRELLSe  | rgeant-at-Aims |
| FRANK HART      | Doorkeeper     |
|                 |                |

TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; loe M Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson,

DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION -J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman.

DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and C. E. Clark.

AUDITORS-D. W Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard

DOMMITTEES.
BUSINESS—Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. Boucher. NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Mati

L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A.

Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank D. Seiffert. ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chair man; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H.

Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis,

and B. M. Connelly.
RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Len

hart, and Hugh Reid CHAIRMEN.

First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division-John E. Fulenwider. Third Division - W R. Abbott. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census—F. I. Gleason. Evening Star—Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.-Earl Ruppert Baxter. Judd & Detweiler's—Charles Nace. Patent Record—T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England. National Publishing Co.—F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's—J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger. General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

To Our Correspondents.

We urgently request that our many correspondents send in their copy on Monday and Tuesday of next week to insure publication owing to the fact that our day of issue falls on Thanks giving, and it is our desire to go to press Wednesday, so that we, too, may enjoy if possible the festive turk and its accompanying trimmings.

Down Town.

Special Sunday.

of January 14, 1902.

Barricade broke Atz. Bartenders' League will dance on December 16. What do you think of a sport who lost his season ticket that was tied to the top button of his vest?

Next comes the entertainment of Columbia Union, No. 101, next Monday night, November 25, National Rifles' Armory. The Carriage and Wagon Workers' Union, No. 72, will give a ball for the

The rush of work at the big printery and other kindred branches is the cause of a scarcity of down town printers at present. May this condition continue.

There will be a special meeting of Columbia Typographical Union, No. roi, next Sunday, November 24, to young Major was strapped to the back bovering over the Morgue. The merry of the goat, a giant fire cracker was relative to the suffrage for the District relative to the suffrage for the District of the signal for the initiatory used as the signal for the initiatory and silence reigns where laughter once ceremony to begin on the blindfolded ceremony to begin on the blindfolded ceremony to begin on the suffrage for the District of the goal, a glant in the suffrage for the District of the goal, a glant in the suffrage for the District of the Di of Columbia resolutions.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. "Cos" he was heading for the northeast hitting the ground in high places.

First Division.

"Judge" Mabrey and "Grandpa" Garner had sick spells last week.

S. F. Ellis is on the sick list. The of flowers on Saturday to cheer his drooping spirits.

Don't laugh at the new men if they make mistakes. Perhaps the gentleman in alley 18 had a good reason for passing a galley to the Second Division when it was meant for slug 2.

When a compositor's brain goes wool gathering what strange things the types fries-Ruhlin fight, $120 each. sometimes say. For instance, the copy said "British European Colonies," but the proofreader found, "British Euro pean Oysters." Wake up, Furgy, it's up to you.

Charles E. Harwood became a happy benedict on Tuesday of last week. The fortunate lady was Mrs. Fannie L. Cox. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, 921 Second street northeast. General congratula tions were extended to Mr. Harwood when he returned from his honeymoon on Monday.

Mr. Nelson Moyer contemplates enering the orchestral service during the winter months. He will join the Amercan Federation of Musicians which was recently organized by the A F. of L. By the way, Nachman tells me that Cliner" was a Ruhlin admirer to the une of $50. Recuperation may be a notive for holding a working card in wo labor organizations.

Capt. J. S. Robinson, of this division. s making an effort to organize a basket pall team to represent the G. P. O. in he District League. He has had great success in the past, having steered the Washington Light Infantry to the championship and is one of the former stars on that team. He is anxious to hear from those interested and active in athletic affairs. Membership is open to all branches of the G. P. O., and he should be able to procure some excel- M. Allen, James H. Heslet. lent material.

The cool-headed, practical common sense of George Brian, a young medical student employed in the G. P. O., excited comment in this division one noon last week. A negro laborer employed on a building near by, having been hit in the temple with a brick, during an altercation, was bleeding profusely from severed artery. An ambulance was summoned from Emergency Hospital out the man would probably have bled to death before its arrival, had it not peen for the common sense and medical knowledge of young Brian, who coolly placed his thumb on the severed artery and checked the flow of gore until as sistance came. The incident developed two undeniable facts-that Brian is of the proper stuff from which "sawbones" are made, and that a nigger's ploud is red.

The sad intelligence reached Wash ngton on Tuesday of the death of lames Shortall, at the home of his parents at Rome, N. Y. Mr. Shortall nad been an invalid for more than a year, and though medical science did all that was possible, the disease baffled the doctors and he slowly wasted called him, was an old employe of the to relapse. First Division, and his happy, sunny nature attracted to himself a large circle of friends. He was an excellent About two years ago he was a regular contributor to THE TRADES UNIONIST over the nom de plume, of "The Knocker," and he ranked high among the bright writers of that time for his irony and biting sarcasm, proving himself to be a writer of ability. There is no telling the value or the familiar scenes and keeps alive memories that will be cherished in the flight that he enjoys it so much. of time. One of the oddest is a pro duction from the camera by Harry instruments of torture around the im- lay out anything in their class. provised "lodge" in the back yard, The spirit of depression seems to be

Third Division.

Henry A. Lyon has been transferred to the main Proof Room.

The election of officers in the "sym" S.-G Cat. stars sent him a big bouquet takes place Friday evening, Nov. 22d. We have heard of no big winnings being made by any of the Third Division sporting fraternity.

> F. H. Hambright has been transferred to the Proof Room. "Ham" is O. K. wherever you put him.

> William G. O'Connell and Arthur H. Rossall divided the purse on the Jef-

Every time slug 50 gets excited, and am glad to say that it seldom occurs, did. he uses his space box for a cuspidor.

It behooves everybody to read, reread, revise and re revise their proofs, as the pink slipman will get you, if you don't look out.

days' leave, commencing Nov. 21. He the "heedless to laugh and the judicitakes his leave at this time to prepare ous to grieve." An eye-the right himself for and take the examination one-presented an over-night appearto practice law in Michigan.

Wednesday that employes remain at his name is withheld. However, were their cases until the whistle blows, is a it not for prompt treatment on the part good one, and it will give the high- of the police he would most likely have binders a clear track. It was issued lost his head. How the accident hapnone too soon, as it was worth almost pened he does not say, but from the your life to get in that rush.

us, after several weeks spent in Ken- Doctor Swain-lovingly called Doc by tucky in the "city of the hills," More- his friends-who, upon a careful examihead. While things did not go just as nation, pronounced the matter serious, he would have them, yet a division of but not necessarily fatal. He stated the county offices is not so bad. He that the diagnosis revealed the fact affirms the rumor of his being in the that the outer cuticle suffered an abra-

Symposium, to be held at St. Joseph's ing the capillary flow of arterial blood. Hall, Friday, Nov. 27th, the following This would naturally cause gangrene, ticket will be voted for: President, small-pox, sore throat, and other fatal Wm. C. Beddow, Titus F. Ellis; Vice diseases, and advised amoutation of President, Charles Graff, Robert A. the head a little below the chin. It Martin; Secretary - Treasurer, Henry was then the police were called in.

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. Pigs' crubeens. did not go to Bennings, either.

Fourth Division.

Murray has been transferred to the Proof Room.

Pigeon Post, 60 to 1, and Duke Kirby a thousand miles away.

Three boys and one girl in two weeks. Isn't that a record to be proud of? Galvin wouldn't take the dog at the price, so Yater sold him to Johnson.

Never mind, Mr. Kahlert, you can do business with the paymaster next furnishes more or less amusement for time.

away. "Jimmie," as we familiarly arouses from his Rip Van Winkle only told to turn the folio on a page pickup

"Gebbie" Meyer, of the Star chapel. would ably represent the interest of the down-town craft as well as the unprinter, and was bright and witty. ion at large. No man is more thor- a course in Bible study. oughly union and few as popular. 'Gebbie" will find that he has many friends in the Fourth.

> erman. No sooner does his active brain resurrect some ancient jokelet Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls with a catch attached than his restive soul yearns to fish his unsuspecting feland one is apt to forgive him, seeing cluding lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Galvin's game cock and hen have arrived from the Knickerbocker region. Major, and is entitled, "The Third At the present he has them in winter Union, No. 72, will give a ball lot show the night Degree." Harry is an ardent Mason, quarters where they do little except and, "like father, like son," his youth- keep Dr. Atkinson awake these crimpy ful second self coaxed his father to mornings, but when Congress gets make him a Mason also. Harry pro- together in good shape he will no ceeded to comply. A full grown Mas- doubt have a lively mix up with the ter Goat was secured, three villainous sporty Senators. He claims they are looking playmates were stationed with genuine sports and warrants they can of the goat, a giant fire cracker was quib and festive joke have departed candidate, and then the camera was held sway. At noon Dud gathers a used so as to illustrate to the young few of the old guard around him, but on the arrival of a new girl at his home yesterday, making a total of 10—six girls and four boys. Mother and child girls and four boys. Mother and child tograph. The Inland Printer would girls and four boys. Mother and child Master Masuls Inland Printer would the rafters, one is led to believe that are doing nicely, and the last seen of are doing nicely, and the last seen of the north.

ing to solve the mysteries of theosophy. Cheer up, Dudley!

Last week Kirkland startled alley 12 by announcing a girl, but later it was up to Thompson and Freiseis, alleymates of Kirkland; one working behind and the other beside the latter, to go him one better with a boy each. It leaked out Monday that Mr. Cotter was the papa of a bouncing new boy. With his usual display of modesty, he kept the news to himself; it was too good to tell, but in order to sort of even up honors between alleys 8 and 12 the information reached the shop Monday morning before the foxy papa

So here's luck to the four. Their papas and their mothers; May they live long lives,

With numerous sisters and brothers. A gentleman occupying a prominent position in this room presented an ap-Mr. T. Frank Morgan is absent on 15 pearance Tuesday morning that caused ance. No explanation was offered for The order passed around the room the mourning and at his urgent request facts in our possession it appears that Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE Col. Wm. F. Schooler is again with he called in the well-known medico, sion and became discolored caused by At the meeting of the Third Division the congestion of the tissues prevent-

> Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's N.Cap and G. Pigs' crubeens. Fifth Division.

No leaves, additions or transfers this

Slug 33 lost a dollar on the races and

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Purdy on Thursday, November 14, 1901.

C. E. Williams came down with a box of cigars last Thursday, and we BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors. smoked to the health of his first born, a son, who arrived the day before. Congratulations.

J. J. Ammons, of North Carolina. has been dropped from the rolls. He Did Scipio Jones go for the quads? was appointed as a laborer on October Well, I reckon! Did he get them? 3. and shortly after went home on a 1315 14th St. N. W., Washington, D. C. visit and failed to return.

A new hand among printers always the older ones. Thus, last week in Every now and then Sam Wise one of the divisions a new arrival when turned the entire line. Another inquired for the confidential guage. But the one who set "anchorage Gabriel" for "Archangel Gabriel" needs to take

Room and Board.

Comfortable room for two, with board. Good table board. 810 New Prof. "Minus" Harvel is a great fish- Jersey avenue northwest.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Columbia Union will entertain and * * * nuisance of the amateur photographer low workman. He generally gets dance on Monday evening, November 25, or snap-shot fiend. Nevertheless, a them. Then that smile of peace and 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the ready camera often perpetuates many satisfaction o'erspreads his features place. Don't miss it. Admission, in-

Mr Roberts Remembered.

Last Friday evening, November 15, JOHN CONNOR, at Niagara Falls, N. Y., the members of Local Union, No. 8426, gave a social entertainment. During the same Miss Webster, in behalf of said organization, presented Mr. F. C. Roberts, organizer for the American Federation of Labor tion solicitor at this office; one who is and well known in this city, with a pair not affected with climatic lassitude only of handsome gold link cuff buttons for need apply. References or ability must Roberts accepted in one of his usual paid. Apply at this office. appropriate speeches.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's. N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Columbia Union will entertain and of Columbia Union, 101, containing the dance on Monday evening, November 25, names of the following printing offices, 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the which should not receive the patronage place. Don't miss it. Admission, in- or moral support of trade unionists: cluding lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. are either holding a wake or endeavor- Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. west.

********** J. E. BONINI'S

> BUFFET AND CAFÉ, 727-729 N. Capitol Street.

MAERZEN BEER ON TAP. A first-class Lunch Counter. Sea food in season. Union throughout.

*****

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

 $T^{\rm ANZER'S\ HATS,\ for\ value\ true,}_{\rm are\ unsurpassed\ the\ City\ throug}H$

 $\mathbf{A}^{ ext{dmirable}}$  makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ide  $\mathbf{A}$ Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

 ${f Z}^{
m eal}$  and attention patrons meet at corner of N and Seventh Stree  ${f T}$

Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

'S now open. It contains all that is up to date
A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS

An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas...

UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW. 728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

-VISIT-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts.

Everything the Best.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873

S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

'Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers

443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey—

Our Specialty. Never Changes. Once Tried You'll Always Use It. Take no Substitute. Ports * * * It. Take no Substitute. Ports

* * * and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes

* * * of Beer. Leading Brands of

Cigars. Ales and Porters on

Draught all the Year Round.

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscripservices rendered their union. Mr. be given or shown. Good commission

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be published a card for the use of members Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E st. cet north

P8888888 Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE. ****

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 2½c. PER CUE.

SHERWOOD

Specialties.

THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma.

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

recessor assessor 300 1-ib. Loaves to the Barrel.

Every Laboring Man

—requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

It not only makes THE BES [ Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

process a consessory J. L. KERVAND.

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

1012 Penna. Ave. - - Washington, D. C. Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock.

Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 1 Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT

Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood. 211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C.

Opposite CENTRE MARKET. EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY,

605 F Street N. W. life Insurance for Industrial Classes. laims paid to date. $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER, Fine Wines and Liquors.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS. 1210 E Street Northwest

FOR LUNCH Pure Dairy Lunch,

935 D St. nw.

The Man's Store

RAIN COATS, $10 TO $25

-but good for rain or shine-"storm wear"—an all-around coat. Good ones here at $10 to $25, a saving of $2 or $3-no matter which one you buy.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005-7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring Department. UITS AND OVER-YOUR MEASURE

N. D. Tennille. 709 7th St. N.W., Inion Clothier, Furnisher, and latter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

JUST EVERY-DAY LIFE.

About this season look for the appearance of that perennial paragraph to the effect that "Mr. A. F. Bloomer. well known, and so forth, has determined to enter the race for delegate to the 1. T. U.," and then the political pot will simmer for a bit and "Pard' won't play.

President Lawson, I learn, will emulate the example set by his worthy predecessor, and, after two terms in the presiding officer's chair, aspire to an International delegateship. James E. Bright who, with Messrs. Greene and Warren, retired from the field last of his friends who were intimately ac year at a time when chances favored quainted with him enjoyed a friendship his election, will in all probability be in the race. For the office of presi. will long be remembered for his many dent the name of Mr. Bowen receives fine qualities. A floral piece, a token favorable comment.

Ignorance stalketh abroad at the Senator from Massachusetts.

Invitations are out for the marriage, on the 20th instant, of Mr. Frank Scott and Miss Katie Clifton. The groom is favorably known in musical and typographical circles, being a musician of rave skill and an active member of Printing Pressmen's Union No. 1. Mr. Scott is with the Patent Record Printing Co., the management of that institution recognizing him as one of their most valuable employes.

The "add line" is often left in; but the Minneapolis Tribune is not content with saying in black type at the head Grand All-Feature Holiday Bill of a seven column article, "Use in regular part Sunday, Nov. 3." Further instructions read: "Send second proof to Mr. Montgomery for his corrections.'

Hard work on the part of the pub lishers and the Printing Committee of Columbia Union will again produce a Yearbook of which every member of Another Feature To Be Announced Later that organization will be proud. All the old features are retained and a number of new ones are introduced More to the point, while the advertising solicitors have been handicapped by two recent labor publications-the pressmen's convention souvenir and the Labor Day programme-they already report sufficient contracts to in sure the success of the undertaking The committee deserve more than passing notice for their endeavors.

Did you get the latest: A gentleman and lady are out walking, when she calls him by his first mane. Says he: "If you do that again I'll kiss you on the corner." "But, Jack, I have no corners," she replies.

The District appropriation bill will carry an item of $6,000 for the estabment of a bindery plant at the new Carnegie Library.

H. S. SUTTON.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Columbia Union will entertain and dance on Monday evening, November 25, 1901. National Rifles' Armory is the place. Don't miss it. Admission, including lady and gentleman, 50 cents.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Cheer up on a Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

checking and mating. After considerrived on the scene, and inquiring from the vanquished how he came to lose, race was between a Danny Mann skate and thoroughbred. The horse went the full distance and just before going under the wire he saw the skate some distance in the rear, he thereupon sat jumped on a passing ice wagou and went under the wire, winning a de-

Union Directory.

To Secretaries: Please notify this office of any change in officers' addresses, time or place

of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

International Association of Machinists,

Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corocran Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson, vice-president and editor of the Journal; George Preston. Secretary-Treasurer.

Workmen. Local No. 148 meets every Thursday evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith. Secretary, 3315 Brightwood avenue northwest.

Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local

Bakers Union, No. 118. meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street south-

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets

234. meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street

Paperhangers, Local Union, No. 368, meets every Friday night at 43 Eighth street north-west, John L. (ochran, Secretary, 510 E st.

Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers. No. 77. I U.S. E., meets every Thursday, at Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest S. J. Foreman, Secretary, 2223 Clevearriage and Wagon Workers' International

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first

Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers,

Local Union No. 12 meets second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at Bieligk's Hall. 237 Seventh street northwest. William Keith, Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, meets ligk's Hall. 737 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton

Columbia Lodge. No. 174, International Association of Machinists, meets first and third

1007 Fourth street southeast.

| NAME.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | BUSINESS.                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Haines' Southeast StoreKeenan BrosB. SolomonAufus H. DarbyP. B. AndersonH. L. McQueenN. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).E. Gundershiemer                                                                      | Department store. Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher. Printer. Printer Printer Cigar manufacturer. Baker                                                                                                                                |
| Peter Grogan J. Mangan. John H. Fitzgerald S. S. Daish. Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Heneke Sheets & Miller James A. Bennett Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company. I. Grosner M. Minster A. H. McGhan A. Minster Charles Walters A. Markward | Carpet dealer. Horseshoer Horseshoer Coal and wood Meat dealer Electrician Electrician Tinner Paperhanger and decorator Mosales Clothing Gents' furnisher Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher Carriage Builder Contracting painter. |
| Cyrus B. Reese. C. A. Schneider & Sons. Boston Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Minster & Paterson The Famous. Chas. A. Muddiman & Co. Joseph Mathey. A. S. Reavis.                                   | Employing steamfitter. Union Iron Works. Laundry. Laundry. Street Railway. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishings. Gas fixtures Stove dealer and tin worke Tin, stove, cornice works.                                                    |

Night Bill Force.

Tragedian Solan is "helping" on the force. N. J. Lillard has returned to the city.

This is no rumor. I saw him. E. Burkholder, C. C. Schertzer, and

S. G. Pulliam are the new arrivals. I inadvertently omitted D. J. Hegarty's name from the transfers to this force last week. Frank A. Kidd, I. Walter Sharp, F. H. Barnhart, and Clair C. Barnes were promoted to the Proof Room last week.

The news of Jimmy Shortall's death, graded race in a disreputable manner. at his home in Rome, N Y., came as a shock to many of his friends. Those that was strong and true, and Jimmy of esteem from this force, was ordered to be sent to the home of the deceased.

Of the games that the boys indulge Hub when the Boston Evening Trans- in to pass the lunch hour, none attract cript asserts that Sidney McCall, the more attention than the chess board. author of Truth Dexter, is the junior at which are seated nightly Messrs. McCormick and Doyle, between which there is a rivalry, which, strange to say. is as bitter as their friendship is strong. The latter had the best of the argument until Saturday night, when, after clean ing almost every "piece" Mac. had from the board, he carelessly allowed his opponent to slide his queen down to the last row on which his (Doyle's) king sat behind three pawns, thus

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, NOV. 25.

INCLUDING

LENORE WHITE'S, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robyns, Callahan and Mack, Girard Leon's Donkey Circus, Sisson and Stuart. Zavo and M'lle Hilda,

AND

BIJOU BURLESQUE COMPANY

WITH Dave Lewis and Bert Leslie, AND ALL THE OLD FAVORITES IN A NEW BURLESQUE

THERE is a great demand for a business education and parents are beginning to realize that their sons and daughters ought to be well grounded in the subjects taught in business colleges; viz., bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, grammar, arita-metic, spelling, and writing. In considering a business education it is of pr mary importance that the best school should be selected. It is a well known fact that there have been many improvements of lae years in the methods of teaching. The oldest school is not always found to be the est and the cheapest school is not to be consider d for a moment. Our children are entitled to the very best instruction by the most competent teachers. Wood's Commercial College, 311 East Capitol Street, Washington, D. C, is a popular business school. It is well patronized and is remarkably prosperous. It is conceded that real engagements that real success invariably springs from real gounine merit, and the public is justified in believing that Professor Wo d's facilities for imparting a practical education are of the most exceptional character. Superficial smattering, or mere words on paper would never bring the prosperity which attends this institution. Skill in the schoolroom, and superior skill at that, is ab olucely necessary to win the confidence and favor of the educated public. The prosperity of the school is due to con scientious service, thorough instruction, kind, careful, individual attention to every student, and it is safe to say that Professor Wood has discovered the secret of success . his personal attent on and individual interest in the welfare of each student.

Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthum. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest. Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Tem-ple. 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett,

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers

I. S. U. E. meets second and fourth Wednes-days of the month at 609 F street northwest. John W. Stockton Secretary, 411 Twenty-fourth street northwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second

Eighth and Penna avenue s.e.
820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.w.
708 Seventh street n.w.
508 Fourteenth street n.w.
1108 E str et n.w.
1108 E str et n.w.
1101 Penna. avenue n.w.
516 Second street n.w. and stalls
in enter Market.
817 to 823 Seventh street n.w.
L str et. bet. 16th and 17th n.w.
443 Prather's alley n.w.
Florida ave and Third st. n.e.
(*enter and O st. Markets.
711 G street n.w.
804 E street n.w.
2008 H street n.w.
14 F street northwest.
207 Fourth st. n.w.
1914 F st. and 803 Market Space.
1343 st. n.w. Fire Department Employees P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a. m., at Union Veterans' Hall, 916 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C Egloff Secretary, 614 Sixth street southwest Fraternal Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers meet every Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. S. J. Foreman, Secretary. 2223 Cleveland avenue northwest. 914 F st. and 803 Market Space.

1343 st. n.w.
817 E st. n.w.
499 and 501 Penna. ave. n. w.
Fourteenth and D streets n.w.
609 G street n. w.
1519 Fourteenth street n. w.
212 Twelfth street n. w.
First and G streets n. w.
491 to 499 C street n. w.
1019 Pennsylvania ave. n. w.
437 Seventh street n. w.
1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w.
1918 Pennsylvania avenue n. w.
715 Second street n. e.

Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No-8097. meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month a Masonic Pall, Anacost a D. C. C W. Teates. Secretary. 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia. Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec-retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No 5. meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac street, earthwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No 26, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tary, 200 E street northwest. able guying from the onlookers, I ar-he replied thus: "You see, Temp, the International Brotherhood of Electrica Workers. Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. W f. Malloy. Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

International Brotherhood of Stationer

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set down and went to sleep (for the horse ters' Association, No. 3855, meets first anthird Friday nights of each month at 42 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Secretary, 410 Fighth street southwest. wanted a smoke anyway) and the skate International Union of Steam Engineers-Local Union No. 14. meets every Thursda evening at Engineers' Hall.1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest.

fron Molde s' Union, Local No. 215, meet 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenu' southeast. Joseph Stewart, Scoretary, 1256 Thirty first street northwest. Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meet first and third wednesdays in each month a Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. ( Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17 meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G str et-northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 F street northwest. American Federation of Labor—Headquar-ters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'lGompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters'
Local Union, No. 5, meets second an fourth Tuesday evening of each month o
Typogr-phical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A E. Anderson. Secretary, 1312 Twentyninth street northwest.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple. C. E. Dietrich. Secretary. 425 G street north-west. Residence, 106 I street northwest. Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Cos tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest loseph Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place northwest. Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest.

Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161 meet-every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street north west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest. Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America, Division No. 461, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight, alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street north-National Alliance Theatrical Stage Em ployes meets first and third Sunday in eac month at southwest corner of Twelfth stree and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, thir floor John A Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424, Station G.

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Mon-day evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I street northeast. Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I stree Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meet firs and third Friday evenings at Ty graphical Temple 423 G street northwo Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. souther Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of Union No. 102. meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. J. A. Daly, Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street P., D., and P. meets every Tuesday evening 609 C street northwest C. L. Hickman, Sec retary, 944 L street northwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller' Hall. Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesdav, James B. McAlwee, Sec-tary, 907 E street southeast.

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets firs Mest. Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third 'hursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast. Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts Secretary, Kensington, Md. Pipe Coverers' Union, No 9425, meets ever

Thursday night at 1208 E street northwest A.C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street Printing Pressmen U. ion. No. 1, meets fire Saturday of each month at Trpographical Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Emil Petersen. Secretary. 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w.

every Sunday at 2 p. m at 430 Fighth street northwest. Jere F. Mc arthy, Secretary, 310 Seventh street southwes. Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. Plate Printers Union. No 2, meets at Macabe Temple. Ninth street northwest, the thir Tuesav in each month. John J. King, Secretary, 717 Seventh street northeast. Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of Southease Rookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tuesdov in each month at Typographical Temple.

James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Colum ia meets second and fourth Fridays at Jolly Fat Men's Hall, 933 of street northwest. W. D. Kerfoot, jr., Secretary, 1034 Seventh street northwest. Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer. Secretary, 245 North Capitol street

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Tv pographical Temple 42 G street northwest, J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north-Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire

Steam Fitters, R. A Lanis Association, L. B. No. 10, N. A. meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth stree northwest. Thos. I. Gaut. Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Columbia street northwest. Rricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest. H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-nue northwest.

Steam and Ho! Water Fitters and Helper Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Friday at 8 o'clock p. m., at 922 Pennsylvania avenue nor hwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary Ridge Road, Station A. Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets firs and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos Rose, Secretary, 40 Fenton street northeast United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Local Union No 190. meet every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth street northwest. top floor. C H. Scherer, Secre-tary, 936 Fourth street northeast.

Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor. Thos. H. Brinkman. Secretary, 1729 New Jer-sey avenue northwest. Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourt fiorr) Ninth street northwest T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street northwest and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. W. H. Robertson, Secre-tary, 507 Eleventh street northwest. Washington Branch Granite Cutters' Nat ional Union. meets every fourth Monda in each month. at 1204 Pennsylvania avenu northwest. Wm Silver. Secretary, 49 Massa Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C street northwest William L. Hageman, Secretary, chusetts avenue northwest.

No. 42. meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 Q street northwest.

Washington I odge of Machinists No. 193, meets first and third Tuesday evenings at southwest corner of Tweifth street and Penn-sylvania avenue northwest C. G. Miller, Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest.

Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Morday night at Hare's Hall 404 E'ghth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh street northwest.

Silver Medal

Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway 'armen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). (harles C. Baker, Secretary, 939 G street southwest Douglass Association of Street and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-~

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E. 'Phone 1203.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST, Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. BOOTS AND SHOWS.

CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. CIGARS.

MCGREGOR & ASHLEY. Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand. 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

DANIEL LOUGHRAN,
1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO.,

Wholesalers. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755. COACH FINDINGS. J B KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD. 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

PIRE INSURANCE. FIRFMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 4th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180, FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH. Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W

"Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O. HATTERS AND FURRILES. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS. 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON.
1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.
See our $2 and $3 Hats. HARNWARE AND TOULS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W. HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

FOSBURG & MURRAY,
Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers.
8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS.

JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST.

All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's), 4187th St. N. W

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast (orner Second and H sts.

PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO

Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E.

TEAS AND COFFEES. PREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest.

Eight Branch Stores. TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE,

101 H St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest.

SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's, beers and popular brands of whiskies, 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM CANNON. 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima. a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

hours daily service, and the purpose of or-bill which shall provide for the limitation of the hours of daily employment of the fire men of the District of Columbia Fire Department to twelve hours in one calendar day, and that the same be submitted to the Dis trict Commissioners and the Committees of A motion prevailed that the secretary

send a protest to the the District Com missioners against John Jacoby, con tractor for sewer work, being permitted claiming that there is no occasion for

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Death of An Aged Unionist.

president of Philadelphia Typograph ical Union and the first president of the Trades Assembly, died Friday, November 15, 1901, at the Union Printers'

84. As a mark of respect he was placed first upon the roll of the Union Printers

Home when that institution was opened.

Mr. Eckert had a long career as a union printer, having been a charter member of the old Franklin Society of Philadelphia, which was one of the few strong local typographical unions, out of which was formed the National Typographical Union, and it was greatly through his efforts that the body afterward became international, embracing the Dominion of Canada and recognizing cards of European typographical unions. His remains were interred in Philad lphia,

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at Bookbinders' Entertainment.

ment and ball of the Bookbinders'

Union, which will be held on New

The bookbinders, of Washington, have the reputation of giving the most successful entertainments of the year and this will be no exception, but from the way the members of the Committee of Arrangements are working it will be superior to any held in previous years

Circle under the direction of Mr. C. F.

Weston, and merry making will reign supreme for one hour. Vaudeville, by

A most enjoyable evening and one that will be long remembered is promised to all who attend on New Year's Eve, Tuesday, December 31.

Year's Eve.

by a grand ball.

Don't forget the annual entertain-where two daughters survive him.

4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

William B. Eckert, for twenty years organized labor; be it the emergency clause.

Vol. VI. No. 24.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

SAMUEL GOMPERS, President American Federation of Labor.

Resolutions Relative to Self-Government in District Adopted.

MANY COMMUNICATIONS READ to the organizations interested.

Delegate Babcock Presides-Secretary Pratt, of International Amalgamated Street Railway Employes, Speaks-Stone Secretary Long Communicates-Resolutions Relative to District Fire Department Employes.

Central Labor Union met in weekly session Monday night at Typographical Temple, Delegate J. H. Babcock presiding on account of absence of Presi-

Credentials were received from Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers, voice nor influence forced upon them with-No. 28, certifying Messrs. Fred Brennan, Patrick Gilhooley, William Sherwood, J. W. Start, and Thomas Flani- litical heart of the nation-is contrary to the gan, and from Carriage Workers cer tifying J. W. Baker.

Communication of Steam Fitters re ferred to Carriage Workers.

To the Grievance Committee was referred the correspondence of the Painters and Decorators.

The Cigarmakers communicated and Committee, which will meet this week. Communications from the Carriage

Workers, Street Railway Employes, the McKinley National Memorial Asso ciation, International Ladies' Garment Workers, Paper Hangers, Bernig & Woodard, and Building Trades Section were placed on file. Communications of Joint Executive Board of Brewery Workers and Metal Polishers were referred to the Label Committee. The following from Secretary of the Navy Long, was referred to San Francisco Labor Council:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

MR. C. E. DIETRICH, Secretsry Central Labor

SIR: Your letter of the 12th instant, adone from the San Francisco Labor Council trict of Columbia of the action taken by forindorsed by the Central Labor Union of warding to each of them a copy of such reso Washington, D. C., urging that repair work, lutions as may be passed. the U. S. Navy Yards instead of at private American Federation of Labor are requested whenever and wherever possible, be done in ship-yards, has been referred to this Department. In reply, you are informed that it is they represent to strongly petition the Presthe practice of the Department to have all ident of the United States and their Senarepair work of n val vessels done at the tors and Representatives in Congress in various navy yards. The matter of transports and cutters touched upon in the letter from the San umbia. Francisco Labor Council, is not under the cognizance of the Navy Department. These vessels are under the jurisdiction of the War and Treasury Departments, respectively, pairs on such vessels at the various navy

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION yards when practicable, upon requests of the departments concerned. Yours respectfully, John D. Long,

In the matter of differences between the Steam Fitters and the Machinists, the action of last week was reconsidered and the matter taken from hands of special committee and referred back

Special committee on Brewery Drivers reported progress, as did Grievance Committee on some matters.

International Secretary Pratt, of the Amalgamated Street Railway Em Laborers Place Molnetti on Unfair List- ployees, was granted the privilege of

The Stone Laborers' request that Molnoti be placed upon the unfair list was granted.

Under the head of new business the following resolutions, relative to local self-government in the District of Columbia, were adopted:

WHEREAS, The people of the District of Columbia were in 1874 deprived of the right of local self-government, and a form of gov ernment under which they have neither

WHEREAS, The present form of government in the capital of the republic-the pomost fundamental principles of American liberty, to establish which our revolutionary forefathers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, and waged a seven years' war; and

WHEREAS, The ballot is the workers' most effective weapon, deprived of which they are powerless to peaceably redress their grievances; therefore

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Central the matter referred to the Legislative Labor Union of Washington, D. C., that Congress should re-establish in the District of Columbia a government republican in form and in harmony with the spirit and institutions of our country-a government of the people, by the people and for the people, based on free suffrage, limited only by a reasonable educational test, under the Austra lian system of voting.

Resolved, That the President of the United States is respectfully, but very earnestly, requested to call the attention of Congress to the fact that an autocratic form of government exists in the District of Columbia, and that he recommend to said body the re establishment of a government republican in form in said District.

Resolved, That the delegate from this body to the Twenty-first Annual Convention o the American Federation of Labor is hereby instructed to urge that body to indorse the above or pass resolutions of similar import and direct the secretary to notify the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the chairmen of the Senate and House Committees on the Dis-

Resolved, further. That the delegates to the favor of the re-establishment of a republican form of government in the District of Col-

The following relative to the employes of the Fire Department was adopted:

The firemen of the District of Columbia

Columbia Union Entertainment.

ganized labor being to improve the condi-Monday night at National Rifles' Artions of service of the employes of all classes mory was presented one of the best and believing that a reasonable reduction literary and musical treats of the seaaon, of hours of employment in any department of service insures more efficient work and under the auspices of the Entertaintends to the moral, intellectual, and physical ment Committee of Columbia Union. improvement of the employe, and as mem-The following program was rendered, bers of the District Fire Department, through the Central Labor Union, are identified with each and every number of which received marks of approval by apprecia-Resolved, That the Legislative Committee. tive patrons: of this body, is hereby instructed to draft a Overture ..... . Pistorio's Orchestra Soprano Solo. .Mrs. Arthur G. Dunn Character Songs...... Miss Isabel Shelton Recitation..... Miss Violet Pierson . Mrs. Joseph Chunn Soprano Solo ... Violin Solo..... Miss Marion F. Johnson Tenor Solo...... Thomas J. Quigley . ..... W. H. Conley A Bit of Humor..... Baritone Solo......Jasper Dean McFall .. Prof. G. W. Harvel Following the above program dancing was indulged in, music being dis-

to work eight hours and on Sunday, coursed by Pistorio's superb orchestra. Much credit for the success of the entertainment is due the Entertainment Committee, composed of Thomas L. Jones, chairman; J. M. Weaver, G. W. Harvel, W. T. Reed, George M. Boone, C. O. Price, and Miss Carrie Whitehead.

The committee having in charge the management of the floor was composed of J. F. McCormick, chairman; E. A. M. Lawson, C. W. Herzinger, F. S. Lerch, W. M. Garrett, S. P. Poole, and Home at Colorado Springs, Colo., aged G A. Meyer.

The proceeds are to be applied to the relief fund.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

English Labor Delegates.

Washington labor circles have been honored by a visit from Frank Chandler, of Manchester, and Ben Tillett, of London, both carpenters by trade, who were selected by the British trades congress to represent the two million organized workingmen of Great Britian in the American Federation of Labor convention at Scranton, in December.

This being their first visit to this country they expressed surprise and ization pursued both by the employe

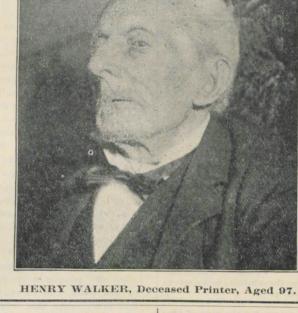

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Textile Workers Adjourn.

The Textile Workers who were in amalgamation of all the textile workers' unions of this country and elected a delegate to represent them at Scranton, northwest. Pa., in the convention of the American The opening will be a Grand Minstrel Federation of Labor.

they adjourned on Saturday.

4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Henry Walker Succumbs to Paralysis at Providence Hospital.

WORKED ON "EATON CIRCULAR'

Behind Barred Doors Worked on President Jackson's Defense of Woman Who Nearly Disrupted His Cabinet-Old Time Washington Printer-In Government Printing Office Many Years.

Henry Walker, the oldest printer in Washington, and probably the oldest in the country, died at Providence Hosadmiration for the methods of organ- pital, Saturday night at II o'clock, aged ninety seven years. He was well known throughout the country probably devoting more consecutive years to his trade than any other known compositor.

He was born in Georgetown, D. C. August 24, 1805, and enjoyed good session last week at Typographical health up to within about a month ago, Temple, in this city, accomplished the when he was taken ill with paralysis, resulting from a fall from a rocking chair at his home, 1153 Eighth street

Mr. Walker commenced his career as a printer in the old town about 1818, on This amalgamation places the United a tri weekly paper called the Metro-Textile Workers of America in the politan. Later he went to work for talented artists, will be the feature for labor circles. Election of officers was job printer of that day. In the early the next hour, which will be followed consumated, and the time and place days he served under William Greer, for holding their next convention was Duff Green, Cornelius Wendell, and left to be decided later, after which the Riveses, all so-called Public Printers, as they had the contract for Gov-Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at ernment work before the Government Printing Office was established.

He was employed on every one of the various publications which proceeded the present Congressional year. Record, and was foreman of the old Globe when it was published semiweekly and printed on a hand press.

His remmiscences were always interesting. He often recalled that during the administration of Andrew Jackson he was locked in a room and set type for what was known as the Eaton Circular, President Jackson's defense of the beautiful woman who was such practically caused the disruption of the Cabinet of the hero of New the cholera scourge in this city, during vious five. which time the printers and others emding one another a solemn farewell, $14 a week. not knowing who might be the victim on the morrow.

Mr. Walker was employed in the Government Printing Office after its establishment under Messrs. Clapp, Defrees, and Rounds, and others of a later day, until about eighty years of age. He was one of the organizers of the old Columbia Typographical Society in 1827, and was a charter member of Columbia Typographical Union, No IOI.

In the old days printers were com- plantation takes in 17,000 acres when only eight hours were required, head over the same time last year.

VETERAN COMPOSITOR DEAD and his craftsman earned three times their former recompence. Mr. Walker's last work in the Government Printing Office was in the early 80's in the then Third Division, which was generally known as "Botany Bay," while Mr. Rounds was Public Printer.

Mr. Walker leaves three children-John T. Walker and Malcolm Walker, of this city, and Ida Simms, of New York City, who is connected with Roosevelt Hospital. The funeral was in charge of Columbia Typographical Union, which was held Monday from the residence of his son, John T. Walker, 1153 Eighth street northwest.

Interment was made in Rock Creek

A Merited Promotion.

A very necessary change has taken place in the G. P.O. bindery. Wm. C. Connor has been placed in charge of the finishing room in which there are fifty men employed. Most of the particular work in binding is done in this room. This change was made to relieve Foreman Miller, who had 150 men in his division, It has been shown at once that it was a beneficial one. Mr. Connor is gifted with executive ability and is in favor of all up-to-date improvements in the binding line. He was born in New York city and served his time and worked for fifteen years with the firm of Harper Bros., the wellknown Franklin Square publishers. He was elected delegate to the last convention of bookbinders and is at front ranks of membership in organized Peter Force, a well known book and present delegate to Central Labor Union. He is also president of the New York State Republican Club of Washington. He was promoted on the recommendation of Foremen Byrne and Miller to his present position.

> Labor Notes. Berlin has 35,000 unemployed.

Paupers cost England $42,000,000 a Coal is cheaper in China than anywhere else in the world.

More than 90 per cent of the vessels using the Suez Canal navigate by night. Roumania is rapidly becoming one of the greatest wine producing districts in Europe. Haiti, situated in nearly the same latitude as Cuba, will soon rival it in a favorite of Old Hickory, and who its production of fine grades of tobacco. Cotton growers have netted $400,-000,000 more for the past five crops Orleans. He remembered well, too, (1901 crop estimated) than for the pre-

The new mayor of Bridgeport, Conn., ployed together always ended the is by trade a stoker, and at the time of day's toil by shaking hands and bid- his election was receiving a salary of

The next thing is to have retaind specialists on all steamers to treat passengers for the prevention and treatof sea sickness.

Foreign demand for American wheat and corn this year foots up 213,538,350 bushels, against 182,210.713 bushels for the same time last year.

The largest sugar plant in the world has just been prospected in Cuba, to produce 20,000 tons a season. The pelled to work ten hours a day with The receipts of live stock this year at the scale of wages calling for only $9 Western distributing centers were 21,per week. He lived to see the day 335.304 head, an increase of 1,601,610

FRANK MORRISON, Secretary American Federation of Labor.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Build ing Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C. as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unquali fiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER. Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

-GLADSTONE. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy If you can do business, let it be known -FRANKLIN.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

J. West Goodwin, Famous "Rat" Printer-Col. D. R. Anthony Unionizes His Office -Death of Robert A. McMurray-" He Is Not Dead, But Liveth "-McKinley Council, N. U.-Zach Jenkins' Old Books-A Lie About "Maud S." Nailed-A Few Old Missouri River "Rounders"-No New Items For Me.

Eugene Andrews tells some pretty hard stores about the veteran "rat" newspaper man, J. West Goodwin, ot Sedalia, Mo. Since "the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," his Sedalia Bazoo was a headquarters for "rats," except for a period of about fourteen months, where the unions had boycotted him to a standstill and brought him to terms, He had one mode of disciplining his employes that, while it may not have been entirely effective as a reformatory measure, had its advantages from his point of view. An exuberant "rat" would get drunk on Saturday night, news of which would reach the ears of the ever alert J. West. Nothing would be said to the offending rodent unti pay time the following Saturday, when he would be informed:

"You were drunk last Saturday night. I fine you this week's wages for it."

Some talked of suing for their money, but local attorneys advised against it, saying he had the judges so bulldozed sion against him, and that if a verdict was given against him he would appeal turned the fines so imposed into some temperance fund, because of his principles, but all who wish have another imagine coming.

By typographical publications I see that Col. D. R. Anthony, of Leavenworth, Kans., has been forced to unionize his office, after years of "rat" control. He and the aforesaid J. West Goodwin colloborated together in supplying "rats" for the trade for many years. I worked on his Times a little while about twenty-five years ago, shortly before he put up the bars against union men, and for a brief per jod in 1866 I was a messenger in his "the old hook nosed devil," as the Ed. Thomas, among others-who re hat anywhere."

Just then Colonel Anthony came running through the dining room, followed fifteen years. by Col. C. R. Jennison, who was pumpng lead at him at every jump."

"Is this what you call settled society?" asked the Boston man, as he crawled from under the table.

"Oh, I had forgotten about that Anthony-Jennison affair," answered the landlord, "and that is settled by this time if Jennison caught up with Anthony."

But he didn't. Anthony got into the stable and hid among the horses until lennison gave up the search.

Anthony was shot about ten years ater by a newspaper man named Bill Embry, the ball passing close to his neart and causing an aneurysm, which caused Embry to refer to him affectionately as "Old Aneurysm." Embry was shot and killed a year or two after

-I think by a lawyer named Thurston Colonel Anthony is not the only one of the family I ever knew. Miss Susan B., the world renowned and time out of-mind female suffragist, chased me on errands when a boy (I, not she, was the boy). And Capt. George J., a cousin, at a later time governor of Kansas, was also on my visiting list about the same time.

* * * On two or three occasions I have killed off" people in my matter who were not dead, and in every instance t has been some one whom I really preferred should live-particularly my old friend, John McKillop, of Boston. whose death I announced a few issues since, through mistake in reading a headline. No one could be happier than I at learning of my mistake. 1 would be willing to publish deatl notices every week if I could be per mitted to make the nominations, but it would take me a thousand years to reach the name of my old friend McKil op, whose letter I append hereto:

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., Nov. 13, 1901. DEAR FRIEND BLOOMER-

There are not many persons who have the leasure of reading a kindly obituary notice of themselves. My attention was called to 'Flotsam and Jetsam" in The Trades Unionist of November 7, in which was your Well, it "kind of" stunned me. I pinched myself, looked in the glass and the same old phyz" looked very much alive and the russed old thing in the glass commenced aughing at me. I turned away and asked ny room-mate if I was a "healthy corpse." Then came Thought along—and he read lown to-"but misfortune overtook him. The whole notice, so far, was just like my old friend Bloomer, but Thought suggested perhaps when the writer got to that point the mislaid his glasses, then he went out and got 'some more' glasses, and returning with lepressed spirits, he finished you."

I enclose the part of Supt. Deacon's report which refers to me; it is under the head. 'admitted," and the words, "old age" is given as a reason for my admission:

579—John McKillop, Boston No. 13; age 65 years: admitted September 28, 1901; old age.
Well, friend Bloomer, I had been failing in nealth for some time and was at last atcacked with hemorrhages of the stomach had rheumatism in my feet and legs and muscular rheumatism in the body and arms I was advised to make application for adnission to the Home, and here I am anchored. My health has not improved since my arrival here; the Home doctor informed that they were afraid to render a deci- me that my heart action is very weak, which information has not tended to help my spirits. This is a good Home for the gray-heads, and keep up the litigation for years. the blind, the maimed, those that are asth-Of course one might imagine that he matic, and the members that have "tics" of different kinds. It is a Home in fact as well as in name, and Supt. Deacon, and those under him, endeavor in every way to make it pleasant for the inmates. If the mass of our calling only could "take in" the benefits re ceived here by those of our craft who are not able to earn their living, the few cents most cheerfully paid.

But, dear old friend Bloomer, I forgive you for "deading" me, and hope you are enjoying good health, peace and prosperity Yours fraternally and in old friendship,

JOHN MCKILLOP.

The papers announced on Friday last the death of Robert A. McMurray. "the dog man," at the Emergency Hospital, in abject poverty, aged about 60 years. There are some of us who represented the "tramp printer" of lished reputation of "Old Prog," whose Evening Bulletin office; so that I had boarded with Mrs. Lillie about twentya pretty good working knowledge of five years ago-W. H. Hickman and Rev. I. S. Kalloch, subsequently shot member him well. He was then in a to death in San Francisco, used to call well-paying position in the Treasury and was known as a mathematical phe-Capt. O. F. Dunlap tells a story of nomenon, being able to add up five Anthony (I think I have repeated it in columns of figures at one time and as these columns) that happened right rapidly as an ordinary man could add a good story—ask him about it. No subscribers. Is there anyone to dis "after the war." A Boston man at the up one. He had a well-marked limp, tem or story less than forty years old Planter's House (the crack hotel of the and was not particularly popular among town then) was having a late breakfast the boarders. Quite a pretty girl, whom day. one morning with the proprietor, who he introduced as his niece, was board-reminiscences of the Way Back, bring ing with him-otherwise he was with "What do you think of our Western out family connections so far as we are—limberger cheese, ancient codflish, and charnel house smells are not barknew. According to the papers, he red-the better they will be suited to "Oh, it's all very well," he answered, lost his Treasury position by dissipation, went from bad to worse, and finally devoted all his time to training and "grave digger," "mortuary expert," "official morgue correspondent," etc., "Nonsense," replied the landlord, selling dogs. Though he has been in I glory in them—they are my boquets. "Our society is as settled as that of the city all these years, I do not re-

Boston and our civilization the equal of member having seen him more than once or twice since we were fellowboarders, and not at all for a dozen or > McKinley Council, National Union, composed of Navy Yard employes, was organized on Thursday night of las week, with 224 members to begin with the largest number with which any National Union council was ever insti tuted. Capt. Brian presided and started the machinery in motion. Messrs. Briggs, Brian, and Dierken have been the leading spirits in the organization of the council, being indefatigable workers for the advancement of the interests of the order.

Zack Jenkins has three old books, nherited from his father, which are interesting relics of the past. The oldest is "Snort Memoirs of the Natural Ex perimental History of Mineral Waters. Addressed by way of Letter to a Friend. By the Honourable Robert Boyle, Fellow of the Royal Society. London, printed for Samuel Smith at the Prince's Arms in St. Paul's Church-Yard. 1684-5." It is an exhaustive essay on the mineral waters known in that day and on their medicinal qualities. It is printed with all the peculiarities of printing 200 years ago-the long s; the guide word at the bottom of each page (that is, the first word of the following page); peculiar spelling, as "boyl" for "boil," "tryal," "alcali," "chymcal," "oyl," etc., and toward the end of the book "vvater" often appears, showing that they had "run out of sorts." It is substantially bound and there is no reason why it should not ast 216 years longer.

The next oldest is "The Circle of Anecdote and Wit, to which is added Choice Selection of Toasts and Sen iments. By George Coleman, Esq New York: Published by S King, 136 Ailliam street. 1825." The imprint on the back of the title page is "Tyrell & Tompkins, Print." It is prefaced by a couple of old woodcuts, which show the style of dress of that day. The book has about 300 pages of anecdotes and toasts, the stories all being English or of English origin.

The remaining book is "The Humor st, or Choice Selections of Anecdotes, Wit and Sentiment. Compiled by A Laughing Philosopher. Philadelphia: Sold by C. Alexander, No. 49 South Third street. 1828." It is a collection of brief anecdotes, largely of American origin, and is a fair specimen of the wit and humor of that day as extracted from the newspapers. Italics are freely used in both of the humorous books as diagrams to show where the laugh comes in.

All three of these volumes are small and could easily be contained in the pocket in which a Southern gentleman carries his bottle.

de plume "H S Sutton" is believed selfish man may have no thought o least needs verification.

Among the "rounders" of the Missouri River circuit in the early seventies, whom I believe I have never mentioned, but whom some of the old "roadsters" here may remember, were "Pete" said "wailwoad" and generally neg- grudgingly doled out occasional mor-Zeke" Smith, whose proper name million. was alleged to be Ben Foos, the other being his stage name; Bob O'Connor, a little fellow, who went to Denver the many thanks for bouquets tossed. To last I heard of him; and "Scotty"the only name I remember him by-a slight, blonde, pimply-faced youngster, who I heard afterwards went wrong and grew himself a tail. They were the last issue of THE TRADES UNIONIST, all fairly able boozers and otherwise a compliment, certainly, to the estab-

Every once in a while some one of the boys will say to me, "Say, I've got an item for you," and though I listen courteously, that is the end of that item, even though it bears on red socks or green neckties, or suggests that By the way, the "Spess" claims to Frank Stretten or somebody else knows interests me. I'm no common newsmonger to peddle out to twaddle of the 'em in, and the more odiferous they A. F. BLOOMER.

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

Parker, Bridget & Co. Washington's Leading Outfitters, . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

Gents, Ladies, Misses, Boys, and Children's FINE SHOES. For Style, Comfort and Fit, we are unexcelled. We cut the price.

Thornton's Shoe Store, 706 Seventh Street N. W.

AFTER DINNER DIALATIONS.

To-day we eat turkey and cranberry sauce, and to-morrow set type and complain of "dead hoss."

Two men were discussing whether marriage is a failure. The unmarried man argued that it is not, which showed how little he knows about it, and the married man told him so.

The same scrutinizing care should be exercised in adding to the honorary roll of the Union as when admitting to active membership.

Every step toward the equalization of "phat" and equal opportunities is a blow at the "beat" industry.

Will some one of the patriots give me the nudge just at that point of the proceedings when it would be in order to nominate a candidate for mayor of the District of Columbia? By that time I shall have finally decided upon either Andy Carson or Perry Gleason.

A unit is not a union but a union may be a unit.

Churches and newspapers have a habit of placing on the superanuated roll those who have grown old in the service and who can not satisfactorily meet the requirements of a stated task, Having retired from the active list and being allowed a place on the superanuated roll, I shall hereafter give no heed to society events or things perishable and which to be appreciated must be served while hot.

A thoroughly good union man who The story that Henry Watterson has has a good job with good pay will hear been furnishing stories and other liter the storm beat against the window pane ary matter to the Globe and other and will be concerned about those who Washington publications over the nom have neither food nor shelter; but the to be entirely without foundation, or at anybody or anything beyond his own individual self or that which brings him comfort and enjoyment:

The Washington Times was launched in 1893 by a fraternity of printers and allied labor interests with meagre capital, almost died, obtained new lease of lenson, a "fair haired Dane," who life by the infusion of more capital, lected the proper use of "r;" Shorty sels in support of the original policy, Evans, who was very youthful and had and according to reports the recent that each contributes per month would be just escaped from Bay City, Mich.; sale price came near a quarter of a

***
To "Old Prog" and Mr. Bloomer, you the same, gentlemen.

Several new subscribers were added to the Specification list upon receipt of erstwhile vigor promises to manifest itself more and more as he gradually grows warm about the collar. The 'Spess' folks are appreciative of good things, and the notes from the various chapels are eagerly scanned each week. lead all other chapels in the number of pute this claim?

Resolutions indorsing municipal ownership of electric lighting and street railways and free school books were adopted by the Illinois State Federation.

The progress of cotton spinning in the South in comparison to the North is shown in the figures of consumption of raw cotton in each section. In the South 1620 021 bales; in the North, 1,957,570 bales.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product. Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best !

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

RACE COURSE AT BENNINGS D.C. FALL MEETING NOVEMBER 11 to NOVEMBER 30.

SIX RACES DAILY.

Electric cars and Penn. R.R. trains direct to Track.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR!

MATTRESS MAKING, CARPET CLEANING, ALTERING, AND RELAY-ING AT REASONABLE RATES.

W. H. ROBERTSON, 507 Eleventh Street Northwest. (Secretary Carpet Upholsterers' Union 7597, A. F. of L.)

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

********** Che busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO.

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imitate it because it's good.

Boston Baking Co., 119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

SAMUEL C. PALMER, MANUFACTURER OF SODA and MINERAL WATERS

In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. es and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. . And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores

ARE COUNTERFEITS. The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician

Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON..... WALTER V. SMITH ...... Vice-President W M. GARRETT.....Secretary JOHN R. BERG..... Treasurer C. C. HIPKINS..... D. E TYRRELL.....Sergeant-at-Arms FRANK HART ..... Doorkeeper TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and

AUDITORS-D. W Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

COMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong.

FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman; T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A.

Bynum. and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank D. Seiffert.

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks.

LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis,

and B. M. Connelly. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman : J.M. Lenhart, and Hugh Reid

CHAIRMEN. First Division—Charles M. Sizer.
Second Division—John E. Fulenwider.
Third Division—W R. Abbott. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room—W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division—A. M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-F. I. Gleason. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.—Earl Ruppert Baxter. Judd & Detweiler's-Charles Nace. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England. National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register - C. H. Draeger. General Postoffice - Granville Harford.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

Down Town.

Congress Monday.

Matt Hayes has again left the city. Old Winter is in town good and hard Swampoodle bettors overlooked the Swamplands.

Dick Worster, of New York, arrived in town Monday.

then the Spring meeting will soon be

Bill Hinton, ex-foreman of the Post.

One hundred and thirty-eight printers are setting type on Specification-long primer. The largest chapel in the Special Sunday suffrage meeting of Columbia Union there was not a quorum present. Twenty-five members constitute a quorum.

J Monroe Krieter, ex foreman of the Times, ex-vice-president of Columbia Typographical Union, and ex secretary of the Central Labor Union, now a maker-up on the Philadelphia North American, is in town this week shaking hands with friends.

advocate, late of Memphis, Tenn., and and who are giving the necessary pointnow a member of Typographical Union ers, are "Windy" Morgan of the Sec-No. 6 is still confined in Fordham Hos ond, Harry Bradley of the Third, and pital, recovering from a brutal assault our one and only "Spike" Leonard. by "toughs" on election day while he Mr. Ingram is an expert machine operwas defending trades unionism at a ator and a good printer, and can build public meeting.-J. N. Bogert, in New a four-tier head on a table like a vet-of Toronto, Canada, made this office a the symposiums, a subscriber to The pleasant call Saturday. They are here TRADES UNIONIST and is talking polion a visit prior to attending the contics. I may mention him as a delegavention of the American Federation of torial candidate later on.

Labor at Scranton, Pa., December 5, 1901. Both gentlemen are delegates representing the International Book- quet? Stir the boys up.

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m, December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first days, has returned to work. class. Pan Roast, 10 cents Heurich's Beer on draught Nice hot lunch free. Your patronage solicited.

JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street.

First Division.

Dickson is with us again, after a week at the "Spec."

"Panhandlers" and "hobos" are cautioned to give Alley 1 a wide berth.

A number of changes are looked for next week when we have Congress on Dr. S. C. Ellis, of the Catalogue, who was reported sick last week, returned to work Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis appreciated the flowery token of remembrance and esteem of his many Capt. J. S. Robinson is meeting with success in the organization of a basket ball team to represent the G P. O. in the District League. From the large number of athletes among the employes of the printing office a team should easily be organized that will land prizes by the basketful.

Mr. Jeffreys, a young man of promise, was promoted from the case in this division to a desk in the proof room this week. His late colleagues are wondering if he is thoroughly conversant with the mystic signs of the proof reader and knows how to make a "ring" in the latest style of the art.

On Friday last Mr. C. E. Groome was presented with the Harris medal for 1901 for the best record made at Ordway in the recent shoot of the Dis trict National Guard. It is a handsome solid gold shield suspended from a cross-bar pin and is inscribed with his name, record and date of the shoot and is embellished by a knapsack and accoutrements in German silver. Mr. Groome also won the National Guard championship cup, which he must defend again next year.

I was somewhat amused at the vari ous announcements last week of the prolific crop of brand new babies among the printers. Our wise old ladies say that such a crop at this time of the year is a sure sign of squalls later on, but if the satisfied smile on the face of our mare. philosophic and genial friend, Tim Ring, last Thursday morning you would have reached the conclusion that some thing pleasant had happened. After the stereotyped greeting I remarked: 'Well, Tim, how are things?" "All right, Bab; couldn't be a finer specimen. Mother and son are doing well." So we extend congratulations and score another boy for the First, with returns tive organ like a goat. He thinks

How about organizing the Columbia Union Debating Society this winter? material left on the day side. It was before they had breakfast. the original purpose to organize two force, while Judge Ennis, the first presbut now a resident of New York, is in ident, can perform a like service among the "owls." The education, training to rival any similar society in Washing-assigned cases in the First is W. W. will act as interlocutor. Ingram, who is making rapid progress in his induction in public office. Mr. Ingram is credited to Tennessee, but if there is a person in Washington hailing from Georgia and the whole sunny South whom he does not know and has not sought out he should send in his name. We do not wonder at his progress, for among his old-time ac-John J. Hogan, the Southern labor quaintances "away back in the States," eran. He is already a member of the Mr. Robert Glockling and Mr. Young, National Union, is interested in one of

Third Division.

Well, Bro. Bailey, how about a ban-

T. Frank Morgan is the nominee for president of the Columbia Mutual Relief Society.

Henry L. Ripley, who has been suffering with rheumatism for several M. McLaughlin, Sr., is one of the nominees for recording secretary of the Columbia Mutual Relief Society. The Third Division Symposium officers for the next six months will be William C. Beddow, president; Henry M. Allen, secretary. Col. William H. Sweeney had a special invitation to attend the consecration of Monsignor Conaty as bishop at Baltimore Sunday, but on account of the inclemency of the weather did not

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Fifth Division.

ing again after an absence of some weeks.

William T. Hall is attending strictly to business in the northeast section of the city.

Eugene Smith was due to return from his vacation, but was unable to put in an appearance owing to sickness. Joseph I. Keefer has invented an ingenious device by which the carrying capacity of our iron case stands may be increased. A patent has been applied William M. Hamilton, contemplates erecting a sanitarium on his place in Hyattsville, as he has discovered that the water in his well possesses very peculiar medical properties. For terms and full information see him at his

Mr. Charles H. Leighton and Mrs. Carrie C. Horton were married last Wednesday evening at 929 Rhode Island avenue. It was a very quiet affair, none but the immediate relatives and close friends being present. Congratulations, "Ham."

"Fitz" was doing the races in his sleep the other night and he exclaimed: 'I'll go five on Carbuncle!" This aroused "Whitey" from his slumber, and he replied: "Don't do it; everything's Guess Work now." Just then the horses came under the wire and 'Fitz'' sighed: "O, Death where is thy victory. O-" when "Whitey" punched you could have seen the dimensions of him in the ribs and ended the night

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Bindery Notes.

Meyer Cohen would have won if he had played.

Jack Quinlan will never play them again. Ha! Ha! Ha!

"Sky Rocket" Downing has a diges nothing of eating a whole pie for lunch (wooden plate and all). John Atkins was seen walking in The veterans and prime movers are on from the race track one morning very the night force, but there is a plenty of early. He was looking the nags over

"Handy Andy" is rather previous in branches of this admirable society-a his "knock" on the bookbinders' enday and a night branch-and to meet tertainment and ball. The affair will in joint debate at stated periods. Tom not take place until New Years' eve, The last week for the ponies—but Bynum is the hold over president, and and he will find, if he cares to investias he is on the day force it is suggested gate, that every member of the orchesthat he proceed to organize the day tra on that occasion will have paid-up

> The coming entertainment of the bookbinders will eclipse any ever held and amusement derived from the de- by the union. The first part will con bating society is beyond estimate, and sist of minstrels-thirty men, black Columbia Union can develop material face and in costume. There will be four end men and every performer will be a bookbinder. Charles F. Weston Among the new men who have been will have control of the first part and Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. Scholarships for Sale.

To any one contemplating taking a to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholarships, which will be sold at a very reasonable price.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Room and Board.

Comfortable room for two, with Iersey avenue northwest.

••••••••• SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS. ***********************************

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

X-MAS GIFTS

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.—that combine beauty and long service with very inexpensive prices.

A great many articles in Sterling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

Charles Dennison finds himself labor-

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Specification Notes.

The "Spess" labored until 9 p. m. last Wednesday. It was just like being Generally speaking, the sporting fraternity of this room banked money last week. There was so much work that no one could be spared to attend the

F. A. Brashears, who holds down lucky 13, was ill last Friday and had to return to Baltimore. Am glad to state that this popular young Baltimorean has entirely recovered from his indis-

David Pollock (one of the unfortunate is spoken of last week) has been quite ill for some time past. It is said that he has pneumonia. Dave becomes very popular wherever he chances to be, and I am sure that if competent and faithful nursing and the best wishes of his friends figures in his case, he will live to pound "Spess" type for many a day.

Private B. W. Butler, the modest and quiet Bostonian of Alley 2, went down to the Captain's desk Saturday morning and made signs to the effect that he was suffering from "cold feet." Major McBride called his orderly and sent a dispatch to Captain Post, of the Horse Marines, to report Private Butler "sick and excused." The Major then called up Providence Hospital, and the ambulance soon came around and hurried our comrade away. Poor Butler! May he speedily recover.

Harry Miller is a very "warm" indi vidual generally speaking, but he was especially so last Wednesday night when the hours of labor extended to 9 o'clock, and with a full head of steam churning through the p pes. As Harry has no particular pull with the engineer and his full open window lacked in wind-suction powers sufficient to cool moist limbs of the Bostonese Apollo, he hied himself to the wash room and removed his underclothing! Harry says that there is so much "hot air" on both sides of him that there is positively no chance of getting cold this winter.

Every time any one approaches a certain young lady compositor's frame, whether on business or pleasure bent, certain individuals start up a monotonous coughing spell that swells up into a discomforting and most confusing noise to the parties concerned, being especially embarrassing to the young lady in question, who is too modest and refined to create any feeling by demanding that the unseemly and improper sounds cease. Gentlemen, you have been fairly warned. Now take this semi-official hint to yourselves, and recognize good nature when you see it so out of proportion, and treat it at least respectfully.

Charley Duffy returned Friday from pleasant and novel fifteen days' leave f absence. When he left nothing was business or commercial course it will be said about what might happen at an early date. No, he just giggled to himself, and in a day or two was married to a pretty and charming young lady. The rest of Charley's leave was spent blissfully, ach, divinely. Last paid. Apply at this office. Friday, however, he had to return to his official post, and thought that he would sneak in unnoticed and "saw wood." But he was pleasantly disapboard. Good table board. 810 New pointed. The young benedict was given three cheers and a tiger as he FOR RENT.—Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents, and fortune to manly groom and wishing that only the in his future life. Here's happiness and fortune to manly groom and wish.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E. st. ret north. Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. and fortune to manly groom and win-Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. some bride. OLD Prog. OLD PROG. | west.

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

 $T^{
m ANZER'S}$  HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througHAdmirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA

 $N^{\rm eat}$  and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREE T Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are suprem

Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

Is now open. It contains all that is up to date
A Choice Line of

LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland,

Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas.. UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL. WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for unused leaves of absence.

-VISIΓ-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . . .

Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873

S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS

AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS

SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00. The Evans Dental Parlors, 1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office

Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers,

443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey—

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes
of Beer. Leading Brands of Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscription solicitor at this office; one who is not affected with climatic lassitude only need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be published a card for the use of members of Columbia Union, 101, containing the names of the following printing offices, Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E st. get north

~~~~~~~ Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, H atter and Men's F rnisher 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS.

SHERWOOD Specialties.

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 21c. PER CUE.

> THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description.

Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per me

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES.

300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel.

--requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

It not only makes THE BES [Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO.,

222222 22222

Printer. 1012 Penna Ave. - - Washington, D. C.

Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 1 Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT

Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER

Drawn from the Wood. 211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D.C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY. 605 F Street N. W.

Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date. $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER, Fine Wines and Liquors.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS 1210 E Street Northwest

LUNCH

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work. G. P. O. BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager. possesses sessesses

Every Laboring Man

Wholesalers,

J. L. KERVAND. Engraver, Lithographer and Plate

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock.

The Man's Store

RAIN COATS, $10 TO $25

-but good for rain or shine-"storm wear"—an all-a ound coat. Good ones here at $10 to $25, a saving of $2 or $3 -no matter which one you buy.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005=7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring Department. UITS AND OVER-COATS CUT TO YOUR MEASURE

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W., Jnion Clothier, Furnisher, and latter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

"MANY A TRUTH IN JEST."

The Morgue humorists might save a great deal of wear and tear on their systems by having the "Percy-Rhodeshave-moved" item marked "tf."

If the Yearbook of Columbia Union served no other purpose, the fact tha it gives a few people a chance to orna ment it with their features would be reason sufficient for its continuance.

The discovery of the boy whose brain ticks like a watch arouses the regre that more people are not able to give visible or audible signs that their brains are working.

Now that Cos Rodier has been pre sented with his tenth, which no doub necessitates a roll call at bedtime, he surely has a good case for his Grievance Committee.

The list of probable candidates for office next spring forces home the un pleasant fact that some people find it hard to break away from the trough.

A "professional square man" is never so happy as when "thanked by his union," but there are a few who would rise in the estimation of their fellow unionists if they were thanked by their creditors.

In addition to his other troubles Senator Quay is now suffering from a slight Stone bruise.

The members of the Morgue chapel are never more humorous than when they pose as promoters of political fortunes, and that candidate is to be pitied who takes them too seriously.

The average easy-going good-natured dispenser of "jolly" is ever ready with the quotation, "Vinegar catches no flies," but I have little use for a man whose aspirations rise no higher than fly paper.

It might be a good idea for the friends of the latest addition to the Board of Trustees to take a reef in their enthusiasm before the membership of the union suffers from a superfluity of

The road to the shelf via a delegateship promises to become popular with our retiring presidents, but the other candidates and their friends will soon demur to the ringing in of any more "sure things."

If Brother Oyster has any "statistics" left over after presenting his side of the District suffrage turmoil he might apply them to the solution of the vexed problem, "Why is a mouse when it spins?"

A beatific smile o'erspreads the countenance of Albloomer these days as he contemplates the long array of wouldbe's awaiting the fatherly pat on the back. The voters will later on land one a little higher and somewhat more vigorously.

The frequency with which the name of Mr. Dietrich occurs next to pure reading matter in the proceedings of the Central Labor Union makes it almost necessary to assure the awestruck public that Columbia Union is still represented in the central body by a delegation of five, among them one the horses" is apt to get plucked for a grand success. John Dickman, an ex president of the his pains. union and an able man. But John was always a modest sort of hairpin, who avoids the public gaze as much as some amateur statesmen seem to court it.

the treasury overcomes its hemorrhagic diathesis if all the people with plans for improvements get past the outside

The work of some of the new men in the G. P. O, as evidenced by their proofs, almost justifies the suspicion that the Civil Service Commission pied its Navy-Yard eligible list.

There is a disposition in certain quarters to treat the Jimmie Huggins boomlet for delegate as a joke, but whether this is due to Jimmie's whis kerines or to the fact that Joe Babcock first sprung it on an unsuspecting pubic is too deep for me, but either reason is satisfactory.

The Comptroller of the Treasury displays rare talent in obscuring the exact meaning of his recent decisions in a mass of verbiage, but since they can be interpreted several ways everybody ought to be satisfied.

Since we must elect some one to fill the office of president of the union, let us hope that the supply of "our noble foremen" will hold out.

In connection with the transfer of was somewhat surprised to notice that it was necessary to transfer only one man to the Treasury Branch to fill his

In the report of the Attorney-General the other day a comp. came across an item which he interpreted as "one pearl center-desk push." The reader insisted on having it "one pearl-center desk push," but if Major Dodge, the Specifications expert, were to have a say in the matter it would appear as 'one pearl-center desk-push." You makes yer guess and corrects yer proof.

I understand that the Consumers' League is soon to begin operations, and it will be necessary for us all to hold on to something again while Jim Johnston relieves his feelings on the Notwithstanding numerous announce nents that during the present adminisration the machine will be run by the civil-service people, all incoming Congressmen may as well prepare to have heir doorbells yanked.

J. J. OTTINGER.

Charles F. Lanman.

Charles F. Lanman, who has charge of the Photo-Engraving Branch of the Public Printing Office in Manila, P I. is a Washington boy. He was educated in the Public schools of this city. For a number of years he had charge of the photo-engraving division of the National Tribune, where he had learned his trade. In 1900 he accepted a position on the Philadelphia Inquirer, which position he held till the time of his appointment to Manila.

Mr. Lanman, who is the son of Lewis H. Lanman, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, is a young man of umblemished character and unquestioned integrity.

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

The race is not always to the swift except when long primer is running.

 The self-made man is an admirable character when he is not too selfishly made.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, While the Temple is now virtually paid for, it will be some time yet before

Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| NAME. | BUSINESS. | LOCATION. |
|--|------------------------------|--|
| Haines' Southeast Store | Department store | Eighth and Penna avenue s.e. |
| Keen in Bros | Gents' furnishers | 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n. w. |
| Bolomon | Gents' furnisher | 708 Seventh street n.w. |
| Bufus H. Darby | Printer | 508 Fourteenth street n.w. |
| P. B. Anderson | | 512 Tenth street n.w. |
| H. L. McQueen | Printer | 1108 E str et n.w. |
| N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). | Cigar manufacturer | 1011 Penna. avenue n.w |
| E. Gundershiemer | Baker | 516 Second street n w. and stalls
in enter Market. |
| Peter Grogan | Carpet dealer | 817 to 823 Seventh street n w. |
| J. Mangan | Horseshoer | L str et. bet. 16th and 17th n.w. |
| John H Fitzgerald | Horseshoer | 443 Prather's alley n.w. |
| S. S. Daish | Coal and wood | Florida ave and Third st. n.e. |
| Wilbur F. Nash | Meat dealer | Center and O st. Markets. |
| Sheets & Willer | Electrician | 711 G street n.w. |
| James A. Bennett | Tinner | 804 E street n.w.
2008 H street n.w. |
| Louis A Dieter | Paperhanger and decorator | F street northwest. |
| National Mosaic Company | Mosaics | 207 Fourth st. n.w. |
| I. Grosner | Clothing | 914 F st. and 803 Market Space. |
| M. Minster | Gents' furnisher | 1343 St. n.w. |
| A. H. McGhan | Painter and contractor | 817 E st. n.w. |
| A. Minster | Gents' furnisher | 499 and 501 Penne ave. n. w. |
| Charles Walters | Carriage Builder | Fourteenth and streets n.w. |
| A. Markward | Contracting painter | 609 G street n. w. |
| Cyrus B. Reese | Employing steamfitter | 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. |
| C. A. Schneider & Sons | Union Iron Works | 212 Twelfth street n. w. |
| Boston Steam Laundry | Laundry | First and G streets n. w. |
| Tolman Steam Laundry
Wash. Traction & Electric Co | Laundry | 491 to 499 C street n. w. |
| Minster & Paterson | Street Railway | City and Suburban Lines. |
| The Famous | Gents' furnishings | 1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w.
437 Seventh street n. w. |
| Chas. A Muddiman & Co | Gas fixtures | 1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w. |
| Joseph Mathey | Stove dealer and tin worker. | 1918 Pennsylvania avenue n. w. |
| A. S. Reavis | Tin. stove, cornice works. | 715 Second street n. e. |
| A. Molnoti | Stone works | First and M streets n. e. |

who is thankful that he has made some- tendance and aid, thereby bringing tobody else thankful.

 It is lese majeste to joke about the Emperor of Germany, and it is stated on good authority that, as a consequence, the German national hymn will Commodore Joe Farwell from the be changed to "They Are Hanging Creasury Branch to the Night Force, I Men and Women for the Wearing of the Grin."

> The return of "Old Prog" is sure to be heartily welcomed by those who took an interest in the literary warfare -a sort of guerrilla warfare it was-in the columns of The Trades Unionist several years ago. "Old Prog" did his share in keeping the game hot, and seemed to rather like the smoke of battle. In these "weak piping times of peace" he will prove a valuable contributor, since he has the faculty of scooping interesting news items besides hitting the bull's eye now and then with timely and judicious comment.

 FASHION NOTES. Pink slips are not becoming to pale

Bad luck should be decorated with a proad smile

Blue devils have a very lumpty-tum people.

appearance trimmed with pink slips. Bald heads are not as fashionable as hey were before "A Twentieth Century Girl" prodded "Handy Andy" with a literary hairpin. It is still an open question how low in the neck a compositor is entitled to cut his language when he thinks the proof-reader has "done him dirt."

It is not good form to appear satisfied with your mid-day 15 cents' worth of Were strongly forged and heavy seamed. chuck. By a little judicious grumbling Or else thy frame would not be giant strong. you may easily impress upon your rustic table mates the belief that you were | Since fire nor storm doth dare to lay hold accustomed to rather bong tong fare before you condescended to toil for Uncle Sam.

HOW TO BE THANKFUL. Be thankful if a day well spent, Even in lowliest work,

Has taught how best to meet the cares That in life's pathway lurk. Be thankful for the friendship tried,

You think no storm can shake: Be thankful for the enemies That you have failed to make Be thankful if, as years go by,

And in stern duty's service find That you have thanks to give. Be thankful if your heart still feels Some thrill of youthful joy; If manhood has not left behind

You better learn to live;

The simple-minded boy. Be thankful if you still are free To battle with your sins: In this life's never-ending war Who's conquered fighting wins

Be thankful for the kindly deeds That give you pleasure still; For kindly thoughts that in your breast No frost of time can kill. If such thankfulness as this

Your soul you can't uplift; And only feel the overfed, Cold thankfulness of thrift. Why, then, be thankful that you have time

To profit by this verse; In short, give thanks you're not so bad That you might not be worse.

ADAM BUGG.

Bartenders' League Ball.

The Bartenders' League, a new and robust organization in this city, will en tertain their many friends on December 16, 1901, by giving a ball. This will be their first annual, and from the manner in which the committee are handling In marked contrast with thy old and time-The man who knows "how to pick matters it seems that it is bound to be ized labor should encourage these new And within thy kind and protective walls The best thanks are those of the man organizations by lending both their at- May the friendly craft earn its competency.

gether more closely those relations of unionism and sociability which have so much been slighted in the past.

ODE TO THE NEW BUILDING.

By RICHARD W. BURKHART.

Before thy majestic yet unfinished form And gaze with wonder and amazement Into thy dark and cavernous sides. I peer, and wonder what their unknown depths protend-What future years will bring for thee. The progress of thy towering and massive I've watched from its very inception. Gradually was they foundation laid, And firm were ptanted the pillows of thy strength.

Slowly and with labored pace Was thy great hulk formed and fashioned. Day after day I've gazed upon that yellov and unpromising grave From which was to rise thy finished and Thou wert planned well and for durance.

The architect's brain held the details of thy marvelous being, For well and long had thy purpose and mis sion been forecast.

It was for thee to show to the new century The achievements of man in the builder

Wherein vast and gigantic tasks in printing May be accomplished with ease and dispatch. It was for thee to keep and preserve that load Of precious freight which moves within th busy walls,

From danger of collapse without And from lurk of disease within. The demand made upon thy old and battered predecessor

Had become so great, with its crowded chambers, That the new and modern must supersede. Well and wisely were considered the heavy

Upon thy bosom when thou wert planned, For thy ribs and arms and beams and bars

Against the elements was thy frame molded upon thy frame Thy crowning glory is thy many-studded

Which are to lead the light within for brighter From these, though now dark gashes in thy

Will shine the radiance and glory of thy hope.

In darkness we shall later behold thee, When though these eyes will shine rows of glimmering lights, Telling all who see that life and progress are within. Thy being has been bought with a heavy

For ere thou wert born a human life Was crushed beneath thy long black arms. Later, when thy walls were towering skyward, There fell from their side a builder's body-crushed. Long and laborious have the toilers kept within thy walls, Each giving his brain and brawn to thy completion. Grand and glorious ought to be thy state, For with goodly cost and human life thou wert bought. But ere thou wert brought into full and complete stature Sorrow's mantle was hung from thy halfma-ted brow. Twas for him whose friendly hope was in

But whose life was cut away ere thy form was half-grown.

Out of this sorrow and travail let thy banner glorious float. O're the home of the art for which thou wert set apart. As yet thy face is veiled with a wooden And thy sides shielded with the superficial,

But the day will come when the false and temporary, Which now enshrines thy form, will let loose And radiant and glorious will we behold thy worn sister.

Be kind and generous, O glourious halls, All friends of unionism and organ- To those within thy care and keeping. To thee our hearts and hopes are entrusted,

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

National Capital Brewing

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

HATTERS AND FURRILERS.

JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON.
1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.
See our $2 and $3 Hats.

HARNWARE AND TOOLS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS.

J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK.

THOMAS R. RILEY,

13th St. and Ohio Ave.

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

Pumps and Elevators.

8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS.

JOHN B. ESPEY,

1010 Pennsylvania Ave N. W

NEWSPAPERS.

All the news.

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS.

GEORGE F. MUTH & CO.,

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO.,

458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

E. F. DROOP & SONS,

925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PLUMBING.

PRINTERS.

JUDD & DETWEILER,

420-422 11th St. N. W

PRINTING MATERIAL.

NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM.

JOHN M. BECKER,

Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E

TEAS AND COFFEES.

GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest.

Eight Branch Stores.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND.

WM. H. LIVERMORE,

101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest.

Machine-made Rollers.

J. B. LANAHAN. Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter. Southeast (orner Second and H sts.

(Late Ryneal's),

TON POST.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F.N.E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET. NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

BOOTS AND SHOWS. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

MCGREGOR & ASHLEY. Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO.. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755.

COACH FINDINGS. J B KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W

SMOOT, COFFER & MCCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO.

PIRE INSTRANCE. FIRFMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone. 2180.

FURNITURE AND CARPETS JULIUS LANSBURGH. Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W.

GAS FIXTURES. 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W

GROCERIES. Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's, beers and popular brands of whiskies, 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Marvland rye, $1 per qt.

J. WILLIAM LEE. Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 25.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Law Providing Seats for Female Help in Stores To Be Enforced.

Much Business Transacted-Credentials Received-Delegate Winslow to Act as Temporary Secretary - Street Railway Employes' Matter-Secretary Instructed to MR. C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary Central Labor Have Unfair List Published-Many Communications Received-Several Additions to Unfair List.

Monday night at Typographical Temple the Central Labor Union was presided over by President Feeney in regular weekly session.

Credentials were received from the Horseshoers certifying William Sidebotham; from the United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse goods certifying Messrs. H. J. Laubach, A J Heard, Richard D. Pollard, Frederick W. Kneessi and Thomas T. Mack.

The following resolutions were offered by Retail Clerks' Union and indorsed by this body:

WHEREAS, A law has been passed by Congress stipulating that all stores in the District of Columbia employing female help must provide them with suitable seats behind sales counters, and

WHEREAS, In a large number of stores in this city the law has not been enforced, and WHEREAS, Retail Clerks' Union No. 262 has started a movement for the purpose of se curing the proper enforcement of this law,

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union, of Washington, D. C., hereby pledges its support to such a movement, and further be it Resolved, That a committee be appointed from the Central Labor Union to act in conjunction with the committee from Retail Clerks' Union No. 262 for the purpose of ren-dering them whatever assistance may be in

Messrs. H. T. LcClare, J. H. Babcock and Joseph H. Caldwell were appointed as a committee on above mat-

The Musicians' Union's communications relative to matters of their calling were referred to Contract Committee.

The attention of this body was called to the matter of one Henry D. Phillips Company, which has the contract for packing the seeds for the Agricultural Department, working nine and ten hours a day and employing female help under the age of sixteen, and the secretary was directed to communicate with the Secretary of Agriculture rela-

The following communications relative to resolutions adopted by this body anent the form of government in the District of Columbia were received: WHITE HOUSE,

WASHINGTON, November 30, 1901,

C. E. DIETRICH, Esq., Secretary, etc., 423 6 Street N. W., Washington, D. C. MY DEAR SIR: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 29th instant, with is rigidly enforced. enclosure, and to state that it will be brought to the President's attention. Very GEORGE B. CORTELYOU, Secretary to the President.

SPEAKER'S ROOM, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary, Washington, D. C. DEAR SIR: Yours of Nov. 29th transmitting resolutions adopted by the Central Labor Union of Washington, D. C., in regard to the Government of the District of Columbia, has been received and by direction of the Speaker I have to inform you that it will be referred to the proper committee. Very re-J W. RICHARDS. Private Secretary to Speaker.

UNITED STATES SENATE, COMMITTEE ON THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary Central Labor Union, 423 G Street N.W., Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR: I have received your communication containing a petition on the subject of the form of government in the District of Columbia and will introduce the same in the Senate at the earliest opportunity. Yours JAMES MCMILLAN.

COMMITTEE ON THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

November 30, 1901. C. E. DIETRICH, Secretary, Washington, D. C. DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 29th, enclos ing a copy of resolutions adoped by the Central Labor Union received. The same shall whenever the subject matter is considered by the District Committee. Yours very J. W. BABCOCK.

UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

MR. C. E. DIETRICH, Washington, D. C. MY DEAR SIR: I am today in receipt of 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

your communication of Nov. 29 with accompanying resolutions. I shall be very glad to give this matter my mours, tion. I am, very truly yours, WM. P. FRYE. give this matter my most serious considera-

Communication from Rubber Workers' Union No. 8622 was referred to the Label Committee.

The following Communication was DISTRICT SUFFRAGE MATTER received from the Commissioners relative to the Jacoby matter:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, COMMISSIONERS OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

November 29, 1901.

SIR: The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have received and will give due consideration to your letter of the 29th inst. relative to work overtime by John Jacoby contractor. Very respectfully,

WILLIAM TINDALL,

Delegate Winslow was appointed to act as secretary to the body during the absence of Secretary Dietrich to Scranton convention as a representative of all. If my memory serves me well, Keith he couldn't have broken into the grothis body.

The National Theatre, Castleberg, the jeweler, and S. C. Palmer, bottler, were placed upon the unfair list.

The Street Railway Employes matter was referred to a special committee consisting of Messrs. Dickman, Silver, Hammerstrom, McKay and J. F. Mc-

The matter of Robert Portner Brewng Company and the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners Union was referred to the Contract Committee.

The secretary was instructed to have 2,500 unfair lists published.

Seats for Female Clerks.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, composed of nearly all persons employed mercantile houses of this city have decided to have the regulation requiring that stores and department houses furnish seats for the female clerks when not engaged in attending to clerical duties enforced. This ordinance went into effect in 1894, but has only been carried out in a half way manner by many of the stores.

The Central Labor Union has inand the Clerks have communicated with clergymen of all denominations and benevolent societies requesting their moral aid in this matter.

Major Sylvester, chief of police, un der whose jurisdiction this matter comes, has been made cognizant of the non-enforcement of the ordinance and will give the matter his attention.

could at least be humane enough to provide suitable seats for their lady too often already." clerks without being compelled to do so by law or edict. However, since there is a regulation to that effect it is up to this organization, Major Sylves ter, and all humantarians to see that it

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Jehoshaphat!

COHOES, N. Y. November 25, 1901.

I came to this bailiwick to get a French dictionary. But that is not what I'm to write about-it is to go other night at lunch time and made him on Sunday. printers that are or have been. They are Frank Freckelton, of Albany, and filled the ancient injunction to live long people, etc. Thus being public men, with histories no longer sacredly pri vate, is why I say what I say. It is re- after a prolonged whistle, the train To thoroughly read the Sunday Post lated of them that they set type on the stopped. "Book of Chronicles" in the time of Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at larious villian, and so on."

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

by Kansas Populists—Captain Bill Meredith, as the "Intelligent Compositor," Did "Something Fierce"-The Growth of sardines?" asked one. of Washington Papers-Charles S. Gunn. print," I will omit his name, but as it sardine!" is history as well as reminiscence, I can't think of depriving others of the from?" asked another. pleasure I have felt in reading it. It looks as though I was a little "off" as said Brody. to one of my facts in relating the Beach-Ellis episode—not that facts cut much I'm an old union printer myself," asked When I saw the printed paper there of a figure in story-telling. This is it: the chap.

MY DEAR "PARD"-I think you are mistaken in your statement that Douglass was the first negro admitted into Columbia Union, No. 101. In fact, it is Smith was the first negro admitted. I remember the occasion very well, as it was my first appearance in said Union. This was in February, 1871. The fight against Douglass was very bitter indeed, and Hen. Gray, who was sergeant-at-arms at the time, can doubtless supply you with many of the bloodcurdling incidents that took place that winter at the meetings that were then held in the City Hall building.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29, 1901.

The employes of the office at that time took kindly to Smith, and to weaken the charge that Douglass was altogether opposed upon the ground of his color, the former was admitted without much opposition. However, there were many irreconcilables, some of whom, I believe, resigned their positions rather than work with a negro. some "down town" printers distainfully refused to secure situations in the office for the same reason, saying that they would "walk on their uppers first, and then wouldn't do it." With Smitn's initiation the opposition to the negroes' admission gradually faded away in a clerical capacity in the stores and until now there is no objection at all, and many of the printers who said they would walk on their uppers" before they would vork with a negro subsequently got employ ment in the office and some of them are working in the office now.

When Smith was admitted he made a brie and appropriate address, thanking the Union for what it had done.

cently arrived from the Barbados, was also good. admitted. Like Smith, he wanted to tender his thanks to the Union. It so happened dorsed this action in no uncertain terms that President Webb had temporarily vacated the chair and my old friend, "Bull' Robinson, occupied it.

King said: "Mr. President, when I first anded on the shores of this vast Republic-Just then there was confusion in the hall restoring order so that the speaker could proceed. In the few moments of lull that followed, King commenced again:

"Mr. President, when I first landed on the hores of this vast Republic-

It seems to us that the proprietors That was as far as he could get. "Bull" and managers of department and other had his eyes "sot." With more vigor than Stores wherein female help is employed ever he made use of the gavel, and yelling at the top of his voice said :

What King intended to say was forever lost to an expectant crowd. It was a ridiculous, exciting, and amusing climax. pleasure and no little profit in recalling them.

* * *

writes so pithily and epigramucatically for his consideration "Jottings by John way. Even a boil has one.

back of the dates of Resurrectionist tell how he was captured as a burglar south railroad, approaching which, leaps and bounds.

Jehoshaphat, and were the introducers stack and corn shock in the neighbor- performance of his religious duties. of the word phat common in old time hood seemed to be moving, and a mob chapel rules, it being a password to of infuriated Populists, armed with easy things in the days of the ancients. pitchforks, clubs, and hoes, rushed They migrated to America anterior to upon us to drag us from the platform. the Glacial Peroid, and with Lou Wash- They got me, but my partner kicked burn (now somewhere on Manhattan one of them in the jaw and broke his Island) organized the Printers' Society, hold, and as the train pulled out then, day: be given due and proper consideration of Albany, in '32, chroniclers having he escaped. They dragged me to the also registered them as delegates to town near by, denouncing me as a the International (or National) around thieving scoundrel and other unpleasabout those times. I pass the buck to ant things, some of them saying that l. c. my countenance showed I was a burg-

Now, any one who knows Brodnax extras. The President's message came sonable price.

can readily believe that simple-minded in, and though there were only about country people might be deceived by ten frames on the paper, every printer A Correction and a Contributed Reminis- his appearance, but appearances are that could be got hold of was set to the grocery store and stole five boxes the dead rush, and no proofs were

The following came to hand a day or Brody. "I wish I were! I haven't got the first and last take. While I two ago, and as the author seems a eaten as much as one sardine in months. was struggling with the last take the little modest about "rushing into Oh, I wish I had even one poor little foreman kept encouraging me:

"I'm a printer, looking for work," her up!'

"Here's my card," said Brody, producing it.

"Why, this fellow is all right," said my recollection that he was not admitted at shows he left Kansas City to-day; so message was something fierce.' cery store last night."

Brody was released from custody. "Do you want to work? Can you set type?" asked the friend.

"I can set any kind of type, ads. jobs, bend rules, drive in dutchmenanything you want," said Brody.

"All right! I need a man. I'll give you $10 a week and your board," said the country editor.

"That's me," said Brody, "but I look a little rusty and I'd like to get ern circuit," the Missouri River towns, fixed up first."

"Here's a dollar," said his new boss, handing him a cart-wheel, "and probably many in the office who will you can stop at the hotel on me to-night."

Brody says he went and got a shave, was brushed up, boots blacked, etc., then got his supper at the hotel, and was standing out front, picking his teeth, when he heard another train whistle for the same crossing. He made a break for it, climbed to his old percii, and went his way, a little behind time, but a shave, a shine, a supper, A few months later, one King, who had re- and the change out of the dollar to the * * * *

Last Sunday should have been a day of rest, but I put in the day contem plating the prodigious growth of Washington newspapers, being enticed thereto by the Washington Post, of which and "Bull" brought the gavel down with vigor, to all appearances for the purpose of these 320 columns at least 177 were these 320 columns at least 177 were devoted to advertisements-regular business announcements, without any extraordiary occasion therefor apparent to the naked eye. (There may have been more than 177 columns for I roughly and hastily computed it.) This months' session of Congress. Here who have not seen fit to put in their this was simply the newspaper called man glad. for by the business and news of that particular day-not a hurrah, grand-Those were great times and I find some splurge, extraordinary-occasion issue, to be looked back to and talked of for covered to moisten the dry figures of months to come. It was just what the If my "genial little friend" who necessities of the occasion demanded. The Post runs from 12 to 16 pages on a variety of topics should ever be at every day of the week-never less than a loss for a headline, I desire to submit the former number, the latter being exceeded as occasion requires. The Jottinger." But what's in a head any- Star runs about the same size on five days of the week, with a 32 page issue on Saturday. The Times runs from 8 around hustler. The boys cornered Jim Brodnax the to 12 pages on week days and up to 24

When I was connected with the old Bloomer; for I've discovered the oldest out in Kansas once. With a partner, National Republican, about twenty after fixing the "brakey," they estab- years ago, it consisted of 4 pages, as lished themselves on the "blind bag- did the Post and the Star, and we ad Charley Rogers, of Troy, who have ful. bage" of an M. K. & T. express train mired ourselves greatly when we got out of Kansas City, which was not ex- out an 8-page Sunday paper. The and prosper, being recently elected to pected to stop for 100 miles. But it growth was slow and gradual from that public office by the people, for the seems that some miles out of Kansas time until seven or eight years ago, City the "Katy" crosses a north and since when the progress has been by is as much as a man can comfortably "Then," said Brody, "every hay- do on that day in addition to the proper

> Frank Kidd repeats a story that he says Capt. William M. Meredith, Chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing-an old printer, as every one knows -told him in a barber shop the other

> "Back in 1855," said the Captain, "I was a compositor on one of the Indianapolis papers, and, as ever, there was great rivalry among the news papers of the city in getting important news to the people first in the way of cence-King's Unspoken Speech-An Ac- not everything. Arriving in town, he work on any size of type that the office count of the Capture of James H. Brodnax declared his innocence of wrongdoing. afforded. The message was cut up Court of Claims Renders Favorable "Aint you the chap that broke into short and put in hand, everything on taken, the type being dumped from "Five boxes of sardines!" roared stick into form. It so happened that I MAY GO TO SUPREME COURT

"'Here, come on with that take! "Who are you, and where are you Don't stop to read it! Get a move on you! Come on! Bring it in! Rush

"Well, I dumped it into the form, "Where is your card? Got a card? it was locked up, and to press it went. was the signature 'Franklin Fierce.' The editor had a paragraph the next day reading thus: "'Owing to the intelligent compohis new-found friend. "This card sitor, the signature to the President's

> "That," said the Captain, "I think was the origin of two terms that continue to be used to this day-'intelligent compositor' and 'something fierce.'"

> Charles S. Gunn, who worked in the G. P. O. seven or eight years ago, is in charge of the typesetting machines at the National Publishing Company's establishment, this city. He was well known some years ago on "the Westso on, and Chas. Ennis says he worked with him fifteen years ago. There are remember Mr. Gunn.

A. F. BLOOMER.

Proof Room.

Look out for Jimmy Huggins. He wears rubber shoes. Bill Dorsey and his partner are very reticent. Here is something doing. Frank Stretton was absent several days last week-looking after his

The comp, who recently made "territorial" read "terrestrial" consigned celestial.

Henry A. Lyon, Edgar B. Merritt, and has been twice argued, once last May Shelby Smith were added to the Night and again last month. Proof Room force.

The following were promoted to be A. Morgan, and Carlos B. Tomlin.

We have started upon a lively sevenleft 143 columns for the news, comment, will be bills and reports without end, and literary matter of the day. Now, which maketh the heart of the printer

"I use Na-pe-ru in my practice."— Dr GEO. C. HAVENER.

Eureka! A remedy has been disthe Statistical Bureau.

Out in West Virgina (in the town Frank Rhoderick hails from) there is a the small army of temporary employes, merchant who advertises that he is en-it does not give the Public Printer any wheat, corn, drugs a specialty (prescriptions compounded day or night), railroad ties, grain, etc. He is an all-the expenditure of the necessary amount ment of the many thousand letter carto put the Temple in good repair. We riers' claims prosecuted by the same have been so much occupied in paying attorneys, in that the individual claims off the debt in the last few years that on file in the Court will be passed upon no attention has been paid to the wear by a commissioner specially designated and tear. If we want to keep up with for that purpose. the procession we have got to be up to one of the ingredients of the "Flotsam gladly furnished by the attorneys. and Jetsam" hash. For example, it is a fiction that Lewis Douglass, son of the late distinguished Fred., was ever a member of Typographical Union, No. 101, and it is a fact that Keith Smith, who strikingly resembled Harvey Ellis, was the first colored man admitted to membership therein.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Oriscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Scholarships for Sale.

To any one contemplating taking a business or commercial course it will be to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholarships, which will be sold at a very rea-

TEMPORARY EMPLOYES WIN

Decision to Claimants.

Messrs, Geo. A, and Wm. B. King and Associate, Mr. Clark McKerchner, Secure Favorable Action on Barringer Case-Many Cases Filed-Statute of Limitations May Bar Some—Decision May Determine Policy of Future Pro Rata Pay for Ac-

It is with considerable satisfaction that we announce a favorable decision in the cases of Barringer and others in the Court of Claims. The court on Monday of this week rendered judgment in favor of the claimants in these cases, and we are informed by Mr. King, attorney for the employes and ex-employes, that the detail work of preparing the cases on file for final settlement will now progress rapidly. The individual judgment in Barringer's case is for $175.20, no part of the same being barred by the statute of limitations.

If no appeal is taken by the United States it is confidently expected that settlement will be made as soon as Congress makes the usual appropriation to pay judgments of this character, which will be during the coming session. Unfortunately there is strong reason for believing that the Government will appeal to the Supreme Court, which action would of course postpone payment.

This is a gratifying result of many months of effort on the part of the attorneys, and Messrs. George A. and William B. King, and their associate, Mr. Clark McKercher, are to be congratulated on the outcome. The Barringer case was filed nearly a year ago, and those of other temporary employes followed at intervals, several having been filed only last week, and for several months the cases have been the reviser transitorial to a place not actively prosecuted. The printed briefs on both sides covered at the time of Will W. Frye, Frank H. Hambright, the trial over fifty pages and the case

Responding to an inquiry the attorney stated that there is still time in readers and assigned to the Document which to file claims and that there were Proof Room: J. B. Matlack, Charles a small number yet to be filed, although progress in those now on file can not be delayed awaiting the action of those claims. If these cases are appealed to the Supreme Court it is quite likely that the statute of limitations will seriously affect those not filed at an early date, and while this decision may determine the policy of the Department as to the payment in future of pro rata pay for accrued leave of absence for the fractional part of a year of employauthority to adjust and pay the leaves for the period from 1895 to the present time. A special claim will have to be made in each case.

The actual adjustment will probably The membership will not object to follow the plan adopted in the settle-

We are asked to inform the claimants and others that any information de-Fiction, rather than fact, seems to be sired concerning these cases will be

> Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Eleven million dollars' worth of business was transacted between Seattle and Cape Nome this year.

The great rush of work in Western packing houses is making labor scarce in many Western towns. California, Utah, Colorado, and a part of Arizona produce about all the American honey that is sold abroad. In France they have invented a surgical sewing machine which will mend rents in human skin at a rapid rate.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Build ing Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... A, J. E. HUBBARD

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION

One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C. as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1901

I would as soon think of doing busines without clerks as without advertising. -JOHN WANAMAKER.

Nothing, except the mint, can make mone without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of you business house than for advertising you business, you are pursuing a false policy If you can do business, let it be known. -FRANKLIN

THE International Typographica Union will be the first labor organiza tion to celebrate its golden jubilee.

SENATOR McMillan placed before the Senate Wednesday the petition of the Central Labor Union of this city praying that the District of Columbia be given a government by popular suf frage. The matter has been presented to Congress several times and the outcome will be watched with interest.

CONGRESS by its presence brings about some good after all, one of which in particular is noticeable. The street car company now run regular cars over the G street line to the Capitol in lieu of a dinky transfer at long intervals. Does this action have anvthing to do with holding the franchise

WHAT immense possibilities unfold themselves to the mind when one thinks of a perfected organization of the world's workers-an organization that would ignore political divisions and boundaries, and press resolutely forward to the accomplishment of its great aim-an equal division of life's labors and responsibilities, and equil division of life's pleasures and privileges .- The Toiler.

REPRESENTATIVE BELL, of Colorado, has introduced a joint resolution in the that he intended anything more than a House providing that no public build. little more or less good natured pleasng, other than the Capitol building, in the District of Columbia, shall be used or occupied in any manner whatever in connection with ceremonies attending the inauguration of President of the United States, or other public func tion, except as may hereafter be ex pressly authorized by law.

WEDNESDAY Senator PENROSE, of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to ex tend the Geary Chinese Exclusion Act for twenty years. This matter has been agitated by labor organizations throughout the country and the law as it now stands expires by limitation in May 1902, it having been enacted for a period of ten years. There was also several similar bills introduced in the house. There is on hand a movement to introduce several immigration restriction bills, which are prepared by Commissioner of Immigration Pow-DERLY and championed by many Senators; one also to be presented of which Senator Lodge is the father, which provides an educational test of would be immigrants. It is to be hoped these measures will become operative and thereby protect our country from undesirable additions and cheap coolie

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

Writers of fiction used to be satisfied with one masterpiece each. To-day their works are all masterpieces-next to pure reading matter.

Perhaps it might be well to suggest to Brother Bloomer that people who worship the good old times are inspired by their remembrance of the old good increased wages 25 cents a day all How the tune at one time left both Jim an times. There is a distinction here around.

somewhere if you will only take the trouble to dig it out.

Contributor Cycle, being a consistent Stranger, that war a fiddle Jim used to sav cycle, is still in the ring, as it were. Away back in the sixties in Arkansaw! Here's another bouquet, old boy, to An'ef ever ye heard a fiddle could sing add to your growing bunch.

THE MAKING OF A G. P. O. TYPO. We'll suppose he's young and giddy And perhaps a trifle fresh. With a motion somewhat speedy And a tendency to rush.

And may be at first he'll tackle An extremely complex "tab," Which his very soul will shackle

If it gets him on the slab. Then some day he'll strike long primer Of the bugologic kind,

And he'll think his chance grows slimmer As he slowly drops behind. Oh, the comma flend will chase him,

And his spine will get a crook, ince his compounds will disgrace him

When he don't look in the book and the proofreader will fret him Till with rage he'll almost shout, and the pink-slip man'll get him

If he don't watch out. But his fighting blood 'twill rouse, and They will send him to the Spess, Where he'll set one hundred thousand

In a turn-in, more or less. Then his troubles will be over And he'll bid farewell to woe, and in typographic clover Ornament the G. P. O.

It has been a long time since the oungent paragraphs, the caustic comnents, and the straightforward statenents of J. J. Ottinger have added to 'the gaiety of nations' through the columns of this paper. As "Old Spay" ne was the hero of the hour, for a while, and made a reputation which depended upon literary quality as well as upon the freshness and candor of what he had to say. It is to be hoped that he will continue to bang the literary punching bag for some time to come if not

Some people drop into rhyme, And some burst into song Just to get a squint At their names in print. And others seek fame with a gong.

Handy Andy" is in trouble. And he worst of it is that "Andy" didn't vent out and hunted up it. It is a ittle bit like this. Some time since The Twentieth Century Girls gave a lawnce or a sworree or something like hat. They used to call 'em hops back many of us learned to eat peas with a fork. Well, anyhow, "Andy" was mean enough to assert that at the bethe music was not strictly union. He might have made his escape or gloriously perished in a good cause if he had kept to his original proposition. But in a thoughtless moment he had the indiscretion to reflect upon the personal charms of the fair entertainers in question; or at least that is what one might naturally gather from the unholy ruction he has created. It is not likely ntry in his side reflections regarding the question at issue. But women are dulges in personal raillery where the gentle sex is concerned had better and work the soft pedal for all it is worth. The case of "Handy Andy" I'll tell ye right here 'twas an affectin' sight. the races. does not by any means furnish an exeption to this rule. For instance, in THE TRADES UNIONIST of November 21, "A Twentieth Century Girl," speaking of our unfortunate friend and prother, says that he will be especially then adds, "We will not ask him to remove his hat but allow him to protect his shining bald pate, which is neither a rendezvous for hair nor a dome of thought." Now this would Then, with a heart overflowin' with sorrow not be so bad, and we might even enjoy "Handy Andy's" predicament, if it were not for the fact that all the rest of us bald heads are more or less involved in his downfall. The baldheaded man has trouble enough making up by keeping his pants creased and in other ways for his hirsute deficiency; and it is too bad that he should have his polished brain cover derisive scrutiny of the sex whose

ADAM BUGG. Four New York banks control $500, ooo,ooo deposits.

"crowning glory is her hair."

California's gold output since '49 has been $1,350 000,000.

Lake Seamen's Union has recently

JIM AND HIS FIDDLE.

[BY JOSEPH W. MCCANN.]

It was Jim's when he drawed his bow on a string! There was nary a tune that was ever writ-Waal, jess ask ole Jim and he'd play yer it-"The Suwanee River," or "I Jump Jim Crow," Or "Lizzie, Old Gal," or "Whar the Vi'lets

That winter Jim lay 'round the ranch; poor ole cuss!

Twas the last thet he ever spent among us An' we heerd him aplaying from morn till

But the gang never tired-'twas their hearts delight. An', stranger, he throwed his whole soul in

As ef he forgot thet he had any cares.

He'd snicker right out when he'd play some As ef it jess chased all his trouble away: But tears down his cheeks the'd be feelin

Would roll when he'd play a tune thet was An' thet's jess the way fur a feller to feel Ter make music tell. Leastways thet's my

"I've had this ole fld 'fore my youth spread its wings,"

He'd say as the rosin he'd kiss from the strings. When I'm down in ther mouth an' aint feelin' good I play it ter work up a more chipper mood, An' when I feel good I jess take it an' play To show I'm on 'arth 'an aint goin' to give

But when feelin' nuther good nor bad, waal I play on it then jess because I want ter.

An', boys, lemme tell ye, a fiddle aint but A piece of ole wood an' four strings o' cat-It's a real livin' thing, with a soul an' a heart, An' I'd sooner kick out than from it ter part I'd no more think o' givin' offense t' it Than of hurtin' yer feelin's—no, not a bit!" Ole Jim's face was white an' his eyes big an' glassy. An' never was healthy enough to be sassy. That winter he wilted away all kerwhack, An' when spring cum aroun' was flat on his

'Twas consumption, Jim said, as all the gang saw: He had come from Montanny to Arkansaw To be helped. So he lived-yes, stranger, it's true-Jess fifteen year more'n he expected to! Our able and entertaining friend He knew that he'd soon have to cash in his chips, But nary a whimper escaped from his lips, An' I tell ye, 'twas touchin' to see him in bed wait for trouble to hunt him up, but A dancin' tune fiddlin' an' he a'most dead. One day in that spring Jim called us all > Calm-like, an' his voice had a deep, hollov sound. I'm pretty near ready to quit, boys," sez he,

'I know 'fore the sun agin sets I'll be free; in Hop Pole County where a good So of ye'll jess prop me-ye must do it right An' give me the fiddle I'll play my last tune.

We gave him the fiddle an' propped him in forementioned function of the T. C. G.'s He hugged it a minnit-in a whisper then

Tom, ye'll bury it with me. Place it right At my neck, jess as if I was playin'. Ye

You must then put the bow into my right I promise," sez I, "Jim, to keep yer com mand.'

The fiddle he took, while the boys no word Then gazed at it hard an' kissed it an' mut

In the East. curious people. The man who in- The boys all stood 'round talkin' in whisper-

As quivered his white fingers over the know how to touch the keys gently We saw his eyes glimmer with un'arthly light-

> That fiddle talked, stranger-yes, talked to the heart-An' its voice was my part A lump gathered here in my throat jess that An' outdoors some fellers sneaked wipin their eyes. invited to the next T. C. G. dance and At last he stopped quickly an' gave a long sigh, up high Whar my eyes can look on it-till-tomor

I hung it right over the stove in his sight. Then we watched by his bed throughout the whole night. Next mornin' a gray mist was hangin' all The tops o' the mountains when Jim, with

Like a gurgle, sat up an' said kind o' wild-"It's comin'-it's comin'! Boys, I'm trampin Thet leads to the 'land thet is fairer than thus unnecessarily subjected to the Don't-forgit-the-fiddle!" That's all he could say. Then with a deep sigh he dropped down on

> An' jess at thet moment we heard a sharp crack! Ev'ry durned string broke on Jim's beloved fiddle, Kansas farmers are feeding wheat to An' the soundin' board split right down in the middle folk It proved ever arter an uncanny riddle his fiddle.

Some said 'twas from the heat of the stove thet it broke.

····· FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES.

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

Outfitters, . . .

Day Record.

E. H. Ryan goes on the night side. Lem Miller's coffeepot is not yet in

Frank Burnside says it's like picking hot house strawberries in January. As far as its personnel is concerned this chapel is probably the best looking in the G. P. O. The day Record, otherwise known as the Sixth Division (day), was organized last Monday, with a membership of 33 Messrs. Wm. S. Carpenter, W. Y. Clark, W. L. Evans, and Wm. Allison, had no sooner landed than they were transferred to the Spess. There is some curiosity among the rank and file as to how big the baby chapel will grow, and what line of work will be cut out for it. The foreman of the new day Record is Ben J. Shannon, W. D. Skeen acting as maker-up. There can therefore be no question that the executive end of it is thoroughly well provided for.

C. C. Yeakle was elected first chairman of the new chapel without oppo sition. As Correspondent Clements might remark, Charles is a genial fellow generally, besides being especially well equipped for the position. And this is not a pasteboard bouquet either.

The following veteran and thoroughly well seasoned distributors are left over from Kenney's menagerie of last year: John P. Allen, Frank Ayers, Frank E. Burnside, T. W. Howard, Kane Maho ney, Lemuel E. Miller, Samuel E. Mullan, J. J. Sullivan, W. T. Talbott, and James L. Welty.

Apropos of a little mishap of his own Bill Carpenter, a new man, wants to know what the difference is between a skater and the pants of a small boy sliding down a cellar door. Of course the answer is "One slips on the river and the other rips on the sliver." The next thing he knew he was inquiring the way to the Spess.

The following are new to the day Record force: William Allison, C. P. Boss, Harry H. Bright, Edwin L. Davis, Alfred Dietz, W. H. Gardiner, Stuart C. Gordon, Vincent F. Howard, Samuel Fur the last time, my boy," then started to H. Lenoir, N. J. Lillard, Frank H. Long, Sidney J. Marshall, E. H. Ryan, C. Spencer, William B. Syphax, W L. Thomas, J. C. Wilson, and Charles C. Yeakle.

Handy Andy's Aphorisms. Dave Moran says he split even on McKinnon and McAuley are still the only two I can see in the race.

Watson has joined the Sons of Jonadab. Will wonders never cease?

Pressmen's Council has a new quartette-Bugden, Lucy, Knight, and John Moran witnessed Florodora last week and has been singing "Tell Me Pretty Maidens" ever since. Frank Munsey is rapidly illustrating that he knows how to run a newspaper. Even those who borrow the papers in the pressroem are already showing a preference for the Times

HANDY ANDY.

Colored Barbers Meeting.

The Colored Barbers Union No. 305, of the International Association of Bar bers, allied with the American Federation of Labor, held a large and interesting meeting Tuesday night at 585 G street northwest, W. E. Klapetzky, secretary-treasurer of the Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America, being the guest of the evening.

Addresses were made by Mr. Klapetzsky, Mr. Joseph Anderson, president of the local union, and Mr. Presser, secretary of the colored union, and Boston Baking Co., several others, following which refreshments were served.

Italy furnishes nearly all the sulphur used in the world.

union Made Cigary OF THE FINEST QUALITY. ARMY & NAVY 10¢ DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer 504 Winth St., N.W.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their Bakers.

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2235 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

Labor Notes.

Russia has 150,000 physicians. Bengal has 4,000 000 quinine trees.

Mississippi has 26,433 wage workers. Washington State has 444 lumber

Cuba has a 60,000 acre sugar plan-Sugar plantations are appearing in Mexico. Johnston vs. Ottinger.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST:

In your last week's issue I notice a sarcastic allusion to myself from the pen of one J J Ottinger. Isn't it about time to eliminate this bilious little puppy as a writer from the equation of printerdom? He is so spiteful that he hates himself and everybody else. I am aware that in times past he h: s written a good deal for your paper over the nom de plume of "Slug Sixty," and I challenge you to show me where at any time he has ever said a good word about any one. JOHN M. JOHNSTON.

 The busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO.

BREAD

To all Judges of Good

ORGANIZED UNION MEN.

119, 121, 128, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds

SAMUEL C. PALMER, MANUFACTURER OF

SODA and MINERAL WATERS In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles. Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W.

Telephone 1690. MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc.

es and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates. Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. . And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS

ARE COUNTERFEITS. The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

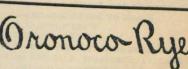

In Retail Stores

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches. 632 G St. N. W.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

as becoming more popular every day—people are just beginning to realize its good qualities. "Oron-oco" is the best thing you can take for a cold. 50c. full pint; $1 quat. Delivered anywhere. 'Phone 2134 Your order.

EDWARD J. QUINN, 604 Pa. Ave.

Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101.

Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M. ; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON WALTER V. SMITH Vice-President W. M. GARRETT.....Secretary .Treasurer JOHN R. BERG... .Organizer C. C. HIPKINS..... D. E TYRRELL.....Sergeant-at-Arms FRANK HART..... Doorkeeper

TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett.

H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and C. E. Clark.

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard. COMMITTEES.

BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison.

GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Har-W. F. Reed

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H.

Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman ; J. M. Len-

hart, and Hugh Reid

CHAIRMEN.

First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division-John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-William McEnaney. Fourth Division-('harles H. Gove. Fifth Division-L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division—A. M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-F. I. Gleason. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.-Earl Ruppert Baxter. Judd & Detweiler's-Charles Nace. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's—Alex. England.
National Publishing Co.—F. S. Rousseau McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher.

Down Town.

Congress met Monday.

Delegate or visitor to Cincinnati? "Wait until Spring."-Geo. Charles.

L. Feeney was re-elected president of looking at him. Bookbinders' Union No. 4.

Ed Hantzman, of the Times, has resigned to take a position on the Star, and George Seibold has left on account of his health.

We congratulate Foreman Thomp son and the other "hands" in the composing room on the issuance of a 40 page Post last Sunday.

We welcome the return of the Con gressional Record to the journalistic field. May Editor Palmer be enabled to publish a lot of good labor laws is

In the recent election Francis Freckelton, of Albany Typographical Union, was re-elected tax assessor, and Chas. A. Rogers, of Troy Typographical Union, was elected a member of the New York State Legislature. Some of the printer candidates of that sec tion were numbered with the slain.

First Division.

Chairman Sizer reports sales of $17 25 worth of entertainment tickets. Winslow Lewis deposited a San Jose, Cal., traveling card with the chairman last Wednesday and was assigned to Si Phelps. He is a prognosticator of slug 83. Nothing to do but work-on bills. No time for idle gossip; so news items assigned to this division as a probaare scarce this week. Even Nachman tionary appointee. has ceased "rubbering."

man in alley 12 gives Dame Rumor a O. are now in order.

"Temp" is responsible for the night owl who visits Bonini's with his apron on. The excuse is that he might be to sickness, is improving. mistaken for a proof reader. Save

I notice that my old time scrapping the practice of dipping his pen in vitriol and spreading his crystallized thoughts about men, matters, and things before an alarmed public. I should judge from the sound of last week's budget that he has paid up his last doctor's bill and is getting in trim DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. for another siege of nervous prostra tion.

Along with other celebrities, the artists of alley 13 go down in history in connection with President Roosevelt's first message to Congress, by being pictured in half tone effect in the act of putting the important document in type. For many days an artist photographer prevaded the mysterious precincts of the G. P. O., grouping the illustrious executives and taking snap shots of the handsome and intelligent compositors, with the announcement that the views would soon appear in chagrin and disappointment are now expressed by the fact that the apparently only acceptable "handsome and vel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and intelligent" group fell to alley 13. "Why, confound it," remarked one disappointed poser, "there is only one 'handsome and intelligent' in the alley and he was on his leave." Neverthe-- circulation was on the increase last week. BAB.

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m. December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first class. Pan Roast, 10 cents Heurich's Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cook ing to order. Your patronage solicited JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street.

Second Division.

We are to have a "sym" of our own. See chairman as to exact date, etc.

Ask Ed Hall how it happened. We think it was Bug Davis's fault. Suppose you see Mr. Razey.

We have had considerable phat this turn in-tables galore, and so we are away ahead of the deadly average.

We have quite a number of sports in this division, but haven't any plungers Ask slug 47 why he did not take in that 12 to I shot Thanksgiving day.

Ben Shannon, our acting assistant foreman, has been promoted to day foreman of the Record. His many friends congratulate him on his promo-

We have an embryo candidate for delegate in the person of Mat Maloney. He is a vet of the Spanish-American war and of course has a sure thing on the soldier vote. George Sherman, our genial and accommodating pink-slip and post-office man, has been advanced two numbers and fills very acceptable to all, the At the election held Tuesday James position of assistant foreman. Here's

There were several transfers from this division to the Night Force and Record Saturday, but alley 8 got the up his sleeve, but is rather modest marble heart, notwithstanding the fact that at least one swift was anxious for the 84 cents extra.

It is quite amusing to the casual observer to see how agreeable some peo ple are about a month or two before election-college-bred gentlemen who wouldn't associate with common prints only when their votes are wanted

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Third Division. C. E. Jones and E. B Evans are new additions to the Third.

Charles A. Morgan has been transferred to the Proof Room.

Hank Allen performs the duties of secretary of the "sym." like an old vet. Alley 4 is in mourning, Jimmy Harper being transferred to the night force. The President's message meets with the popular approval of a majority of this Chapel. Candidates for office should consult the old school.

Benefits for all the different organiza-The absence from work of a young tions that has a following in the G. P.

neighborhood are speculating on the this division, being transferred from the Treasury Branch.

Mr. T. H. Greenfield, who has been absent from work several days owing

Martin N. Evans is the prophet of SECRETARY'S OFFICE. 423 G St. N. W. the mark, "Temp," neither can answer the Third Division. He guesses about as well as the weather bureau man.

> Messrs. Wm. McEnaney and C. J. friend, J. J. Ottinger, has returned to Sheriff were nominated and Mr. Mc-Enaney was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Co-operative Store will be in full bloom for the holidays. Several members of this Chapel are stockhold-

Wiley H. Davis, of Georgia, was re instated in the Third Wednesday morning and received a royal welcome from his old friends.

Wm. G. Glenn, of this division, was honored with an election to the office of Junior Warden in Myron M. Parker Lodge, F. A. A. M. Tuesday evening.

The many friends of William F. Schooler sympathize with him in the recent death of his father, which occurred at Mt. Sterling, Ky., and in the serious illness of his sister.

One of our most prominent labor organizations have sent out their solicitor over and they are not out a cent, as for "ads." to their program with con- usual. the beforementioned publication. Much tracts printed without the label. Respectfully referred to Bro. Feeney.

H. B. Billings, R. W. Christian, W. H. Covert, James E. Fox, E. F. Geyer, James E. Harper, L. R. Lippincott, Charles B. Nelson, Charles O'Connell, H. L. Ripley and W. R. Abbott have been transferred to night work.

Will A. Morris received a visit from his twin brother, Charles Morris, of Missouri, this week. Mr. Morris is the would serve to "bring to" an ordipostmaster and publisher of a firstclass weekly paper, and one of the bright lights in Republican politics in

Among those elected to office in the Third Division Sym. we failed to menvice-president. Although temporarity employed in the "Specification Division of the U. S. Patent Office," his vote showed that he has a large number of "printer" friends.

Wm. Abbott, our worthy chairman, was transferred to the Night Force, whereupon Secretary Wright posted the following:

NOTICE!

Our late esteemed Chairman, Mr. W. R. Abbott, having been transferred to the Night Bill Force, it again becomes the duty of this Chapel to exercise its constisutional rights and proceed to elect a brother member to fill the vacancy thus occasioned.

With that object in view, I hereby convene the Third Division Chapel in extraordinary session today (Tuesday, December 3. 1901) at 12:20 p. m. "Let every man do his duty."

FRANK E. WRIGHT, Secretary. G. P. O., 3D DIV., 12-3-01.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

FOR RENT .- Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Fourth Division.

Boteler threatens to abolish the bei Ihnen? hapel rules.

9 is still in evidence.

The latest association to be organized is a society for the prevention of organizing societies.

Guy McCord has a good police story about telling it to everyone. Paradoxical as it may appear in view of Handy Andy's shining dome, the Twentieth Century Girl got into his dow being open at the bottom, while a So far Gove has no opposition for re-election, and the presumption is that he won't have-that is, of any consequence. The rumor that Luitich is going to run for chairman has been nipped in the bud, but he will probably come out for secretary.

Outcault has returned after spending a pleasant 28-day leave sojourning in the classic precints of K street pushing a perambulator.

We are blessed with a set of chapel rules. Interpretations of them are not wanting for up to-date we have exactly 80 in round numbers.

With Sam Wise's sneeze, yawn, and the combined efforts of the Anvil Chorus, life in this division these days is one continual whirl of gayety.

Kirby's brother would not lend Duke his full-blooded dog, hence Daily never J. E. Colton, of Mississippi, has been received the promised 'possum. Duke might apply to Prof. Harvel, who has a dog for sale.

The "square men" who have been embellishing their idle moments by chance. The young fathers of the C. J. Sheriff has returned to work in mittee, can now breathe easy; it's all Jersey avenue northwest.

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS. *****************************

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

X-MAS GIFTS

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.—that combine beauty and long service with very inexpensive prices.

A great many articles in Ster-ling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Recently Burkhart waltzed up to Bailey, who occupies slug 59, the frame vacated by Ferd Harrison, and proceded to inaugurate an animated conversation on paper. He finally tumbled and finished up in apologetic language.

To a man up a tree it would seem that it was about up to "Handy Andy." The last laying out the Twentieth Century Girl gave him was a bird, and nary individual without causing the balance of the bricks to fall.

The cause of the depression that has been hovering over The Morgue has been discovered. Billy Gardiner, the erstwhile humorist that once held forth tion Willie Goldstein, who was elected in this division, has been entertaining the habitues of that institution with several choice samples of his prehistoric wit.

Apologies are hereby tendered to Joe Sheehan for the many "knocks' registered against him in this column It was thought that Joe swung the heaviest hammer in the Anvil Chorus, but there are several artists with us compared to which Joe "looks like a dirty deuce in a new deck." Purchaser-What are the prices for seats to-night?

Treasurer-Reguiar price.

Purchaser-Are those the prices you make when your conscience is at ease and you have no desire to mulct the public?

Treasurer (indignantly)-Sir! We have no conscience!

Purchaser-Oh! well, give me couple of tickets.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Fifth Division.

Guthen morgen, Carry. Wie geht's

S. H. Ridings was transferred from The man with the "ho-ho" in alley the Record to this division last Monday.

Clement Allen, Charles E. Sikken, and Clarence J. Vliet went to the night Record force last Monday.

With the advent of cold weather comes the momentous question of ventilation in the printing office. Some printer is too warm and wants the window open. But one objects to the win third insists upon it not being open at the top. The plan of opening all the windows for a few moments at different times during the day has been adopted by the Fifth, and seems to give satisfaction.

It is not generally known that we have in this division a Demosthenes in | • • the person of Hon. Simon Pocher (with apologies to the Athenian orator). In the debating club, claiming such members as Messrs. Heidingsfeld, McGraw, Price, Williams, and Pocher, the last named spoke on the subject for debate, "Self-Made Men," and with his characteristic attitudes said in part: "Gentlemen, a self-made man is one who went through great agonizements in developing great arbirative powers. And finally when he goes out into the world he does in Rome as Romionians

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap, and G.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Room and Board.

Comfortable room for two, with "knocking" the Entertainment Com- board. Good table board. 810 New

Woodward & Lothrop,

DRY GOODS, NOTIONS

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREET

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
It contains all that is up to date
A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS

An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland. Men's Furnishings,

Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest, Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

-VISIT-CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . . . Everything the Best.

BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873 S. H. HINES & CO.,

UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

SPECIAL OFFER SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00. The Evans Dental Parlors, 1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office. Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers.

443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes
of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscription solicitor at this office; one who is not affected with climatic lassitude only need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission paid. Apply at this office.

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be published a card for the use of members of Columbia Union, 101, containing the names of the following printing offices, which should not receive the patronage or moral support of trade unionists: Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E street north west.

 Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER. atter and Men Frnishe 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

esses. THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS.

MELVALE and SHERWOOD Specialties.

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 2½c. PER CUE.

THOMAS WALSH, 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W.

Ruling and Binding of every description Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Salesroom, 83 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma. and cleaned75

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

persone encourage 300 1-ib. Loaves to the Barrel.

Every Laboring Man

--requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy. Your Grocer will supply you. B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, le se se se se se se J. L. KERVAND.

1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer. - Washington, D. O.

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock. 50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE TILITO TRADE MARKS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Scientific American. MUNN & CO.36 Broadway, New York

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood.

211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C.

Opposite CENTRE MARKET. EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY. 605 F Street N. W.

Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date. $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER,

Fine Wines and Liquors. BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

1210 E Street Northwest. LUNCH TRY THE

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

n.w.

and stalls

eet n.w. 1 17th n.w.

d st. n.e.

ket Space

et n. w.

n.e.

eet n. w.

Wernesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase. Secretary, 201 C street northwest.

Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Tem-ple, 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett, Secretary Railway 'armen, meets second and fourth Friday of each mouth at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). (harles C. Baker, Secretary 939 G street southwest

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I.S. U.E. meets second and fourth Wednes-days of the month at 600 F street northwest. John W. Stockton Secretary, 411 Twenty-fourth street northwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second and fourth Saturday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, 117 Fifth street northeast.

Fire Department Employees P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a. m., at Union Veterans' Hall. 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C. Egloff Secretary, 614 Sixth street sou hwest.

Fraternal Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers meet every Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. S. J. Foreman, Secretary.

Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No., 80%. meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month a Masonic Fall. Anacost a, D. C. C W. Teates. Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia.

Hodearriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers' Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory, 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec-retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No 5. meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac street in tribwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical

International Brotherhood of Electrical

Workers: Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. W r. Malloy Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

International Brotherhood of Stationery

Firemen, Local No. 1?, meets every Wednes day night at Eighth and D streets northwest N A. James, Secretary, 3512 O street north

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set

ters' Association. No. 3855. meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 42? Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Sec-retary, 410 Fighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers-

Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall.1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re-cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest.

from Molde s' Union, Local' No. 215, meet 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania ayenv southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secretary, 1256 Thirty first street northwest.

Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meet

first and third wednesdays in each month a Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest

Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17.
meets nrst and third Wednesday of each though at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G str ets northwest, J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E
street northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters Local Union, No. 5, meets, second an fourth Tuesday evening of each month o Typogrophical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A E. Anderson, Secretary, 1312, Twentyninth street northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters' Union, meet second an fourth Friday at Cos tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest losep Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place

Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161 meets every Sunday at 11a. m. at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest.

National Alliance Theatrical Stage Em

ploves meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor John A Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424, Station G.

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street

Operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets firs and third Friday evenings at Typo graphical Temple 423 G street northwest Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of P. D. and P. meets every Tuesday evening 609 C street northwest C. L. Hickman. Sec-retary, 944 L street northwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall. Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee. Sec-tary, 907 E street southeast.

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first

Wednesday in the mon'h at Typographical Temple. 423 G street northwest. F. C Betts, Secretary. Ken-ington. Md.

Pipe Coverers' Union, No 9425, meets every

Printing Pressmen U. ion, No. 1, meets firs

Saturday of each month at Troographica Temple. 123-425 G street northwest. Emi Petersen, Secretary. 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macabet Temple. Ninth street northwest, the thire Tuesav in each month. John J. King, Secre-tary, 717 Seventh street northeast.

Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of

at Jolly Fat Men's Hall, 933 D street northwest. W. D. Kerfoot, jr., Secretary, 1034
Seventh street northwest.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262. meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Tv pographical Temple 42' G street northwest J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north-

Steam Fitters, R. A Lanis Association, L. B.

No. 10, N. A. meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth stree northwest. Thos. I. Gaut. Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Columbia street northwest.

Steam and Ho! Water Fitters and Helpers Local Branch. No. 28. N. A., meets every Fri-day at 8 o'clock p m., at 92 Pennsylvania avenue nor hwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary, Ridge Road, Station A.

Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets firs

and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos Rose, Secretary, 40 Fenton street northeast United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Local Union No. 190. meet every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth street northwest, top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secretary, 936 Fourth street northeast.

Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourt floor) Ninth street northwest T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street

Washington Branch Granite Curters' Nat ional Union, meets every fourth Monday in each month, at 1904 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Wm Silver, Secretary, 49 Massa-chusetts avenue northwest.

Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union

No. 42. meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple. 423 G street north west. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 G

Washington I odge of Machinists No. 193, meets first and third Tuesday evenings a southwest corner of Tweifth street and Penn sylvania avenue northwest C. G. Miller Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest.

Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Mordav night at Hare's Hall 404 E'ghth street northwest, George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh street northwest.

street northwest.

Thursday night at 1208 E street northwest. A. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street northwest.

Vorkers, Local Union No 26, meets every ue-day night at Costello's Hall, Sixth and streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-ry, 200 E street northwest.

23 Cleveland avenue northwest.

The Man's Store No Trouble to Keep Busy With Such Values.

You won't feel like paying $30 or $40 to the tailor after you have seen what a swell, handsome Frock Coat and Vest we're putting out for $14.85.

Ask to see that beautiful long, Full-back Overcoat we price at $12.85. Looks like a "twin brother" to many you see elsewhere at $18.50.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005-7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring Department. UITS AND OVER-COATS CUT TO YOUR MEASURE

N. D. Tennille. 709 7th St. N.W., Inion Clothier, Furnisher, and latter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Specification Notes.

Last Wednesday night a week ago was an eventful one in many cases, but most especially was it a memorable one as far as Arthur Barranger and "Doc" Hauer were concerned. It was just 8:50 o'clock when "Doc." remarked to Arthur that it was most unfortunate the latter was "broke" and couldn't therefore quench his inatiate thirst with a "high one" after twelve hours of toil. Arthur remarked by way of rejoinder that he had the necessary price, and his "tea" wouldn't be 5 cen with the remark that Arthur would have to make a touch if he washed the dust down and rode home to George town on the street cars, too; that he (Doc) was going to "touch up" a bottle of Hunter's best, and would condescend to reflect a moment while quaf fing this nectar of the gods of the utter misery and forlornness of poor Arthur, who would presumably be peeping through the "folding-doors" at him. thus happy-a man of money! Orville A. Calkins (Slug 23 and a friend in deed) whispered something to his side partner, Arthur, and there was a movement in unison under their correcting slides. Now confident of his man, Ar thur jumped from his stool and faced Doc. "You tea leaved lobster, I can buy you and give you away, and then have money to buy wine for the alley! I'll bet you 15 cents I've got more money than you have!" Doc. was somewhat embarrassed for reply knowing that his pile was likely to prove very diminutive beside that of Arthur's, whom he suspected had made a borrow unknown to him. So he was cautious. But he was foxy, too. He jumped off his stool, gave B. E Harri son the distress signal, and then proceeded to attract Barringer's undivided attention with "hot air" until his side partner could transfer his wallet to his (Doc's) hip-pocket. Having succeeded, Doc called Arthur's bluff and the money was put up and Slug 15 made stakeholder. By this time Doc. and Arthur, by their "hot-air" colloquy, had attracted about thirty printers around them, each one wondering where on earth either one had "dug up" money enough to boast of. Bar ringer, with confident mein, but ro without a tinge of sympathy in his most expressive eyes, slowly pulled out his pocket-book and counted up slowly $65 in twenties, fives and ones. Hav ing announced the sum total he looked for Doc to fall dead, and the stakeholder to hand over the coin He tried to take the 30 cent stake away before Doc got in his count. Doc didn't know what amount his pocket-book contained, but proceeded to count care fully: "Twenty, forty, sixty, eighty, eighty five, ninety, ninety-five-" Here Barringer claimed fraud and a recount. claiming Doc was recounting one $20 bill. Naturally Butler, "just for a kid," sided with Barringer in his claim of fraud, and both bettors became excited. The scene was intensely amusing. Then the referee counted the money, finding Doc with $96 on his person and Barringer with only $65. He accordingly announced that Hauer had won the purse of 30 cents. What followed begga ed description. Doc, dence and favor of the educated public.

The prosperity of the school is due to con ger, just as sure that the "money" was his through Doc's recounting a $20 bill

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| NAME. | BUSINESS. | LOCATION. |
|---|---|--|
| Haines' Southeast Store. Keen.in Bros. B. Solomon. kufus H. Durby P. B. Anderson H. L. McQueen. N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). E. Gundershiemer. | Department store. Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher. Printer. Printer Printer Cigar manufacturer. Baker | Eighth and Penna av. 820 F'st, and 523 Seven for Seventh street n.w. 508 Fourteenth street n.w. 1108 E street n.w. 1011 Penna avenue n. 516 Second street n.w. in enter Market. |
| Peter Grogan J. Mangan J. Mangan John H. Fitzgerald S. S. Daish Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Hencke Sheets & Miller James A. Bennett Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company I. Grosner M. Minster M. Minster A. H. McGhan A. Minster Charles Walters A. Markward Cyrus B. Reese C. A. Schneider & Sons Boston Steam Laundry Tolman Steam Laundry Wash. Traction & Electric Co- Minster & Paterson The Famous Chas. A Muddiman & Co Joseph Mathey A. S. Reavis A. Molnoti. Castiebers Palmer, S. National Theater | Carpet dealer Horseshoer Horseshoer Coal and wood Meat dealer Electrician Electrician Tinner Paperhanger and decorator Mosales Clothing Gents furnisher Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher Carriage Builder Carriage Builder Contracting painter Employing steamfitter Union iron Works Laundry Laundry Laundry Street Railway Gents furnishings Gents furnishings Gents furnishings Gents furnishings Tin stove dealer and tin worker Tin stove cornice works Stone works Jeweler Bottler Theater | 817 to 823 Seventh stre L str et, bet. 16th and 443 Prather's alley n.v Florida ave and Thir Center and O st. Mark 711 G street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 144 F st. and 803 Marl 1343 st. n.w. 157 E st. n.w. 159 Fourth st. n.w. 1609 G street n. w. 1519 Fourteenth and 2 st. 1519 Fourteenth street n. 1519 Fourteenth streeth n. 1519 Fourteenth n. 1519 Fourteen |

naturally prove of benefit to them The referee's hand narrowly escaped severe injury, but Doc was finally given the purse under difficulties, and now Barringer thinks, just because Doc invited Slug 21 out to drink Barranger's money up with him that he was the vic im of the "double-cross," and, with very little coaching on the part of But er and Calkins, is still slightly inclined to think, in a good-na ured way, that the referee flim flammed him O course, while both were intensely interested, everything said and done was in a spirit of friendly bantering, tending nigger gin, either. Doc. slammed back to produce fun for themselves and coworkers. By the way, friends, what do you think the respective sums were that Doc and Barranger had, prior to reimbursement by alley-mates? Why, 15 cents and 18 cents, respectively Doc drank Hunter sure enough, and Barringer walked home-dry; for no one would lend him a cent, just for the fun of the thing. It was the funnies deal pulled off in a print shop (where men earn good wages) in a mighty long day and caused an unusual amount of OLD PROG.

> A great business is being built up in shipping California redwood to Central and South America, and the Orient.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY Week Commencing MONDAY, DEC. 5.

Another Great Bill HEADED BY

Willard Simms and Kathryn Linyard.

THE ORIGINAL

Watson Sisters and Juan De Zamora.

3 ONRIS 3

Lucy Monroe and Charles Sinclair.

MARTIN AND QUIGG.

BIJOU BURLESQUE COMPANY DAVE LEWIS AND BERT LESLIE IN A NEW BURLESQUE.

THERE is a great demand for a business education and parents are beginning to realize that their sons and daughters ought to be well grounded in the subjects taught to be well grounded in the subjects taught in business colleges; viz., bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, grammar, aritametic, spelling, and writing. In considering a tusiness educ tion it is of pr mary importance that the best school should be selected. It is a well known fact that there have been many improvements of la e years in the methods of teaching. The oldest school is not always found to be the est and the cheapest school is not be the est and the cheapest school is not to be consider d for a moment. Our child-ren are entitled to the very best instruction by the most competent teachers. Wood's Commercial College, 311 East Capitol Street, Washington, D. C., is a popular business school. It is well patronized and business school. It is well patronized and is remarkably prosperous. It is conceded that real success invariably springs from real guuine merit, and the public is justified in believing that Professor Wod's facilities for imparting a practical education are of the most exceptional character. Superficial smattering, or mere words on paper would never bring the prosperity which attends this institution Skil in the schoolroom, and superior skill at that, is ab olutely necessary to win the confiscientious service, thorough instruction, kind, careful, individual attention to every student, and it is safe to say that Professor three times, made a grab for the hand Wood has discovered the secret of success that held the 3) cent wager, throwing it his personal attent on and individual intheir friend's money on the floor in terest in the welfare of each student.

paring to bore 3,000 feet. A good many pioneers in Alaska hunting gold strike coal.

Cranberries are grown in bogs that cost from $300 to $500 an acre.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

Trades Unionist.

Union Directory.

To Secretaries: Please notify this office of any change in officers' addresses, time or place of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

American Federation of Labor—Headquar-ters. Typographical Temple. 423 G street northwest. Sam'l Gompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary.

International Association of Machinists, Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson, vice-president and editor of the Journal; George Preston. Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street north-west. Residence, 1061 street northwest. Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell. Secretary-Treas-urer. 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest.

way Employees of America, Division No. 161, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight, alternately at 600 C street northwest. Go. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street northwest.

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Monday evening, Hotel Royal 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I street northeast.

Street northeast.

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Bufcher
Workmen. Local No. 148 meets every Thurs day evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith Secretary, 3315
Brightwood avenue northwest.

Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Loca

Union No. 102. meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest: J. A. Daly. Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street

Bakers Union, No. 118, meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Frank I. Link, Secretary, 343 N street south-Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third 'hursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast. Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p. m at 430 Fighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310

Seventh street southwes Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 234. meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Penn-ylvania avenue southeast. A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street

Soukbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tuesday in each month at Typograhical Temple.

James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North

Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer. Sec-etary, 245 North Capitol street

Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and P nusylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest. Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typo-graphical Temple. 423 G street northwest. H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-

Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, ard Paperhangers, Local Union. No. 368, meets every Friday night at 43 Eighth street northwest. John L. ochran, Secretary, 510 E st. Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers. No. 77. I U.S. E., meets every Thursday, at Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwest S. J. F reman, Secretary, 2223 Cleveland avenue northwest. Carriage and Wagon Workers' International arpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. W. H. Robertson, Secre-tary, 507 Eleventh street northwest. Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, No.2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C street northwest William L. Hageman, Secretary, 1007 Fourth street southeast.

Union, Local. No. 72. of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth foor. Thos. H. Brinkman. Secretary, 1729 New Jer-sey avenue northwest.

Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Lavers' Helpers. Local Union No. 12, meets second and fourth Tuesday- of each month at Bielizk's Hall, 37 Seventh street northwest. William Keith, Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bie-ligk's Hall. 737 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists, meets first and third

Silver Medal

Secretary. Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

HATTERS AND FURRILERS.

JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON.
1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.
See our $2 and $3 Hats.

HARNWARE AND TOOLS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS.

J. ED. MATTERN,

437 Seventh Street Northwest.

THOMAS R. RILEY.

13th St. and Ohio Ave.

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

FOSBURG & MURRAY,
Pumps and Elevators.
Sth and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE

JOHN B. ESPEY,

1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

NEWSPAPERS.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

All the news.

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS.

GEORGE F. MUTH & CO.

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO.,

458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

E. F. DROOP & SONS,

925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PLUMBING.

PRINTERS.

JUDD & DETWEILER,

420-422 11th St. N. W.

PRINTING MATERIAL.

NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM.

JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E.

TEAS AND COFFEES.

GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest.

Eight Branch Stores.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND.

WM. H. LIVERMORE,

WINES AND LIQUORS.

101 H St. N. W.

Machine-made Rollers.

J. B. LANAHAN,
Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter,
Southeast Corner Second and H sts.

418 7th St. N. W

636 G St. N. W

(Late Ryneal's).

LUMBER AND MILL WORK.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUENCHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-~

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations. Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twenty-four bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293. Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

RANKS.
THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK,
Safe Deposit Vaults. $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

BOOTS AND SHOWS. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY. Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TORACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers.

Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E. 755. COACH FINDINGS.

J B KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. 010 HECHT & CO.,

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO.

Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

PIRE INSTRANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180 FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH. Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W.

GAS FIXTURES. C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 616 12th St. N. W.

GROCERIES. Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART,

Heurich Brewing Co's beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Cen 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM CANNON. 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima. a find old Maryland rye. 31 per qt.

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 26.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

The Largest Convention of American Federation of Labor Ever Held.

300 DELEGATES IN ATTENDANCE

President Gompers Calls Convention to Order-John H. Devine, of Scranton, Welcomes Delegates-Much Important Legislation Enacted-Cigarmakers and Machines-Ticket Scalpers' Resolution Is Adopted.

President Gompers called the twenty first annual convention to order at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, December 5, 1901, at St. Thomas College Hall, Scranton, Pa. There were present 300 delegates representing a total vote of John H. Devine, member of Clerks' International Protective Association, No. 211, of Scranton, being introduced by President Gompers, welcomed the delegates.

President Gompers in his report touched upon the many phases of labor and its condition among which we note: That at the end of the fiscal year ending October 31, 1901, there were affiliated with this body-National and Industrial unions, 87; City Central Labor unions, 327; State Federations of Labor, 20; local trades unions, 750; federal labor unions, 399. There was a gain of 364,-410 in membership the past year; the shorter work-day, defense fund, child labor, woman's labor, building trades, trades jurisdiction, union labels, fraternal delegates, labor legislation, eight hour bill, prison labor bill, antiinjunction bill, Chinese exclusion, the movement in Canada, judicial injunction, anti-trust bill, compulsory arbi tration, eight hour enforcement, direct legislation, union label on school books, state and local legislation, salaried and volunteer organizers. Secretary Morrison also presented a lengthy and interesting report.

Many resolutions were introduced and the largest labor convention ever held will probably be in session all this week on account of the large amount of business to be transacted.

The most vital question is that of trade autonomy. The Brewery Workmen and the Mine Workers' delegates probably will be the storm center on this question. Both of these trades unions want industrial autonomy-that is, they advocate that all trades in one industrial establishment should form one organization for the better advancement of the condition of all. They also announce that they will oppose trade autonomy to the bitter end. The miners in their argument say that if a handful of engineers or firemen em ployed in a mine should strike it would cause the mine to be closed and thus throw out of work hundreds of men who have no grievance. If all trades in the mine were united under one head, the mine workers say, much friction could be avoided.

The matter of trade jurisdiction is also expected to cause a long discussion, particularly on the part of wood workers, who make the point that other trades, such as piano makers, are wood workers, and should come into the like an aggravated case of the morning latter's union instead of having an independent organization. The mosaic and encaustic tile layers have a dispute of the same character, as have also a number of other trades.

floor over the boycotting of machine- encouraged to "resume." The vitriol made cigars. At the present time not bottle is full. Come across and get a a machine-made cigar, it is said, in the dose. United States bears the label of the Cigarmakers' International Union. The matter came up in the form of a resolution and was referred to the com- bill? mittee on labels. It denounced a certain company for employing child labor and machinery and the cigarmakers with the political boss who has trouble asked the Federation to assist in union- in pleasing everybody with his slate. izing the company. The committee reported back the resolution with the recommendation that the word "ma- saw edge of ingratitude. Two weeks chinery" be stricken out and the reso- ago I had occasion to direct public atlution be adopted. The cigarmakers tention to one Johnston, of the Day insisted that the term "machinery" Proof Room, who numbers me among should stand, claiming machine-made the many admirers of his entrancing cigars were inferior to hand made, and literary style. So carried away was I was adopted. sustained by the body.

in its contest for free shops.

its rights secured in the Virginia balls from the equation of boozerdom. convention; to ask Congress to give the right of suffrage to the citizens of the employes of the District of Columbia fire department a twelve hour work-

The ticket scalping resolution was adopted after a lively debate. Typographical delegates made the principal delegates.

At this time its seems reasonably certain that all of the officers of the Federation will be re-elected. There s a movement on foot to increase the seven or eight, but it is not likely to be accomplished.

the campaign for the next place of was entitled to it. meeting are Atlanta, Ga., Buffalo, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New Orleans, and San Francisco.

Portland, Ore., wants the convention in 1905, the year the exposition is to write his biography. be held in that city.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

"MANY A TRUTH IN JEST."

Since his little run-in with the union administration at the last meeting Shelby Smith is satisfied that he is still being accorded due recognition as a belligerent.

An anti-knockers' club might get along very well until somebody broached the subject of the cost of living in Washington.

The Hon. "Gebby" Meyer could do a very graceful act by side stepping in favor of the delegatorial aspirations of Frank Lerch which were sandbagged early in the game two years ago.

By worrying and fretting over a possible failure to re-enact the Chineseexclusion law some people have wasted a great deal of energy that might have been more profitably employed in looking after the furnace.

That cut of Horn the tailor which is inflicted on us daily looks very much

Mr. Ottinger to Mr. Babcock. DEAR BAB: I wade through your stuff every week, and failing to feel any

There was a lively discussion on the symptoms of nervous prostration I feel Accept renewed assurances of my distinguished, etc. P. S .- How about your own doctor's

Every coal dealer ought to sympathize

Sharper than a serpent's tooth is the

THE SCRANTON CONVENTION cigarmakers out of the business. The tion, his cyclonic rhetoric, his wellopposition argued that it would be folly rounded periods, elongated exclamato oppose machinery, and told the tion points, strenuous adjectives, and cigarmakers it would be better to or- what has since developed into an so do men differ as to their estimate of makes the opponent look like a corpse, ganize the machine operator as the eaganized vocabulary, that unwisely I real unionism. Union dues grudgingly and which restoratives and medical Gredentials of Several Organizations typographical and other unions had volunteered to play the role of a Pan- paid by the man who receives union skill sometimes fail to relieve. Take done when machinery was introduced American "spieler" and invited the wages is the measure of a narrow soul. heed of the cat, oh, scribe; consider in their trades. The resolution with public to "Have a look! Have a the word "machinery" stricken out stare!" Does he thank me for it? The committee on labels refused to "sarcastic allusion," and in his retort bles varioloid, and which is no more to that he still has feet and legs and some recognize the labels gotten up by the courteous he refers to me as a "bilious ival unions of Tobacco Workers and little puppy" who "never said any- than butterine is to the choicest dairy casionally reminds him by the use of reindorsed the blue label of Tobacco thing good about anybody" and is "so product. Perhaps it is all their feeble her sharp claws that the consent of the Workers' Union, and their action was spiteful that he hates himself and everybody else," and demands in a grandoise The first resolution considered was manner that I be eliminated from the one pledging the assistance of the Fed "equation of printerdom!" Wouldn't that every seaman shall have the right I shall let literary people write their to quit any merchant vessel on which own testimonials; but when it comes the service has become abnoxious to to eliminating me from the equation him; also the towing on the oceans of et cetera, 'twere better for its projector gigantic rafts; to assist the Virginia to devote all his spare time to the more Federation in having labor heard and congenial pastime of eliminating high

> It will require a good deal of "resothe District of Columbia, and to give luting" to induce Congress to change the form of government in the District, Homestead will remain long after the but that kind of amusement is cheap and serves to keep our minds off our own troubles.

> A bargain sale of working cards argument for the measure and were might prove very effective the next that he shall neglect to rear unto himopposed by the Railway Telegrapher time any of the gentler sex refuse to oin a union.

and where I ever said anything good donated by Carnegie. number of vice-presidents from six to about anybody. Which of course bars me from the Industrious Order of Foxy Quillers. I have, however, been guilty Among the cities that have entered of giving a comp. a "ring" when he

> One of the members of the Porto Rican house of delegates is named Carrion. He ought to get Bloomer to

Owing to the recent rush of work in the Government Printing Office nearly every man on the pay roll has been hitting the appropriation pretty hard; but it is quite unlikely that this will cause an increase in the number of people who buy their chewing tobacco.

At any rate biliousness is not one of those troubles which caused the establishment of Keeley institutes.

many people who rush into print with their troubles could obtain relief at the hands of a chiropodist.

If the editors of the Yearbook are gifted with a proper sense of proportion they will devote an entire page to the delegate to the Central Labor Union whose home paper recently dilated upon the great importance of his position in the Government printery and predicted for him a Congressional career because "all the bills introduced in Congress pass through his hands." All of which would be highly important if true.

It is just possible that the pink-slip thing. More! man is entitled to one himself occasionally.

The river and harbor bill will not come before the Senate for some time yet, but it might be a good idea to begin looking around for a talker with Mr. Carter's staying powers.

by the country, but Congress could win of unpronounceable names.

J. J. OTTINGER.

WM. H. LIVERMORE'S

STATIONERY.

cents to $2.00 a box.

Cor. First and H streets northwest.

that machines would drive the hand by the contemplation of his chaste dic- Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. has been kept in waiting for the un- little comment.

AFTER-DINNER DILATIONS.

Not on your laundry. He scents a afflicted with a religion which resem- slow processes, she makes him feel be compared with the genuine article little chance for freedom, while she occonstitutions will stand.

never brought to mind, I have carefully cause she loves him so. Let's strive to ation to the Journeymen Tailors' Union that make you walk the floor? Thus pressed between the leaves of my be good. at one blow is destroyed my cherished "scrap" book the bouquet tossed by Among the resolutions adopted by reputation as one of the best-natured my good friend, "Adam Bugg," who convention were these: Petitioning individuals within the confines of the has achieved real fame under a dam Congress to amend the marine laws so Swamp. I pause to weep! Hereafter queer name while descanting in both prose and verse.

Give us your best of "long primer sorts," And give us in full the Day Record news-

Here a cog slipped.

 The Carnegie Library monument in Mount Vernon Place is nearing completion. The high fence will soon be removed and other traces of exclusiveness will disappear, but the memory of name of Carnegie is associated with the down and out. chiefest of labor crushers; and Frick, the cruel, will be no less honored, save self monuments from excessive profits extorted as toll from labor's share. Carnegie, Frick, and Pinkerton are Now that I think it over, it sure names which should be blown into the would be difficult to prove just when glass of every window of every library > venders must depend quite as much introduced. It is alone worth the price was both amused and astounded the other day when a shoestring man bawled out: "Here you have them-a big bunch for five cents-string enough to hang your mother-in law," which caught the ear of a passer-by who handed the vender five cents, and then, as if the bunch seemed disappointing, he thrust his hand deep down into his trouser's pocket for the second nickel, with the remark: "To make sure, I'll take one more bunch."

dential friend and adviser, Joe Mc bindery in the Union Building. Cann, who had it much his own way until along came old man Mergenage" task as if it were an easy thing, muses, and so the muses went their denced by some late productions, the without a pension, and because they latest of which is his column obituary to "Jim and His Fiddle." Because it they are unable to conceal the jealous finish, and then cut it out and put it in they become known as "hard shell

At the risk of being called a meddler of other people's affairs and also risking an invitation to go a distance back out of the way, I feel constrained right here to offer a mild protest against the habit of those writers who so easily yield to the temptation to say harsh things of their brother scribes at the at Baker, Russia. A law restricting immigration will slightest provocation. Certain rules undoubtedly be hailed with satisfaction governing the game should be observed, or else what was originally inthe gratitude of unborn generations by tended as an exhibition of skill or a also prohibiting the further importation friendly bout may resolve itself into a thing of brute force with broken noses, gouged eyes, impaired vision, and a generally disfigured anatomy, with irreconcilable differences yet to be adjusted. Readers who look not with fa- duty on a necklace his wife brought We show the most desirable styles of vor upon any of these but regard the from Europe recently, and on which no cumulated 69,000 tobacco tags, which Writing Paper, in white and the latest friendly bout as a fairly good exercise. duty had been paid. tints, put up in fancy boxes, from 20 have the right to expect a pleasing entertainment from the beginning to the no saloons, yet, it is stated, forty-three last of the limited number of rounds. persons have paid the Government's 6,000 acres of government land in They enjoy the clever duck or expert required tax for retail liquor dealers. Alaska which is underlaid with bitumi-Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. parry equally as well as the blow that The circumstance has occasioned no nous coal. Preparations are under way guarded opening, and more than the vicious upper cut, the stomach jab, or As one star differeth from another, the knock out which jars the heart, her ways and be wise. Observe how We meet with people who seem to be she toys with the mouse, and how, by governed is not absolutely necessary. Of course she eats him after awhile, be-Lest old acquaintance be forgot and cause it is her nature so to do, and be-

DENNISON'S

CYCLE.

DECORATED CREPE PAPER only 15 cents, at

WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Cor. First and H streets northwest.

Bindery Notes.

Johnny Burns-"Say, Barnes, have too, decended from the apes?' George Barnes-"I dont know, John.

never saw any of your father's rela-What has happened to "Handy

Andy?" Has he quit so soon? Cheer bricks and mortar and marble have up, old man, and have another Twencrumbled to dust and while yet the tieth Century cocktail before you go The Women Bindery Mutual Relief Association's progressive euchre party will be held at Carroll Hall, December 19, at 7:30 p. m. All the pretty girls from the folding and sewing rooms will be present. Admission, 25 cents.

The following is the result of the recent election: President-Feeney, 317; Flint, 167. Vice-President-McCausland, 258; Wallace, 134; O'Brien, 81. The success of the fakirs or street Recording Secretary-Stockman, 445. Financial Secretary-Barrett, 457. Inapon the manner of introducing their spector-Cassidy, 420. Treasurer-Eswares as upon the merits of the things pey, 459. Guide-Pyemont, 276; Spellbring, 191. Statistician-Dwyer, 422. of the article to listen to some of them. Hedges, Flanagan, and Flecker were elected Finance Committee.

Arthur C. Delevingne, a well known singer and a member of the Book binders' Society, died last week of heart disease while rehearsing a Christmas hymn in St. Paul's church. Arthur was well known among the bookbinders and was well liked by his associates on account of his jovial and good hearted disposition. He was buried from his late home, 146 Thomas street northwest, on Sunday, December 8, at 11:30 a. m. A large number of friends at-Indeed times do change, and persons, tended the funeral. At the time of his also. For instance, there's my confi death he was employed at the branch

The election of officers is over and those members who said everything thaler; but that is a thing of the past. that was mean and harsh about our Today my friend toys with the "aver- brother candidates have retired to the woods. It is generally the men who while his shuttle-like movements weave never attend the union meetings that letters into syllables, words, and sen- have the most to sav and who heap tences. Time was, evidently, when abuse upon the men that give up their Mac had less time for dallying with the valuable time to work for the interests of the organization. Then we have way, yet stayed they not away, as evi- some "has beens," who were retired have to "go way back and sit down," was by McCann I read it from start to feeling that arises in their breasts, and pickle for future reference. Good knockers," to find fault with everybody and everything. My advice to these is to wake up and be cheerful to those around you, say something good of your fellow-workmen, try to make others happy, and you will find yourself happy.

Cow Boy.

Another oil gusher has been struck Chicago parties will establish a charcoal plant of twelve kilns at Louisiana,

Two hundred lumber yards are to be Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. established in Kansas towns by Texas

H. S. Black, of New York, paid to the custom house at that city $18,669 as Monmouth, Ill., is supposed to have

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Duly Received.

OPEN LETTER TO KANN SONS CO.

Chas. W. Winslow Acted as Secretary-Several Communications Disposed of-Grievance Committee Report Some Matters-Requests Granted-Other Business.

The Central Labor Union was called to order Monday night by President Feeney at Typographical Temple. Mr. Charles W. Winslow acted as secretary n the absence of Secretary Dietrich, who is attending the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Scranton.

Mintes of previous meeting were read and approved.

Credentials were received from R. A. Lanis Association of Steam Fitters, No. to, certifying Messrs. E. J. Ratigan and ohn A. Brett; from Stone Laborers certifying James Tate; from Hod Cariers certifying William Scott.

Communications were received from Washington and Gettysburg Railroad, and Carpet Upholsterers, which were ead and placed on file.

The following communication inlosed with reply of Mr. Tindall, Secreary of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia relative to reason for granting permission to John Jacoby to work overtime on sewer contract explains itself:

I have the honor so report that the sewer n M street, S.E., adjacent to the Navy Yard, s being constructed in tunnel, and it someimes happens that the masonry in the headng cannot be fully completed within the ordinary working hours. It is important, for the protection of the work partly completed and to avoid a possioility of injuring adjacent buildings and other structures, that work should proceed antil the section under construction should e fully completed.

The above were my reasons for recomnending that permission be granted the ontractor to work overtime when, in the pinion of the engineer, it appeared to be for he best interests of the work.

D. E. MCCOMB, Superintendent of Sewers

Communication from Retal Butchers and Meat Dealers' Protective Association, of Washington, D. C., was referred to Carriage and Wagon Builders. Steamfitters report that they have been instructed to return as delegates o the Central Labor Union, they having withdrawn November 25.

Building Stone Laborers requested nformation relative to Molneti matter Request granted.

President Feeney called attention to boycott literature being circulated by parties unknown to the Central Labor Union affecting S. Kann Sons & Co. After discussion and recourse to proper channels the following open letter was presented: MESSRS. S. KANN, SONS & CO.

GENTLEMEN: It having come to the attenion of the Central Lobor Union of the District of Columbia that your firm is placarded as unfair to organized labor, we, the undersigned committee of Central Labor Union, take this method of stating to the public that this proceeding is discountenanced by the rganizations connected with the American Federation of Labor.

J. H. ВАВСОСК. J. B. DICKMAN, WILLIAM M. LEWIS, J. M. HEISLEY.

Grievance Committee made their report relative to several matters.

Executive Board was instructed to wait upon certain business houses and secure contracts.

Delegate Spohn moved that a committee consisting of one member from each organization be appointed to try to secure franchise for the District.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

The Pittsburg Steel Hoop Company has decided to erect two additional hoop mills at Monessen, Pa.

A tobacconist at Atchison, Kan., acentitled him to a piano and other prizes aggregating $640 in value.

Pittsburg capitalists have secured to mine it.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors.

A. J. E. HUBBARD

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION

One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifledly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER. Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known. -FRANKLIN.

THE eight-hour day on government contract work is established by a bill which Congressman GARDNER, of New Jersey, has introduced in the House.

REPRESENTATIVE GROSVENOR, of Ohio, has introduced a bill in the House favoring the placing of the Allied Printing Trades Label on all government publications, showing that they are is sued from a union office. The text of (Texas Jack), Richard Long, Sam Lefthe bill is as follows:

"That from and after the passage of this act the Public Printer of the United Ellis, Ed. Ash, [Bill?] Barbour, Jim States be and he is hereby authorized and directed to print the label of the Allied Printing Trades on all publications of the Government."

This is as it should be, as all the printers, pressmen, bookbinders, stereotypers and pressfeeders are members of the respective trades unions. We trust it will become a law, thereby showing the country that the best workmen and employes are found in printed (fairly well) in the Courier the union.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

A letter from H. Herbert Steele, now reading proof in Albany, N. Y., contains the following, by way of correction of errors alleged to have been found in statements of mine. By the way, Her bert has a refreshingly ingenuous way of referring to my "delightful effusions or the other hogwash in the rag." His "Welcome, by Sam K. Bangs," to that have corrected a mistake of mine restatement of the Kalloch-De Young affair speaks for itself and is probably correct:

At least twice you have referred to the Rev. I. S. Kalloch as "shot to death in San Francisco." It would be nearer right to say shot into the Mayor's chair." The related circumstances happened in '80 and '81, and though I was under age at the time they come back to memory clearly. I was a personal acquaintance of the senior Kalloch also of the son, Ike, who, though later becoming a minister, was in youth a printer at the case on the Los Angeles Herald. Charles De Young was the foreman of the San Francisco Chronicle, in those days the vellow journal of the Pacific. The senior Kalloch possessed great personal magnetism and a finished captivating oratory, and was pastor of Tremont Temple, on Mint square Frisco is noted for large churches and small congregations, for only the very old and those too young to help it are good there. But Kalloch's church was an exception, and t was always crowded. His sermons were iable to be on most any subject except that of orthodox religion, and at this time took a shy at political conditions. At the first Kalloch and De Young were allied, the Chronicle publishing his political sermons with editorial commendation. A time came when the Chronicle changed-probably was seen, as they would say in Snohomish or Kamskatska; but somehow Kalloch didn't get the steer or wouldn't take it, and a breach came and was widened by the Chronicle making an onslaught on Kalloch and publishing his youthful Beecherisms. The De Youngs were originally Louisiana French Jews. Kalloch retaliated in an open-air speech, in which he showed conditions were possible where it of the father of her child. The next forenoon a boy alighted from a coupe at his residence and told Kalloch a lady therein wished to see him. As Kalloch neared the coupe a wounded on the sidewalk. The driver started the horses on a run, but citizens stopped them. The coupe's only inside occupant was Charles De Young, who was saved from the prisoned and guarded by the State militia; other evening of the first arrival of big and Kalloch, now a wounded hero, independent of political parties, was elected Mayor of San Francisco. For months the Chronicle was silent; then with comments at first mild, it grew bitter. To these the Mayor him here. On the first evening his apparently paid no heed. The junior Kalloch was at the time a pastor in Santa Rosa, and did not read the Chronicle, but in an unlucky moment was shown these articles. He made no mention of his intentions, but left for San Francisco and going directly to the counting-room of the Chronicle, said to De Young, "I want you." And he got him De Young attempted to draw a pistol as he crouched under the counter, but got rattled or it hitched or something. Young Kalloch walked to the sidewalk holding an empty revolver in his hand; Charles De Young was dead, and the half-dozen counter clerks in hiding-most of them later admitting being armed at the time. Young Kalloch's trial was one of those useless formalities sometimes indulged "that the law take its course The Kallochs abandoned the ministry, and went to Whatarm, on Puget Sound, and practiced law, where the senior died a few Arthur Armstrong has exhibited to me a little book en itled "Lights and Shadows," presented to him by the author, Sam K. Bangs, with the following inscription written on the fly-leaf: Presented to Arthur Armstrong by his true friend, Sam K. Bangs, on his 25th birthday, Sept. 14, 1890, with the hope that the future has more of happiness for he and I than the past"beautiful in spite of its Southwestern grammar. The booklet is filled with verses which the author is unselfish enough to admit are not poetry, on varied subjects, ending with the more lengthy effort styled "Past and Pres ent," in which occur the names of many printers well known to the readers of THE TRADES UNIONIST. Among them using only those which have something dentifying besides the surname) are Dunbar Brown, George McFadden. Dorsey Mitten, Jim McGowen, Peter [B.] Lee, Pat Dowdall, Charlie Shannon, John Buchanan, Colonel Ruffin, Jehriel Hart, Tom Bronston, "Kid' Sloan, "Bones" Masterson, George McMillan, Bobby Corcoran, Charley Reed, Pope Clements, Lusiex LaCroix, Charlie Harding, Jim O'Brien, Sam Dash, Bill Kyle, Ed. Root, John Ridette fingwell, Bill McEwen, "Long haired" Lasher, Wallace Egbert, George [D.?] Culley, Jack Donovan, Nick Buckley, Jimmy Hart, John Hart, Bill Vaughn, Al. Edmonson, Frank Heimbach, Bill Creevy, Bob Chapman, "Judge" Nevins, Frank Young, Jo Newton, Ahrenberg, Billy Meeks, Lon and Ezra James -well, these are not a tenth of them. but will go to show what an acquaint-prizes it highly. Mr. Armstrong also has a "Souvenir of the Convention of the International Typographical Union of North America -42nd Annual Session, Oct. 8-14, 1894, Louisville, Ky.," being the poetical William T. Greenfield, (by the way, not more plentiful than raconteurs. one of whom is a member of this union at the present time if Mr. Leech took a traveling card with him to the Philip ance he had with the "old rounders."

The little book is handsomely bound

Journal job room in 1885, and contains a wood cut of the author in characteristic attitude with a corn-cob pipe. It is an interesting memento of the time

Welcome, thrice welcome, dear craftsmen-You are not on an alien shore, Though this be the land of the "bloody" Wild "Ingins" who panted for gore.

We have few of the traits of the red man, But in these little things we agree He was fond of tobacco and toddy, And so, fellow-craftsmen, are we.

safe), are as follows:

Then accept of our pipe and our flagon. Which are free as the breeze of our land, For our welcome we wish you to feel it From the heart to the grasp of the hand.

While our craft may be threatened with perils What availeth a man to look blue? There's a time to be grave and be merry.

Which we hope you'll acknowledge is true May wisdom prevail in your councils

In devising those means that are best, And after your labors, good brothers, We fellows will see to the rest. Mr. Bangs, who has now reached about three score years, was well known to the traveling fraternity for were impossible for a mother to be certain forty years—not that he was so much of a traveler himself, but he long lived on the route of travel and was always a "hail fellow, well met," with the pistol shot was heard and Kalloch fell craft. He is now living in this city, unfortunately in poor health.

Joe Sill in this city. Fresh from the mountains of Georgia, he became the guest of a friend who had preceded friend noticed that Joe wore very heavy knee boots, and as they were taking their post-prandial smoke his friend

"Joe, slip off those heavy boots and rest your feet."

"Oh, never mind me, Bill" (I've forgotten the friend's name), said Joe; I'm all right."

Later on the suggestion was again made, and perhaps repeated a time or two. Finally Sill consented, and putting the instep of one foot under the other knee, off came the boot.

"There!" said Joe, as his naked foot appeared, "I knew that d-d sock would stick in the boot, and I'll bet the other one does too!"

But for all that no one has as yet ventured to call him "Sockless Sill."

Two numbers of The Price Current and Commercial Advertiser, Washington and Georgetown, issued weekly at Nos. 271 and 173 Pennsylvania avenue (third story); N. Sardo, editor and proprietor," dated, respectively, May 26 and August 18, I866, have been sub- Be. mitted for my inspection. It is a very fair specimen of printing for that day and is filled with commercial news and advertising, though of the advertisers but few of the names are to be found among the present business men of Washington. I do not know the history of the paper nor how long it lived. Mr. Sardo was for many years a compositor on the Star and was well known to the public as the secretary of the Jackson Democratic Association, or the Dem. Jack. Ass., as the disrespectful were accustomed to call it. Now poor old Nat Sardo is superanuated, without means, and simply waiting for the 'great release."

Billy Shields is now reading proof on the Times, I am told, his recent stay in Denver being brief. He had gone there for the sake of his health, but the Denver doctors told him that his malady (I really do not know what it is) would not be benefited by that climate, and as he prefers to live in the East (other things being equal) he returned. Mr. Shields is a good reader and his newspaper training has been such as to make him a valuable acquisition to any newspaper office, besides having a thorough knowledge of all branches of Mark Twain, two or three years ago, said that in the telegraphic reports of his death the facts were greatly exaggerated. A dispatch from Manila in Monday's Post states that native scouts captured and beheaded a renegade American negro named David Fagan, who had joined the Filipinos. The and the author, and Mr. Armstrong head being recognized as that of Fagan, "the authorities are satisfied that former statements of his death were erroneous."

My thanks are due to those who convention, at which this union was garding the first admission of a negro his annual leave. represented by Thomas M. Lawler, to our union. The Proof Room forces Edward T. Toner, John S. Leech, and the conclusion that critics are much

Do you figure out what "1. c." was aiming at in his letter from Cohoes pines). The souvenir is printed in the last week? The only Cohoes man I raised characters used by the blind, ever heard of went down to New York and the welcoming verses, which do and got drunk with his friend Grimesy not seem to be copyrighted (so I am at a raffle for a goat, according to the chronicles of Ed. Mott. Send diagrams, A. F. BLOOMER.

Day Record.

Lem Miller is said to have been heard to remark that he prefers coffee because coffee is a beverage while beer is only a drink.

Frank Ayers is in thorough sympathy with last week's remarks on bald heads. He says the bald-head joke is about the baldest thing yet.

Messrs. J. C. Spencer and J. C. Wilson, two of the brightest stars of the day Record galaxy, were transferred to the proof room last week.

There can be no question that Kane Mahoney is one of the most contented workers in this neck of woods, although it is likewise probable that he he misses the genial companionship of his late alley mate, Uncle Larry Pierce.

The executive staff of this division now consists of Ben J. Shannon, foreman; George R. Boone, maker-up, and Editors The Trades Unionist: W. D. Skeen, timekeeper. It may be The appropriation for the leave of added that everything has run like absence for employes of the Public Jimmy Brodnax told me a story the busiest and most efficient in the G.P.O. be granted have been posted through-

~~~~~~~~~~ FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading Outfitters, . . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

The careless compositor stands in pink-slippery places.

It is sometimes pleasanter to meet a Cheerful Has Been in the rain than to listen in the sunshine of spring to the elequent babble of a Boastful Would

The recent suggestion of "Bab" that a debating society should be organized this winter is a good one. It is to be hoped that it will yet be carried out. In fact, a literary organization on more ambitious lines than those indicated by "Bab" might be better still. Such an organization, if properly developed, would not only add to the pleasure and profit of its immediate membership, but would reflect credit on Columbia Typographical Union it

Mr. John M. Johnston seems to think that a little nonsense once in a while should not be mixed with too much

THE LITTLE BOY AND HIS PA. [Being a little Rhyme which showeth how ye Able but Mendacious Compositor deceiveth ye Young Youth.]

What makes you work at night, dear pa, When you might work by day? 've often wondered why, and ma Says 'tis the extra pay."

Not so, young man. I've got the speed, And when on me they call, can't refuse them in their need. Your mother's off her 'trol.'"

Pa, what's that light which high in air Gleams through the midnight murk? Why, Congress had it planted there To guide me home from work.'

And you must see the paper goes To press ere you come home! That's the express desire of those Who talk beneath the Dome.'

But what if they should overtalk Themselves this coming winter?" Don't worry, boy; we'll get 'er out-Me and the Public Printer.' Say, pa. vou are a crackajack.

And much to be admired. My, won't they wish they had you back If ever you get fired!

ADAM BUGG.

Treasury Branch. E. S. Moore has returned from his Martin Flynn is taking fifteen days of

C. J. Sheriff, W. S. Hennen and H. Newsom were transferred to the main

Harvey F. Balmer and A. H. Mc Knight were transferred to the Night Bill Force on Monday.

Clint Price, one of our proof readers, is being urged by his many friends to enter the race for delegate this year.

The ladies transferred here to assist in folding the Book of Estimates, have returned to the main office, that book having been completed.

J. William DeGroot, son of W. A. DeGroot of this division, was married about two weeks ago to Miss Louise M. Norman at the home of the bride's parents in Brookland, D. C.

Theophilus McClure, of this division, was working in Cincinnati fifty years ago when the National Typographical Union was organized in that city. With the exception of three years in the army he has been at the trade continuously every since, working in all the large cities of the West. Notwithstanding his long service, he is enjoying good health and feels destined to serve many more years at the trade.

SUBSCRIBER.

Annual Leave Money. WASHINGTON, D. C., December 11, 1901.

clock-work from the first, and the new Printer having been exhausted notices division is likely to become one of the to the effect that no more leave would ADAM BUGG. out the G. P. O. and its various

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

Made Under Fair Conditions. The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2235 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

branches. I presume that the Urgent Deficiency Bill contains an item partially covering this matter, but at the SODA and MINERAL WATERS end of the fiscal year, I have no doubt, there will be some who have been denied their leave of absence because the appropriation asked has been insuffi cient.

I don't believe there is any valid reason why the money to pay leaves of absence to employes of the G. P. O. should be obtained by special appropriation any more than that necessary to pay leave for any other Department of the Government; and I am also of the belief that the complications annu ally arising over this question can be very readily obviated by the people most interested If the general appropriation for the public printing and binding included also leaves of absence with pay the employes of the G. P. O. could get their leave just as they do in all the other Departments, and such legislation as is necessary to correct his evil should be had to accomplish Let us be moving.

GEO. M. RAMSEY.

Che busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO. ********

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient by Skilled ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imitate it because it's good.

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds SAMUEL C. PALMER. MANUFACTURER OF

In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. s and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates. Tobacco and Choice Cigars.

1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label..

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS

In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician

Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches. B. LOCRAFT & BRO.,

Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

EDWARD J. QUINN, 604 Pa. Ave.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.: 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

.President E. A. M. LAWSON .. WALTER V. SMITH .. .....Vice-President W. M. GARRETT .. Treasurer JOHN R. BERG.. .Organizer C. C. HIPKINS .. ....Sergeant-at-Arms ..... Doorkeeper FRANK HART ....

TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett.

DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and C. E. Clark.

Auditors-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard. COMMITTEES.

NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A.

Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank D. Seiffert. ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks.

LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis,

and B. M. Connelly.

RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Lenhart, and Hugh Reid

CHAIRMEN.

First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division-John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-William McEnaney. Fourth Division-('harles H. Gove. Fifth Division-L. R. Taylor. Record-L. J. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-Franklin Rogers. Night Bill Force—A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division—S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division—E. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien Census-F. I. Gleason. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.-Earl Ruppert Baxter. Judd & Detweiler's-Charles Nace. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's—Alex. England.
National Publishing Co.—F. S. Rousseau McGill & Wallace's—J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'—R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register—C. H. Draeger. General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

Down Town.

very ancient, ways of labor antiquated, should he be caught." and the price of living very high, yet he is well pleased with the conditions ceived recently from W. Kirk Lockas he believes that he will benefit wood, at Los Angeles, Cal., where he greatly from a health standpoint. He has engaged in the grocery business. reports the arrival of the transport on Mr. Lockwood for a number of years November 25, bearing the printers, was an employe of the First, but less binders, and others who left here for than a year ago "made a break" and there sometime after himself and states got into business. He writes: "My that he is then on his way to meet business has been picking up to such them. Mrs. Jones leaves here for Emporia, Kans., on Friday, and expects these days, which is satisfactory to me, to meet at San Francisco sometime in I assure you." He extends his sym-February Mrs. Powers, Gessler, Wag-pathy to the hill horses working on ner and others who will accompany her bills. on a trip to Manila, where they will join their husbands and make their ket ball team will play its first game of "Sadie Maguire," in speaking of the to be held in Cincinnati next August son has secured the services of a numsays in the Western Laborer: "I would ber of young men well known for their like to suggest to Typographical Union athletic ability, and feels confident of No. 1, of Indianapolis that it would making a good showing. He is espedo the handsome and graceful turn cially gratifled over signing Mr. Joe if it sent its venerable and famons Daily, for many years one of the most Sam Leffingwell as a delegate to the prominent players of the country, who semi-centennial convention. Before will captain the team. Mr. Daily is some of us were born Sam Leffingwell not a G. P. O. employe, but, as propriewas thinking, writing, and fighting for tor of the Victor Cafe across the street, the typographical union—and he is still feels near enough to lend his services. at it. In a few years his life will go A good big crowd is asked from the out, and then I can see No. 1 just slob. big shop. Dancing after the game. bering all over the old man with reso- With the going down of the sun on carnation in his button hole daily. lutions. Sam Leffingwell would be the Sunday evening ended a six-day drive proudest man in America if he could for the First Division that makes a rec- It is a case of merit and he is well be a delegate to the Cincinnati conven- cord. Congress convened on Monday, hatchet with him just over the Rhine." sequies of the hatchet.

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m, December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free. Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cooking to order. Your patronage solicited JOHN E. BONINI,

727-729 N. Capitol street.

Notice. An address will be delivered by Mr. George A. King at the regular meeting of the Columbia Typographical Union at the Temple, on Sunday, December Business-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. 15, on the recent favorable decision of Lerch, G. A. Meyer. W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. the Court of Claims in the cases of 15, on the recent favorable decision of temporary employes for pay for pro rata leaves of absence, and also on the decision in the case of M. A. W. Louis just rendered by the court under which all foremen and assistant foremen are entitled to twenty per cent increase for night work. These decisions are of importance to all since they may determine the policy of the Department as to future payments, and a full attendance is desired.

First Division.

H. H. Pierce was transferred to the Proof Room on Thursday.

Michael Angelo Serrano returned from his leave on Friday. (Great ap-

What a relief on Monday, after fiftyeight hours of rush on bills, to straddle a stool and distribute a while.

Tommy Harris was off sick last Tuesday. Pay-day had nothing to do with the case; he was really sick.

Nelson, Barton, Mac (our italic man), and others of Jim Bright's pretty men were impressed in the service on Sunday to help "get the paper out."

What will you do with all your extra money, boys? We have several deserving poor in our craft. Christmas is coming, and this is a timely hint.

A proof-reader remarked to me that he had read bills until his wrist ached Oh, what a fellow feeling for the compositor, who did the real wrist work. Messrs. James West and Frank Thompson, owing to the increase of work occasioned by Congress, have been promoted to be makers up. They are both energetic young men, and have made friends of the compositors by their willing aid while dissecting bill forms and rescuing pick-ups. The severe task of the past ten days, however, is causing each to show the "tur-

One of the staff of reporters for this any liability for libel: "Shorty Nes- Miller, Martin Sweeney, F. E. Shafer, bitt, he of the diminutive proportions, and F. P. Williams. has been depending on his size to evade We have succeeded in organizing a Union meeting Sunday.

the extra tariff for a second plate of soup at the restaurant to which he

We have succeeded in organizing a "sym" of our own. We start with 75 will be pleased to learn that he made soup at the restaurant to which he the trip to Manila, Philippine Islands, journeys for his noon-day lunch. The as he states, "without missing a meal colored guardian of the soup tureen as ne states, without missing a mean and having gained eight pounds in knows someone is repeating, and the and having gained eight pounds in weight." He reports the surroundings fate of 'Shorty' will be a sad one

A very encouraging letter was rean extent that it takes all my time

The Government Printing Office basthe season next Saturday night, Dec. 14, at the Washington Light Infantry golden jubilee session of the I. T. U. Armory at 8 o'clock. Captain Robin-tion next year. I would like to bury the and the orders from the conning tower on Tuesday morning were to clear the We heartily indorse the above, and if frames for action with the English your suggestions are adopted "Sadie" cases. There were introduced during send us an invitation to attend the ob- the first week of the Fifty-seventh Congress 4,324 House bills and 1,090 Senate bills, making a total of 5,414 bills in the two branches of the national legislature. This does not include House and Senate resolutions, of which there were a number, and they are handled in the same manner as the bills. The first day 1,945 House and 661 Senate bills were introduced. Besides the bill work there were several hundred nominations to be handled, which engaged the night force of about 160 men from 7 o'clock in the evening till daybreak. The force of compositors who toiled ten hours a day and eight on Sunday to complete the task numbered 170 on the day force and 160 on the night force, not counting probably 100 men in the proof room and the press room and 100 women in the folding room and bindery, thus giving employment during the greatest rush to over 500 persons. Each one of these bills made from two to fifty pages, and as they are proved on galleys, two pages to a galley, measuring a proof slip 18 inches long, computation proves that if the proof slips were pasted in a continuous strip they would span across the District of Columbia. This computation does not include the revised proof the ball rolling. slips, nor the press revises, nor the the proofs of the resolutions and nominations. It is considered a large day's Manila to work as a machine operator work for a swift compositor to pass in in the new print shop. a bill an hour, or an average of eight per day. It would therefore take one of the swiftest compositors 677 days, or nearly two years, of continuous work to put this amount of matter in type, taking no time for distribution.

Table board, $18 per month, at 810 New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O. MRS. M. T. WORK.

Second Division.

Several members of this chapel have been promoted to the Proof Room.

Mr. Ferrell, ex-vice-president of 101, has been transferred to the Day Proof Room.

Ed. Merritt, lawyer, printer, scholar, etc., has been transferred to the Night Proof Room. There has been considerable "fricwill come in handy at this stage of the candidates. Mr. Gove may justifiably game, although our conscience smote shake hands with himself for such an us for breaking the Sabbath. What did "Pard" ever do to the artist of the Proof Room to call forth cover. Come out in the open, brother The following temporary employes column hands in the following. I print were assigned to this division Wednesit as a matter of news, but disclaim day: John Quinn, J. W. Kail, Clarence > members and will reach the limit, 100, within the next two weeks. All who wish to get in on the ground floor should | L. P. Kenny is busy in the Sixth Divimake application at once.

> Our efficient bank-man, who has been inhaling the country air, is with us again. Gentlemen making deposits at Globe Printing Company, is now holdthe bank will please see that their ing down slug 3 in this room. checks are properly certified. Other-

> Slug 46 was busily engaged in trying to descipher a map-a present from the Proof Room-the other day. He was surrounded by many of his admiring friends who offered him their as- tion, R. A. Nelgner received 39 votes, sistance but he spurned them all saying H. J. Smith 25, and Elmer Dement 16. he was a good guesser.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Third Division.

Messrs. Greenfield and Bruffy are on the sick list.

H. D. Lowd has been assigned to this division.

Walter V. Smith and George Hayden were transferred to the First Division Wednesday. The "conscientious scruples" excuse was not worked in this division last Sunday. J. G. McGrath should not take everything seriously. There are an abundance of jokers in the Third. Chairman McEnaney, the blushing Adonis of this division, wears a fresh Bobby Christian is reading proof.

**************

X-MAS GIFTS

A great many articles in Ster-ling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

Why not send a generous contribution

Fred C. Miller, a temporary in this division, is expecting to be called to

H. T. McConvey, C. L. Nace, J. M. Laughran, E. W. Edmonston, and W. E. Dennesson have been added to the temporary force and assigned to this division.

a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. J. A. Sauerland, man ever held in this division during the recollection of yours truly was the was so exceptionally tame and matterof-fact that, had it not been for Obdissatirfied co conspirators, who are sore on all chapel rules, the nominating meeting might easily have resolved itself into a mum stag social. Gove tion" in alley 8 of late. It is suggested man and Luitich for secretary. No opthat the belligerent gentlemen oil their position developed, and the acting secre ary was authorized to cast the vote The extra money earned last Sunday of the chapel, being unanimous for the unmistakable indorsement of his administration.

Fourth Division.

key back." They expect easier times such insulting slurs from him under 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

F. M. Werneke, J. G. Boss, and Jos. I. Keefer go to the Night Bill Force to-sion with the bound edition of the Record.

George C. Dorrell, recently from the Thomas J. Fitzwilliams went to the wise they will be called "up" and down. Job Room where Mr. Whitehead preceded him by some weeks. Fitz and

In the race for the chairmanship last week, owing to Mr. Taylor's resigna-

One of our men, recently married, went with his bride to a jewelry store to buy a ring. The first question the jeweler asked was, "How old is the baby?"

the wrath of a hungry man whose lunch he had eaten by furnishing him with his own, which came ten minutes later. Fortunately both lunches had not affected with climatic lassitude only turkey sandwiches and pie, so neither one had a kick coming.

Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. Scholarships for Sale.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

************** SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS.

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.—that combine beauty and long service with very inexpens-

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

posted on style and is a first-class comto the sick and disabled at the Printers' Home as a Christmas present? Start

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

The most pacific election for chairone occurring last week. In fact, it structional Boteller and some of his

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms

Fifth Division.

C. L. Williams was transferred to the First Division last Wednesday.

Whitey are inseparable companions.

Dave Walton last Sunday escaped

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

To any one contemplating taking a business or commercial course it will be of Columbia Union, 101, containing the to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholarships, which will be sold at a very reasonable price.

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest, Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-

-VISIT-

ised leaves of absence.

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. .

Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873 S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS

AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS. 1315 14th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00. The Evans Dental Parlors, 1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers. 443 Seventh Street S. W.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes. Once Tried You'll Always Use It. Take no Substitute. Ports and Sherries for Family Use—Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of Cigars. Ales and Porters on Draught all the Year Round. JOHN CONNOR,

Wanted.

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

A good advertisement and subscription solicitor at this office; one who is need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission paid. Apply at this office.

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be published a card for the use of members names of the following printing offices, which should not receive the patronage or moral support of trade unionists: Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

northwest. H. L. McQueen, 1108 E street north 0000000 Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, atter and Men Frnishe 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

000000 THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS.

SHERWOOD

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 21c. PER CUE.

Specialties.

THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER. 628 LA. AVE. N. W.

Ruling and Binding of every description Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per me BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w

BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager. PORRER & BORRECT

28 300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel,

Every Laboring Man

--requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of-

Cream Blend Flour It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy. Your Grocer will supply you.

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

in an appearance a J. L. KERVAND.

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

- - Washington, D. C.

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock. 50 YEAR TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 : Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT

Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER

Drawn from the Wood.

211 Seventh St. nov., Washington, D. C.

Opposite CENTRE MARKET. EOUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY,

605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date. $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER, Fine Wines and Liquors. BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

1210 E Street Northwest. FOR LUNCH

TRY THE Pure Dairy Lunch,

935 D St. nw.

The Man's Store No Trouble to Keep Busy With Such Values.

You won't feel like paying $30 or $40 to the tailor after you have seen what a swell, handsome Frock Coat and Vest we're putting out for $14.85.

Ask to see that beautiful long, Full-back Overcoat we price at $12.85. Looks like a "twin brother" to many you see elsewhere at $18.50.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005=7 Pa. Ave.

UITS AND OVER-

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W.,

Union Clothier, Furnisher, and Hatter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Specification Notes.

B. H. Achard is threatened with fever and is at the Sibley Hospital.

There are 42 lady compositors in this room, including 8 copy-holders.

Mrs. May M. Parsons, among the swiftest of the swifts, was reinstated on liked. Tuesday.

The sum total of dues collected in this room for the month of November was $124.20. Owing to an unusually large issue of patents this force worked twelve extra hours last week.

Columbia Lodge of Masons. The amended chapel rules, made and satisfactory. With the adoption of the revised chapel rules Mr. F. H. Melick was chosen secretary with power to act in the absence of the chairman.

During an impetuous moment Captain Smooth addressed Colonel Slack as "Slick," and as a rejoinder the Colonel dubbed the Captain "Smooth."

the main office has said that he thinks he's up against something fierce. In other words he finds his time much oc-been compared to a thorn between two ants can testify to the amount of docu- Schroen, J. Sheridan, C. E. Sikken, W. roses, is now home sick and under ment work handled by the bank. Every- F. Simons, J. V. Smithson, J. F.

General sympathy is felt and expressed by fellow-workmen since the must undergo a second surgical operation at the hospital.

A. J. Arnold, of this pointed master of the third veil in Washington Royal Arch Chapter No. 2, last week and on Tuesday of this week was elected Senior Warden of Federal Lodge, No. 1, F. A. A. M.

"Old Prog" was prophet among men when he intimated that he might not always abide with us. As a chronicler of passing events he was voted a success, and general regret is expressed that he could not remain. He was regarded as a good citizen by this little community.

Generally speaking it only requires a suggestion to get a brother typo to the arrangement of our new material subscribe for THE TRADES UNIONIST; but occasionally when one is asked if he is a patron he replies: "No, but I right." read it," and thinking that he may enjoy it that way best we pass on to the next man. Our hope is that all will read it and enjoy it so well that in time it will be a pleasure to subscribe and pay for it. The paper is an assured success, while yet the little assistance Francis, and sometimes Brodie, are stronger and better.

their tribute of respect to Mr. Thomas proofs. J. Sydnor, a former alley mate, and who resigned about a year ago to take the election for officers returned with charge of a first class publishing house out opposition Messrs. Fletcher and at Petersburg, Va. The remembrance Clements, secretary and chairman, rewas in response to an invitation to a spectively. A short congratulatory admarriage ceremony which took Mr. dress was made by Foreman Bass, who Sydnor from the marriageable list and requested co-operation in making a God, and that, too, in God's holy made him a real benedict. Regrets success of his efforts toward efficient were universally expressed at his leave work throughout the division, and who taking, and now the same expression stated that each man on the rolls had sessor of a dog that Brother Lucy reof good will is extended as he enters been selected with regard to his fitness deems when a poundmaster raked him and both a pleasant voyage.

Record Notes.

This chapel has been shamefully neglected by its representative for THE TRADES UNIONIST, no notes having been supplied for a month. Discontent is evident on the part of those who have "done things" that should have been duly announced to a newsloving clientelle; there is some talk o starting an opposition "news syndi cate," with "Old Prog," now with us, as purveyor-in-chief. Guess "it's time to get up," as we night owls hear so distastefully these late forenoons: One more vawn.

On Monday, December 2, the Record mill started up in full blast, every fur nace, forge, and anvil having its full complement of smiths, the only excep tion being frame 58, Shelbysmith being OATS CUT TO YOUR MEASURE in the proof room—where we'd rathe have him, anyway. There's so much relief obtained by our free expression of feeling whenever we see his grace ful auto. in the upper right corner of proof sheet; helps a fellow to ge through these long nights. (Anothe yawn.

Well, there are 107 men, I vacancy on this year's force-45 being sub scribers to THE TRADES UNIONIST.

At the head and front of our offend ing is Mr. William M. Bass, foreman, Tuesday night by the election of Daniel in a basket (anybody's goods) and steal liant, observant, and for a new chief, apparently quite efficient. Formerly compositor, reader, and foreman Census Branch, where he is said to have 'made a record." Is respected by his men and will probably be well known to all, being treasurer of Col- tingue. umbia Union. There is no more capaole man for this place in the office. writing with the other is a time-saving Battles, L. J. Bennett, W. H. Beringer, accomplishment, and accounts for the H. B. Billings, F. A. Brashears, C. C. Andy Keiner, of the proof room, was Berg is an encyclopedia of style, having W. J. Burr, H. H. Byrne, O. A. Calrecently elected Junior Warden of the been with the Record as compositor and reader for many sessions.

necessary with the change in running popular C. E. Rudy, whose memory for A Davis, W. H. Dedrick, A. F. Drake, forty and two children of them." The heads by slugs, are now in full force faces and slugs is excellent, and whose J. R. Durisoe, H. D. Easterbrook, J lung capacity excites favorable com- H. Edsall, A. W. Emory, Isaac G. Er ment by those who have to "go 'way vin, H. Everett, G. Fletcher, J E. Fox back " to work.

wire takes are "dumped" and hustled Halsey, J. E. Harper, R. H. Harstin, to the brainery Mr. W. H. Chase is in S. C. Hinwood, J. H. Hooper, C. Incharge. Woe to the offending "slug-dermauer, M. N. Kantenberg, W. Kengard" or wrong-slug-ard, who obstructs the wheels of progress. But Chase is competent and level-headed; One of the men recently drafted from knowing his duty, he does it, like the guardsman (D. C.) he is.

At the make-up bank is Mr. Harry McElfresh, a swift, accurate "speci-Sam Gompers, who holds a preferred handling the voluminous numbers of frame in alley 5 and while at work has late-in-the session Record, his assist- C. Rote, Frank R. Rynex, P. A thing is arranged this year for "Mc's" convenience, and a record breaker is confidently expected. But he ought to Trainham, L. C. Tuttle, C. J. Vliet, S. announcement that Mr. F. T. Maloney have Mohler "call out" for the belated T. Walton, J. E. Wayson, H. W. Whit-

> The work of imposing is in the hands of the old reliable W. S. Brooks; it is marvelous to a new man to see how much work can be so quietly and unostentatiously done by this efficient veteran. Many sessions more, Bill.

Mr. Henry L. Ripley, late of the Third Division, has the post-office again, to our pleasure. Courteous to all, no aid in verification is denied the luckless wight who, "up against it" fancies his "pink slip" should be looked into. Our efficiency records are safe in Riplev's hands.

The last of the "makers-up" on the time slip is C. E. Slentz, general utility man. There are few conveniences in not due in some measure to his forethought and deftness. Charley is "all

At and around the new electric proof press Messrs. Madden, Robinson, Allen and Carroll are an active coterie of workers, well chosen for their respective duties.

Messrs. Spence, Mohler, Graham and each might give would help to make it the "Ring Alley" force. Of course Mohler "ties up"-couldn't do with-The members of alley 8 recently paid out him-and Graham corrects stone

At the first night's chapel meeting

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George,
Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.
The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| d                                 | NAME.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | BUSINESS.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | LOCATION.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-----------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| s- of i- s, ie                    | Haines' Southeast Store. Keenan Bros. B. Solomon. kufus H. Darby. P. B. Anderson. H. L. McQueen. N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). E. Gundershiemer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher Printer Printer Printer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Eighth and Penna avenue s.e. 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.w. 708 Seventh street n.w. 508 Fourteenth street n.w. 512 Tenth street n.w. 1108 E street n.w. 1011 Penna. avenue n.w. 516 Second street n.w. and stalls in Center Market.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| r- Ill p- ig er h n a et et r- o- | Peter Grogan J. Mangan. John H. Fitzgerald S. S. Dafsh Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Hencke Sheets & Miller James A. Bennett Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company. I. Grosner. M. Minster. A. H. McGhan. A. Minster Charles Walters A. Markward Cyrus B. Reese. C. A. Schneider & Sons Boston Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Minster & Paterson The Famous. Chas. A. Muddiman & Co Joseph Mathey. A. S. Reavis A. Molnoti. Castleberg. Palmer, S. C. | Horseshoer Horseshoer Coal and wood Meat dealer Electrician Electrician Tinner Paperhanger and decorator Mosaics Clothing Gents' furnisher Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher Cortracting painter Employing steamfitter Union Iron Works Laundry Street Railway Gents' furnishers Gents' furnishers Contracting painter Employing steamfitter Union Iron Works Laundry Street Railway Gents' furnishers Gents' furnishings Gents' furnishers Gents' furnishers Gents' furnishers Stove dealer and tin worker Tin, stove, cornice works Stone works Jeweler Bottler | 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. 443 Prather's alley n.w. Florida ave and Third st. n.e. Center and O st. Markets. 711 G street n.w. 804 E street n.w. 804 E street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 207 Fourth st. n.w. 914 F st. and 803 Market Space. 1343 3 st. n.w. 817 E st. n.w. 499 and 501 Penns ave. n. w. Fourteenth and streets n.w. 609 G street n. w. 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. 212 Tweifth street n. w. 212 Tweifth street n. w. 491 to 499 C street n. w. 491 to 499 C street n. w. 401 to 409 C street n. w. 401 G and 616 Tweifth st. n. w. 418 Pennsylvania avenue n. w. 715 Second street n. e. Pennsylvania avenue n. w. 716 Second street n. e. Pennsylvania avenue. 1066 Thirt - second street n. w. 1066 Thirt - second street n. w. |
| 1-                                | National Theater                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Theater                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Pennsylvania avenue.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

pership is limited to 75.

Brodie is no longer 56. He is like a fish out of water.

Several of our men are forced to use glasses. They are particularly becom-At the copy desk is Mr. John R. Berg, ing to Slug 68-he looks quite "dis-

Chopping" copy with one hand and future: J. Adams, A. Armstrong, S. L. come over and see him. celerity of his work. Besides, Mr. Brodie, A. G. Brown, E. N Bunker, J. G. Caton, L. J. Clements, John A. The copy box is in charge of the Cotter, W. H. Covert, J. W. Cross, A. W. H. Francis, H. E. Giles, C. J. Graf. At the "bank," where red-hot, live- H. A. Graham, R. H. Griffith, G. F. worthy, J. L. King, E. D. Klopfer, W. J. Lee, J. R. Lehmann, L. R. Lippin cott, A. F. Martin, G. W. McCord, J. U. McCormick, D. McFadden, A. Mc-Garraghy, John J. Miller, G. M, Mohler, J. T. Morsell, L. P. Naylor, D. P. Noone, C. O'Connell, H. J. Outcalt, F. alist" on Record make up. Besides Overman, W. L. Pierce, S. D. Pool, J Spence, M. Spencer, R. E. Stenner, J. C. Sullivan, W. F. Tappan, E. N taker, J. H. Williams, R. J. Wilson, R. L. Witter, G. B. Wood and A. Zimmerman i

> Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Handy Andy's Aphorisms.

And now my "dome of thought" is assailed by "A dam Bug."

Bills! Bills! Bills! Bills for the relief of this one and that one, for a new bridge here, for a canal there, and all out of money "not otherwise appropriated."

If some enterprizing genius will get up a progressive poker social he can for the striking pressmen in Baltimore. sell a thousand tickets in the G. P. O. and the Union decided to remember With this "rake off" and the income from the "kitty" there would soon be and those ill and out of employment funds enough to build a new church with a slight remembrance of Christmas and decorate an old one.

The next cause for excitement will be the Bookbinders annual entertainment and dance, to be held on New Year's eve at National Rifles' Armory. This organization always puts up a good show, and this time I am assured it will surpass all previous efforts. Good!

Poor Arthur Delevingne has joined the noble army of those called to mobilize in the great beyond, and his earthly friends will see him no more. What a comfort to those dear ones, if indeed they can be comforted, bereft of father, husband and guide, it is to know that he was cut down singing praises to sanctuary.

Walter Whittaker is the proud posupon the matrimonial voyage, and to the partner of his joys congratulations for the wisdom of her choice. To each of the partner of his joys congratulations well received.

been selected with regard to his littless and past records. The address was will make the pound of the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The address was will be the partner of his joys congratulations and past records. The Record symposium was launched go to the grocery and fetch back goods small in stature, self-contained and re- McFadden president and Clement L. the neighbor's newspapers. The next Allen secretary-treasurer. The mem- best accomplishment will be to rob the > Flanagan is in receipt of a letter from Fred Anderson, of Manila, in which he New type is trying on the eyesight. states that owing to the non arrival of the transport on which the machinery was shipped he has been temporarily detailed in the Auditor's office of the War Department of the Archipeligo. The following is our roster; more Fred extends his good wishes to all about them, individually, in the near the boys and a pressing invitation to

I respectfully call attention to whom it may concern to II Kings, II Chap., 23d verse: "There came forth little children out of the city and mocked kins, G. L. Carey, Joseph M. Carper, him and said into him, 'go up thou bald head '-then there came forth two she bears out of the woods and tore bears will surely get you if you don't

We have a diplomat in the pressroom whose sweetness is being wasted in the hum-drum of the busy workshop-it don't matter what his name is, Twinkydoodledum or something like that. It is his persistency and his cleverness that makes him eligible as a candidate for Congress or the Cabinet. Not long ago he became possessed of a desire to see Mr. Ricketts, and after repeated attempts to pass the portals, he came back to the pressroom and called up the Public Printer's office on the telephone.

"Who is this?" asked the private secretary.

"Me-Twinkydoodledum."

"Where are you?" continued Rick-

"In the press room," said "Twinky." Then Mr. Ricketts "rung off" and Twinky" went back to his corner smiling like a Cheshire cat and humming, "When the mustard roll is call- Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. ing I'll be there.'

HANDY ANDY.

Pressmen Elect Officers.

Washington Printing Pressmen's Union No. 1, elected officers at its December meeting as follows:

President, R. C. McAuley; vice-president, Thomas A. Franklin; secretary, Geo. M. Ramsey; treasurer, William Weber; sergeant-at-arms, H. R. Fellinger; members executive committee, According to this layout, will there be Charles H. Schulie, E. A. Baulsir, and C. H. Evans.

> A substantial appropriation was made the families of its deceased members time by presenting to each family a

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY Week Commencing MONDAY, DEC. 12.

Another Great Bill HEADED BY

The Great Powell

7 CARCINETTI FAMILY 7

Elsie Bernard

FIVE OTHER BIG ACTS-

IN A NEW BURLESQUE.

BIJOU BURLESQUE COMPANY WITH DAVE LEWIS AND BERT LESLIE

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUENCHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F.N.E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK,

Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

> BOOTS AND SHOPS. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO.,

Phone E 755 COACH FINDINGS.

J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD. 477 and 900 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

DRY GOODS LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & MCCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations 418 11th St. N. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave. FLORIST.

Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180. FURNITURE AND CARPETS JULIUS LANSB JRGH. Interocean Building, 512 N nth St. N. W.

GAS FIXTURES. 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W

GROCERIES. "Good things to eat." PAGE
1210 F St. N. W

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER.

SOMERSET R. WATERS
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON.
1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.
See our $2 and $3 Hats. HARDWARE AND TOOLS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W. HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave.

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY,

1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news.

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's),

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO. 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts.

PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL.

NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART,

Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M. JOHN MEINIKHEIM,
209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market.
WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W.
Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

J. WILLIAM LEE, WILLIAM DIETZ. Undertaker and

Livery, . . . 322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 27.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1901.

Price, 3 Cents.

Action Taken Thereon.

Delegate Dickman, of Columbia Union, Requests Body's Indorsement on Iglesias Protests to Congress.

Meeting called to order at 8 p. m. by President Feeney.

were read and approved.

Credentials were received from Pa-Wheeler, J. Nesmuth and William Mur- business for next meeting at 8 p. m.

A communication from Broommakers' Local Union No. 14, I. B. M. U., laid over until next meeting. calling attention to prison-made brooms and whisk brooms and asking this body to refuse to purchase brooms, etc., without the label, was referred to the Label Committee; also from Paperbody had placed E. N. Richards & Co., dealers in wall paper, G street, near Fourteenth street, on their unfair list Union to indorse their action, was re- cember 15, 1901. ferred to the Grievance Committee; also from Negative Cutters' Union, call- read and approved. ing attention to an error in their Labor Day excursion ticket account, was ordered placed on file and error corthat they had changed their title, was to the Grievance Committee. laid on the table for one week; also file; also from Negative Cutters' Union indorsing the resolutions of Retail Clerks' Union was read and ordered placed on file; also from Retail Clerks' for the use of the Relief Committee. Union No. 262, calling attention to violation of obligation and breach of trust on the part of some one of the delegates to this body, was read and, on request of the Clerks' Union, a com mittee consisting of Delegates Van trict matter was tabled. from Upholsterers' Union No. 58, stating Walker. that that union had indorsed the action port; also from Glass Bottle Blowers' requesting information regarding the the Iglesias matter were offered and Central Labor Union, and asking if adopted: they would be permitted to affiliate. The Secretary was directed to furnish the desired information and request elared illegal and members thereof are them to affiliate. Delegate Dickman, of Columbia Typographical Union, stated that his organization had taken P. B. Anderson and our republican form of government—a was read and placed on file; also from

Carriage and Wagon Workers' International Union, appealing to this body for aid in behalf of the striking carriage and wagon workers in Cincinnati, O.,

from the unfair list and requested this clear abridgement of the "privileges and body to indorse its action. He also immunities of the citizens of the United requested this body to indorse the resolutions recently adopted by Columbia and Typographical Union denouncing the imprisonment by a court in Porto Rico the Federation of Workmen of Porto Rico of Santiago Iglesias and other members and local organizer of the American Federof labor organizations. Both requests with seven of his co-laborers in the cause of were granted.

Delegate Kennedy, of Electrical Workers' No. 26, requested the body oring to have the price of labor raised to to indorse a letter which will be forwarded by the local Brotherhood of commodities occasioned by the change in Electrical Workers to the labor organi- the currency of the island from pesos to dol-Electrical Workers to the labor organizations of the country protesting against the bill recently introduced in Congress to the Resolved, That Columbia Typographical the bill recently introduced in Congress. That Columbia Typographical that the merit system is not to be unnels or zephys but were using pieces of alone there are 67,729 Chinese.

nicate with their respective senators and representatives in Congress and Many Communications Received and ask them to oppose the measure. The request was granted.

Delegate James, of the Stationary Firemen, stated that Locals Nos. 14 and 12 had appointed their arbitrators in SUFFRAGE MATTER DELAYED the Abner-Drury engineer case and re quested the central body to appoint the chairman. Request granted.

Delegate VanNess, of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, No-Resolution-Delegate Kennedy, of Elec- 190. asked if any reply had been re trical Workers, Requests Co-operation in ceived from the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners in regard to the findings of the Court of Enquiry, and was informed by the secretary that there had not. After considerable debate the matter was made a special The minutes of the previous meeting order of business at 9 o'clock next Monday night.

perhangers' Local Union No. 420, ceron the Chr. Heurich Brewing Company rigid enforcement of the eight-hour except in case of extraordinary emerthey will send to the United States for C. E. Sickles has been absent about tifying E. Venable, J. H. Lorch, J. C. matter was made a special order of law, on which occasion you requested report of the Suffrage Committee was which I agreed to do.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's. N. Cap. and G.

COLUMBIA UNION MEETS.

Courts in Iglesias Matter.

Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, met in regular monthly session at constructions of the law; and it be- the testimonials in my possession showand requesting the Central Labor Typographical Temple, Sunday, De-came more and more evident each year ing the part I took in the work which read and placed on file.

The communication from the Central tractors. rected; also from Hoisting and Port-Labor Union relative to placing certain able Engineers' Union No. 77, stating firms upon the unfair list was referred sively violated by employing workmen tween the Abner-Drury Brewing Com- Brass Workers' International Union, proved by President Harrison. pany and Beer Drivers and Stablemen's and Wagon Workers' International on several applications.

An appropriation of $100 was made completely settled.

Ness, O'Brien and McCracken was ap-several firms placed on the unfair list, caused by resignation of J. L. Rodier.

The Printing Committee, having the and workers is set. the Yearbook matter in charge, reported the publication well under way. by Shelby Smith, upon the attention of man of the Senate Committee on Educa- did not go to Honolulu and every one was read, and as this body had already the Union being called to excessive tion and Labor, during a debate in the was very much disappointed. None placed on file; also from the Building Trades Section requesting the Central Resolved, That it is the sense of this Labor Union to request the Bricklay- Union that overtime necessary to the ers' Union to send delegates to that proper conduct of newspapers be equitably divided among the various mem section or withdraw its delegation from bers of the chapels, and foremen of the Central Labor Union, which was offices and chairmen of offices are re referred to the Executive Committee quested to see that the spirit of this of the Building Trades Section for re- resolution is observed. The following resolutions relative to Association No. 68, of Alexandria, Va., the action of the Porto Rican Courts in willing executive officers con with their duty in this regard."

WHEREAS, By the enforcement of the courts of Porto Rico of the old and brutal Spanish laws, whereby trade organizations are detreated as conspirators; and

WHEREAS, Such laws are in direct viola tion of the rights of laboring men and are opposed to the interest of individual liberty States," as mentioned in Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution;

WHEREAS, Santiago Iglesias, president of mionism, have been arrested, convicted and sentenced to terms of imprisonment correspond with the increase in the price of

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION licensing of electrical workers. The organizations are requested to commu repeal and the substitution of a new and enlightened code to conform to the Constituion and statutes of the United States.

effect of said sentences

The resolution of Mr. Oyster requestbeing taken.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Oriscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

The Eight-Hour Law.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16, 1901. TO THE PRESIDENT:

About two weeks ago I had the honor of a short interview with you at the The report of the Executive Board White House in reference to the more me to give you, in writing, any state-Owing to the lateness of the hour the ment I desired to make on that subject

> This statement is made in compliance with the promise then made:

The original eight-hour law was apcordance with its true spirit and intent. realized because of flagrant and per- tractors. sistent violations, evasions, and misthat, if the eight-hour system was to be finally culminated in the enactment of Minutes of preceding meeting were honestly enforced on public work, an the eight-hour law of August 1, 1892. eight-hour law was needed which could A number of traveling cards were neither be violated nor evaded with impunity by executive officers or con-

The first eight-hour law was extenovertime, for which they were given Communications were also received extra pay. This was the general cus-Arbitration Board in the dispute be- Metal Polishers, Buffers, Platers, and the present eight-hour law was ap-

The enactment of this law was urged Union No. 234, was read and placed on Union and were ordered placed on file. by workingmen so as to prevent the The Nomination Committee reported working of laborers and mechanics overtime without or with extra pay.

> The law was meant to get a time advantage, not a money advantage, for The Entertainment Committee re- workmen. When a man worked eight ported that their affairs were not as yet hours and earned a day's pay it was intended that he should cease labor Upon motion the report of the special for his own physical and mental good, committee on the suffrage for the Dis- and also to make room for some other worker to earn a living.

Unless each public employe is limited pointed to investigate the matter; also of Messrs. James E. Shortall and Henry to eight hours the purpose of the law fails-no physical or mental improve-Philip S. Steele was appointed to fill ment is secured, no extension of emof Central Labor Union in regard to the vacancy on Grievance Committee ployment to more persons takes place, to San Francisco was received here no good example to private employers about November 1, so you see mail

On March 5, 1888, Hon. Henry W. Blair, of New Hampshire, then and for having sailed from Frisco on the 1st, The following resolution was offered a number of years previous, the chair- and stopped at Guam on the way, but was read, and to them, it was made provision for aid for them, it was overwork on newspapers here in this Senate concerning the violations of the law of 1868, said:

"This eight-hour law, enacted by the United Stetes and placed on the statute- her ankle by falling on the cabin stairs 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. book with as much definiteness and and is still lame. Laura fell down the solemnity as a law against crime, has been deliberately and persistently and but was all right in a day or so wickedly violated by the executive offi. but was all right in a day or so. cers almost from the beginning. Never has there been any considerable degree (that is, on our new plant) but we are of success in extorting from these unwilling executive officers compliance McKinley, the late lamented President, one man here has made nearly a million in a speech in the House of Represen- dollars out of it. tatives (Congressional Record, page effective law, said:

"Eight hours under the laws of the all these years it has been 'the word of promise to the ear,' but by the Gov ernment of the United States it has stock of machinery since our arrival as been 'broken to the hope.' ernment and its officials should be swift to execute and enforce its own laws, and failure in this particular is most reprehensible."

emphatic notice to executive officers cap and had it all faint lined and then Resolved, That the officers of this Union file whose duty it is to enforce the eight- had to quit as they had no pens to might rest on Christmas. an emphatic protest with the President of hour law that you desire (for I have no down line it. You ought to have seen Sill says similar silly sockless story doubt whatever that you do) said law the time Allen and I had in trying to started some sixteen summers since. to be rigidly enforced on every foot of fix some double pens out of the trash ng the Union to indorse the action of American soil in accordance with its they had, but we finally succeeded. the American Federation of Labor at true spirit and intent, and that the law I am now working in the Palace getfrage matter was lost by adjournment to give all proper assistance to the and other things that we will need to to work on Monday. violators of the law.

whose duty it shall be to employ, dtrect, more at once. or control the services of laborers or by amendment, but in the meantime I

I enclose herewith copies of a few of that nearly shook us out of bed.

E. W. OYSTER.

WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

MY DEAR SIR:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 16th instant, the contents of which have been noted, and to thank you in in American money. Well, I came in these cold nights to avoid any setfrom Charles W. Dorr, secretary of the from Musicians' Protective Union, tom from 1866 to August 1, 1892, when the President's behalf for writing him on the subject to which you refer.

Very truly yours, GEO. B. CORTELYOU. Secretary to the President.

Mr. E. W. OYSTER.

DENNISON'S

DECORATED CREPE PAPER only 15 cents, at

WM. H. LIVERMORE'S,

Cor. First and H streets northwest. Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

A Letter From Manila. MANILA, P. I., November 5, 1901. MR. JOHN A. WEIDMAN.

ERIEND JOHN-Vour le don't get here very fast.

We arrived all O. K. on October 24, cept Mrs. Roberts, who fed the fishes for nearly two weeks. Mrs. W. sprained

On August 29, 1890, Representative was formerly given out by contract and this city.

I have had quite an addition to my low. The Gov- we found the Government had captured some from Aguinaldo. The machiney of the captured plant consist of two Hickok double-beam ruling Wednesday, where interment will take Probably no other law on the statute- machines, two Hickok power numberbooks, except the civil service law, has ing machines, and two 30 inch Latham been as deliberately and persistently perforators and they are all new. But that some one had thrown away. They I earnestly urge you to give the same had a job on of over 60,000 sheets of next Sunday.

labor organizations of the country in start work. Allen and three others There is very general satisfaction ex-Under the present statute it is "unlaw- skinning the government right and lest F. of L. ful for any officer of the United States and whose bills the Auditor has held Galboy Austin was the recipient of than eight hours in any calendar day here among the natives. I don't think quired to work on Sunday. any more and I would not advise one a week on account of sickness. We If the present law is weak in any to come as it is quite expensive to live hope he may soon join us and in the

There is not a good comfortable bed name. appeal to you, Mr. President, to see to in the Islands. Just imagine sleeping it, so far as in your power, that trifling on three cane-seated chairs and you admitted to membership at the last or ordinary emergencies are not mag- have a Philippino bed. No mattresses, meeting of the Union have many words proved by President Johnson on June nified into extraordinary emergen- only a piece of matting and a sheet of praise for Mr. Lawson, as presiding 25, 1868, but was never enforced in accies, which I have reason to believe under you; it is too warm to want anyhas frequently been done by executive thing over you. You have to sleep hangers' Union No. 420 stating that Resolutions Condemning Porto Rican The good results hoped for were not officers, contractors, and sub-con- under a net on account of mosquitos, for patents received and placed on file and last night we had an earthquake at the Patent Office during one day last of "free silver." I had $166.66 coming settlers of South Dakota. near having to get a wagon to carry back by exposure to frost. my money home (333 silver dollars and n December at Chicago. hotels we could find and it cost us sensible way out. It is a girl. $26 50 per week or $100 per month the natives work for about two dollars C. P. Murphy, and Wm. A. Ball. (Mex.) per day and they think they are for this time but will write again later. EDWARD WAGNER.

> Everybody talks Spanish or Tagalog previous records. which they don't mind at all.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at

Death of Samuel C. Preslev.

The many friends of Henry M. Pres-We have not started to work yet ley sympathize with him in the unfortunate manner of the death of his over our heads in the business that brother, Samuel C. Presley, on Monday, has been unloaded on us. All work December 16, 1901, at the Ingleside, Samuel C. Presley was forty years of age, having been born October 4, 1861. We will not be able to get our place He was an employe of the Second tatives (Congressional Record, page fixed up right for six or seven months located up right for six or seven months division, Government Printing Office, bang up against a large mirror which having worked in the office a number built, but when completed we will have of years at different times. He was tween the two buildings. Dave was "Eight hours under the laws of the United States constitute a day's work. the best office in Manila. The bindery a native of Louisiana, a member of That law has been on our statute-books for twenty or more years. * * * In place. ered a good natured, whole souled fel-

Despondency was attributed as the cause of his sad act. His remains, accompanied by his brother Henry, were taken to Many, Sabine Parish, La., place Friday.

Specification Notes

There is a rumor that we may work

We worked Sunday in order that we

The current issue numbers 542 specifications, 76 trade-marks, and 56 designs. Miss Clara L. Bennett, who has been Scranton, relative to the District suf. officers of the Government be directed ting specifications fixed up for tables ill and at Garfield Hospital, returned > their efforts to secure the conviction of are in the Auditor's office going over pressed here with the re election of the bills of the printer who has been Mr. Gompers as President of the A.

> Government or of the District of Colum- up. We have found that we did not the usual Christmas collection as a tesbia, or any contractor or sub-contractor bring half enough stock and will order timonial for faithful service and favors in line of duty.

> I made requisition on the Commis- Several who were absent on account mechanics, to require or permit any sion to-day for five more bookbinders of sickness on Saturday, responded to such laborer or mechanic to work more at once but I expect they will get them the call when "all hands" were re-> particular I hope it may be strengthened here and you don't get much at that. future be able to add another s to his

The ladies of this room who were

There were one thousand applications week, a number greatly in excess of all and if they can not talk English you Burgess, of the night force, came in have to make signs and swear at them to see how things were running on Tuesday. On striking alley 5 he made On the first of this month I was paid a new acquaintance and talked on and and ran up against one of the beauties on as though he was one of the original

o me and when I went to draw my pay | Schott asked the barber to mow I found out that everybody was paid around the point of his chin and under in local currency, which is Mexican lip to see if he can make himself look silver dollars, worth about fifty cents like Andy Turnbull, and he is staying

Reviser Wilson denied it at first and 32 cents in Mex.) Give me good old sought in every way to change the subyellow bills every time. American ject and wriggle out of it till finally he gold or bills are as scarce here as flies became so entangled in a web of circumstantial evidence that a full and We boarded at one of the cheapest frank admission of facts was the only

Preliminary steps were taken on Mon-(gold) and they said we were getting it day of this week for the formation of a cheap. We are now light house keep- symposium in this room, when George ng in a room which we pay $40 (gold) M. Ramsey was chosen chairman of per month but we expect to do better committee on organization. The following-named gentlemen were selected I have had several applications for to act with Mr. Ramsey in formulating positions here but I don't think it will a plan and to make report on or about be a good job for any of our boys as January 1: F. H. Melick, J. W. Carter,

The ladies of this force made themgetting big pay. If they are paid more selves unusually attractive in matters than that they won't only work part of dress and beguiling ornaments on time as they don't seem to want to the occasion which called us together make only just enough to live on and as Sabbath workers. With their Sunbe able to do a little gambling on the day-go-to-meeting attire the room had the appearance of Connecticut Alley Well I guess I have written all I can on a balmy afternoon with bewitching smiles and googoo eyes abounding. For these and other variations we prefer an occasional Sunday to night work, even at the cost of climbing five flights. of stairs.

> Dave Pollock tells one on himself, which will bear repeating. He had been in the habit of entering Kann's by the arched passage-way leading from the Family Shoe Store. In total ignorance of any change Dave proceeded as usual and was nearing the original arch when he discovered the moving figure of a man and was muttering to himself some things not complimentary to the gentleman's hobo make-up when he ran convinced of the error of his ways after taking a side step or two while

Bartenders' Dance.

On Monday night at Washington Light Infantry Hall the first annual ball of the Bartenders' International League, Local 75, was held and was enjoyed by a large and select gather-The twelfth census shows that there ing. As this was the first entertainviolated by many executive officers you should have seen the pens they are something like 119,000 Chinese liv- ment given by this comparatively young whose sworn duty it has been to en- were trying to rule with; about a half ing under the American flag. Of this union, a great deal of credit is due the of a set of Nos. 5 and 3 pens and a lot number 25,767 are in Hawaii, 3,113 in committee having the matter in charge I learn through the public press, Mr. of old Spanish pens that were made Alaska, 304 at military and naval sta- for its success both from a financial and President, that you have given due about fifty years ago, and not a down tions abroad and 89,863 in the United social standpoint. We trust they will notice to "all whom it may concern" pen among them. They had no flan- States proper. In the Western States enjoy many more occasions of this nature.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors. A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER. Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

-GLADSTONE. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known.

THOMAS WESTOBY, secretary of City Front Federation of San Francisco, Cal., made this office a pleasant call Wednesday. He had just returned Earle was foreman of one of the divi from the Scranton convention and is spending a few days in this city sightseeing and looking after the interests of his organization in matters before Congress.

Overproduction-Underconsumption.

The fear is expressed in some quarters that the present rate of production will soon greatly exceed the limits of consumption, and under the inexorable law of supply and demand one of two things will of necessity come to pass-either new markets must be found to work off the surplus or the wheels of industry must be set at a fitful or lower rate of speed, or what is more to be deplored, an indefinite "shut down" till demand again restores the equilibrium. Increased facilities in laborsaving machinery cheapen production. It is easy to calculate the effect upon the consumers when in blocks of five or more they are compelled to stand aside and give place to a single machine which needs neither food nor clothing or the least of those necessities which the machine produces. It is the which the machine produces. It is the fashion of our great captains of indushis moanings before, the boss said:
its boots, buttoning its gloves, and act try and stock manipulators to attribute the cause of industrial depression to "overproduction," and this at a time pox until finally he got it." when the people in common enjoy or possess but a meagre supply of the common necessities, and so the term "overproduction" would seem incongruous and not at all in accord with the facts. It would be nearer the truth to attribute the cause of depressions to underconsumption. When man's needs shall have been reasonably met and every family is in the full enjoyment of the fruits of honest toil, there will be heard no complaint of overproduction nor any occasion for the frantic appeal for a place to sell or store a surplus. This will come to pass under proper and healthful conditions, when the producer and non-producer each receive his rightful share.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

ture, entered on by the issue of the De- printer-came into the town, got drunk cember number, of John E. Hogan and immediately on his arrival, and was ar-Edgar Wilberforce Hopkins, two mem- rested and given thirty days' impresonbers of Columbia Union, under the ment. They have, or had, a system of name of Cupid Publishing Company, farming out convicted malefactors' sei-402 Sixth street northwest, Washing- vices in Missouri, and as soon as Good- Index days. ton, D C. It announces as the reason win heard of this case he went and for its existence "a belief that there is bought the rat's service for the thirty hear Avres chirp whenever a belated Office the dissemination of news and views of office, where he worked till noon, when the Night Proof Room, and "How Bur- wanted him. But Goodwin is only a secretary of the Record chapel. The G. P. O.

berforce "-again part of a name. The union labor. rest of the matter is of a varied character, with a suspicion of inclination to an attractive title-page. Let us all members of our craft are engaged.

I am inclined to indorse and re-echo 'Sadie Maguire's " suggestion that Indianapolis Union "would do the handsome and graceful turn if it sent its venerable and famous Sam Leffingwell as a delegate to the semi-centennial convention." As I voted for Sam Lef fingwell for delegate from Columbus, Ohio, over thirty years ago, I would take it as a proper, though tardy, vindication of the wisdom of my action on that serene April (or May) day in 1871. I might even think that I was the Jonah that caused the sea of opposition to rise and overwhelm Sam and land his opponent, Major Williams, in the position, were it not that Sam has been an unsuccessful candidate since, when I was not near to queer him. (There are some here who ascribe such attributes to me ) But old Sam has been a faithful laborer in the vineyard for many years, is an able man, and Indianapolis could scarcely do better than elect

A couple of us were reminiscencing the other day, and stories were told showing where parties had injured themselves by being too gay and too previous.

Some years ago, when C. M. W. sions, one of the compositors blowed incessantly about the potency of his "influence." Said Earle to a friend: "I think I'll see how strong this fel low is, anyhow "

So he recommended him for discharge, and the recommendation went. The chap hustled for reinstatement for three or four months, and then only got it by a personal "pull" on the Public Printer from outside the applicant's own State

Many years ago, when Major Davis was foreman, a rumor floated around one day that a considerable discharge was to be pulled off that evening. An anxious chap went in to see the fore-

"Major." he said, "I hear there is to be a discharge this evening. Is my name on the list?"

"Yes," said the Major, as he wrote it there, "it is." Another chap, about the time of a change of administration, was beefing cracking like a pistol over the backs of Christmas time is not more money to from morning till night about being evil doers. But it seems to devote him than the $37 he would very likely

"I once heard of a man who was always talking about getting the small

The hint was heeded, and it was several years before his fears were realized.

On the occasion of the going out of one foreman and the coming in of another, a little group were discussing the matter.

"Well, I hear the new boss is a gentleman, anyhow," said one, "and that's an improvement.'

The new boss demonstrated his perspiculty by firing his sudden champion 'the first crack out of the box "whatever that may mean.

story the other night of the ineffable with letters to prominent people there, and incomparable meanness of J. West and that he will soon secure remunera-Goodwin, the life-long foe of unionism and rat editor of the rat Sedalia Bazoo. Cupid is the name of a monthly ven- A specimen of his own kind-a rat an opening for a journal designed pri- days for a trifle. Every morning his marily as a channel of communication foreman had to go over to the jail and between persons seeking information get Mr. Rat, who picked up his ball and on various topics, and incidentally for chain and was conducted to the Bazoo general interest to all classes of society, the foreman took him back to the and which shall be so varied in feature "cooler," waited until he was fed, and as to give it the widest possible circu | then took him back to the office for the lation." It contains two continued afternoon's work, returning him again stories, "Sybil's Adventure with a in the evening. This continued for the Charles C. Yeakle to the First. Congressman, by Thomas Edgar," full period of thirty days, and doubtless Congressman, by Thomas Edgar," full period of thirty days, and doubtless which I have reason to believe is part this was the only case where Goodwin much pleased over the re-election of son why there should not be one in of the name of a talented member of ever had his employe exactly where he Clements as chairman and Fletcher as operation in every department of the

THE TRADES UNIONIST. ton Saved the Eighth, by Edgar Wil- fair sample of the employer of non-

A friend of mine has a tale of woe, matrimonial intelligence. It consists and the same it was told to me. He of 16 pages, with a fair advertising pat- lives in bachelor apartments, and durronage, is respectably printed, though ing one of the earliest cold snaps of the presswork might be improved—the the fall campaign he tried to open the need for which is probably occasioned register, but found it fastened shut by the hurry of a first issue-and has with a large screw. Procuring a screwdriver, he proceeded to open things hope for its success, as we should for and to bask in the heat of his landlady's the success of any enterprise in which seven-dollar coal. The next day, when he came in, his landlady tackled him and thus to him she did say:

"Mr. Sport, who opened that register in your room?"

"I did, mum," said Sam, "with my little screwdriver."

"Well, Mr. Sport, I can't afford to furnish you heat," said the landlady. "You didn't, mum," said Sam. "I furnished it myself with my trusty genial and urbane "Clem" can collect screwdriver."

All the same Sam thinks it is a mean woman who would rather let the heat And he can hold up his constituency go up the chimney to warm the birds for contributions to a good cause with than to spare a little of it to warm the a benevolent effrontery which can only cold feet of a hot sport.

As an evidence of the truth of this less "knocker." tale I can produce the screw.

night. I am here."

A week or so ago I mentioned the phenomenal growth of the Post until it got out a 40 page Sunday edition. Last Sunday it increased it to 44 pages. I shall say nothing about it hereafter, for fear that we may have a repetition in size of the New York "yellows." I had no intention of causing the Post to

By the way, the Star loomed up with 36 pages last Saturday evening-four more than I have ever observed before, unless it was some boom occasion. As an advertising medium the Star is one of the great newspapers of the country, but there are ways in which I would like to see it improved-in the arrangement of its news matter, by throwing over a few editorial sandbags, etc. But there is probably not anothe newspaper in the United States that reaches such a large per cent of the homes in the city in which it is published. In fact, it is said that "taking the Star" gets to be a disease, and I'm afraid my house for many years. It is altogether foreign to my nature to say unpleasant things of anything or anybody, but the Times, under its new management, is a positive disappoint- the Columbia $9 80, and from the Union ment to me. I had expected a journal that would be a newspaper "black- lay for the three associations during snake" whip, swishing around our the year $7 10; and who will say that ears, hurtling through the air, and the $29 90, coming in a lump just at ing satisfied. Its editorials are plastic and adhesive, its original humor is the has demonstrated that this plan of reevident product of one who feels funny lief is still capable of improvement. and is easily tickled, and its selected Started 23 months ago with less than matter makes one wonder why. This is said more in sorrow than in anger, to employes of the G. P. O. in the and is merely the bursting forth of Union building, one year ago it divided pent up grief.

About two weeks ago "Young Ed" Thomas, son of John W. and nephew of "Old Ed," started for Los Angeles, Cal., to begin life there, in the hope of curing a troublesome throat affection, of $610. which was steadily growing worse in this climate, and which had caused him tive employment is not doubted.

A. F. BLOOMER.

Day Record.

N. J Lillard has been transferred to the First Division.

fly swoops down on his bald pate.

W. H. Gardiner, W. L. Thomas, Stuart C. Gordon, and Vincent F. Howard have been busy correcting the sex, its membership comprising to day bound Record.

Chairman of this chapel to fill the men.

······ FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES.

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading

Outfitters, . . . . Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

dues in a tariff is-not-a tax manner that separates the operation from the sting. be resisted by a confirmed and soul-

The author of the following contribution is one of the most dignified Said "Maud S." the other night: members of this force, and would never "I took John Purvis and George Ellis be suspected of courting the comic down town with me this afternoon, and muse. It should be distinctly underyou see neither of them is at work to- stood that it is published not necessarily on its poetic merit but as an evidence of good faith:

> DEDICATED TO LEM MILLER. Oh, give me the bottle, The old Arbuckle bottle, Filled with nectar so choice, That it tickles my throttle. ADAM BUGG.

The Relief Associations.

EDITORS THE | RADES UNIONIST: It is astonishing the number of employes of the G. P. O., with the object lessons they have before them every day, who fail to take advantage of the very excellent chance they have of providing against sickness or accident by becoming members of one or more of the relief associations so successfully conducted throughout the office. Still there are many who do not, and for the benefit of those I will endeavor to show how beneficial they are and at what a small outlay. Take for instance one of the members of the G. P. O., the Columbia, and the Union. During the year he will have paid into the three associations $37. This guarantees to him in case of sickness six week's bene-I've got it, for it has been coming to fits from each, or $180 in all. If he drew no benefits during the year, just Isle of heroic deeds, region of story, at this period, when we all have so much need for money, he receives in England! England! Thou that hast led. dividends from the G P. O $9 from $11 10, or $29 90 in all, making his out-

> The success of the Union Associa tion has proven a surprise to ma 100 members, and confined exclusively up $9 85 on a $11 50 payment, and this year doing better still by returning to those who paid in the full $13 the handsome dividend of $11 10, not withstand ing the fact that there was paid out during the year in sick benefits the sum

This Association is managed and run on the same principle as our to give up a lucrative engagement and chapels. Confined to this division, we to decline all offers for his services as know who the members are; there is Eugene Andrew gave me another a singer for several months. He went no necessity for hall rent or other expenses of that nature; we have no large corps of paid officers, and the expense of management is at the mini mum in every respect. What the Union has done can be duplicated in every division of the office, and the greater number of these very excellent organizations there are in existance the fewer This force is looking forward with occasions there will be to pass round pleasure to the rush and bustle of the hat, and a greater number of selfrespecting employes there will be on Welty says it makes him smile to the rolls of the Government Printing

> The Union made another innovation in the plan of running these associa tions, in that it has no age limit nor about one fourth females, and, con trary to all predictions, they have Frank Burnside has been elected proven a slightly better risk than the

From me experience with the Union the vacancy caused by the transfer of I am firmly convinced that an association of this kind with a membership of The members of this chapel were 50 confined to one division can be run

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product. Made Under Fair Conditions

The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Sold by all Grocers-Refuse Substitutes. Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made. For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

ENGLAND! ENGLAND! AWAKE!

England! England! Arouse thee! Awake Hear thy fair daughter, Atlantis, call; Mighty of olden days, turn thee and break Shackles that cripple thee, fetters that

Strike down the hands that would rob thee of glory, Crush thy false sons to their suppliant

Relight the beacons that silvered thy seas Guidoning civilization's advance.

Right or wrong, great were thy living and Splendid the blazonry of thy romance. Rush to thy battlements, let not be furled Banners disgraced by degenerate hands Flags that have gallantly circled the world-Expectant of thee the new century stands

England! England! Summon the souls Whose valor has gilded the heights of thy Pray guidance of them when thy martial drum rolls, That honor alone may betrophy thy name. Clasp hands with thy daughter, with her lead the way, For the glory of God and humanity's sake. To the honor and strength of a more righteous day.

England! England! Awake! -JOHN H. BONER. RALEIGH, N. C., December 8, 1901.

The busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO. *******

To all Judges of Good

BREAD We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Boston Baking Co..

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imitate it because it's good

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129

First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds:

SAMUEL C. PALMER, MANUFACTURER O SODA and MINERAL WATERS

In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles. Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc.

s and organizations supplied in any quantity at special Rates. Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece? ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician hone m 2201-4. 632 G St. N W Ask to see the Hamilton watches. B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

632 G St. N W.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes. Once Tried You'll Always Use It. Take no Substitute. Ports * * * and Sherries for Family Use—Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of Cigars. Ales and Porters on Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

No. 101.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G St. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

President W M. GARRETT.....Secretary JOHN R. BERG..... ....Organizer D. E TYRRELL..... Sergeant-at-Arms they will settle the question by lot. FRANK HART..... Doorkeeper TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION -J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and Beer on draught Nice hot lunch free.

AUDITORS-D. W Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard. COMMITTEES.

BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell.chairman; Matt L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and

James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum and C. G. Morrison.

GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A.

Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo R. Boone, G. W. Harvel. Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; W. F. Reed Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBBARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H.

Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly.

RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Len-

hart, and Hugh Reid CHAIRMEN First Division—Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division William McEnancy. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements.

Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-J. L. Alverson. Night Bill Force—A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room- W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division—A M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-R S Morris War Department Division—R. S. McElroy.
Agricultural Division—Henry P. Slaughter.
Library Division—H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien Census-H. L. Shyrock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte.

Morning Post-O T. Pierce.

Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing o.-H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's—J. B. Stahl. Patent Record—T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England National Publishing Co.—F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's—J. L. Fechtig Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger. General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

Down Town.

Cheer up!

Christmas brings good cheer. "Go back and lay down." Well. Is all money taken in over a saloon counter bar-gains?

Mike's advice: "When things begin the time ye had oughter to work the hardest."

The mere taking of an obligation in the Union does not make a man a skilled mechanic. He should be an manipulator of embossed card board is expert before be is taken in -Ex.

Dennis Ferry, a member of Brick layers' Union of this city was injured struction of a building at Frostburg, of the best views of public buildings in

We publish elsewhere a beautiful now in Raleigh, N. C. He is a true at half-mast during the mourning days

Bricklayers' Union, No 1, chose for stars and str pes, dithough the instrutheir representatives at Pittsburg, Pa, ment must have been at least 5 o feet January 13. 1902, Messrs. John G. Wolfe, H. M. Shook, and Daniel Mc- lated on his art, and many of his col Mahon.

We are in receipt of some choice of his souvenirs. cigars through the courtesy of Lewis H. Lanman received by him from his son, Charles, of Manila, Philippine Islan is, where he is in charge of the En graving Department of the new Gov ernment Printing Office.

election last Thursday, says the Cincinnati Chronicle, to select members the welfare of delegates attending the Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls this room.

International Typographical Union convention to be held in that city next August. The following were elected: Harry M. Ogden, James J. Mooney, ley, Chris C. Kenney, Ed. O'Connell, Charles O Bernheisel, Sidney Fleming, Eugene Streck, Robert H. Curl, George and S. M. Simpson. Mathauer, Ed. J. Farley, and Thomas J. Donnelley. Harold E. Byron, Ernest WALTER V. SMITH........Vice-President E. Baker, and Charles F. Leibrich each received the same number of votes, and as only two of them can serve,

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m , December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cooking to order. Your patronage solicited JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street. First Division.

Do we remember our brothers at the Home this Christmas?

In coming in one morning recently and finding his eight-point case depleted, Slug 77 attributed its condition to the "Midnight Ride of Paul Brevier."

Last Saturday night I met George Burklin, the linguist of the Proof Room, standing on the corner, loaded down with a huge market basket and idly twirling a large screw between his fingers. I always imagined George had a screw loose somewhere.

Among the stars, more or less brilliant, who have been drafted from the various divisions to augment the bill force are such rushers as Walter V Smith, George Hayden, Ivins Davis, T. Frank Morgan, Georgie Colquitt, C. L. Williams, John H. Butler, Elmer Dement, N. J. Lillard, and George W. Shaffer, thus insuring an all-star cast for a full winter's engagement.

I agree with brother Ottinger that mayhap the editors of the Yearbook have overlooked many interesting facts in their forthcoming publication, notable among which are a number of espistles written by a young man from Chicago while acting as Chairman of the Specification Chapel. Bragadocia! Oh, ye gods, superlative! Nevertheless, the Yearbook promises to be a gilt-edge number, and the letters referred to may yet entertain a delighted constituency.

Colonel McMullen is training as a story-teller, and after due rehearsal now and then emits a fairly acceptable tale, but when he attempts to palm off the old story of "General Debility," he invades "Pard" Bloomer's territory totally lacking his obituary style For a real good story, well told, Colonel. you are respectfully referred to Counsellor Cooney, who now and then gets his mind and tongue away from Phila delphia-then buckle your bandages or

The "Gentleman of Alexandria" is Claus will bring him. He is evidently counting on receiving the ordinary masculine gifts, and is therefore laying in wait before replenishing his wardrobe. This accounts for his nether extremities being clothed, one in a black stocking and the other in a brilliant red, when he reported for duty Monday morning to look like ve was liked, then it's just It would have passed unnoticed here if honest confession, brother, is best.

The magnificent display of his art as a photographer and of his skill as a Mr. Charles H. Coe, of this division He has a fine collection of cabinet calendars, acting as a frame work for some poet and has written poems that will for President McKinley At the time ing, and the silken emblem was caught Temple last Thursday the members of breeze that it is possible to count the calculations on the new G. P. O. west distant Mr Coe is to been congratu- set" it, it's a good job and a credit to leagues are pleased at securing copies

WM. H. LIV. RMORE'S STATIONERY.

tints, put up in fancy boxes, from 20 Kerfe, R. A. Martin, H. M. Armistead, Cor. First and H streets northwest.

Second Division.

The Sym that was organized here recently have elected the following officers: President, R. A. Julian; Vice-Clarence C. Currey, Thomas F. Crow- President, G. F. Weidman; Secretary Treasurer, C. M. Travis; Governing Board, John Fulenwider, E. J. Hall, Special Notice.

Government Printing Office employes who have filed claims for pay for pro rata leaves of absence will please keep us informed as to change of address. Those re-engaged on the temporary or emergency roll during the Fifty-seventh Congress should notify us so that their claims may be completed.

GEORGE A. & WILLIAM B. KING, 728 Seventeenth street northwest.

Fifth Division. Merry Christmas.

Elmer Dement went to the Third last

George R. Boone was transferred to the (day) Record last week. W. Harrison Green was installed as laborer in the Y last Thursday. attack of indigestion which caused him to lose several days' work. C. T. Hutchinson, from the Times, went to work here last Tuesday.

Thomas P. Maloney, from the Union be recognized. Printing Company; John H. Bastable; Robt. Robinson, sr., from J. D. Milans Charles M. O'Connell, from the Census Branch, and John M. Wilson, until vitality in the past, and it is hoped that lately in the printing business with his brother, were added to the Fifth Divi sion roll last Thursday.

The G. P. O. Mutual Relief Association held its annual election last Sunlast year. This makes Mr. Bowen's ing. third term for the presidency. An manner of paying the "divvy." Instead of having the members make a various divisions. The checks having been signed some days previous, there was very little time consumed in handing over the envelopes with the requisite my office to No. 316 H street northwest, just opposite old location.

Removal.

DR. T. J. McConnell.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas; for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast.

Job Room.

Col. W. C. Talley is on the sick list. There are four magazine clubs in this room now, and all working nicely.

last week on account of the serious ill ness of his mother.

a prudent son of the Commonwealth tion to this room, but the scenes here you'll just have to suffer the next day, and seems to have a line on what Santa are familiar to John, as he has been and you can't expect any sympathy

Tom Touhy is handling the reins in the Annex. Tom is familiar with the New Jersey avenue northwest. Conwork in this room and he don't need ventent for lunch from the G. P. O. his glasses to keep things straight.

Thomas J Healy, Ben A. Lineback, Eugene Strohmeyer and T. J. Fitzwil- North Capitol Street. liam were transferred to this room within the past two weeks.

The friends of Edward Eberbach, of collision some weeks ago, will be glad to know he is doing well and hope soon to see him out again.

The Gramophone Club is enjoying itself now, and many who are not "in it" get in a few smiles when the ma- published a card for the use of members chine passes through the office on its of Columbia Union, 101, containing the best is a view of the east front of the White House showing "O'd Glory" pion (potation and showing printing offices, pion operator and can run it backward which should not receive the patronage as well as forward.

F. N. Whitehead, one of the latest expert imposers added to this room, northwest. unfurled and so thoroughly taut to the "prepared," but if he did have to "re-

Through the energies of Mr. A. T. Leith, the Job Room Relief Association was organized in this room last business or commercial course it will be week. The following officers were to their advantage to call at this office chosen: President, J. H. Platt; Vice President, John S Shaw; Secretary, ships, which will be sold at a very rea We show the most desirable styles of George A Dooley; Treasurer, Joseph sonable price. Writing Paper, in white and the latest K. Davison; Board of Directors, J E. E. B. Swavne and George B. Fallman

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

****************

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS.

****************

Proof Room.

A Merry Christmas for everybody. Be prepared for a long pull and a lively one after the holidays.

Mr. Roberts, of the reviser force, is again on the sick list. He is having lots of hard luck.

Captain O F. Dunlap is back at work again, after an absence of several days, suffering with serious stomach trouble.

We are all glad to welcome back into the room Messrs. Spencer, Ferrall, Charles Purdy has recovered from as Morgan, Pierce, Wilson, Tomlin and

> The various candidates for union honors are very quiet just now, but all have hopes that their availability may

> From a late letter from John Henry Boner it is learned that he is a very sick man. He has shown wonderful he will be able to get up again soon.

Colonel John E. Helms is rusticating in the vicinity of Morristown, Tenn., expecting incidentally to close up the sale of some of his extensive lumber day, and re-elected all the officers of interests in that section before return-

Those who are fortunate enough to agreeable change was made in the be in on the symposium divide and the pro rata distribution of the various mutual relief associations will eat turkey trip to the Typographical Temple on all right this year. George Burklin is Sunday, the money was paid in the congratulating himself on being a bene-

One Henry Noyes, of Illinois, and town of Mattoon, with the eye of a coon or that of a fox, slyly watches the 'box" for "proofs" to seize that can be manipulated with ease. A bunch Owing to not having sufficient room secured, and in "Veteran" court imfor laboratory purposes, have removed mured, with body bent, upon his task intent, his ears are greeted with words unchaste and heated.

The boys down in the corner of the room where Bill Dorsey holds forth are in the habit of frequently attending banquets where soda water and other carbonated beverages are conspicuous on account of their absence from the bill of fare, and in consequence William has to deliver his associates many pointed homilies on the evils of intemperance. "Now, boys," Bill generally J L. C. Wilson was called to Kansas begins, "if you'd just leave it alone en tirely as I do, cut it out and never think about it, you'd be all right; but you Mr. John M. Broas is the latest addi wont do it, and as long as you wont

Table board, $18 per month, at 81 MRS. M. T. WORK.

First class table board. Hot lunch Joe M. Johnson, M. W. Longfellow, from 12 to 1. Mrs. E. D. Turner, 821

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscripthe Job Room Annex, who had the tion solicitor at this office; one who is misfortune to break his leg in a bicycle not affected with climatic lassitude only need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission paid. Apply at this office.

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be or moral support of trade unionists: Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E street north

FOR RENT .- Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Scholarships for Sale.

To any one contemplating taking a We have a number of Wood's scholar-

If you can wake up at 2 o'clock in the morning and feel no regret for what About eighty were enrolled and the you did during the past day, you are Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents membership is limited to employes of either a pretty good fellow or a man "Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

X-MASGIFTS

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.—that combine beauty and long service with very inexpensive prices.

A great many articles in Sterling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH A<sup>dmirable</sup> makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA

Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREET

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his GLOVES & Hosiery are supremE

Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland,

Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest, Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for unused leaves of absence.

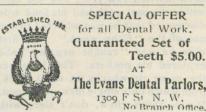

-VISIT-CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873.

S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS

AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS. 1315 14th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

'Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers,

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

443 Seventh Street S. W.

THE GREAT LAFAYETTE'S Original Conception and Stupenduous Production of the Mimetic Spectacle

Week Commencing MONDAY, DEC. 23.

THE LION BRIDE,

The most marvelous and thrilling spectacle ever produced in America. -AND-

BIJOU BURLESQUE COMPANY The Greatest Show Ever Offered in this Country at Popular Prices.

~~~~~~~ Union Hat Store.

H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher 1012 7th St. N. W.

ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH
Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

Specialties, SHERWOOD Cool Lager Beer on Draught

BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 2½c. PER CUE.

THOMAS WALSH, 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE, BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description.

Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO. Salesroom. 33 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

Every Laboring Man

-requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

It not only makes THE BES [Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands— therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will supply you. B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E.

persone a sone and J. L. KERVAND,

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

1012 Penna Ave. - - Washington, D. O. Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Etc Certificates of Stock.

COPYRIGHTS &C.

Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood. 111 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C.

Opposite CENTRE MARKET.

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER. Fine Wines and Liquors.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS 1210 E Street Northwest.

FOR LUNCH TRY THE Pure Dairy Lunch,

935 D St. nw.

Smoking Jackets Reduced.

$5 Jackets for $4. for $5.

No need talking about suits and overcoats. Last Sunday's big ad. captured the clothing buyers—and we've been busy ever since.

D. J. KAUFMAN, 1005=7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring Department. UITS AND OVER-YOUR MEASURE

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W.,

Union Clothier, Furnisher, and Hatter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

THE LITTLE BOY AND HIS PA.

The Little Rhyme explaineth how ye chesty compositor cometh Home in Sadness and Depositeth his Bundle of Woe in ye Bosom of His Family. But Hee remaineth not long in ye State. Before ye ten seconds are uppe Hee regaineth his feet and landeth a Left Swing on ye Jaw.]

- "Oh, pa, why are you sad to-night? Why do you look so tired?
 Is anything not going right? You surely are not fired?
- "My son, I'm not afraid to say That I am not so slow; Yet certain proofreaders to-day Have caused me muckle wo
- "My average was something shy, But up my thousands rolled, When seven long-primer proofs came by That simply knocked me cold.
- "I could not fight 'gainst solid lead And proofreaders combined, And so the turn-in's record read Three thousand ems behind
- " No longer ignorance holds aloof As once it used to do In those glad days when I read proof On the Wayback Gazoo!
- "That was a time when men of thought Read proof, and men of brains Who spaced with skill and care were not Railroaded for their pains.
- "The comma was not planted where It hadn't ought to go, And printers didn't need to swear At every line or so.'
- "Oh, pa, your statement gives me pain; The case seems hopeless, very
- "Weep not; two of us still remain-Me and the Dictionary."

THE CHEERFUL HAS BEEN'S CHRISTMAS SERMON.

"Say," remarked the Cheerful Has only thing yet, and that's a fact. One our minds, and kill time. day last fall, I was walking along the street, wondering where and when I'd get another drink, when a little boy about so high came along dragging the most disreputable little yellow cur after him that I ever saw.

"'Say, son,' says I, 'is that your "'No,' says he, 'I'm taking him home to feed him?'

"'I wish you could take me home and feed me, too,' says I in a sort of joking way. But it wasn't anv joke, either, for I was hungry as well as thirsty just then. Well, I hadn't more than got off my joke before the boy said just as serious as could be:

- " 'Come on; if you're hungry I'll give you something to eat.'
- " 'But I'm a hobo,' says I.
- " 'What's that?' says he. " 'A tramp,' says I.
- "'Oh,' says he, kind of sizing me up,

'I thought perhaps you was a tramp. "Well, he studied for a minute or so, and then he just took my hand-that's what he did, pard-just took my hand and led me up toward his front door. And all he said was:

"' Come on, Mr. Tramp.'

"Well, say; of course you know what I was up against. We were about twelve or fifteen feet from the door, when out rushes the boy's mother with her sleeves rolled up, just fresh from fill an original vacancy." her domestic duties, as it were.

"' You dirty, nasty boy,' says she.

"And she yanked the boy inside the want to know is this-thanks, I don't disinclination as a modest man to talk despairingly, the tongue jumped out of 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

care if I do have another, pard-what I want to know is this: What kind of a You can make some men very happy sweet-scented guy will that boy grow with these smoking jackets-not many up to be if his mother encourages him of them, but all good ones - and all re- to contribute his pennies to the support of the Society for the Introduction of Table Manners Into Darkest Africa $6.50, $7, and $7.50 Jackets while she is teaching him that it is wrong to feed tramps and yellow dogs in Brightest America?

"But, say; what I started out to remark was that kids-little kids like the boy I just told you about-are the only kind of people worth considering. They're honest in their friendship, and you don't have to wear a marked-downfrom thirty-to-nine ninety-eight raglan to win it, either. If you want to get a run for your reputation, just make friends with a good little girl or a good little boy. They'll never forget the 30cent doll or the 40-cent knife-that was all you could give them, maybe. But you'll always be remembered as the wealthy and generous old gent who was one of the greatest attractions of Christmas time. Old Major Vivamus was my especial friend when I was at the proper Christmas age. Say, I thought he was It. But after I was grown up, having lost track of him, I was told that he was one of the most good-for-nothing no-account yaps that of himself: "Let me show you a letter," the printer's sandwich and wriggled in ever came down the pike. Believe it, did I? Not on you're automobile You see his Christmas reputation saved him; he had been the Christmas friend tip, partner, and that is to make the children as happy as you can. It'll do presents for the kids with what I didn't blow in on booze. Another one? I'm a Christmasian."

THE LIGHT OF A BABY'S SMILE. Since man in his weakness the impulse knew From his upward path to roam, The beacon light that has held him true Is the guiding star of home. Then ring, bells, ring! Let your voices tell Of the firesides cheer the while, Where the watchful mother sees earth grow

In the light of a baby's smile.

Too long we wait for the better day; Too long in the darkness grope Where our hearts are gladdened by scarce a

From the war-dimmed star of hope Yet ring, oh, bells! Let your voices tell Of a future free from guileof the promise that lived at Bethlehem In the light of a baby's smile.

ADAM BUGG. Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. Record Notes.

There is no reason, as other corre spondents have remarked, why the Been as he contemplatively surveyed Debating Society should not reorganize his just-emptied glass; "I'm up against as there is now an abundance of mater the rough end of it, but don't you know | ial. Out of the many bright young civil I like Christmas time all the same. service graduates there should be many For why? Because it's the kids' holi- good talkers and thinkers. Let's get day. Say, I like kids. They're the together after the holidays, improve > Beringer has filed an application for a promotion to Proof Room. He very proudly exhibited an unmarked error to the Chairman and asked that when taken to the reader to be "fixed" he be given due credit for the discovery, as he "might get into the Proof Room." Referee Thomas gravely promised to place the application on file, to be 'duly considered."

Slug 42 is in trouble. Says he has been married two years and not until within the past week had his fond wife discovered that he was addicted to the both eyes shut, don't have any "wifey" -or, hide your trousers.

The constitution recently adopted by the Record Benefit and Relief Society (Symposium) contains several new features creditable to the committee on constitution, and in particular is credit due to Mr. Shelby Smith, who proposed the ingenious plan of automatic extension of loan amounts coincident with increasing capital. At a recent election for vice-president Mr.

she give that boy a lecture on the evils that classic, the Sunday Globe. Friend glancing at the printer said: and dangers connected with the com- Sutton was in a most happy mood, and panionship of tramps and yellow dogs? inquiring the cause I elicited the follow-Well, that's what I think. But what I ing, and having overcome his natural floor, the other wise guy shook his head

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

BUSINESS.

| Haines' Southeast Store. Keenan Bros B. Solomon. Rufus H. Darby. H. L. McQueen. N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). E. Gundershiemer Peter Grogan J. Mangan. John H. Fitzgerald. S. S. Daish. Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Hencke Sheets & Miller James A. Bennett Louis A. Dieter National Mosale Company. I. Grosner M. Minster. A. H. McGhan. A. Minster Charles Walters A. Markward Cyrus B. Reese C. A. Schneider & Sons Boston Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Minster & Paterson The Famous. Chas. A. Muddiman & Co Joseph Mathey A. S. Reavis. A. Molnoti. Castieberg. Palmer, S. National Theater | Baker Carpet dealer. Horseshoer. Horseshoer. Coal and wood Meat dealer. Electrician Electrician Tinner. Paperhanger and decorator. Mosaics. Clothing. Gents' furnisher. Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher. Carriage Builder. Carriage Builder. Carriage Builder. Carriage Builder. Laundry. Laundry. Laundry. Laundry. Street Rallway. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishings Gents' furnishings Gas fixtures Stove dealer and tin worker. Tin, stove, cornice works. Stone works. Jeweler Bottler. | 1108 E str et n.w. 1011 Penna, avenue n.w. 516 Second street n.w. and stall in 'enter Market. 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. 443 Prather's alley n.w. Florida ave and Third st. n.e. Center and O st. Markets. 711 G street n.w. 804 E street n.w. 804 E street n.w. 1008 H street n.w. 115 F street northwest. 107 Fourth st. n.w. 1847 S st. n.w. 1848 - st. n.w. 1849 and 501 Penna ave. n. w. Fourteenth and J streets n.w. 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. 1519 Pennsylvania ave. n. 1437 Seventh street n. w. 1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w. 1818 Pennsylvania avenue n. w. 155 Second street n. e. First and M streets n. e. First and M streets n. e. |
|---|--|---|
| REPORT AND RESERVE TO THE GROWN DESIGNATION OF THE STATE | | |
| | THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE | |

they offer to print my production, of rision. which they speak in the highest terms. of a kid. And so I just give you this Guess I'll have keep them in the air knight of the brainery. for awhile, at least. But 25 per cent. multi-millionaire I'd buy Christmas least. The Mutual Publishing Com- in his sandwich. Boy from Bohemia " in your next.

L. J. CLEMENTS. Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. Handy Andy's Aphorisms.

One of the foremen up stairs refers to faction, he proceeded to make Chinese the press room as "the hold." This laundry checks out of the revises subjolly Jack Tar must think he's on the mitted to him. The two ordinary hurry-cane-deck.

We have rounded up and branded seemed to understand the language another maverick, Forrest S. Thachara, and once or twice I saw them smile as formerly secretary of Galveston Union, they read the notes he wrote in the and also W. J. Moloney, of Boston.

Hyattsville to Ernest Sikken. Old siderable respect for a man who wields 'Gather' aint so slow after all. He a blue pencil, as it is usually a symbol paid $1,000 in cash and will pay the of intelligence, so I walked up to the rest before May I. Piggott, I under- young man's desk with fear and reverstand, will use the money speculating ence and sought to cultivate his friend in hogs.

more red-eye for a dose than others plain English which I laughed at just I never knew why some men took until I found this interesting paragraph in White & Wilcox's Materia Medica: tained by distilling mash of fermented near his "sleuthlets" to sign the pay regaling a bunch of printers with a and I told him there was only one. He story-everybody knows "Doc" as then wanted to know the name of that a yarn spinner-about having once been one, and I told him HANDY ANDY. called upon to rectify an error of a clerk who had dumped a gallon of vinegar into a barrel of 6 year-old 4 a.m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. whiskey-such sacrilege. "Doc." did not explain the process of separation but he did claim to aave divorced the two with satisfaction to the owner. A day or two after a well-known habitue of Swamppoodle, somewhat-how-comeye-so grapevined into "Doc's" store use of the "filthy weed." The first and said: "I heard you once separated time he was "caught napping" she a gallon of vinegar from a barrel of explored his pockets. This is one of whiskey?" "I did," said the drugthe many drawbacks to night work, gist. "Well, I want you to separate from which only single men are exempt. me from this jag," said the other. And Moral-Don't chew, don't sleep with "Doc." gave him a dose of something aromatic or automatic that is calculated to relieve.

I happened into a boozery near the G. P. O. the other night at lunch time, where sandwiches are compounded for those who hunger and have the price. Among those working over time at the bar were two proof readers and a Spanish war veteran who was regaling his learned friends with stories of his heroic conduct on the field at Chickamauga. At a small table near by sat signature), and every time his knife George S. Fletcher was selected "to an ordinary printer devouring a tongue sandwich and sipping a long dark beer Happened across "Maud S.," the with evident relish. He listened while talented literateur of the G. P. O., the two wise guys and the "vet" put a whose recent chef d'oure, "Rhoda score or more friends on the gridiron, door before me and the yellow dog had Roland," delighted the imaginative and then called for another beer. One time to forget we were hungry. Did hearts of the many gentle readers of of the learned men heard the call, and, his fleas and physic for his bile might "Why, hello --. Still eating yet?"

The "vet." dropped his glass on the said he proudly. "Its from a concern the saw dust on the floor and the that has 65,000 branch news stands and glasses on the back bar jingled in de-

LOCATION

"What's the matter?" asked the

"Merely a lapsus linguae," replied royalty, which they offer, is very lib the common printer, as he picked you good to do it, and good'll come to eral." And the letter exhibited con- up the slice of tongue, and, dusting you because you do do it. If I was a firmed his statement, to the offer, at it off on his coat sleeve, replaced it pany, which has the American News A most worthy specimen of the Company as distributing agents, wrote "slipped letter" and "drop out" Certainly. Here's looking at you, in urgent terms requesting of Mr. Sut- class of sleuth-a young man whose pard. And, say-I'm not a Christian; ton the "privilege of publishing a work province seems to be to maintain the the merits of which are so explicit," dignity, the social and intellectual and offering the terms above stated. standard of the "brainery"-burst in Good luck, Maud; may your fame and upon us last week with a new outfit of fortune keep apace-but cut out the wit, repartee, and a thin spaced cargo of knowledge that made us all look like thirty cents. In the language of "San Tog:"

"He gazed on us with a lofty stare As if to suggest that we were not there."

Having adjusted his halo to his satisprinters who attended his highness margin. My early career having been Charlie Piggott has sold his villa at spent in a newspaper office I had con ship by horrowing his tobacco. He softened up and told a few jokes in to get solid with him and maybe wiggle into his social set. About this time the pressmen crowded around the table rye, barley or corn. Dose—Indefinite." roll. He asked me how many pressmen made an X on the pay roll and The other day "Doc." Kraus was had the time clerk write in the name,

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at Johnston vs. Ottinger.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: In glancing over the columns of your last week's paper I see that puppy Ottinger is at it again. Too bad, too bad! His fleas make him hop and his bile makes him sick, and between the two, poor puppy is in a bad way.

I thought I handled him very leniently in my previous little article, considering the nature of his offense, but I will not so offend again. Before I get through with this cowardly cur I will make him very chary about rushing into print with other people's names. regardless as to whether they wish an airing through his bazoo or not.

I might have passed up what was said about me, possibly, if any one else had written it, but this mongrel poodle for some years past has been systemat cally stabbing his fellow-workmen in the back (or what amounts to the same thing, attacking them over a fictitious has been tipped with venom. I confess I was surprised to see his name signed to the article, for I always thought the cur was too cowardly to stand for his own actions.

A liberal application of tar soap for relieve the puppy, but I doubt it.

JOHN M. JOHNSTON.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at

Silver Medal

Heurich Brewing Co. Chr.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST. Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS.
THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS.

> S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W BOOTS AND SHOWS. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

CIGARS. McGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand.

52 H Street Northwest. CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN 1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Phone E 755. COACH FINDINGS.

J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO. 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W.

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO.

HECHT & CO.,

Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W. PURE INSURANCE.

FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave. FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Pelephone, 2180.

FURNITURE AND CARPETS JULIUS LANSBURGH. Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W.

GAS FIXTURES. 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W

GROCERIES. 'Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

J. WILLIAM LEE, Undertaker and

Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats. HARNWARE AND TOOLS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 1004 F St. N. W. 522 10th St. N. W. HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK, THOMAS R. RILEY 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

FOSBURG & MURRAY, Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS.

JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS.

THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's), 418 7th St. N. W

PHOTO-LITEOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS M. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PLUMBING.

J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts. PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM.

JOHN M. BECKER. Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest.

Eight Branch Stores. TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest.

SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market, WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

National Theatre Taken From Unfair List Upon Musicians' Request.

SUFFRAGE MATTER LAID OVER

Vice-President Hammerstrom Presides-Credentials Received-Grievance and Special Committees Report-Glass Blowers, Carpet Upholsterers, and Western Labor Union Communicate—Action of This Body Indorsed in Matter of Unfair Firms.

The Central Labor Union was called to order by Vice-President Hammerstrom, Monday night, at Typographical Temple. Secretary Dietrich was again should be recorded to his credit, since on duty, having returned from the the average sinner's first act is to ac-American Federation of Labor Convention, at Scranton, at which place he was a delegate from this body.

Minutes of previous meeting read, corrected, and approved.

The report of the Suffrage Committee was laid on the table until first meeting Credentials were received from International Union Steam Engineers, Local No. 77, certifying James Gorrie, W. C. Beauman, D. P. McCracken, James Devlin, and George Randall.

The matter of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters vs. Amalgamated Carpenters was discussed and no action taken, pending the action of the American Federation of Labor Executive Council. The report of the delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention was made a special order for next Monday night at 9 o'clock. It will contain considerable information upon the action of the convention upon the matter of trade autonomy.

The matter of the special committee on street railway matter was laid over until next meeting.

Following this, the report of the Executive Board on Heurich matter was taken up as special order and no action taken thereon.

Communications were received from Glass Blowers and Carpet Upholsterers, which were placed on file.

The International Union Steam En-UNIONIST.

The musicians requested that the make a good job of it. National Theatre be removed from the unfair list. Request was granted. Communications were received indorsing the action of this body in placing certain firms upon the unfair list.

matter of violation of obligation on the part of some delegates of this body reported progress.

The Grievance Committee also reported progress.

The Executive Board reported progress upon the Kann matter.

A very lengthy communication, narrating in full the position of the Western labor movement in the deplorable labor war in Denver, was read. The communication was approved by the part. Executive Board of Western Federation of Miners.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

Scholarships for Sale.

To any one contemplating taking a business or commercial course it will be to their advantage to call at this office. We have a number of Wood's scholarships, which will be sold at a very reasonable price.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Wanted.

A good advertisement and subscription solicitor at this office; one who is not affected with climatic lassitude only need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission paid. Apply at this office.

Open at 4 a. m. 1 an Iwast, 10 cents. Uniscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

"MANY A TRUTH IN JEST."

ught to bring him to the scratch.

The people who have been "stabbed in the back" are to be congratulated on securing a champion gifted with so copious a flow of barrel-house repartee.

For the benefit of seekers for hot political tips I can authoritatively state that while it is possible that Shelby Smith will decline to be a candidate for president of the union next spring, he will never be deterred from running by his own doubts as to his ability to fill the position.

recently blew out his light the instant just once. Last week he published in his defalcation was exposed. Which cuse some woman of leading him astray.

The party who wrote "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned" probably never witnessed the antics of a fat person whose corns have been stepped on.

Did that box of cigars from your wife have the cerulean label on it?

It will not be long now before some one springs that annual one about Bill Dunn considering the advisability of called it "ill" instead of "sick;" how being a candidate for delegate.

from the Grievance Committee because ill; " and how ever after the country he has troubles of his own.

imposed on smokers of non-union cigars will in time yield enough revenue to pay for an additional story on the Temple. Let's cheer up.

Since that obese person in the Proof Room displays such a knowledge of poetic fires of his soul had spontaneous the properties of tar I feel emboldened to ask how he got rid of the coat of of a fox slyly watches the box." Think feathers. After securing that informa- of that! I'll own up I've tried to keep tion we may have the reason for the extremely sensitive condition of his forme. His stomach helps him. Every epidermis.

According to the newspapers an aspirant to a judgeship is being strenuously opposed by organized labor begineers stated they had decided at a cause his father, also a judge, granted recent meeting to abandon the name of an injunction against a labor union. Fraternal Brotherhood of Hoisting and By delving a little farther into the dim Portable Engineers and work under and distant past the case may be their charter name, and requested that strengthened by the discovery of a the correction be made both on the more remote ancestor who made a books of this body and in The Trades practice of beating his wife. If we are have often seen that in your columns, to make ourselves ridiculous let us and it must be good) of roderick. He

> At the rate that proofreaders are bepolitical ambulance will find plenty of the port side coming back. I took him business at the brainery in the way of to one side and gently told him he

The fact that there are seven Smiths in the Fifty-seventh Congress may have forced the Postmaster-General to the conclusion that the family is crowding the limit.

This is the gladsome time of year when General Grosvenor has the bulge on people who have to make up for the prove up. Roderick is with us to-day.

prove a great "drawing" card as a up by working overtime—he bought an baseball umpire. Things would come his way with a vengeance.

The newspaper humorists who use the Congressional Record for "stop copy" have as yet failed to notice that Mr. Littlefield has the italic habit just as bad as ever.

"trusts" are forever dead, but the kick- dew. (Some of his own medicine.) ing on the price of oil and sugar will go on just the same.

tion" claim to pay to labor annually enough agility to hold my own in your $150,000,000. How it must pull at their columns. But if roderick starts his heart strings.

Considering all the good work Mr. Andy to soak him one. Oyster has done for the cause of labor in general and Columbia Union in particular his District suffrage resolution but the gentlemen who imagine he will DEATH OF CLUSKEY CROTWELL. now make a swift skate to the rear and Charging a man with harboring fleas assume a recumbent position will discover that he isn't that kind of a

J. J. OTTINGER.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Roderick don'ts.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: Excuse me, etc. The Sampson hyphen Schley controversy is the cause. Then came the Johnston hyphen Ottinger feud. Now, my friend Frank Roderick wants a hypen tacked to his name, and some good thing like me, easy to A defaulting city official in Kentucky wag, tied on as a tail. He can wag me > your paper: One Henry Noyes, of Illinois, and town of Mattoon, with the eye of a coon or that of a fox, slyly watches the

Now, Mr. Paper Man, just look at that! I'll bet you could't do as "rotten" as that if you tried 8 hours a day for a year and worked overtime. If roderick had told how my father immigrated into Illinois from Massachusetts in the early 30's, and settled among a colony of Virginians and Kentuckians; how he was taken with the old "bone shake" and how they grinned when he an old Kentuckian would ride up and shout, "How's Mr. Noyes to-day?" Undoubtedly Mr. Rodier resigned and the answer would be, "Ill; very was known as Illnoyes. Now, if roderick had said that I might have been Possibly that five-dollar fine to be ashamed of it. But, just think of it! A great big brawny young West Virginia mountaineer like roderick jumping on me by making "coon" rhyme with "town of Mattoon!" Henry Weber says he wrote it right off. Didn't hesitate. Seemed just as though the combustion. "Eye of a coon or that even with roderick, but he's too much time he sees a "tough job" said stomach aches, and requires his presence in the closet. I get aforesaid

'tough job." Frank is a friend of mine and I am sorry for him. Once he dropped a page on his stomach, and was laid up two days. That and the above "poetry' prove that he is in a worse fix physically and mentally than I am.

Then think of the base ingratitude (I went to the Paris Exposition about a year and a half ago. He told me about having engaged a stateroom on ing mentioned for office this year the the larboard side going over and on coming; to stay on the larboard side. He did so, and saw a school of whales on his way home. I also explained to him that the authorities at New York required immigrants to this country, especially whiskered Italians, to prove they could maintain themselves for a year after landing; advised him to pin $500 in the back of his shirt so he could

On that 35-day trip-which cost him Would be Historian Maclay would $1,200, and which he is trying to make expensive umbrella at P'ree, as he calls it. About a month ago one rainy evening he went shopping on the avenue. Stopping at a store, he went in for a purchase leaning the umbrella against a tree-box. Poor little feller, he lost his umbreller, and don't know what to do. Don't laugh at him because he must Mr. Schwab has declared that swim when there comes a big heavy

Now, Mr. Paper Man, excuse me, etc. This is my first and last offense. He can't wag me again. I can't use words The United States Steel "Corpora- like "mongrel poodle," etc., with as poetry at my expense I'll get Handy

HENRY NOVES.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Well-Known and Able Writer Passes to the Great Unknown. Monday morning at Providence Hospital one of the brightest lights in the newspaper circles went out in the death of Stephen Cluskey Cromwell, after an illness of many months' dura-

Cluskey Cromwell first came into prominence as a writer during the Guiteau triat, which he reported for the National Republican. He made quite a reputation as a writer on the Hatchet, a humorous publication, some vears later.

Twelve years ago he went West for about two years, distinguishing himself as a newspaper writer on Denver, Seattle, and Memphis papers. Later he became connected with the News, and from there he joined the Post staff, and finally he became associated with the Star, with which paper he remained until his death. He was a native Washingtonian and was noted for his good memory and great knowledge of general information.

Six years ago Mr. Cromwell married and resided in Rockville, Md., until about three years ago. He leaves a mother, a widow and only sonf and a arge circle of loyal friends to mourn nis loss. His age was 42 years, having peen born in this city July 22, 1860.

His funeral was held from St. Patrick's Church Tuesday morning, Revs. F. G. McGuire and D. J. Stafford officiating. Interment was made in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

A Merited Testimonial.

The members of the Specification chapel were called together in extraordinary session at high noon on Tuesday of this week by high "knocker' James B. Rogers, who, with mallet in hand, announced that Mr. E. T. Handley would recite the complaints of the congregation in the several indictments lodged against Chairman Gutelius, who has long presided over this chapel and whose services were at last to be recognized in a substantial manner.

Mr. Handley is one of the oldest and most respected members of this force, and his selection as spokesman proved a wise one, as evidenced by the eager attention given to every word of his address and the hearty approval manifested at it close.

The following is the text of Mr. Handley's remarks:

MR. GUTELIUS: I have the honor to inform you that I have een selected to act in the capacity of spokes man for your many friends in this chapel and I assure you that it affords me much pleasure to act in this capacity.

thing when I use the words, "many friends, in this connection, as that might imply that there are some here who are no friends. Such an implication might be erroneous, and yet I can not see how it would be special committee to investigate the Special committee to investigate the carting off dead ones after the votes would see the same scenery going and or of positive individuality to preside over possible for a man of originality of character without making some enemies. Otherwise, i would seem to me that he would be but a simulachre, or, at best, but an echo-man; but I assure you that a large majority of the members of this chapel are your friends Friends who admire you and hold you in high esteem, not only on account of your gentlemanly conduct in your daily transactions with your fellow-man, but especially on account of the conscientious, impartial, and intelligent manner in which you have conducted the duties of chairman of this chapel, thereby giving entire satisfaction. may say with safety that there is not another office in this country where the interests of the chapel are more carefully guarded than in this one

Therefore, in acknowledgment of these facts, it now becomes my pleasant duty, on behalf of your many friends, to tender you as a token of our appreciation of your continued efforts to faithfully perform your duties, a souvenir of good will which we trust you will wear for many years as a Of course this bout wont be held on structor in printing at the Tuskegee pleasant reminder of the friendliness we entertain for you. And now, on behalf of your many friends, I wish you a merry Christmas and a future whose every day will bring you a light heart and a cheerful mind, two qualities which will bring you more happiness than to be the possessor of untold wealth.

In accepting the testimonial (a watch fob with beautiful topaz setting), Mr. Gutelius declared that the occasion was a complete surprise to him, and he was deeply moved as he attempted sausage machine and prints the product to express in words the promptings of a grateful heart. The affair was one of the pleasantest in all the history of Specification chapel.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at whales nor sharks.

FROM FAR OFF PHILIPPINES.

An Interesting Letter from J. H. Mitchell to J. W. Leeper.

ON BOARD U. S. A. T. THOMAS, November 2, 1901.

DEAR FRIEND: I suppose you and Moxie have been holding sessions on me for not writing before this. If a poor excuse is better than none, will let you guess mine. I spent my time in Chicago with several old friends, quite a number of whom were working on the Inter Ocean. Met Tracy on Monday, and left that day at II o'clock. Your old friend McGowan was on the American, and I gave him your regards, but got mixed up on the two McG's and couldn't remember which was your friend. We stopped in Denver for a day, saw what we could of the town during the day, and at night met Dave Floss and several others, but of the others my recollection is not very distinct. After leaving Denver and passing through the mountains the scenery was very fine, especially the Royal Gorge and Grand Canon. We passed the top of the Rockies just about dusk in a snow storm. I forgot to mention we passed through Colorado Springs, a rather pretty looking place, but we could see nothing of the Home, it being some distance out from the town and away from the railroad. At Salt Lake City we could see very little of the town and just the top of the spires of the Temple; but after getting a short distance out the Temple loomed up, Tuesday. Saturday night we pulled off giving us a fine view. The Tabernacle the fight down in the soldiers' mess we couldn't see at all. The ride through the Desert was tiresome, although we were lucky as there had been rain ahead of the ring. There were two prelimiof us which kept down the dust. A peculiar sight in the Desert, where no life of any kind could be seen, was a man on a bicycle, riding in and out among the sage bushes. How he came to get there was a puzzle. The ride down the Slope, through the fruit section, was a fine one. At San Francisco we met Fullenlove. We paid a visit to the Cliff House and the Sutro baths. At the latter they have, I believe, the finest collection of curiosities in the country-most of them out of the ordinary run found in museums. Saw the Walcott-Carter fight and one of the preliminaries, both first-class bouts. Our boat left on October 16. The passenger list was made up mostly of army officers and their families, school teachers, stenographers, veterinary surgeons and ourselves first-class, and soldiers, horse-shoers, wheel-wrights, etc., steerage. The boat has taken the northern route, and did not go near Honolulu, so that it was impossible to write from there, as I had expected to end is mountainous and mist filled do. Tracy, Fnllenlove, one stereo- every ravine and hollow, sometimes typer and myself compose the party on board for the printing office. The man spreading out over the water-not a board for the printing office. The man from Brooklyn backed out at the last moment, but as his trunk is aboard this boat he may come on the next one, which has left 'Frisco by this time.

An alarm of "man overboard" was sounded an hour ago. Life-savers were thrown over, the transport turned in a circle, a boat was manned and sent out after the drowning man (an empty box) and rescued the by life-savers. This is the second drill of this kind we have had so far.

I dug up my boxing gloves out of my trunk and at night some of the sailors have bouts on the deck. We expect to sume "implied" responsibility, and so pull off a fight before reaching Manila the question as to whether we would between a horse-shoer and an oiler in get a half holiday on Tuesday was the engine room. I have seen the two quickly decided. It was a decision men at work and pick the oiler as the greatly appreciated, and we hope the winner, although it would please me to custom may continue. see the other man dress down the swelled head the oiler is troubled with. recently tendered the position of indeck, but down in the coal bunkers.

It was discovered today that a stow- kegee, Ala., of which Booker T. Washaway had made the boat's officers look ington is president. The offer, while like easy things-passing as a first-class not accepted, is rightly regarded by passenger, entertaining with his man- Mr. Menard as a compliment and a dolin and taking a prominent part in a recognition of his skill in the "art prelittle social affair in the saloon. This servative." afternoon he was put to work scraping been rising on every side of the boat, vice composed of the best male voices shooting off as fast as their wings can of the room. The selections included carry them. I have seen them make a melodies, national anthems and sacred terday, but as yet have seen neither allowance of a half holiday is always cutting the day out of our calendar. On crossing the 180th meridian we dropped one day, which was the 28th, going from Sunday to Tuesday, so with us Czolgolz is still alive.

We celebrated Czolgolz's death by thanksgiving.

Not one of us three was troubled with seasickness, but there was a woebegone-looking crowd on board for several days-more scared than hurt. There was only one day of real hard weather. Tracy and I enjoyed it and put in our time at the stern, where we could get more of the "lift." Fullenlove, however, interviewed the chief machinist and thought things looked bad."

I am putting in some of my spare time writing now, as I know I will not feel much like it for several days after reaching Manila.

Tell Moxie to forward my card, etc., in care of Public Printing Office, and also tell him that I will write to him after finding out conditions.

At present we are in latitude 23° 49' north, longitude 159° 15' east. To-morrow our course is changed to direct west, and the day after we expect to pass near a volcano in the Ladrone Islands. Monday, November 11.—Yesterday morning we woke up with Luzon in sight, and all day coursed along the northern coast, stopping at Aparri to land two officers; a tiresome wait of two hours for a boat to come out to us. About 8 o'clock we turned to the south. We expect to reach Manila about 10 o'clock to-night, but will not land until room. The ring was on a raised platform, and benches were on three sides naries, one of them rather good. About ten or eleven of the ladies on board were in the front seats. Tracy got me in trouble. The blacksmith in talking to him said he was afraid of taking one of the ship's men as referee, and Tracy mentioned me. I told him I would serve provided he could find no one else, but didn't want the job. I knew it would be tough work and was not mistaken. Both were tough men, and it was a case of hit and clinch. At the end of the third round I was very tired and felt like calling for some seconds fan me. After that, however, the principals became tired and my job was a more easy one. The gloves were in poor shape to start with and kept getting worse. Finally the blacksmith refused to fight with them any longer, but his wind was gone and he had clearly the worst of the encounter, so gave the decision to the sailor.

very cheerful sight. Give my regards to all. Yours truly,

J. H. MITCHELL. P. S.—This will just about reach you in time for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

I. H. M.

Specification Notes. Some people enjoy Christmas-in a

During the holiday season Seventh street resembles the Midway with its unique characters and pleasing attractions.

Captain Ramsey was willing to as-

Mr. W. T. Menard, of this force, was Normal and Industrial School at Tus-

On Tuesday at noon, in accordance with an established custom, the labors For the past two days flying fish have of the day were closed by a song serhundred yards without touching water. songs, a number of which were joined We passed a school of porpoises yes- in by the entire force. The generous made the occasion for rejoicing and

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Build ing Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors. A. J. E. HUBBARD

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION

One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C. as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifledly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1901.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising. -JOHN WANAMAKER.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

-GLADSTONE. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy If you can do business, let it be known.

An appropriate New Year's gift-THE TRADES UNIONIST, $1.00 per year delivered to the home or place of business of your friends.

AT last the articles of incorporation of the Labor Temple Association have been filed at Omaha. This means laof meeting worthy of its projectors. as well as they do. Congratulations.

THE Columbus (O.) Pressmen's Union have adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, That the Columbus Pressmen's Union does hereby forbid any member of this union doing the presswork upon any form bearing any other than the regular and lawful label issued by the Allied Printing Trades Council of Columbus, Ohio.'

THERE is no question more vital today than that of labor. Those who hold that the condition of labor will always remain as they are to-day are very short-sighted. A higher plane of intelligence will demonstrate to capitalists that it is only injustice to take advantage of the needs of the workingman. Because a man's poverty compels him to labor is no reason why work is worth less than any other contract. Labor will and must become a free agreement between the parties concerned."-Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber of Deputies, France, in New York Journal.

1901-1902.

leaf of history which will end with the present calendar year. The page with its incidents of trials, of dissensions, of concessions, of good and of ill are things of the past. Human frailties are so natural and so common that few, if any, have the fortune to wholly escape.

Year by year the record of individual experiences bears evidence of shortsightedness, and regretting our manifold errors we fall into the habit of resolving at the beginning of each new year with confidence serene that the next by comparison will show a marked improvement. The individual who has an ideal is to be commended, and if he falls short in the accomplishment of a single purpose some credit is certainly due on the score of good intentions and the environments by which he was surrounded. After all, the sum of usefulness and that which yields the greatest enjoyment is that plan of life which recognizes the golden rule and establishes more securely that righteousness of conduct in which all men are recognized as brothers and where the injury of one is the concern of all. If all may not be rich, all may be good. Let us so resolve.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

ter should bear the hoar-frost of age, of age, for over 60 years a printer, went repeated. "And the other fellow you St. Augustine, Fla., has a negro sented with a beautiful tin whistle, ability and of recognized integrity. which was purchased for him by his admiring alleymates. Harry ("Windy") in his usual happy style. Captain Kinneard has justly earned his title by behis alley, spokesman of the H street side of the Bill Force, general superinand Chief of the Bureau of Useless Information. After working hours he opens and attends to a popular North was for a time in Colorado, but not as yet only a compositor, he carries a large assortment of lead pencils in his better pleased. vest pockets. A very large attendance witnessed the presentation. Owing to the fact that the accompanying lines at the presentation:

J. A. Kinneard, with his little horn, Will wake the wild echos on Christmas morn; He blows others' horns the rest of the year And as a blower he stands without peer.

The horn's not half large enough, we all know To hold all the wind that our "Kin" can blow But we'll be content (may it prove but true! If he'll confine himself to his bazoo.

To blow up the tires that go 'round the wheel And then have more than sufficient to spare To inflate the balloons that sail the air.

The poetry savors much of the Day Proof Room style, which is quite a compliment to the ingenious mind which concocted it. It limped its way to me, and after trimming its corns (and eliminating a sentiment not suited to a scientific journal) I think it will go ing Jim there a-cussing'.

Captain Kinneard is evidently a most badinage of his fellows in the spirit in gang. bor in that city will soon have a place which it is given and seems to enjoy it

> Sam K. Bangs, in a friendly note to me, referring to my little fling at 'Southwestern grammar," says:

"I beg to say that our Northwestern grammar is not to be sneezed at; it is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. It has not undergone much change since my younger days, as you will see by crack. the following item, clipped from a late copy of a country paper from that region. As a connoisseur of good things in this line, I submit it to you:

"THINNING THE RANKS.

" Four interments last week in Eminence Cemetery all over 70 years old. Old people had better begin to look a 'leedleoud' younger people will take their place and will be in the ranks of the 'old people.'

"Isn't that constructed with touching respect for the dead, proper caution to those with one foot in the grave, and cheer for the young people, to say nothing of its inimitable style of expression? Commend me to the piquant Northwestern style."

Another friend hands me an item about a milkman who had had com-We may now review with profit the plaints concerning the boys who delivered the milk and who published the following notice: "I wish to inform my customers that have no boys now delivering my I deliver it myself, together with a small girl, which I have hired.

* * * * Annually the Washington novel puts in an appearance, and it nearly always commands a ready sale. This season the author and his work need no introduction to the readers of THE TRADES Unionist. His sketches, "Just Every Day Life," appearing from time to time in this publication, have been read get it.' by every man, woman, and child in printerdom. In the immediate future, I learn, the public will have an opportunity to peruse in book form Mr. Sutton's serial in the Sunday Globe, "A Woman from the West in Washington," in which "Rhoda Rhoda" gives an insight into the "Washington way" during her search for a situation. The success of the work as a serial will no doubt be repeated in its new and far more convenient form of publication, and all will be gratified to hear that we are promised other stories from Mr. Suiton's pen, to be given to the world in the near future.

It is not often that I worry my clien- on a commercial newspaper venture of neatest chaps in dress, polite, accomtele with happenings of the present old Nat Sardo's of forty years ago, in the everyday doings of the great work- which I wound up by saying he was gentleman I ever knew." shop. To interest me, and to come up now simply waiting for the "great reto my idea of what the readers of THE lease," and one week later it came. TRADES UNIONIST expect of me, mat- Last Friday Nathaniel Sardo, 80 years are guaranties against newness, but the his life was spent as a compositor on following comes to me as a "dead the Evening Star, the coming in of the pick-up," and for that reason I may be machines displacing him about eight forgiven for a departure from my usual years ago. For two or three years practice, especially as I do not guar- after that he worked in the Government antee the facts to have been as herein Printing Office, until unable to work at all. Never of a very sociable dispo-Capt. J. A. Kinneard, of the Night sition, there were few who were inti-Bill Force, last Friday night, was pre- mate with him, but he was a man of

Last Saturday night John Greene, jr., Brooke made the presentation speech timekeeper of the Night Bill Force, started for Albuquerque, N. Mex., on a visit to his wife, who, with his little ing unanimously declared foreman of son Leslie, went there in the hope of improving Mrs. Greene's health. It is a long trip to undertake in wintertendent of the various lunch counters, considerably over 2,000 miles each way -especially as he can be away from the office but a brief time. Mrs. Greene Capitol street cigar store, and although liking the country nor the climate, she went to Albuquerque, where she is

The backcapping coterie never fail to put some one on the slab whenever were mislaid, they could not be read they get together. The fortunate part of it is that their stories are rarely ever true or are so exaggerated and distorted from the original facts as to be unrecognizable.

> Shelby Smith mentioned that he and Joe Cross were going along H street when they saw Jim Kelly (Spanish war hero) gazing interestedly into the window of a little eating-house.

"What's going on, Jim?" asked Shelby.

"Look in there!" said Kelly. "Look at Brockwell in there eating victualsfeeding his face and stuffing himself with victuals! The d-d scoundrel And he's got a situation, too!"

The impropriety of the thing struck Shelby and Joe, but they went on leav-

"Did you ever hear about 'Gene Anson's borrowing $2 of Billy Howland good-natured man, for he takes the on the Record?" asked one of the "Well, what about it?" yelled the

"Billy didn't have the change, so he gave Anson a twenty to take across the street and get changed. After waiting an unholy length of time, Billy asked some one who had just come in if he had seen Anson.

"'Yes,' said he, 'he's over in Con Murphy's throwing dice at a dollar a "Down went Billy's handful (this was in the old days of afternoon distribution) and across the street he flew. He got there in time to save five out of the wreck; the other fifteen went to the other player. But 'Gene made good afterwards, as he always did."

"Wah!" yelled the crowd, it being one of the fixed traditions of the gang never to permit nor countenance speaking well of any one, even as the sequel

Then another asked Brockwell to tell the story how Joe Cross struck him for two dollars once.

"Oh," said Brocky, "Joe Babcock printed that story two years ago!"

"Well, if he did no one would recognize it. Go ahead, Brocky," said Sailor Joe Farwell.

"You see, it was this way," said Brocky. "I had been off about two weeks and had just got back to work, when in Joe came and said:

"" Brocky, I want two dollars!" "'Joe,' said I, I haven't got two dollars. I've just got back-

"'Of course you haven't got two dollars. Who said you had two dollars? Who ever expected you to have two dollars? I know you haven't got two dollars; but there are two hundred men working here and every one of them has got two dollars. Now you "Well, of course I had to get Joe his two dollars after that. But the next week he brought it around. Joe always was good-

"Yah! Yah! Yah!" sneered the Joe Cross says the story is a doubleblank lie, and I believe him. * * * *

Gentlemen, don't kick about your next gas bill, for we always have to pay a dividend for the company the first of the year, you know. * * * * "Yes," said "Jos" Allison to a little group who were discussing old times,

'I knew Billy Bradley. He was one But two weeks ago I had an article of the cleanest compositors, one of the modating-in fact, the most perfect

"Present company excepted," suggested one of the party.

"Present company excepted," he the gray whiskers and wrinkles that to his reward. Twenty-five years of mentioned-Tom Baldwin-he was the paper-hangers' union.

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES.

Parker, Bridget & Co.,

Outfitters, . . Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

Washington's Leading

biggest botch, the crummiest-looking, dirtiest, most contemptible, snarling, snapping yellow cur that I ever metpresent company excepted," he added, in deference to the former suggestion.

Can any one account for the idiosyn cracies of cataloguers of books in libraries? I know there is an agree ment among them and that they are a unit in their imbecility, but that only makes the offense the ranker. Some words do not express the idea intended in certain places unless capitalized, and make the worst nonsense otherwise. Why not adopt a rational system in both capitalization and punctuation? It is easy. They remind me of a Cleveland (Ohio) proofreader I once knew, who only capped "God," "Grant," and "Connecticut." He was from Connecticut, which accounted for the last; he was a Grant man, which was the reason for the second; but no one was ever able to figure out his idea on A. F. BLOOMER.

RETRIBUTION; OR, THE PROOF-READ-

A proof-reader sat in his chair, Filled with good things that Christmas day.

A turkey's frame of meat nigh bare Before him on the table lay. The mince pie end the ruddy wine With drowsy feeling filled him deep. That day he heavily did dine, And soon he dozed; then fell asleep.

Then Morpheus, in vengeful mood, With nightmare filled his guilty brain And imps and ghouls and spectres rude Danced past him in a ghostly train, While cap'ring by each hideous sprite Or devil in the long procession Cook shapes to fret his soul and fright His conscience with some past transgre some spirits in the gaunt parade Appeared like punctuation-marks, And ghoulish grimaces they made, As gleefully they spat forth sparks, The comma spooks grinned spitefully. "Hey! brother comma flend!" they sung From flery pens then rightfully

They at his head hot commas flung. Quick following with supple joints, And shricking taunts with all their might came colons, p'rentheses and points-To him a weird and painful sight! The deles also there were grouped,

Each with an accusative antic, And as they past his vision trooped That bad proof-reader near went frantic

The most infernal came the last, For now lank railroad spirits sprang Down on him fast with snort and blast! With desperate endeavor he

(As trickled cold sweat through his hair) Now struggled flercely to be free, But terror fixed him in his chair! And ev'ry past perfidious deed

Before his mind began to romp-How hourly as his proofs he read He soaked it to the patient comp. With dev'lish tortures now dismayed He swore to tread a righteous path, And pious resolutions made To ne'er again incur such wrath.

Please, Messrs. Imps, get back to hell, And bring all punctuation with you!" Thus pleaded he, when, with a yell, Away to Erebus they flew.

The proof-reader here oped his eyes;
"Gee whiz!" he cried, "where am I at? You've dreaming been," his wife replies. Mused he: "I'll soak 'em good for that! -Jos. W. McCann.

Labor Notes. There are 25,000 union clerks.

Canada has a department of labor. China is to have an American bank Journeymen tailors have 240 unions. 'Frisco blacksmiths enjoy the nine Bakers announce seventy-two new unions this year. Laundry union label is used in twenty-two cities. Musicians this year have issued fortythree charters.

Blacksmiths have formed seventyfive unions this year.

Los Angeles has a Women's Union Label League.

At Stockton, Cal., no union men idle in any line of trade.

union Made Cigary OF THE FINEST QUALITY. ARMY & NAVY 10 DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer 504 Ninth St., N.W.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their Bakers.

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

HO! ENGLAND!

Ho, England! Ho, England! Seek not the blest help Of the daughter you've hated and once tried to scalp,

For she's on to your ways, and woe to the Who'd fawn at your knee or assist you to

Your sins are many and you've learnt how toppaddle, So row your own bark or die in the saddle!

Throughout the broad earth your minions are camp'd And the brand of slave on your victims you've stamp'd,

And your lords and dukes and imperial For ages have thrived on the life-blood and bone of the innocent poor, and "blood and not Without the Label.. Has marked your trail with the graves of

Where, O, Columbia, are the sons of that race Whose freedom was above all price and all

Who'd barter the valor that, on land and on Struck down the base foe that essayed to Go search them out from freedom's fair land And on their false foreheads their infamy

* Che busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO.

To all Judges of Good BREAD

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandmand Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imi-

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

SAMUEL C. PALMER, SODA and MINERAL WATERS

In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles.
Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. Families and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling

Don't Buy a Hat

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician

Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

* * * Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes
of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round. JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS

No. 101.

| E. A. M. LAWSONPresident | ı |
|---|----|
| Vice-President | 1 |
| W M GARRETTSecretary | L |
| JOHN R. BERG Treasurer | ľ |
| C. C. HIPKINSOrganizer | L |
| D. E. TYRRELLSergeant-at-Arms | ı |
| FRANK HART Doorkeeper | ı |
| TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. | ľ |
| TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman, Joe M. | ь. |

Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett.

DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

COMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong.
FINANCE—Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor.
PRINTING—Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A.

Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank

D. Seiffert. ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and W. F. Reed

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks.

LIBRARY—T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis,

and B. M. Connelly. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman ; J. M. Lenhart, and Hugh Reid

CHAIRMEN.

First Division—Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-William McEnaney. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record—J. L. Clements.

Job Room—J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-J. L. Alverson Night Bill Force—A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette—George Gerberich.

Document Proof Room—Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division—S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-R. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-H. L. Shyrock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times—William E. Dix Morning Times—Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter—A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.-H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England. National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Down Town.

Never again. Turkey hash now.

A happy New Year to you.

off. E. Shaw, late of the Chicago, (Ill.),

Chronicle, arrived in town Tuesday. "Pony" Moore arrived in town last Friday. He reports having seen Matt

Hayes working in Richmond, Va. G. P. O., now of Jacksonville, Fla, is his pace and whistling for George that

Ben Shannon, foreman of the (day) on Tuesday afternoon. George Charles lost a suit of clothes and overcoat while at work last Saturday night from the Post composing or Jim. room. He went home in a barrel, Martin Luther (" Jake") Statler, one of the best known and popular "ad" men on the Post, left town last Sunday for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast. night for Latrobe, Pa., where he will spend the holidays. J. M. (" Captain") Walsh, son of Mr.

Thomas Walsh, of 407 Tenth street northwest, is home for the holidays. The "Captain" speaks in glowing for laboratory purposes, have removed terms of Newport News, Va., where he my office to No. 316 H street northwest, is at present located.

Fourth Division.

Numerous chapel meetings have been held during the past, all of which were not of the most pleasant nature, but on held. Arthur Waite, on behalf of the a rag time address in German at the chapel, presented each of the four entertainment. laborers with an envelope containing a sum sufficient to purchase a turkey tainment and hypnotize the ladies with with all the trimmings; yes, and a his goo goo eyes. present for all the children.

Somewhat of an anomaly presents itself in the person of a man employed the editor of the Sunday Globe, in the "big mill" who has labored, man and boy, 64 years at the printing business. He still retains a vigorous served to accentuate the armor-like straightness that characterizes his physical bearing. He learned the secret of roller making, then a novelty, in 1838. WHEREAS Samuel C. Presley, formerly a ompositor in this division, and a brother of H. M. Presley, of this chapel, has passed from the vicissitudes of this world, and

WHEREAS, The fellow workmen of Mr. Presley having known him for years and having always found him to be an accommodating, generous, and honorable gentle man, incapable of doing any human being an injury, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, his former comrades and fellow craftsmen, extend to his mother, brothers, sisters, and other relatives our most heartfelt sympathy on this occasion of their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given to the mother and brother of the TRADES UNIONIST, and be made a part of the records of this chapel.
CHARLES O. DOTEN,

C. B. YATER, A. R. WAITE,

By order of the chapel, Fourth Division.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free. Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cooking to order. Your patronage solicited.

JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street.

Table board, $18 per month, at 81 New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O. MRS. M. T. WORK.

Fifth Division.

Once again is Yuletide on the ebb. leaving peace on earth, good will toward

The half day off just before Christmas gave us the looked-for opportunity to spend our surplus.

Joe Fritz has joined the star gazers of alley 9. By the time he graduates as an astrologer his beard will be in shape to lend dignity to the profession.

The printers generally contributed to the Salvation Army fund to aid the poor, a number going down for a dollar each. One gave two suits of clothing from shoes up.

Joe Zimmerman had a sure thing the other day in a 6 to 1 shot race, but the lateness of the hour, he having to go to work, prevented his playing it. Very unfortunate, Joe, to have a good thing. John Sherman takes a certain friend in the Y home every evening, and when they get to the railroad crossing on G street, northwest, Sherman finds it necessary to put blinders on his friend to get him across the tracks. There was "something doin" in the office on Sunday night. A hurried census job had to be corrected and cast, Christmas-New Year's-then swear ready for the press on Monday morning. A detail of the night force and also of the "Y" reported for duty at 6 and 6.30, respectively. Friend Bright was on deck also. About 2.30 a. m. (Monday) when everything was "up in the foundry," Albertson started for No. 6 B street northeast, closely fol-Julius Drew, an old employe of the lowed by Bright, who kept increasing visiting friends in town during the holi- he might have company. When near the B. & O. station George looked the purse has been recovered. back and seeing he was closely fol-Record, and one of the most prominent lowed by some one he struck out on a his speed, for fear of being run in by

> FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas;

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room just opposite old location.

DR. T. J. McConnell.

Bindery Notes.

Jack Quinlan is now singing a new song, "Anna Darling," by Bill Daly. Baldnecker will be allowed to make

Major Fredericks seemed to be highly pleased that he was remembered by Bill Haslett received a Christmas present from his Cape May widow. As Bill has just had some pictures taken, mind and his 77 years of life have only one will probably be sent by mail in the near future.

> J. L. Feeney's second term as president of the Central Labor Union will end with the old year, and he has announced that he will not accept a third term under any condition. Feeney knows when he has enough. So the candidates for his shoes had better come out now if they want the office.

The grand olio of minstrel men are preparing for the big show New Year's Eve at National Rifles' Armory. Laughing gas will be turned on at 8 p. m. Ox wagons can be ordered to call at 2 a. m. Peanut fiends will have to eat in the gallery. The following smoky mokes will do stunts on the end: Spellbring, eceased; that they be published in THE King of the West; Hart, Acrobatic Nig; Eslerty, Sleepy Coon; Bergersen, cake walker. The following solo singers will charm the audience with their sweet voices: Fred Seyffert, James I. Sibre, and William B. Hyde. Thomas Esperon will sing "Kitty and I." The professional child artist and wonder. Miss Butcher, of Philadelphia, will make her first appearance in this city. Charles Weston, the middle man, is coaching the jolliers.

Cow Boy. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

First class table board. Hot lunch from 12 to 1. Mrs. E. D. Turner, 821 North Capitol Street.

Treasury Branch.

William C. Bass, foreman of the Congressional Record, was a welcome visitor last week.

Martin Flynn is with us again, his

The Treasury Branch Symposium reorganized last week and re-elected he old officers for another term.

William O. Engler, one of our pressof the Treasury Department about two will be disposed of later on. weeks ago.

of Labor at Scranton, Pa., returned to the ordinary glad hand variety. A work last week.

of Capitol Council No. 320, Royal Ar- or so. canum, for the ensuing year, beginning the 1st of January. One of our fair young ladies of the press room received rather a novel gift a handsome engagement ring. Miss Isabel Long, one of our popular young ladies, was elected vice-president of the Woman's Bindery Union at its annual election held recently. W. J. Manning was called home Fri-

Harry Judson received a telegram early Monday morning conveying to him the sad news of his father's death at Delavan, Wis. Harry has the sympathy of the entire force in his loss.

lose his pocket-book last Saturday while in the city postoffice sending off reluctant he is to give a comp. the bensome Christmas presents. It contained efit of the doubt when marking rings. $20 in money and other valuables. Information has just been received that

William J. Galbraith, of Brookland, went hunting for Christmas evergreens printers in town, paid this office a visit dead run. Then Bright had to decrease Sunday in the woods near his home. "one of the finest." It was hard to with his face and hands badly scratched tell who was the worst scared, George and several bandaged fingers. "Gal" will buy his holly and mistletoe next absent one year and three months in disease, and this ailment was no doubt California, visiting her sick mother, re- the cause of his death. For a period sumed her position in the office last covering twenty-five years he was emweek. Her mother has improved in ployed as a compositor on The Evenhealth and accompanied her daughter ing Star. Some five years ago he re-East. Miss Slicer's many Washington ceived an appointment in the Governfriends are delighted at her return to ment Printing Office where he was the city.

sion, received an invitation from a retire from active service. friend in New York to attend the Old Guards' ball. This is the swellest annual ball that takes place in New York city. It will be held in the Metropoli- ters of whom are married and living in tan Opera House, January 23. Allison the West. He was a member of Columis undecided as to whether or not he bia Typographical Union, No. 101. will attend.

Hamilton Roy will be at the enter- ury Department has long since been made in Muont Olivet cemetery.

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS. ***************

inadequate to the demands of such a large building. During the recent cold snap the employes of this division, especially the ladies, have been greatly inconvenienced from the cold, the temperature of the room being as low as 60 degrees several times.

SUBSCRIBER.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

FASHION NOTES.

Straw hats will be worn next sum-

Some very pretty effects in New Year esolutions have strings tied to them.

The red-apple joke is no longer considered a necessary ornament of correspondential columns rumor that the pink-slip man wears pink slippers.

It is a mistake to suppose that the English language appears to advantage when ornamented with smut.

In the matter of "knocks" there is no accounting for tastes. Some prefer Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE leave having expired. Frank Hall is again a floater. the dyspeptic variety, while others are fond of the "knock" which results from that dark brown taste.

A good many delegatorial bouquets will be tossed this season. Mr. Bloomer, at the old stand, has a few men, was detailed to the Issue Division left over from last year's stock which

It is too early to indicate the fashion Charles E. Dietrich, delegate to the in candidates, although it is not likely convention of the American Federation that 1902 will see much variation from number of early bloomers (no pun) may W. Brice Coston was elected Regent be expected to appear within a month

An appropriate motto for a "plain, blunt man" is "Knock and It Shall Be Opened Unto You." This would look well worked in brimstone yellow on a for a Christmas present in the shape of sanguinary background. It might be hung up alongside of "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men.'

New Year resolutions should not be worn on the sleeve, as they are apt to become frayed through too much publicity. Some people prefer to wear day last week on account of the illness them next to their hides. It is claimed of one of his children. The little one that their freshness is thus preserved a is considerably improved at this writ- great deal longer than when worn as external ornaments.

An intelligent compositor who was recently the recipient of a pink slip says that proof-readers should be compelled to work with their shirt-sleeves rolled up. It is his belief that the A. B. Proctor had the misfortune to longer a proof-reader has worked with his sleeves buttoned down the more ADAM BUGG.

Death of Nathaniel Sardo.

At his residence No. 717 Third street northeast, Friday, December 20, 1901, Nathaniel Sardo, one of the oldest printers in the country, passed away, aged eighty years.

Mr. Sardo was born in Philadelphia. Pa., in 1821, and moved to this city many years ago. He had been for Miss Cora E. Slicer, who has been many years a sufferer from Brights' employed up to about two years ago A. M. Allison, chairman of this divi- when failing health compelled him to

Mr. Sardo was a widower, his wife having died several years ago.

Five children survive him, two daugh-His funeral took place Monday from

The heating apparatus of the Treas- St. Aloysius Church and interment was

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

X-MASGIFTS

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.-that combine beauty and long service with very inexpensive prices.

A great many articles in Ster-ling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

DULIN & MARTIN CO...

Successors to M. M. Beveridge. 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

There is no verification as yet of the TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and Seventh Stree T

Renowned for choicest, Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.

A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS

An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas...

WASHINGTON, D. C. GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING,

UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW. 728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

-VISIT-CABIN JOHN BRIDGE

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . . . Everything the Best.

BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873

S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

1315 14th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00. The Evans Dental Parlors, 1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office

'Phone Main 1870.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers, 443 Seventh Street S. W.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY Week Commencing MONDAY, DEC. 23.

THE GREAT LAFAYETTE'S Original Conception and Stupenduous Production of the Mimetic Spectacle

THE LION BRIDE. The most marvelous and thrilling spectacle ever produced in America.

-AND-BIJOU BURLESQUE COMPANY The Greatest Show Ever Offered in this Country at Popular Prices.

Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher

PRESERVA

1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

100000

Specialties. SHERWOOD

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 2½c. PER CUE.

THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Salesroom, 23 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per me

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES.

ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager. 300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel.

Every Laboring Man

-- requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.

Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

la sesse a accessed

J. L. KERVAND. Engraver, Lithographer and Plate

Printer. 1012 Penna Ave. - - Washington, D. C. Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts,

Scientific American. MUNN & CO.361Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood.

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C.

Oppesite CENTRE MARKET.

605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt.

B. F. WARNER,

Fine Wines and Liquors.

BLUE LABEL CICARS. 1219 E Street Northwest.

FOR LUNCH TRY THE

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

"Full Dress."

- -Full Dress Suits,]
- -Full Dress Shirts.
- -Full Dress Neckwear, -Full Dress Gloves.

In fact everything proper for your New Year's calling attire.

D. J. KAUFMAN. 1005-7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring Department. UITS AND OVER-YOUR MEASURE

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W.,

Union Clothier, Furnisher, and Hatter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Any Old Thing.

The Union Mutual Relief paid the argest pro rata ($11.08) this year.

Going through the "Y" I saw W. H. Van Bibber working there. Hope its regular, Van.

The Spess has the fastest and "cleanest" comps in the United States in Joe especially those things which intimately McCann and Charlie Garrells, respectively, so I am told.

It is with pleasure I note that the farewell of "Cycle" was of the Patti order. His "After Dinner Dilations" are too good to lose.

I saw Bob Simril the other day. He has inherited a couple of thousand from his father's estate. You would never have guessed it, though.

I noticed Tom Doonan working on the Bill Force, I hope he will stick this time. I was working in the Spess when he was "called back."

Ottinger, Bloomer, Cycle, Old Prog, Adam Bugg, Sutton, Bab, et al. THE TRADES UNIONIST is complimented by such a brilliant corps of scribes.

The Record and Bill Force in full blast, the Spess working overtime and another call from the civil service list. All this in spite of the machines.

Ottinger, after writing under several non de plumes, is now signing his name to his articles. I would, too, if my stuff was half as entertaining as his.

I recently saw a printer cutting the ads from a magazine to lessen its weight. He mailed the magazine and probably saved a cent. This is a true the Bill Force, now that Jack Roberts is working. There's consolation in three. knowing you don't have to print. Eh, cided that we were entitled to double Ottinger may collapse and fail to corpay had we worked Thanksgiving day. rall his witnesses to prove himself in-Suppose he had decided adversely and nocent, and Johnston may quit spitting we had worked. Then what?

In view of the fact that different names are being suggested for delega- it" and the whole thing end with a love torial honors and for offices in the feast; but to those who have paid their union, I present the following ticket: President, A. W. Bowen, foreman Fifth Division; vice-president, D. J. Roberts, foreman First Division; secretary, Billy Bass, foreman Record; sergeant at-arms, Milo Shanks, foreman Third Division; doorkeeper, Albert Cottle, foreman Fourth Division; trustees, H. C. Hay, foreman Job Room; W. H. Hickman, foreman Second Division: Charles E. Young, foreman Bill Force delegates, E. A. M. Lawson, W. R. Ramsey, Charles M. Robinson and C. C. Thompson, foremen of State Branch, Specification Room, Proof Room and Post, respectively.

Apropos of the yarn Brodnax got off on Bloomer, here's one "Funny" Roberts tells: While in a small town in New York recently, he was trying to organize the carpenters. One day he had to go out about three miles from town to talk to some who were working on a suburban job. He arrived on the scene at lunch time. All but one of the carpenters were sitting around eating. The one who wasn't eating was about 200 yards away, chasing a dog around a house whose occupant owned the dog. After he had chased the dog for awhile, a lady appeared in the doorway of the house and asked the cause of the trouble. "That infernal dog stole my lunch," said the man. northwest. "Oh, please don't hurt my dog, sir; walk into the house and I will replace your lunch." The man went in the

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George,
Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.
The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| | NAME. | BUSINESS. | LOCATION. |
|-----|--|---|---|
| r | Haines' Southeast Store
Keenan Bros | Department store. Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher. Printer. Printer Cigar manufacturer. Baker. Carpet dealer. | Eighth and Penna. avenue s.e. 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.v 708 Seventh street n.w. 508 Fourteenth street n.w. 1108 E street n.w. 1101 Penna. avenue n.w. 516 Second street n.w. and stall in Center Market. 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. |
| | J. Mangan. John H. Fitzgerald. S. S. Daish. Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Hencke | Horseshoer Horseshoer Coal and wood Meat dealer Electrician | L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w
443 Prather's alley n.w.
Florida ave. and Third st. n.e.
Center and O st. Markets.
711 G street n.w. |
| ogo | Sheets & Miller James A. Bennett Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company | Electrician Tinner Paperhanger and decorator. Mosaics | 804 E street n.w.
2008 H street n.w.
9 F street northwest.
207 Fourth st. n.w. |
| 2 | I. Grosner. M. Minster. A. H. McGhan. A. Minster Charles Walters | Clothing Gents' furnisher Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher Carriage Builder. | 914 F st. and 803 Market Space
1343 F st. n.w.
817 E st. n.w.
499 and 501 Penne ave. n. w.
Fourteenth and A streets n.w |
| , | A. Markward. Cyrus B. Reese C. A. Schneider & Sons. Boston Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Minster & Paterson. The Famous. Chas. A. Muddiman & Co. Joseph Mathey. A. S. Reavis. A. Molnoti. Castleberg. Palmer, S. C. | Contracting painter. Employing steamfitter. Union Iron Works. Laundry. Street Railway. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishings. Gas fixtures Stove dealer and tin worker. Tin, stove, cornice works. Stone works. Jeweler | 609 G street n. w. 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. 1519 Twelfth street n. w. First and G streets n. w. 491 to 490 C street n. w. City and Suburban Lines. 1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w. 437 Seventh street n. w. 1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w. 1918 Pennsylvania avenue n. w. 715 Second street n. e. First and M streets n. e. Pennsylvania avenue. |
| | | | |

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

Trades Unionist.

Union Directory.

To SECRETARIES: Please notify this office of

any change in officers' addresses, time or place

of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly

American Federation of Labor-Headquar

ters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'lGompers, President, Frank Morrison, Secretary. International Association of Machinists,

Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson, vice-president and editor of the Journal; George Preston. Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street north-west. Residence, 106 I street norrhwest.

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest.

Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America, Division No. 161. meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street north-

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher

Workmen, Local No. 148, meets every Thursday evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith, Secretary, 3318 Brightwood avenue northwest.

Union No. 102, meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. J. A. Daly, Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street

Bakers Union, No. 118. meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 348 N street south-

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third Thursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 923 Fourth street northeast.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p. m. at 430 Eighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310 Seventh street southwest.

Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No.

Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tue day in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Capitol street.

Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Avenue northwest.

Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and

Paperhangers, Local Union. No. 368, meets every Friday night at 430 Eighth street north west. John L. Cochran, Secretary, 510 E st

Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers, No. 77, 1. U. S. E., meets every Thurs day, at Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street north west. S. J. Foreman, Secretary, 2223 Cleve land avenue northwest.

Carriage and Wagon Workers' International

union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C. meets every Tuesday evening at No. 120. Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jersey avenue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. Charles G. Myers, Secre-tary, 605 E. street southeast

Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers

and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meet first and third Thursdays at 609 C stree northwest. William L. Hageman, Secretary

Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers

Local Union, No. 12, meets second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at Bieligk's Hall, 73' Seventh street northwest. William Keith Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bie-ligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbartor sociation of Machinists, meets first and thire Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthuu H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest.

Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Tem-

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International As

northwest. William L 1007 Fourth street sout

234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street

Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Loca

northwest.

house and had a good square meal It happened he had left his lunch at home that morning and thought of this scheme to get another. CAP L.

The Ottinger-Johnston Case.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: As a non-combatant, though some what interested in sporting matters and concern the "manly art," I have watched with patience the movements of the principals and observed closely the claims and counter claims of the respective parties concerned in the Ottinger Johnston bout. The contestants have expressed a willingness amounting almost to eagerness to publicly prove which of the two as "knockers" is entitled to the belt, and the friends of each are in the scramble for choice of seats in full view of the referee and the busy corner where are kept the smelling salts and sponge.

This is a remarkable case, inasmuch as it bears testimony to the truth of the adage that one may catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar, and that in sitting upon a pin one may feel it even if he does not see the point.

By common consent Ottinger seems to have been the aggressor by incidentally landing a cautious "feeler" on a tender spot, not with evil intent, perhaps, but simply to point out in an abbreviated way a flaw which he observed under his magnifier. For this the said Ottinger of the first part was denounced by Johnston of the second part as a suitable candidate for the kennel, and later, as viewed from an entirely disinterested standpoint, the kennel was scarcely competent to ac-There'll be "something doing" on commodate the setter, or pointer, or poodle, or worse, a cross between the

This, in brief, seems to be the situation at present writing, and this is what I see that Comptroller Tracewell de- leads to widespread uneasiness lest on his hands and stop calling for some one to hold his coat and finally "forget gate-money for the grand stand, to them a like sum should be refunded or storm checks or calamity coupons or storm checks or calamity coupons and from the first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer Secretary, 245 North Capitol street. gate-money for the grand stand, to given as a guarantee of good faith.

All Wilmington, Del., city printing bears the union label.

Wilmington, Del., unionists talk of erecting a labor temple.

Great Britain has 345,950 miners.

They will demand the eight-hour day.

Hotel and restaurant employes formed seventeen unions in a recent month.

During the year forty unions have been chartered in Los Angeles and vi-

In Canada the law provides that the highest current wage must be paid on all government or public works. the standard to be fixed by the wages prevailing in the locality in which the work is being constructed.

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be published a card for the use of members of Columbia Union, 101, containing the Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meet names of the following printing offices, which should not receive the patronage or moral support of trade unionists: Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

H. L. McQueen, 1108 E street north.

ple, 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett,

Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway ('armen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, Secretary, 939 G street southwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second and fourth Saturday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, 117 Fifth street northeast.

Fire Department Employees. P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a.m., at Union Veterans' Hall, 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C. Egloff, Secretary, 614 Sixth street southwest

I. U. S. E., Hoisting and Portable, Local 77 meets every Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwest Jas. J. McCracken, Secretary, 493 Maryland Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No

8097, meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Masonic Fall, Anacostia. D.C. C.W. Teates, Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia.

Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers'
Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory, 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Secretary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No. 5, meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac street, porthwest. International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 26, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tary, 200 E street northwest. International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. W. T. Malloy Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Wednes day night at Eighth and D streets northwest N. A. James, Secretary, 3612 O street north finterior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set-ters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Sec-retary, 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers-Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re-cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest.

fron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, meet 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secretary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest. Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meet first and third Wednesdays in each month a Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17, meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E street northwest.

street northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters'
Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple. 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary. 1312, Twentyninth street northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters'
Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Costello's Hall Sixth and G streets northwest.
Joseph Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161, me every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street northwest. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest. National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. John A. Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424, Station G. Malgamated Society of Campendary Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Mon-day evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street

Decrative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets first and third Friday evenings at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast. Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of P., D., and P., meets every Tuesday evening, 609 C street northwest. C. L. Hickman, Secretary, 944 L street northwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee, Sec-tary, 907 E street southeast. Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first Wednesday in the month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts, Secretary, Kensington, Md.

Pipe Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets every

Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets first Saturday of each month at Typographical Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Emil Petersen, Secretary, 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w. Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macabe Temple, Ninth street northwest, the third Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secre-tary, 717 Seventh street northeast.

Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of Seventh street northwest

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty-pographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north-west. Steam Fitters, R. A. Lanis Association, L. B.

No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night a 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gaut Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Columbia street northwest.

Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers, Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Fri-day at 8 o'clock p. m., at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary, Ridge Road, Station A. Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos. Rose, Secretary, 40 Fenton street northeast. United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local Union No. 190, meet every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth street northwest, top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secre-tary, 936 Fourth street northeast.

United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods, No. 87, meets every Tuesday at Heare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwest Louis Turner, Secretary, 301 Pomeroy street

Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets cond and fourth Thursdays of each month 516 (fourth floor) Ninth street northwest. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street orthwest. Washington Branch Granite Cutters' National Union, meets every fourth Mon in each month, at 1204 Pennsylvania ave northwest. Wm. Silver. Secretary, 49 Mas setts avenue northwest Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union

No. 42, meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 Q Washington Lodge of Machinists, No. 193, meets first and third Tuesday evenings at southwest corner of Tweitth street and Penn-sylvania avenue northwest. C. G. Miller, Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest.

Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Monday night at Hane's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh

Silver Medal

Secretary, 939 G street southwest. Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E., meets second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 609 F street northwest. John W. Stockton, Secretary, 411 Twenty-fourth street northwest. Federal Labor Union No. 2000. Heurich's Room 1.

and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E. 'Phone 1203.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK,

Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up. BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK 'The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

BOOTS AND SHOWS. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand. 52 H Street Northwest

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN 1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755. COACH FINDINGS.

618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

> DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W.

HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180.

FURNITURE AND CARPETY JULIUS LANSBURGH. Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W GROCERIES. Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave. GROCER AND COFFEE BOASTER.

SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

J. WILLIAM LEE.

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

HATTERS AND FURRILERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats.

HARDWARE AND TOOLS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 1004 F St. N. W. 522 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest. LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS, Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE JOHN B. ESPEY,

1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news.

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO (Late Ryneal's) 418 7th St. N. W

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS M. F. DROOP & BONS,

925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN,
Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter,
Southeast Corner Second and H sta

PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO

Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E

TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest.

SAMUEL G. STEWART,

Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM,
209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market.
WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W.
Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

NUF CED.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 29.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Delegate Dietrich Reports Proceedings of Scranton Convention.

SECRETARY SHERMAN TALKS.

Large and Interesting Meeting-Creden tials Received-Many Communications Received and Disposed Of-The Street Railway Matter-Bricklayers' Request-Affiliation of Carpenters With K. of L. To Be Investigated.

The weekly session of the Central Vice President Hammerstrom Monday night at Typographical Temple.

Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved. Credentials were received from the and Paperhangers, No. 368, certifying spiel William M. Lewis, Joseph A. Jennings, and Daniel Lear; from Washington together in unity! Lodge, No. 193, I. A. of M., certifying H. Wagner, J. V. Clark, J. H. Rice, F.

V. Pletcher and J. Hammerstrom. Communication from Iron Molders Union, No. 38, of Erie, Pa., relative to "Radiant Home" stove, made by Black & Germer, was made, and setting forth the fact leading up to the lockout of molders by that firm. It rehalf of the molders. Placed on file and or, The Proofreader's Revenge.' request complied with.

A communication from Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor relative to the proceedings of the Twenty-first Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor at Scranton, was read and ordered placed on file. The communication of President Gompers, relative to Federal Union No. 7295, of Knoxville, Tenn., relative to the lockout of said union by Knoxville Woolen Mills Company, was read and placed on file. Also an appeal from above union was placed on file.

A communication from Bricklayers' place the firm of Chapin & Sacks, but- hand. ter dealers, upon the unfair list, because said firm employed non-union bricklayers at their place of business on Louisiana avenue, was received.

ter of placing Castelburg Jewelry Com- lecture on How To Set Type. pany upon the unfair list, was read. The request was granted and secretary action.

ball and requested delegates to pur- elsewhere at the time. chase tickets therefor.

The committee composed of Messrs. William Silver made their report upon they will best advertise Mr. Carnegie. the result of the conference with President McDermott, of the Washington Traction and Electric Railroad Company, and the report was accepted and horizon for the next cold wave. committee discharged.

After the failure of an effort to remove the above company from the un- please remember that an International fair list, a resolution prevailed that campaign is also rapidly approaching. Messrs. Dickman, Silver, McKay, Ratigan, Van Ness and J. L. McCarty be appointed a committee to prepare a recommendation in reference to the Grand Secretary Sherman, of the In- copy for this.) ternational Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, addressed the body.

Under special order Delegate Deitrich made a report upon the business question now is, Was it the big strike transacted by the American Federation of Labor Convention at Scranton. The or Mr. Gompers that got on his nerves?

W. Hall; Usher—George W. Sylvester; which its possessors are eager to resign, before it seeks to bind upon its labor Convention at Scranton. The report was received and delegate was given a rising vote of thanks.

gamated Carpenters with the Knights was of French descent. of Labor and report at next meeting of this body.

Scholarships for Sale.

ships, which will be sold at a very reasumed the responsibility of discharging sonable price.

"MANY A TRUTH IN JEST."

By this time a number of brand new tures at the base of the enacting clause. mittee appointments.

I hate to butt in, but it strikes me that Mr. Roderick can completely squelch his irate colleague by simply informing him that "a noisy Noves annoys an oyster." Sic 'im!

the next president of the union, the meeting held last Sunday a permanent in their efforts to get on the wagon.

the diplomatic correspondence between Ward, secretaries, and Fred H. Brown, Labor Union was called to order by his excellency the Day Man and his treasurer. Committees were appointed highness the Night Man I reproduce to progress the preliminary work of the following cipher dispatch, which the campaign, the first move being the fell into my hands the other night:

You miserable smoked Italian dago, Zide union under the jurisdiction of the I. Ross sits at this desk during the daytime. If T. U., setting forth the fact that No. 55 Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators you have anything to say against it, it is your

Which again tends to show how good G. Jule Murray, Walter F. MacNichol and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell

It seems hardly possible that John Henry Boner can read the rhymes called forth by his "England! England! Awake!" and contemplate their mixed the unfair condition under which the metaphors and cold feet without feeling the pangs of remorse.

Next we may expect from the pen of the verse-atile Joseph McCann a few quested the support of all unions in be-

> An unusually large number of antitobacco resolutions were placed on file lime light will be focussed on the man the other day, but for some reason who has been the central figure of the local dealers in the weed refuse to stage for more than a year, his official

> Manila hovering around the century who has shown his ability and faithfulmark, I wonder what a fifteen cent ness, or choose an unknown quantity lunch would look like there.

again thrown their semi-occasional mous re-election. scare into the G. P. O. prints through the medium of the Times, we will now inently and gratifyingly successful. The Union, No. 1, requesting this body to proceed to set a few more rows by relations between the Typothetae and

As soon as Congress reconvenes the Record alphabet jugglers will proceed to get busy, but as this year's force is A communication from the Retail an "all star" aggregation it is believed Clerks' Union, No. 262, requesting this it will be unnecessary for Mr. Bloomer body to indorse their action in the mat-

The other day a young man jumped instructed to notify said firm of this from the Brooklyn Bridge simply as an experiment, to see whether he could Delegate from Carriage and Wagon make the leap and live. And as luck Workers' Union spoke of their coming would have it, the fool-killer was busy

It will be noticed that Mr. Carnegie John B. Dickman, J. D. McKay and continues to place his millions where

> The people who manipulate the coal famine are anxiously watching the

The knights of the hammer will

The appearance in book form of "Rhoda Roland," by H. S. Sutton, workers, has testified as to the merits tary—R. J. Hale; Financial Secretary ton. * * * The capital may well rich made a report upon the business of Paine's Celery Compound. The Messrs. Hammerstrom, McCarty and has taken up the study of the Gaelic V. Sparrow, and B. F. Rover; Deleasks, as a boon, the main source of Kleinroth were appointed a committee language. This may be of interest to gates to Cabinet—R. J. Hale and George municipal woes. to investigate the affiliation of Amal- those who always supposed that Pat P. Dowell; Delegates to Assembly-

The well-meaning party who placed the "all foremen" ticket in nomination To any one contemplating taking a last week evidently overlooked Forebusiness or commercial course it will be man Shannon, of the Sixth, Foreman to their advantage to call at this office. McBride, of the Interior Branch, and We have a number of Wood's scholar- Bill Tanner, who once upon a time asa green hand and detailing another to 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

watch the fire plug. And there are s'more. We might find room for these three on the board of auditors, but the resolutions have received decided frac- rest will have to be content with com-

J. J. OTTINGER.

Anent the Presidency of the I. T. U. SYRACUSE, N. Y.,

December 27, 1901. Syracuse Typographical Union, No. 55, has resolved itself into a committee The prophets having passed word to boom James M. Lynch for re-election down the line that Mr. Bowen is to be to the presidency of the I. T. U. At a faithful will please fall over each other organization was effected by the election of Owen J. Donnelly as president; P. J. Coogan, vice-president; Charles As illustrating the cordial tenor of Miller, Thos. H. Wheaton, and Fred A. sending of a circular letter to every desires Mr. Lynch's re-election and asking that he be nominated at the February meeting. Many of his friends here believe there will be no opposition to President Lynch, but the campaign committee will lay out its plans and proceed with its work just as though there was as much opposition as two years ago, so that the enemy will find its foe fully equipped to do battle.

President's Lynch's friends will place him before the membership squarely on his record. His admistration from the time he was inducted into office down to the present day will be shown up in the glare of the noonday sun and criticism will be invited. The merits and demerits of opposing candidates will be given scant consideration-the acts will be paraded before the membership, and it will then be asked to in-With the price of a month's board in dorse or condemn, to retain the pilot at a critical period.

By every token of reason and grati-The Mergenthaler people having tude Mr. Lynch is entitled to unani-

> His administration has been emithe I. T. U. were never more amicable; contentions between employers and employees have been very rare and of no lasting effort; the membership has grown and thriven; a number of important offices that for years were closed to our members have been uning picture to contemplate, with nothing inharmonious in the scene. A factor that will be of great value to Mr. Lynch in this campaign is a united organizapolitical reasons two years ago there was opposition to him in his own union. but it is universally conceded now that he has shown himself a conservative and able executive and logically should be returned for another term.

THOMAS H. WHEATON, E. J. VAN DEVENTER. JOHN H. CARROLL, Press Committee.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open a 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Election of Officers.

At the annual meeting of Nonpareil Council No. 450, National Union, the even to the bold proposition that all promises to seriously affect the sale of following officers were elected for the Rudyard Kipling's works. (I expect a ensuing year: President-George P. Dowell; Vice-President-Arthur C. to the State legislature-a plan which, Webb; Speaker-M. N. Serrano; Ex- if adopted, would place them in respect President T. J. Shaffer, of the steel President-William H. Fisher; Secre- to their internal administration I see that my old friend Pat Haltigan E. Howard; Trustees-J. E. Keefe, C. other cities are making desperate efforts to relieve themselves, before it William H. Fisher and George P. will you "go way back and sit down," Dowell; Delegate to Immediate Relief and try to name one other American called "best citizens." -William H. Fisher.

> Table board, $18 per month, at 81 New Jersey avenue northwest. Con-MRS. M. T. WORK.

venient for lunch from the G. P. O.

People.

SOME INTERESTING EXTRACTS

sioner Macfarland, Exists in the District of Columbia-Functions for Making of All Kinds of Municipal Regulations Entrusted by Congress.

"In form the present Government of the District of Columbia," said Commissioner Macfarland in Everybody's Magazine for August, 1901, "is an absolute autocracy not legally responsible to the people. * * * The commission, although an executive body, was entrusted by Congress with legislative functions for the making of all kinds of municipal regulations, so that it practically inherits the powers of both the governor and the legislature of the territorial government."

And this form of government, which violates every principle of liberty, annihilates the Declaration of Independence and politically enslaves the people of the National Capital is exhibited to the country by Mr. Macfarland "as its best and most characteristic product."

Truly the people of the greatest Republic on earth, who maintain the right of self-government on every foot of American soil outside of the District of Columbia, must feel proud (?) of ernment, said James Madison. their capital, with its unrepublican form of government exhibited to them as its "best product."

In the magazine article above referred to Mr. Macfarland declares that ciples of republican government so far Baby Butcher, the child artist, and the United States except the "absolute of duty consists in giving the people of The entertainment concluded with a "tocracy" over which he presides as president" of the Board of Autocrats domestic affairs." of the District of Columbia, is ineffi-States that have large cities," which he San Francisco," is to set up within else in cities." their borders "an absolute autocracy not legally responsible to the people." It is true that in some of our American cities under republican government ionized and vigorous efforts are being in other countries, Russia and China, for instance, where "autocratic" ernment prevails.

The defects in our municipal governments are insignificent in comparison tion behind him. For personal and with the remedy proposed by those who would attempt to cure the evils complained of by the overthrow of selfgovernment.

> On March 10, 1888, ten years after the annihilation of self-government in this District, the following extract was printed in the Evening Star: The deplorable financial condition of the main, to unlimited popular suffrage.

It has legalized the virtual confiscation "If the people of the District of of accumulated wealth by aggregated paupers. * * * The intolerable misgovernment of many American cities tion of suffrage to taxpayers, and mipower of self-government be withdrawn from these municipalities, and that the management of their affairs be intrusted -George Dunnington; Treasurer-G. hesitate before it demands a privilege -Ivins Davis; Sergeant at-Arms-C. own shoulders the burdens of which other cities are making desperate ef-

Now, then, "aggregated paupers," city that has succeeded by "desperate government.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at efforts" during the last municipal cam- now be a bankrupt and a beggar.

or any party.

I rejoice that the issues of this cam-paign are to be decided by all the citizenship of the city. I have always be-lieved in universal manhood suffrage as the greatest force ever set at work in society for the educating and uplifting of the masses of men.

On the day after his election he said; The outcome of this election is a splendid vindication of universal suf-

On November 4, the day before his M. Shepard said:

when universal suffrage ought to be abolished in municipal elections.

I profoundly differ with him. I believe that in morality, in far-seeing wisdom, and in practical regard to the welfare of the governed you can better trust the great masses of men than you can any class, no matter how select that class may be.

ham Lincoln.

"A municipal legislature for local purposes, derived from their own free well selected and creditably rendered. suffrages, will of course be allowed The following took part: I. Edwin Esthem," the people at the seat of gov- terly, Andrew Bergerson, Charles F.

Morton, of Indiana, "is the path of Ben Spellbring, Fred Seyfferth, Miss safety, and that is to organize this gov- Alice Shaw, Edward F. McCarthy, F. ernment in accordance with the prin- R. Herndon, Miss Eleanor Burgess every other municipal government in as we can do it; and I believe the path William Lang, bone soloist. the District control of their local and burlesque entitled, "The Irish Justice," cient and corrupt, and contends that of Illinois, "that the same principle Charles F. Weston; Lawyer Cohen, the only remedy for "the great failure applies as to the question of the rights Thomas Esperon; Lawyer Penwuil. ?) of Americans in municipal govern- of citizens in the regulation of their John A. Wiedman; Policeman, Lew ments, * * * which is common to municipal affairs in the city of Wash- Hart; Michael O'Glaherty, Ben Spellall sections of the country and to all ington that applies to all other cities. bring; John Long, Philip Deakins; The rights of citizens here are the same John Spring, Master Lester Wiedman. asserts "is admitted from Boston to as the rights of citizens everywhere

Representative Jacob D. Cox, of Ohio, joyed themselves by dancing the old the most popular form of republican Wednesday. there has been at times corruption, in-

> 'said Senator Spencer in order to accomplish selfish and mer- their great success. cenary purposes. The danger to re- An unique feature noticeable was the

"If the people of the District of Col- in great demand. umbia are not capable of managing their own affairs nobody can be trusted composed of George B. Hedges, chairhas not only caused the suggestion of to do it for them. And the people are man; John A. Wiedman, secretary; such schemes of reform as the limita- not merely those who own property; H. F. Worth, treasurer; Sam Mayberry, they are those as well who contribute Wiley Reed, Charles F. Weston, Rhodto the support of that property and the ric Browne, Charles J. Cassidy, and results of whose labor add to its accre- Thomas Esperon, is due a great deal of tions. They are all the people."

other municipalities, and thereby frequently magnify molehills into mountains, and reverse the telescope when well appreciated annuals in the future. looking at the defects of our "best (?) governed city in the United States,' and thus frequently reduce mountains to molehills, tell us whether the present "deplorable financial condition" of this city is due to "unlimited popular suf-

There are many persons who have efforts," or even one city that has made watched the "drift of things" who asany effort whatever in that direction, sert that if taxes had been equitably in relieving itself of republican self- and lawfully assessed and collected on all classes of property during the past resides in New York. Abram S. Hewitt made "desperate twenty-five years the District would not paign in Greater New York to convince "The fight must go on," said Abra- day.

ABSOLUTE AUTOCRACY the people of that city that universal ham Lincoln. "The cause of civil libmanhood suffrage was the cause of all erty must not be surrendered at the their woes and should be abolished, end of one or even one hundred debut his motion failed to receive a sec- feats," and so the fight must go on, Not Legally Responsible to the ond from any candidate, or any paper, will go on, until the efforts of those who are struggling for the re-establish-On November 4, the day before the ment of an American form of governelection, in reply to Mr. Hewitt, the ment in the capital of the American Fusion candidate for Mayor, Seth Low, Republic are crowned with success, as they surely will be in the end.

"For Freedom's battle once begun, Bequeathed from bleeding sire to son, Though baffled oft, is ever won.

THE BOOKBINDERS.

E. W. O.

Dance and Entertain the Old Year Out and the New Year In.

The attendance at National Rifles' Armory on New Year's Eve., December 31, 1901, was beyond doubt the defeat as the Tammany candidate for largest ever gathered at that popular Mayor of Greater New York, Edward place and showed the appreciation of the Washington public and it showed I read with pain Mr. Hewitt's expres- the confidence they had that something sion of belief that the time has come of a first-class nature was to take place, the event being the annual entertain-

The program opened up with a minstrel circle composed of thirty bookbinders, no one outside of the craft being within the circle. This feature was "Allow all the governed an equal all that could be expected and showed voice in the government; that, and that much effort and perfection on the part only is self-government," said Abra- of the participants. Many bright and witty sayings were indulged in.

Following this was a musical program Weston, Thomas Esperon, James J. "The path of duty," said Senator Sibre, Lew Hart, William B. Hyde, which was roundly applauded. The "I maintain," said Senator Logan, following was the cast: Judge Riley,

All numbers received hearty encores. The minstrel and musical finished, "The citizens of Washington," said those who wished remained and en-'have an inalienable right to the freest, | year out and the new year in until 2 a.m.

The only complaint heard was that justice, and mismanagement, but the will be to be false to the most funda- of lack of room, and the experiences same is true to a much greater extent mental principles of American liberty." had year after year in this matter should "The attacks upon the principle of compel the organization to hold their

in his report against the overthrow of All who participated in whole or part republican government in this District of the entertainment felt that they had in 1878, "are fostered or inspired by enjoyed a first-class affair, and the those who desire to overthrow suffrage Bookbinders may well feel proud of publican institutions arises from power souvenir dance program, which conover the people, not from power in the sisted of order of dances with selections people. The whole people are honest; and authors of music in a ruled blank they have no interest in defrauding book, neatly bound in various colors themselves. It is individual greed only representing an artistic bound volume, which seeks to defraud the public. In- to which was attached the cord and so many of our large cities is due, in dividuals only would bankrupt the comblanks therein. These souvenirs were

To the committee of arrangements, credit for the success of this entertain-Let those who look through the small ment. The officers and members of end of the telescope at the defects of the organization also rendered yoeman service to the same end.

May they always give as good and Michael Friery Meets Death.

Michael Friery, a pressman employed in the Navy Branch of the Government Printing Office, and residing at 468 Pennsylvania avenue, was struck by a frage," or to the incompetency, mis- southbound train on the Mount Vernon management, or selfishness of our so- trolley line below Jackson City, Sunday night, which resulted in his death shortly after he was conveyed to the Emergency Hospital in this city.

He was from Brooklyn, N. Y., and leaves a widow and two children who

His remains were sent to Brooklyn, where interment was made Wednes-

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Build ing Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors. A. J. E. HUBBARD

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising. -GLADSTONE. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known.

PRESIDENT PERKINS, of the Cigar makers' International Union, says: In ten years the average length of life of members of the union has increased just six years, and the average length of the lives of the wives and mothers has increased eight years. This remarkable showing and gratifying result is due chiefly to two causes: First, the improved condition of the members, such as better wages, improved sanitary condition, more freedom, and better living, all brought about solely through the trades union; second, the shortening of the hours of labor. The latter has a direct bearing upon the interesting fact that the average length of the lives of the wives and mothers has increased, which can be accounted for by the significant fact that the household duties or work of the wife commences one hour later and ends one hour earlier, and by the further fact that, as the material condition of the husband is improved by better wages and more leisure, the wife or mother is enabled to live better and within more pleasant surroundings. These statistics are extremely valuable as indicating that the length of life of our members and those dependent upon them is increa ing, and the protecting and beneficent influence of trade unions. This gratifying fact is further proved by the records of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, of Great Britain, which organization keeps similar statistics, demonstrating that the shortening of the hours of labor and otherwise improving the material condition of the membership through the union has resulted in improving the physical well-being of the members, as well as that of their wives, and lengthening the lives of both.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

An observing friend of mine remarked to me the other day:

"Do you notice what a favorable sentiment has grown up in the newspapers lately regarding Government ownership of the telegraph?"

"Yes," I replied; "I have noticed it." "Has it occurred to you that the apraphy has something to do with this sudden conversion?'

plausible."

Company is capitalized at $120,000,000, affairs: I believe," said he, "which wireless the whole system at the company's do that or get out.' valuation.'

of telegraphs as I was. It may be that his home in Western New York look-consulting me, however.

routes, all of which are independent of little details. legislative control. The man or woman The last time I saw Owen Mann was and the Building Trades Section, as well as for the prevention of crime always money, and had gone to the Common $2,500 (I don't know that it would need thing forbidden. Men will seek and consume liquors in local option and prohibition communities who were We are frightfully dry.' never known to touch them when their sale was wide open, and it is related that the crime of parricide was unknown in Rome until its punishment was provided for by law, when the youngsters immediately began killing off their dads like sheep in the shambles.

> Flournoy (altered to "Funny" by the jokers) C. Roberts has had many pressing invitations from different sections of the country to be a candidate for delegate to the American Federation of Labor, accompanied by promises of warm support, but to all he has said "Nay"-not that he would not appreciate the honor, but that he will not antagonize William M. Garrett and Frank Morrison in their candidacy. * * * *

My friend Sam K. Bangs sends me the following "Answer" to the poem of John Henry Boner, entitled "England! England! Awake!" published in THE TRADES UNIONIST two weeks ago. My other old friend, "W. H. Dudlee," took a throw at the same subject last week, and as he rather roughly orders her to "row your own bark or die in the saddle "-a sort of combined regatta and steeple-chasewith all these assaults on her imbecil ity, injustice and brutality, I expect to see the old girl side-stepping briskly for the next few issues. Here are Brother Bang's body blows:

THE ANSWER.

Yes, England, awake to thy merciless rod, To the slaughter of Boers and the frown of thy God Though matchless thy story and mighty thy Tis perfidious Albion still in thy greed!

Say not to sweet Erin from the land of the fre

That eyer she bend a worshipful knee To the pow'r that enchains her-the hard, bloody hand

That has left its impression all over her land Oh, fond Yankee* poet, to England so true, this fact is directly traceable and due to It is meet that you give the old Lion his due; But don't you forget what is sheathed in his

And the love that's expressed by the crush

*Mr. Boner is a Yankee only from the English *Mr. Boner is a Yankee only from the English standpoint, where all Americans are so called. In his own Southland all Northerners are Yankees, the Yankees of the Northerner being the inhabitants of New England, though "out West" I have heard of "New York Yankees."

During a conversation I had the other day with Capt. W. R. Ramsey he brought to mind a couple of "oldsters" whom I have mentioned in giving the results of my researches in the mummy vaults and graveyards of the past. One was little Joe Blampied, whom I knew well thirty years ago. Joe was subbing on a Columbus paper, of which Capt. Ramsey was foreman, and though he worked pretty steadily and got in good bills, he was "on his uppers," speaking from a sartorial as well as a Crispine standpoint, toes, elbows, knees and other prominent parts being exposed to the icy breezes that then tive? Your derogation of a measure is proximately successful development of chased themselves around the central the Marconi system of wireless teleg- part of Ohio, his condition being due in a large measure to the hypnotic influence of a big "partner" of Joe's, "No," I answered; "but it sounds who could see no occasion for both of The Western Union Telegraph Joe one day, after a summarization of hurl at each other, being found by

"Joe, I want you to get yourself telegraphy will render worthless. It some clothes, shake that big loafer will not surprise me to see an appro- that is hanging around you, and try to priation made by Congress to take over amount to something. You can either

Joe so did, and in a very short time It is reported that the wireless tele- he was a different looking man. He graph will soon be in operation be- worked quite steadily for about three tween this city and Baltimore, and of months, when there came a telegram course between o her points in the near that his father was dead. He was then future. I don't know that I am as hot well dressed, had about $80 in cash, away. an advocate of Government ownership and was able to go to the funeral at the deal will be consummated without 'ng like a gentleman, all due to a word spoken at the right time.

Owen Mann was another whom the A measure is to be pushed through | Captain brought to mind. He worked Congress at this session restricting the in Nashville, Tenn., shortly after the sale of all manner of poisons by drug- war, when they had an epidemic of gists on physicians' prescriptions, for cholera there. Ramsey was foreman the prevention of suicide more than for of a paper there at the time. "Owney" any other reason. There is little rea- got a touch of the cholera, and his docson to hope for much relief from such tor ordered that he should have wines. repressive measures, from the fact that His landlord saw to it that he had the poisons form but one of the many finest that could be procured, and for a routes open to any one for rapid transit couple of weeks he was the most pamto the Great Beyond, and scarcely as pered individual in all Nashville. As much traveled as many of the others. soon as he recovered he flew for North-There are still left the revolver, the ern climes, and all that Nashville had knife, the razor, the rope, the high to remember him by was-but never jump, the river, the gas, and other mind; I never care to go into these who wishes to die can always find the in Boston Common, in company with means if he or she has the courage. It three or four other "roadsters." 1 is one of the anomalies that legislation had been working, had just drawn my ness instinct, a nose for news, and seems to create an inordinate desire to meditate on what I would do with it, to be all cash), who would like to buy among certain individuals to do the when I "met up" with this party, a half interest in a Republican daily "Owney" hailed me:

"Say, take us over and do for us.

"I will on one condition," said I.

"Well, what is it?" he asked.

"That you will show your thumbs." thumbs I ever saw. It was a commonly satisfactory partner he thinks he can known fact in Chicago, where I first hold up his end. I think it is a magknew him, that he could not set "half nificent opportunity, and if I had the measure" owing to inability to get his other $2,487 I would take it myself. left thumb into the stick, and a later Ask Fred Weston, of the Night Proof story was that he once got his right Room, about it if you mean business, thumb fast in the k box for several as he is in possession of all the facts.

"I'll be d-d if I do!" said he, swelling up.

no drink.' That brought him.

roared, sticking them up. The next I heard of him he had gone to sea, and next that he was dead.

* * * * I heard while in the "Spess" room that Wilse ("Bill") Barbour is running a laundry in Brooklyn and doing well, some money having come to him by the death of a relative.

Inquiries made of me as to the whereabouts of Pete Oberley, I could only answer by stating that the last I knew of him was in New York seven or eight years ago, on Park Row, looking as well fed as a brewery horse.

* * * * "There are some things practiced by your trades unions," said a friend of mine with whom I was discussing labor organizations, but who has had little contact with them, "with which I don't agree."

"Mention a few of them," said I, 'and maybe I can help you to see them in a more favorable light."

apprentices. Every boy ought to have it up. a right to learn any trade he pleases." "That's one," said I. "Tell me

"Then there is your refusal to work happy. join the union or quit work," said he. "That might appear to some to be a hardship," said I; "but go on." "You insist that all shall receive the same wages, regardless of ability or usefulness.' "No, we don't," said I; "we only fix a minimum wage. You can pay anyone as much more as you think he is worth. Is that all?" "No. When you strike you are unwilling to let others take your places know one is jealous of those they love.

who are willing to work," said he. "True," said I. "Are there any further counts in your indictment?"

"Plenty," said he; "but I will mention only one more-the boycott, which is un-American, unfair, and an out-

"I see," said I; "but is it not a fact that you are opposed to all union should make terms with Marconi. measures and actions which are effecin exact proportion to its efficacy as a busy place for some time to come. union weapon, is it not?"

He said he thought not. * * * *

These are samples of the libels that in a year. them working. Ramsey remarked to "Windy" Morgan and Colonel Drake members of the Night Bill Force:

There was an old man named Drake, Who is a Grand Army fake With a long telescope The rebellion he broke

And with Grant was in at the wake. There was an old man named Morgin, Who was fond of tootin' his orgin, Till an Arkansas mule,

In a way that was crule, Screwed him up in his coffin. And St. Elizabeth only three miles

* * * *

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR -FOR-

> Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

CONSULT-

Parker, Bridget & Co.,

Washington's Leading Outfitters, . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

and weekly newspaper located in a city of 10,000 in a Western State? The office is well equipped for book and job work, with a bindery attached, and with steam power. The present sole owner has more than he can attend to, He had the shortest, broadest his health not being good, but with a

It is reported that in the recent large fire at Akron, O., Zimri Rogers' photooffice and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E. "All right," said I. "No thumbs, lithographic establishment (or whatever its trade name may be) was entirely destroyed. This is certainly "There you are, d-n you!" he hard luck, for he had not been long established.

> You remember that I said last week that we will have a dividend to pay for the Washington Gaslight Company on the 1st of January. My gas bill was increased 44 4-9 per cent over the preceding month. How much do you have to A. F. BLOOMER. stand for?

Proof Room.

Most everybody showed up the next morning-some with indigestion.

Jim Johnston reported for work Tuesday, after an illness of about ten days. Uncle Zide Ross is back at work again after an absence of several days on account of the grippe.

The Noyes-Roderick feud is much enjoyed, as there is a feeling that no blood will be shed over it.

The festivities of the season were too much for Uncle Zide and Arthur-they were missing the day after Christmas.

The return to the good old custom of "Well, to begin with," said he, half a day before Christmas and New to the people born in this district, but there is the limiting of the number of Year's was greatly appreciated. Keep to the citizens of the United States > to play on one of the messengers was legislation and appropriations from the discovered in time, so everybody was from Illi-noise, last week being spoiled tions of our country. in the compo. we will have to offer corrections in the near future.

Handy Andy was very complimentary to our Mr. Murray, of Pennsylvania, last week. As to thin-spaced knowledge we most respectfully request a reconsideration of the subject. Open up, Handy Andy, be kind to him. He is harmless. We love him and you lack Atkins believes in the turpentine cure.

Bindery Notes.

Franklin Phirman's reference book is Eddie Paudert. Isn't that so, Eddie? Now that wireless telegraphy is a success, the agents of the government

The long-looked for census work is on and the bindery floor will be a very

Louis Stolp must be playing checkers with the landlords. He has made another move. This is the fourth time

Charlie Colne will have some new styles in binding to exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair. He will start work on them after the holidays.

John Burns smiles when he looks at that pretty red necktie the boys presented him with Christmas eve. The other presents are hung on the Christ-

Gus Baver is now waiting for a good fire sale to fit out George Wright. He expects some of his friends in the clothing business in Baltimore will burn out after the holidays.

Do you know of any one with a busi- Bill Lang is now known as "Calen-

Union Made Cigary

of the finest quality. ARMY & NAVY 10 AFTER DINNER 5¢ DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer 504 Ninth St., N.W.

CORBYS

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2835 Brightwood Ave.

Sold by all Grocers-Refuse Substitutes.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

dar Bill." He has been visiting all the stores and breweries are to be obtained and presenting them to his lady friends SODA and MINERAL WATERS

A prominent Washington man asked an employe of the Bindery: "Why do Depot, 1066 Thirty-second Street N. W. you men come here from the States? The bookbinder answered: "Because we believe in the open-door policy, the same as we extended to you when you arrived at Castle Garden in New York. No more questions were asked; and I will say, for the benefit of all men like him, that we, as citizens, should encourage all kinds of improvements, and make Washington the greatest capital of any nation. The city doesn't belong Narrow minded people must realize The trick that Captain Dunlap tried that improvements are obtained by United States treasury, and these people who interest themselves and vote Our poetical effusion on Mr. Noyes, for improvements come from all sec-

> Leadville has twenty two labor unions. Two years ago one organization existed.

Che busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO.

Zooooooooooooooooo To all Judges of Good

BREAD We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredients by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imitate it because it's good

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds SAMUEL C. PALMER,

In Founts, Syphons, and Bottles.
Soda Water Syrups of all Kinds. Telephone 1690.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. Families and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician Phone m 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes
of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON. WALTER V. SMITH......Vice-President .. Secretary W. M. GARRETT..... .. Treasurer JOHN R. BERGOrganizer C. C. HIPKINS. D. E TYRRELL.....Sergeant-at-Arms Doorkeeper FRANK HART..... TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson,

and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

DOMMITTEES.

BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt

L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison.
GRIEVANCE—J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A.

Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Har-vel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and W. F. Reed

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Ackert, and S. W. Taylor.

LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Len-

hart, and Hugh Reid CHAIRMEN. First Division—Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-William McEnaney. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements. Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-J. L. Alverson. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas. Specification Room—W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division—A. M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-R. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division—Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division—H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census—H. L. Shyrock. Evening Star—Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-A. S. Jones. Globe Printing Co.—H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England. National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger. General Postoffice-Granville Harford

AROUND THE PRINTERIES.

Down Town.

Did you turn over that new leaf and press the corner down hard?

At a chapel meeting Thursday Mr. Travis was unanimously elected chairman of the Second Division, G. P. O., and Mr. Drake was elected secretary.

Frank H. Padgett, for a number of years secretary of Columbia Union, No. 101, but now of Baltimore, Md., made this office a pleasant call Monday.

Lewis Clickner, of Troy, N. Y., well known in union circles in that city, is now pleasantly located in the Fourth Division of the Government Printing President Hearst, of Philadelphia Bookbinders' Union, made this office, the cake; and incidently, the egg nogg. accompanied by President Feeney, of Local No. 4, of this city, a pleasant call was able to identify his overcoat only this week.

Word comes from Dunkirk, N. Y., the Dunkirk hospital with typhoid telling how soon the party would have fever since October 23. He is past the broken up if he had. danger point.

Hatchet in this city. Rheumatism was and the cake that Comrade won in this the cause of death and interment was chapel was "divied" among the boys. made at Toronto, Canada.

Shakespeare

4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

passed the cigars to his alleymates. I last June he left for Wauseon, Ohio, have not learned the sex, but Steve is where he entered the hospital. He rea very proud dad.

TRADES UNIONIST was our holiday he passed away December 17, 1901, in contribution to the proprietors. A the 44th year of his age. He was under literary gem is always a mint for a pub- the direct care of Dr. G. W. Hartman, lisher-obituary column included.

The annual banquet of the Society of the Old Third had a number of representatives from the First. A number of great interest on the program when ' wine and walnuts' was reached, was a recitation by Charlie Warren. He rendered scenes from "Hamlet."

stock broker from Iowa, is in the field as a candidate for chairman, and if Richard Croker Cooney, his campaign ceased from his troubles, and his spirit do?" manager, does not have a Low trick is at rest." played on him, Tommy will wear the toga for the next quarter. Will tell you all about it next week.

to record some of its transactions. The annual meeting and election of officers for the ensuing year was held last Saturday evening at the halls of the Council, 618 E street northwest, but owing Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks.

LIBRARY—T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. as large as is customary for this, the to the weather the attendance was not largest fraternal organization in the District of Columbia. The following will be recognized as the most prominent members of Columbia Typographical Union: President-T. A. Bynum; Vice-President-Charles T. Hendler; Speaker-D. V. Chisholm; Ex-President-James W. Hughes; Secretary-Joseph Dierken; Financial Secretary-Charles H. Leeds; Treasurer-George A. Whitford; Chaplain-Isaac C. Haas: Usher-Adolph LeBuffe; Sergeant-at-Arms-H. J. Redfield; Doorkeeper-H. A. Lavisson; Trustees-Charles H. Hyland, Elias Wolfe, and James G. Roberts; Delegates to Cabinet-F. A. Hall, James W. Hughes, T. A. Bynum, T. M. Ring, Charles T. Hendler, C. H. Leeds, and D. V. Chisholm; Delegate to Immediate Relief Association-T. M.

> The sympathy of the First Division is extended to Mr. Charles M. Sizer and family in their bereavement in the death of his little daughter. The sympathy is best expressed in the following resolutions, adopted at the regular quarterly chapel meeting on Monday: have learned of the loss sustained by our efficient and worthy chairman, Charles M. Sizer, in the death of a Arthur Leache as (C.).

Arthur Leache as (C.). child just budding into youth and vigor, and at a time when all the world is enoying the holiday season; therefore,

Resolved, That the First Division parents who have been bereft of one called to His Heavenly Home.

Resolved further, That as a mark of respect this meeting be now adjourned until Thursday, January 2, 1902, at

The chapel sent a handsome and ap propriate floral tribute as a token.

If you want to get a warm lunch or first class board, go to Mrs. Turner's, 821 North Capitol street, northeast.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 coat Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Fourth Division.

Norcross came late, but after a day's calling was still able to do justice to the pockets.

Winchester was induced not to sing

Comrade Maley, always hospitable, At Toronto, Canada, on Friday last gave a pleasant evening's entertain-

One more the grim reaper has in-We are glad to note that Mr. E. C. vaded our midst and taken another Jones, late foreman of the Second member of this chapel, Mr. John E. Division, was the winner of a sub- Sullivan. The sad intelligence was stantial prize given at Cambria, Wis., conveyed recently to Mr. C. H. Gove, for the best translation from English chairman of this chapel. Mr. Sullivan into Welsh of a certain passage from has been a sufferer for a number of has been a suffer for a damper of very much pleased if he should be year, 121; 1901, 1 928 an operation for appendicitis, and al- heard from in the near future Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents: Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents: Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. A a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. A a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. A a.

given a place in the Proof Room hold-Mr. Steve Wall is very quiet about it, ing copy after his return to work, but ceived the best of attention, but medi-Thirty new subscribers for THE cal skill was unable to save him, and who states that death was caused by hemorrhages of the stomach, bowels, and kidneys. The writer knew Mr. was uniformly kind and courteous to

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on While not purely and simply a Gov- Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December ernment Printing Office institution, still 3, 1901, and continue same during the the affairs of Government Printing Office session of Congress. Everything first Council, No. 211, National Union, are so class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's closely allied to the interests of printers | Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free. that it is a matter of welcome news to Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cookthe readers of The Trades Unionist ing to order. Your patronage solicited.

JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street.

Fifth Division.

John H. Bastable, C. M. O'Connell, and Ed. Heidingsfeld were on the sick list this week.

The boys in alley I made up a Christmas purse for Simon Pocher, and he officers were elected, a number of whom remembered them with a box of cigars on New Year's.

The strippers and the men in the Y love. worked last Sunday. There are some 6,000 pages in the Y to go to the foundry more. and overtime is necessary to make headway against this great amount of with friends and relatives in the Windy work.

F. H. Hopkins, jr., one of the Washington printers, was located in this fledged Sym. When you get trusted room last week. He received his ap- see "Davy." pointment some weeks ago but was unable to come sooner on account of jury service.

The Statistical Abstract is now running in this room. It is part pick-up in old Bruce type. Although old Bruce was nominally discarded a long time ago it still bobs up on occasions. However, its visits are acceptable with the pick-up.

H. J. Smith's sending his South Carolina neighbor on a fool's errand to the lead cutter in the Second Division is a trait of the Smith family as revealed by his traditional ancestor, Captain John, who sent Powhattan's warriors to the

Arthur Jacobs, or "Jakev," as he is familiarly known among us, returned home from his work Monday evening and found "something doin'." The Chapel, G. P. O., extends its condolence to Mr. Sizer in his affliction, and a radiant smile and a box of cigars, and next morning he came to the office with express the hope that a brighter and we smoked to the health of the junior hetter day may be in store for the member of the family, a 9-pound boy who put in his appearance December

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

SUGAR COATED PERSONALITIES. "Cap L" is too modest. He is a valuable addition to the ranks of the anti-scrap, bouquet-tossing fraternity.

If Solomon had lived in the time of Ottinger perhaps he might have made it read, "Oh, that mine enemy would write a paragraph!"

"Temp's" column is much missed and let us hope it will appear again on Christmas in appreciation of his that Warren C. Browne, the New York newspaper man, has been confined in newspaper man, has been confined in thoughtfulness as paymaster. printed in this paper.

It is to be hoped that "Cycle" will not get too close to the Ottinger John- vice-president, Miss Louisa Gunton; occurred the death of William J Arm- ment to a few friends New Year's ston ringside. It would be sad as well occurred the death of William J and as well as painful if one of the soulful swats or strong, for many years the editor of the night. Good things were in abundance involved the soulful swats or involved the same as the same as the swats of the soulful swats or involved the same as the sa joyous jabs or swirling swi gs of that McDermot, Miss Ella M. Wallace, J. W scrap of the giants should go astray Carter, and F. H. Melick. and land on "Cycle's" solar plexus.

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS. Sullivan well, and always found him to be a pleasant, affable gentleman, who

all. We extend to his bereaved ones heard from again is the wish of those our heartfelt sympathy in their sad who enjoyed his little pleasantry of last affliction, and pray that their sore hearts week. After reading it one felt like ex-Handsome Tommy Harris, the mining may be healed by the Father above, claiming, in the language of the good who "doeth all things well," and that old woman to the bad little boy, "Rodthey may be able to see that "he has erick Dhu, why do you like you do

> Joe McCann's "Proofreader's Vision" was probably read with gusto by all the poetry-reading brotherhood. But mince pie is by no means the only vision producer. If Joe wants to have real vengeance on the proofreader he should take him out some New Year Day and go the rounds in old-time Washington style. This means that he eat about a pound and a half of fruit cake washed down by five quarts of egg-nog. Provided the specific gravity of the cake is sufficient to fully develop the levity of the nog, there is no question that this treatment will land the most hardened proofreader among the animals in Queer street almost any time within twenty-four hours. ADAM BUGG.

> > Job Room

"They say" John Goodrick is in

A. H. Potts spent Christmas in Balti

Steve Elkins is spending the holidays The Job Room now boasts of a full-

We are awfully glad we could be "spared," and certainly did enjoy our half holidays. Joseph K. Davison is no spring chicken, but he had a Christmas tree just the same.

J. L. C. Wilson has returned from Kansas and has our deepest sympathies in the loss of his mother. Ben Connolly, of the Proof Room, escent, and we hope soon to see him A. M. Butler, one of the candidates for chairman, put himself in the hands who has been seriously ill, is conval-

Judge Tallman is our new chairman. He climbed in with both feet and did a double shuffle after he got there. We doff our hats to the Annex. SMART ALEX.

Specification Notes.

Birthington's washday next. Our office cat has assumed new responsibilities.

Miss Ida M. Copenhoven was given cases on Monday. The labors of the day were concluded with a song service by the choir at noon on Tuesday.

Edsall, Armstrong, Naylor, McGarraghy, Harstin, and Sheridan came up from the Record to help out during re-

Word comes from Albany, N. Y. that the recent serious illness of Harvey Southwick-has resulted in almost total loss of his eyesight.

A long, loud, and harmonious hurrah for the President was the result of the peremptory order which gave us a half holiday on Tuesday.

The members of this chapel contributed a basket of fruit to Major Clifford

The symposium has opened its doors to bu iness with the following named as officers: President, J W. Carter; secretary treasurer; F. H. Melick; governing board, Ed R. French, Frank

The comparative growth of Patent Contributor Moynihan has not been Office business, beginning with 1837 and heard from for so long that he is about closing with the present calendar year forgotten. As a writer of terse and is shown as follows: 1837, 436 patents, thought u prose and really readable no reissues; 1901, 25,558 patents, 81 reverses he is unexcelled in this neck of ssues. Designs, 1843 (first year), 14; the woods. His admirers wou'd be 1901, 1734 Trade marks, 1870 (first

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

X-MAS GIFTS

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.—that combine beauty and long service with very inexpensive prices.

A great many articles in Sterling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA

Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREET

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE

Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of

LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland,

Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas.. UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL. WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

-VISIT-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts.

Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Phone Main 1768. Established 1873. S. H. HINES & CO., UNDERTAKERS, EMBALMERS AND FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

1315 14th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

SPECIAL OFFER for all Dental Work. Guaranteed Set of Teeth $5.00. The Evans Dental Parlors. 1309 F St. N. W. No Branch Office

Phone Main 1879.

J. H. BRADLEY & CO., Undertakers and Embalmers,

443 Seventh Street S. W.

Is becoming more popular every day—people are just beginning to realize its good qualities. "Oronoco" is the best thing you can take for a cold. 50c full pint; $1 quat. Delivered anywhere. 'Phone 2134 Your order.

EDWARD J. QUINN, 604 Pa. Ave.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at

Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher

1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS.

MELVALE Specialties.

SHERWOOD Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 21c. PER CUE.

THOMAS WALSH, 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. ng and Binding of every description. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per mo.

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

25 300 1-ib. Loaves to the Barrel

Every Laboring Man -- requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of—

Cream Blend Flour

not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO. Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

desesses sessessed J. L. KERVAND.

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

1012 Penna. Ave. - - Washington, D. C.

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts,

Etc. Certificates of Stock.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

COPYRIGHTS &C.

Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 Broadway. New York

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood. 211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET.

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 605 F Street N. W.

Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER, Fine Wines and Liquors. BLUB LABBL CIGARS 1219 E Street Northwest.

LUNCH

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St. nw.

"Full Dress."

- Full Dress Suits,
- Tuxedo Suits, Full Dress Shirts,
- Full Dress Neckwear, -Full Dress Gloves

In fact everything proper for your New Year's calling attire.

D. J. KAUFMAN. 1005-7 Pa. Ave.

Special Attention to Merchant Tailoring UITS AND OVER-YOUR MEASURE

W. D. Tennille, 709 7th St. N.W., Union Clothier, Furnisher, and Hatter for Men and Boys.

We close at 6 o'clock week days and 9 o'clock Saturday.

Record Notes.

Happy New Year, brothers.

Now that the days of busied preparation for the holidays are over, we will Union Debating Society. We can easily

To Mr. George B. Ward, of the Record, our sympathy is extended, he having suffered an irreparable loss in the death of a devoted sister last week. The ways of Providence are sometimes inscrutable, and never more than when a widowed mother is called above, leaving a little child to struggle with the dangers of a parentless existence. But, brother, if, as we believe, God is our Father," almighty and all-wise, proving. what He does is not to be rebelled at by us, so helpless and blind as to futur-

The present liberal administration has decided to revert to the recently discontinued but time-honored custom of former years, of excusing with pay the Federal employes of the national capital on the eves of mid-winter holidays. This action on the part of departmental heads was, it is understood, taken at the request of President Roosevelt, whose ability to enter with hearty appreciation into popular feeling has been strongly evinced throughout his public career. To the officers of Columbia Union, and the other gentlemen who laid the matter of a Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls. half-holiday on the days preceding Christmas and New Year's before President Roosevelt for consideration, the thanks of the many workers employed in the G. P. O. are gratefully extended, as well as to the Public Printer and his division foremen, who assumed the implied responsibility of excusing from duty all whose services were actually extend heartfelt wishes for a year of he recovered sufficiently to remark, official and personal prosperity and suc-

Our gifted friend and fellow chapel member, Mr. W. T. Talbott, has chosen for a nom de plume one quite at variance with his clever personality. Perhaps he holds, with the Bard-

That which we call a rose

By any other name would smell as sweet. Over the signature of "Adam Bugg" he has contributed many interesting columns to THE TRADES UNIONIST yet, as remarked by many, not one line of his bright epigrams and clever verses was ever penned at the expense of another's feelings. What gain we, brother scribblers, if our shafts, be they ever so true and skillfully aimed, rankle in the breasts of friends? We are of one family, mostly under one roof, that of this vast governmental workshop; brothers of the same craft, be we reader or compositor; brothers in unionism, and, more or less, of the pen. Let us forego belittling, unworthy sarcasm, and try, with dear "Bugg," to write as entertainingly as our individual capaeity, great or limited. may permit, for the benefit of our fellow craftsmen and craft paper.

But, speaking of things that "rankle," how is this? It is related to me (don't know whether it's truth or jest) that quite recently a very interested observer, of the fair sex (commas, please), was being escorted through the greatest printery in the world by a courteous guide who took great pains to explain the details of our office routine. She in a private family, with heat and gas listened attentively, but with the conscious, out-of-place constraint of one "doing" the Chinese quarter, to the statements that herein were employed 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

3,691 people; that the output of the establishment, though enormous, increased with each session of Congress; that the first volume of census reports had just been completed, Director Merriam having thanked the Public Printer for so pushing the work as to surpass all first volume records by three and a half years, etc. The manner and bearing of the fair sight-seer became gradually relaxed to something approaching naturalness; keenly observant, she looked with pleased surprise down the vast room wherein the First and Second Divisions are employed, with the annex of the Third in the far perspective, all as active as bees in a giant hive of industry, yet in the main so neat in appearance for workingmen; finally she murmured, halpityingly, "They look quite contented, though.'

"Why, madam," said the surprised guide, "they should. They receive a month's leave-while the fund lastsannually, all the holidays, and recently a half day before the holidays, if they can be spared. They are paid 50 cents for each working hour."

"Indeed!" came the astounded ejaculation. "I thought they were convicts!" L. J. CLEMENTS, Convict 46, Cell 6, Record.

Death of Thomas H. Greenfield.

Thomas H. Greenfield, an employe of the Third Division, Government have time to reorganize Columbia Printing Office, residing at 715 Third Fourth Division notes in your issue of street northwest, died at the Homeoget together and talk it over, anyway. pathic Hospital, in this city, about noon Sunday last, of Bright's disease, aged forty-eight years.

He came here from Greensburg, Ind. On November 5, 1901, he was married to Hattie May Foland, of Albany, N. Y. His illness has been of about a month's duration and about two weeks ago he underwent an operation at the above named hospital, and his death came suddenly as he was apparently im-

The floral offerings of his fellowworkmen of the Third Division of the Government Printing Office were very ine, consisting of a cresent of white flowers interspersed with purple and a large bouquet of roses.

He was a member of Columbia Union and his remains were accompanied by his wife to his old home in Greensburg,

A wife and aged mother, who have the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances in their bereavement, survive him.

May he rest in peace.

Open at 4 a. m. Pan Roast, 10 cents.

Handy Andy's Aphorisms.

We have a man in the Press Room

'Insult to injury."

The bookbinders' yellow journal announcement of their annual entertainment was replete with poems by Composer Feeney and also a pretty ballad entitled, "Kitty and Me," (note the correction), dedicated to a young lady named Miss Kitty Byrnes.

The young lady who threw herself in front of a Berwyn car the other day with the intention of committing suicide, did not know the road as well as we is to get on board and freeze to death.

man recently in his native city.

in which he is held by them. Pity we that Davy says: were not as thoughtful as they for there is no one more deserving of the consideration of all of us than this most accommodating cashier.

HANDY ANDY.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| Resona Bros Gents' furnishers 820 f st. and 523 Seventh st. n. Gents' furnisher 720 Seventh street n.w. 720 F st. and 523 Seventh street n.w. 720 | | NAME. | BUSINESS. | LOCATION. |
|---|---|---|---|--|
| | | Haines' Southeast Store. Keenan Bros B. Solomon. Zufus H. Darby. H. L. McQueen. N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). E. Gundershiemer. Peter Grogan J. Mangan. John H. Fitzgerald S. S. Daish. Wilbur F. Nash C. E. Hencke Sheets & Miller James A. Bennett Louis A. Dieter National Mosaic Company. I. Grosner. M. Minster. A. H. McGhan. A. Minster. Charles Walters A. Markward Cyrus B. Reese. C. A. Schneider & Sons Boston Steam Laundry. Tolman Steam Laundry. Wash. Traction & Electric Co. Minster & Paterson. The Famous. Chas. A. Muddiman & Co. Joseph Mathey. A. S. Reavis. | Department store. Gents' furnishers Gents' furnisher. Printer. Printer. Printer. Cigar manufacturer. Baker Carpet dealer. Horseshoer Horseshoer Coal and wood Meat dealer. Electrician Electrician Electrician Electrician Contacting Gents' furnisher. Painter and contractor Gents' furnisher Carriage Builder. Contracting painter. Employing steamfitter. Union Iron Works. Laundry. Street Railway. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishers. Gents' furnishers. Stove dealer and tin worker. Tin, stove, cornice works. | Eighth and Penna. avenue s.e. 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.w. 708 Seventh street n.w. 508 Fourteenth street n.w. 1108 E street n.w. 1101 Penna. avenue n.w. 516 Second street n.w. and stall in Center Market. 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w. 443 Prather's alley n.w. Florida ave and Third st. n.e. Center and O st. Markets. 711 G street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2008 H street n.w. 2007 Fourth st. n.w. 914 F st. and 803 Market Space 1343 F st. n.w. 817 E st. n.w. 499 and 501 Penna ave. n. w. Fourteenth and J streets n.w. 609 G street n. w. 1519 Fourteenth street n. w. 1512 Twelfth street n. w. 1514 Twelfth street n. w. 1515 Thourteenth street n. w. 1516 Thourteenth street n. w. 1517 E st. n.w. 1518 Fourteenth street n. w. 1519 Thourteenth street n. |
| | - | Palmer, S. C | | 1066 Thirty-second street n. w. |

A Good Suggestion.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., December 24, 1901.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: This little paragraph among the December 12 attracted my attention: Why not send a generous contribution to the sick and disabled at the Printers' Home as a Christmas present?

I hope Columbia 101 will act on this suggestion. Although residents at the Home are admirably cared for so far as creature comforts go, any trifling act of remembrance brings a glow to the hearts of these stranded veterans which those surrounded by home ties can hardly realize. Having been among them, I feel safe in venturing the assertion that nothing would be more acceptable than an invoice of up-to-date fiction for the library. Printers are great readers, and there is no fund hour and nine hours' work. available to supply their natural cravings in this direction. Of course, to read comfortably one must have a good smoke, so a few boxes of cigars would accepted time

CHARLES PAYNE SMITH.

Bill Sykes Communicates. EDITORS THE TRADES-UNIONIST:

Recent doings in the Job Division may be of interest. We were almost thrown into hysterics when our Uncie ceeded the eight-hour day. They have Davy announced that, owing to honors thrust upon him by the new Sym., he could not again serve us as chairman. who once earned a living as an itinerant He has filled the office with such satispreacher. To what base uses do we faction to all that we hated awfully to Britain. let him go; but when Davy puts his Sikken stumbled over a truck-handle 250-pound feet down something must in the Press Room the other day and give way, so we let him go his own fell striking his head somewhat forcibly gait, He is a "go-as-I-please fellow, indispensable. To all these, the em. on the edge grain Georgia pine. Some anyway, especially in things worldly. ployes of the Congressional Record one gave him ice water and after a time The burning question now was, "Who shall be our next chairman?" The 'Annexers' felt slighted because they had not been honored with the office for a long time, though among them is excellent timber in the shape of an exlegislator, ex delegates to I. T. U., exeditors, ex-foremen, ex-proprietors, ex-doctors, ex-lawyers, and not least the extra obliging ex-farmer from 'over yonder" in I O A-" Sappho." 'Sappho's" numerous friends insisted that he was the legitimate candidate. and in the hot electioneering for him cigars were freely circulated in his who are obliged to ride on it twice a name, and his rare ability extolled. day. The only way to die on this line At the chapel meeting everyone was interested, and the Annexationists trees require at least 500,000 cords Congressman Kearns, of Illinois, or- were out in force. The candidates ganized the first pressmen's union in were Grandpa Goodrick-who, by the Belleville. Cheer up, boys, perhaps way, still makes it lively for trouble there's some chance for us. That re- hunters, as Cal and others can tellminds me, Herbert Bugden, a brother Bill Sypher (Sappho), Judge Tallman of the little man in the Job Press Room, and Butler, the rusher. Grandpa deand 'himself a member of No. 23, at clined; so did Bill. However, Bill con. Albany, N. Y., was elected an alder- sented to act as teller, and by his zealous work and manipulation of the bal-The cowboys and other highbinders lots "that dog-goned Butler" was dedid a most gracious thing when they feated, and Jolly Juicy Judge T. was presented Major Clifford with a mag- wasted into office by a vote of 51 to 28. nificently framed pastel of himself as a Looked at from all points, the Judge is Christmas reminder of the esteem in well fitted to fill Davy's seat, except I'm glad salvation's free."

While Judge T. spouts theosaphy. Let us have peace, good will and a Happy New Year for all is the wish of

BILL SYKES.

Wanted. A good advertisement and subscription solicitor at this office; one who is not affected with climatic lassitude only need apply. References or ability must be given or shown. Good commission paid. Apply at this office.

Labor Notes.

Honolulu plumbers get $5.50 a day. Iowa has a young women bill poster. Michigan supplies half the country's Denver wagon-workers enjoy the eight-hour day.

The New York Aquarium possesses the only fish hospital in the world.

The Broom-makers' Union issues a round million of labels each month for union-made brooms.

A co operative wagon factory, with a capital stock of $150,000, is being organized at Cincinnati.

Two big hills in the single State of Missouri contain 500,000,00 tons of the highest grade of iron ore.

workers have struck for 25 cents an

Texas has mountains of solid marble -through which a great river has slowly cut its way during the centuries.

The amount of timber used every year for ties alone in the United States is his wife to his old home in Greensburg, Ind., where interment took place on Wednesday.

The nearby unions have been generous in the United States is equivalent to 3,000,000,000 feet of lumber.

About 620,000,000 cross ties are now laid on American railroads, and 90,000, 000 new ties are required annually for renewals.

Cincinnati, Newport and Covington firemen in breweries have been conbeen working twelve.

In the west there are 200,000 square miles of coal land—about forty times McGREGOR & ASHLEY, more than all the coal fields of Great Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand. miles of coal land-about forty times

It is one of the laws of the International Typographical Union that a member who publishes a falsehood about another member shall be ex-

In the United States the total a consumption of timber for ties and poles is equvalent to the amount of timber grown on 100,000 acres of good virgin

Our coal supply is twenty times greater than that of all the countries of Europe, and while the English dig deeper down into their narrow coal beds, we have thousands of miles of coal fields near the surface.

For making shoe pegs the amount of wood used in a single year in the United States is equal to the product of fully 3,500 acres of good second growth hardwood land. Last and boot-

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room for laboratory purposes, have removed my office to No. 316 H street northwest, just opposite old location.

Dr. T. J. McConnell.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, JAN. 6.

Press Eldridge, Commander-in-Chief of the Army of Fun. J. WILLIAM LEE,

And a large cast, comprising

MANY POPULAR FAVORITES.

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man—

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

New York tinners and sheetiron The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

> BOOTS AND SHOMS. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

CIGARS. 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755. COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO.,

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

FLORIST.

Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180, FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W GROCERIES. "Good things to eat." PAGE,

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats.

HARDWARE AND TOOLS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest. LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY,

13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

FOSBURG & MURRAY, Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS.

JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST.

All the news. VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's), PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts.

PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W.

PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM.

JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E TEAS AND COFFEES. REAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO

501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores. TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE,

101 H St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest.

SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's, beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

NUF CED.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 30.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

HAMERSTROM PRESIDENT

Election of Officers.

The New Officers Take Charge-Many Credentials Received and Passed Upon-Grievance Committee Report-A Large Number of Communications Read and placed on file; also from Referred to Proper Channels.

bor Union was called to order Monday Grievance Committee; also from evening at 7:50 o'clock, with President Feeney in the chair.

A roll call of officers showed all present.

were read and approved.

A motion prevailed by which the election of officers was made a special order of business for 9 o'clock.

Credentials were received from Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161, certifying J. N. Pistorio, J. B. Caldwell, E. M. Tansill, W. S. Crown and W. H. Mohler; also from

United Brotherhood of Leather Workers certifying H. J. Laubach, A. J. Heard, R. D. Pollard, F. W. Kneissi and T. T. Mack; also from

75, certifying B. V. Walz, Jesse Russell, John Sheehan and Harry Hayden; also from Columbia Lodge of Machinists, No. and W. H. Henzie; also from Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, certifying Chris Sprosser, S. E. Foster, Thomas Boyd, James Marvel and Fred D. Wells; also from

R. A. Lanis Association of Steam-Fitters, Local No. 10 N. A., certifying Thomas I. Gaut, E. J. Ratigan, D. L. Condon, H. T. Rodgers and John A. Brett; also from

United Brewery Workmen, No. 118, certifying Henry Haeberle, George Miller, William Meyers, Kasper Graef and Frank Rom; also from

Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, No. 5, certifying Charles W. Winslow, W. A. Morrison, Maurice Finley, Chas. W. Sheirer and Charles E. Barber; also from

United Brotherhood of Carpenters Hersley, E. M. Van Ness, R. Morrison, to him during his administration. Ed McClelland and G. B. Davis; also

Stone Masons, No. 2, certifying Daniel Sullivan, Conrad Barrow, Joseph Lally; also from

Steel and Copper Plate Printers, No. 2, certifying H. W. Szegedy, A. W. with. Granted. Stockton, John O. W. Koontz, P. J. Sheehan and Frank M. Cahill; also ing resolution, which was indorsed:

fying Peter Hahn, C. A. Cook, John H. Wingate, John H. Brahler and John Ester; also from Ceramic Encaustic and Mosaic Tile Layers, No. 2, certifying W. E. Thompson, Frank Wilson and W. L. Hagemann; also from Steam Fitters' Helpers, No. 28, certifying Thomas F. Flannigan, William Walsh, E. Hancock, W. H. Richard and J. W. Start; also from

Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, No. 68, Alexandria, certifying Lewis Ochse, William Driscoll and Walter

The credentials were referred to the Committee on Credentials and on favorable report the delegates were obligated and seated. A communication from United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, No. 190, indorsing the action of its delegates in the controversy between the their organization and the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, was read and ordered placed on file; also from Cigarmakers' Union, No. 58, of Montreal, Canada, requesting moral and Carpenters and Joiners was laid on the financial assistance in aid of strike now table until next meeting at 9 p. m.

file; also from

The Carborundum Company, replying to a notification from this body that The Central Labor Union Holds Its its products were considered as unfair, was read and referred to Federal Labor Union of Niagara Falls; also from

W. E. Kennedy, stating that he was ill and unable to be present to make a THE FILIPINO A GOOD PRINTER OPPOSED BOND ISSUED PLAN report from Suffrage Committee, was read and placed on file; also from

Steam Fitters' Helpers and Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, notifying this body of the election of certain officers, was read

Barbers' Union, No. 239, requesting that this body indorse its action in placing the B. & O. Hotel barber shop on The regular meeting of Central La- the unfair list, was read and referred to

R. A. Lanis Association of Steam-Fitters, No. 10, notifying this body that The minutes of the previous meeting and placed on file; also from body in organizing a local of that craft information hard to get. One has to the organizers; also from

Secretary Frank Morrison, request- Mr. Jones and I had a delightful trip ing a copy of Building Trades Section across the States. My sister went as card, was read and referred to Building far as Ogden with me. We met Mr. J. Trades Section; also from and Joiners, requesting this body to in- four days at San Francisco. We left dorse its action in placing the Robert San Francisco, September 16, and ar-Portner Brewing Company on its un- rived at Honolulu on the 25th. That is Bartenders International League, No. fair list, was read and referred to Grievance Committee.

The hour of 9 o'clock having arrived long to tell you all I would like about the special order of business was taken the place. We were there days. up. The chair declared the nomination Stokes, L. P. Welfry, Jacob Hingstler appointed Delegates Szegedy and Pistorio as tellers.

> The following officers were elected: Machinists' Union.

> Vice President-William Silver, of Granite Cutters' Union. Recording Secretary-Charles W.

Winslow, of Iron Workers' Union.

of Iron Workers' Union. Treasurer-J. M. Heisley, of Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Auditors-J. H. Babcock, of Typographical Union; J. J. Crowley, of hard time to get home. Granite Cutters' Union; Moses Peyton, of Hod Carriers' Union.

of Stonemasons' Union.

President Feeney made a brief address thanking the delegates for the Governor and found him to be a very and Joiners, No. 190, certifying J. M. kind and courteous treatment extended busy man. However, we found out

On motion of Delegate Winslow a sing vote of thanks was tendered the retiring President.

Grievance Committee reported on Favorosia, Patrick Dillon and John the case of E. N. Richards, paperhanger, and recommended that the request Office, so we called at an opportune of Paperhangers' Union be complied time. We went to see the building that Delegate Silver introduced the follow-from

Amalgamated Society Carpenters and Joiners, certifying J. D. McKay, Andrew Murray, R. L. Smallwood, J. B. Galliford aud L. B. Peterson; also from Cigarmakers' Union, No. 110, certification, No. 110, certifying A. Cook, John H.

ity of the residents of the National Capital; and
WHEREAS, Under the present system of taxation, the enormous increase in land values, due entirely to the growth of the community, are monopolized by a comparatively small number of land owners and speculators; and
WHEREAS, A number of improvements are necessary for the health of the community and to beautify the city; and
WHEREAS, An honest and full assessment on land alone, now (in violation of law) assessed at only a small fraction of its true value, would afford an ample revenue for all public needs; and
WHEREAS, The effect of relieving improvements from taxation and raising the public revenues by a tax on land values would be to encourage the building of more and better houses, to take from land its speculative and monopoly value and thereby enable many more of our people to secure homes of their own than under the present system of taxation; therefore, ion: therefore, Resolved, That the Central Labor Union of Resolved, That the Central Labor Union of washington, D. C., is opposed to the issuin, of additional bonds by the District of Columbia under the present system of taxation but favors the raising of $5,000,000 or more, it was the columbia under the present of taxation but favors the raising of $5,000,000 or more, it was the columbia taxation but favors the raising of $5,000,000 or more, it was the columbia tax in the columbia bia under the present system of taxation, but favors the raising of $5,000,000 or more, if necessary (Congress to appropriate a like sum), by a tax on land values exclusive of improvements, on franchises, and on such occupations as it may be deemed wise to tax for the public welfare, for the purpose of beautifying and improving the National Capital, increasing and purifying its water supply, improving and enlarging its sweerage system, extending its streets and avenues, enlarging its park area, and for the erection of additional schoolhouses and other necessary municipal buildings.

Special Committee report on United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, No. 190, vs. Amalgamated Society of The Washington Contingent Now Pleasantly Located.

A Very Interesting Letter Depicting the Natives from J. A. Hoggsette to W. J. Dow, of the Fifth Division of the Govand Their Location.

Manila, P. I., Nov. 16, 1901. MY DEAR FRIEND WILL-this way since we left San Francisco.

at Pueblo. We had a few hours at United Brotherhood of Carpenters Denver, Salt Lake, and Ogden, and spot of all-and it would take me too

274, certifying Charles H. Squier, E. S. and election of officers in order, and entire trip. Mr. Jones did not miss a they want. Mr. Jones wrote out the drink and lunch, and sit and listen to meal, but I can not say that much for orders from the prices I obtained. We Filipino orchestras. These people are, not want the food. We were entering President—John H. Hamerstrom, of Manila Bay as the Sheridan was pulling Kendall is helping on this and we get play whole operas without a line of out for United States and our mail was to do a few other things. sent over in the "gig." The Sheridan went aground and the Warren was sent to relieve her at Nagasaki. The Warren went aground in the Inland Sea, Financial Secretary—W. A. Morrison, and the Hancock was sent to relieve fix the building and $200,000 to pay for ipino band, and if you have an opporher but went aground herself, and now the plant. the Thomas has been sent to relieve the Hancock. The Congressional party on board the Sheridan are having a But Mr. Jones and I arrived in Manila feeling fine and thus far we so continue. Sergeant-at-Arms-Daniel Sullivan, Ed has gained ten pounds and looks better than he ever did. After getting settled in a hotel, we reported to the that we would come under the Department of Education, Commissioner Bernard Moses. In his office we found the Chief Architect in consultation with Mr. Moses in regard to remodeling a building for the Government Printing had been saved for us, and found it O. K.; that is, with the addition of another floor. This was also their plan and was what they had under discussion. The architect arrived from New York only a week ahead of us, diagrams of the floors. There could rice and grab together. not have been a better location or a machines. The former job was be- here, but their prices are high.

put a quietus on our wait, and has been as Filipinos. whole crowd together again.

and during the month that we have turbance has been nipped in the bud. been here we have placed over 400] amounted to $5,000. We have a carro- son. certainly a beautiful place-the garden mata at our disposal, and it keeps me going continually attending to this riding along the Bay front, on the Luwork; getting requisitions in one end neta. There is always some band play-possible and as soon as the foundation Horse races are held every Sunday at or the presses and the uprights for the the Country Club, but they are no good. second story are put up and the floors fixed, it will be used temporarily for prices. It is on the pool system. Then the whole plant. The type arrived a there are the cock-fights. Every Sunweek ago and the balance of the material day you can see about every young is expected daily. A small engine was Filipino with a rooster under his arm left in the building and is sufficient to going "somewhere." We have seen drive the presses. Operations will several of these. These people are commence as soon as the machinery great gamblers-little fellows on the is installed.

There are fifty Chinos working on going to do his best. I will inclose live on rice-all get around a pot of

As to living (board), this is the worst more suitable building selected; it is feature of it all. To board at a hotel it ideal. The building is, you might say, would cost $75 per month. Jones and situated in the Botanical Gardens, and I were at the Hotel Metropole until the is on the fashionable driveway to the others arrived. Gessler met a friend Luneta. It is surrounded by a large of his from Washington-Major Coffin, area of ground which is to be landscaped paymaster in the army, upon his arrival and fixed up elegantly. It is about 175 here, and the Major put us on to a feet from the front gate to the building. pretty good boarding-house. Gessler, It was formerly used as a hospital and Kendall, Jones and I are together. also an Art building by the Spaniards. We have a room about one-half as large Gessler has taken some pictures of it as the Fifth Division-four beds, three as it now is and he will take some more tables, wardrobe, chairs, etc. We have when it is completed. We had no work it fixed up very nicely. We pay $40 cided to remain. Kendall and I have in making a selection of the building apiece. Our meals are on the Amerand were congratulating ourselvelves ican style, and plenty of it. Thus far cided to send for ours. that all we would have to do was to we have no kick. Mr. Leech is at the look wise, draw our plans for the com- Oriente Hotel. Most of the others are what kind of paper this is that I am posing room, and wait-principally, at the Colonial Hotel. The beds are a writing on. Well, it is Spanish revenue wait. Three days later we went to the little hard, but after one becomes ac- paper, and each sheet was worth, in Palace again to see how thing were pro- customed to them they are all right. pesos, what it is stamped. The paper gressing and, to our surpise, found They have no springs or mattresses, work. We were received with open but have a cane bottom, like the cane- Catalonia Province, Spain. On this amalgamate the unions whose members arms; work was pouring in from all the seated chair. It is drawn very tight. paper all legal instruments, such as are employed by the various railroads Departments. This work had to be All you have under you is a strawgiven to private firms, and the man in woven mat and a sheet. They all have and the Spaniards made these people with the wholesale houses of the city, charge of it was about to leave for the canopy tops and mosquito-bar curtains. pay so much a sheet for it, according for the purpose of united action. The United States. This was one job-to The evenings are delightful, and we to the instrument. It ranges from 5 council has now a membership of about take charge of this printing. Another sleep under a light cover. It gets quite cents to 20 pesos. Besides paying so 15,000, and if its plan is successful it will on in that city, was read and placed on FROM FAR OFF PHILIPPINES were two of us) was: they had a little are not so awful warm, and in the build- had to be added to each sheet. For a total of three million impressions. This teristics. I see about as many Chinese the cause of us being very busy men. We hear all kind of rumors of upris-We run along this way until the Han- ings of the natives here in Manila. I have deferred writing for a few days cock arrived, and Mr. Leech was a sur- Precautions have been taken, and I Mr. Jones and I have been very busy mate with the women, and many a dis- at this office.

The rainy season was to be over orders for printing, amounting up into when we arrived, but last week it rained the thousands of dollars. One order for six days without a stop. I guess was for blank books and it alone that was about the wind-up of the sea-of the city, prices in another, and have ing there. There are several places We had perfect weather during the to drive all over the city to learn what where you can go and get something to myself; I was not sea-sick, but just did will have to continue this work until it without doubt, the finest musicians in can be done at the Government office. the world. I have seen and heard them music. Sundays you can listen to sev-About the first thing was to have our eral native bands of 50 or 60 pieces play status determined. The Commission on the streets. They dispense the finpassed a bill establishing a Bureau of est article of band music I have ever Printing. $50,000 was appropriated to heard. There is now in America a Filtunity you want to see and hear them. The last of the crowd arrived on the At our boarding house we have a na-12th of November and from observation tive boy, about 17 years old, that is all no more will be sent for. There are a right on a piano. He plays at each great many American printers (some meal. One of the men gave him the union men) available here, and the music to "Belle of New York." He natives are better printers than we played it through twice by music, and thought they were and can be depended now goes from start to finish without Cap. and G. High Balls. on more than we expected. The press music. The same with the "Burgoroom contains 3 Miehles, 1 Cottrell, master." Boothby brought that over. 5 Gordons, and all the latest machinery. I said about the only amusement was Work is being pushed as rapidly as carriage riding. I want to amend that. You have to pick the winner; no other streets pitching pennies.

About the only amusement is carriage

Furnishings, such as handkerchiefs. the building and they receive 12½ cents sox and undershirts are reasonable. I and as this is his first job here, he is per day and make money at that. They bought one half dozen undershirts that would have cost me $1.50 each in Washington for 65 cents each. He asked me $1 50 for these shirts and then came down to 65 cents. The Chinese carry their pack and come to the houses.

I do not know what the men who have families to come are going to do. There are no houses vacant, nor are there any being built. Every transport brings more, and Manila is rapidly filling up. There are now nearly 10,000 Americans here. Jones, Gessler, Powers and Rouzee have sent for their wives. That means that they have dedecided to remain, but have not de-

Now, you have wondered all this time tion. is called "Catalan," and was made in (of course they had to have two—there cool along in the morning. The days much a sheet, internal revenue stamps increase its members to 40.000.

printing office of their own. This little ings it is quite pleasant. All have a a long while this was all the paper the office was captured from Aguinaldo supply of white clothes. These and Americans could get hold of to print during his hiking over the mountains cigars are the only things that are their blanks, etc. The Americans capof Northern Luzon, and had been aug- cheap. A nice suit of white drill for tured over a million bundles of it-a mented by two 10x15 Gordons, two $3.50 and a fine duck or pique for $5. ream to a bundle. The Spaniards Hickok ruling machines, two Latham's The laundry bills are small. Your burned about one-half of their supply, Monitor perforators, and two Hickok work is done for $2.50 or $3 per month, so you can imagine how much they had numbering machines. In Aguinaldo's no matter how many pieces, suits in- on hand. When I was at the "little" outfit was two small cylinder (stop) cluded. They do very good work. print shop I had occasion to call for 200 presses and they are curious looking There is an American steam laundry bundles, and went over to the internal revenue building to see about getting Life, Customs, and Characteristics of the stowed on Mr. Jones; the latter on me. All in all, this is certainly a great it. I went down to the basement and There are twelve natives and four place, and I do not believe I will ever there was, I thought, about a million Americans working in this little plant. regret coming here. The sights of the bundles left. Thousands of scratch ernment Printing Office-Our Printers The first order that I received was for natives are novel. It would take me a pads are now being made of it. In this four different blank receipt books, a week to tell you all about their charac- same place were piled thousands of bundles of uncanceled revenue stamps. Among the last lot I found a long legal instrument of twenty pages of 25-cent denomination and a 5-cent revenue stamp on each sheet. I will save this with the hope that I might be able to prised man to find us "holding down" hardly believe the Filipino would stand as a relic. It is in Spanish. I also the National Theatre had been re- give you some knowledge along the line situations. The others arrived October much show in an uprising. They have a copy of Aguinaldo's official ormoved from the unfair list, was read of progression, but have come to the 26. Mr. Leech reported to the Com- could get in their work in a massacre, gan, The Independencia. One of the conclusion that there is not very much mission and was given a temporary and that would be about what they Americans in this office was in the International Brotherhood of Black- use to wait longer. There is something office in the Palace, and everybody was would do. The Americans have a fine army, and got these papers in the smiths requesting the aid of the central about the atmosphere here that makes put to work on something. The little secret service and police force, and un- northern part of the island, when they plant could not turn out much work earth all the plots. A great deal of in- were chasing Aguinaldo. The first in this city, was read and referred to absorb all he obtains, and it has been and I was sent to help Mr. Jones on the formation is gained from the native article was "A Discourse by Mr. printing. It seems natural to see the women. This may seem funny, but it Bryan." It also goes among my relics. is true. Soldiers and others are inti- It was printed on the presses that are

> When the boxes of type were invoiced there was one box short, and as yet no trace of it can be found. I presume it contains just the type we need, such as the Gothic series for letterheads. The Athesia, on which the type came, has cleared, and is now on its way back. A claim was put in to the company.

Manila is a busy, hustling city, full of life. The streets are almost always blocked with traffic. The shipping business is immense. The Pasig River is sometimes completely filled with lighters and cascos.

An electric railway is to be commenced January 1, and this will change things considerably. The "Escotia" is the Pennsylvania avenue of Manila. The $800,000 cold storage and ice plant is now running. It is located one block northeast of the new printing office.

Well, I have scribbled enough and haven't said much, so will close. Write us a good long letter and give us all the news. THE TRADES UNIONIST has been a regular visitor. Well, good-by, I. A. HOGGSETTE.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N.

If you want to get a warm lunch or first-class board, go to Mrs. Turner's, 821 North Capitol street, northeast.

Women's Bindery Presentation.

Monday evening, January 6, 1902, the installation of new officers for the ensuing year of the Women's Bindery Union took place, it being that organization's regular meeting. Miss Kate V. Smoot, who is now serving her eighth term as president of the organization, after the business of a routine nature was transacted, reviewed in a graceful speech the struggles and difficulties and gain of the body since its institution, and then, on behalf of said union, presented to President Feeney, of Bookbinders' Union, and President Lawson, of Columbia Typographical Union, each a handsome gold-mounted fountain pen as a mark of appreciation of services rendered the union in its struggle for a complete organization of the women employed in the Folding Room and Bindery of the Government Printing Office.

Presidents Feeney and Lawson each responded to the presentation in neat speeches of thanks, and, while the occurrence was a complete surprise to them, they assured the members of Women's Bindery Union that they would be ever ready to lend any assistance which would tend to the advancement and betterment of that organiza-

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Boston's Allied Freight Transportation Council has started a movement to deeds, warrants, etc., had to be made, and steamship companies, together

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors A. J. E. HUBBARD

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION

One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER. Nothing, except the mint, can make money

without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known.

COLUMBIA UNION, No. 101, is to be congratulated upon the consumation J. C. Gawler, John Goodrick, James of the efforts of its officers and members in the complete liquidation of the Howle, W. H. Hutchinson, L. C. Johndebt upon its Temple, and it may now son, J. E. Keefe, J. C. Mellis, G. H. be said they have a home of their own Proctor, Jeff. Smith, C. W. Summers, in which they can take pride in asking visitors to call and inspect. This union 21 out of 59, some of whom are still in now enjoys the distinction of being the only labor organization in the country that owns its own quarters.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

cident that occurred when he first came to this city ten or twelve years ago. He and Daniel O'Connell came together office;" George M. Depue, Labor Burand went to boarding at the same house, as was natural. After his arrival Doughty, Printers' Home, I think; G. as soon as he had earned the money, A. Dunnington, B. & O. depot; W. H. I suspect-my friend bought a pair of Ells, newspaper, Walton, N. Y.; George shoes, and as they fit rather closely, he H. Harries, brigadier-general, D. C. asked O'Connell to wear them a few N. G, and a lot of other things; George days and break them in. He had en- T. Haslam, clerk in U. S. Geological tirely forgotten the circumstance, when, Survey, I think; J. R. Mickle and Levi about three months after, one night Nagle, Department clerks-9 about 12 o'clock Dan came to his room, to break in. I forgot all about them Bowen, S. S. Bowman, D. W. Bruce, and they are now so well broken in that L. M. Cady, E. Coburn, Frank Davies, my feet have broken out. They are W. C. Dewar, B. D. Fleet, Benjamin, worn out."

his next pair for him my friend did not A. R. Sample, and W. H. Shomo-18

My thanks are hereby extended for an invitation to attend the seventeenth annual banquet given by the Old-Time Printers' Association, in honor of the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, Friday evening, January 17, 1902, at the Sherman House, Chicago. The Committee of Arrangements are Frederick K. Tracy (chairman), William Mill (secretary), Joseph C. Snow, John Gordon, John W. Troy, James L. Lee, Charles N. Bond, John Canty, P. J. Cahill, M. H. Madden, Conrad Kahler, and Standish Acres, many of whom I knew in the long ago and still count among my warmest friends.

display head and half a column (doubled nine kinds of whisky on his sideboard, beyond, and more than can be exup) to the information, one day last week, that a cat had had kittens in the entertain his New Year's callers. This is the sentiment which wells up in Union Building Branch of the Census is merely a reminiscence of my friend, every heart by the sorrow felt at the Office, and in another column invites Col. William H. Bailey, on last New untimely death of one so worthy and so it readers, if they have any news to Year's day, on whom, with others, I beloved. print, to send it in. I'm getting to like called. the Times.

As the news does not seem to have got out yet that I am about to throw myself on the mercy of the court as a candidate for delegate to Cincinnati this year, I am now admitting the fact. There are two great and sufficient reasons (to my mind) why I should be elected-(1) this is the semi-centennial both of the great body to which I wish to be a representative and of myself; and (2) I want to go. Others may have potent arguments in regard to their union brand. own candidacy, but none which appeal so strongly to me. I have been a member of the Union almost a third of lation of the world each day lie down hundredth part as much for it as it has is Carnegie? done for me during that time; and I want it and its members to keep on doing for me.

The news came to me the other day that my old friend Ad Reeves had succeeded to the foremanship of the Wright & Potter Printing Company, of Boston, the State printers of Massachusetts. Reeves is a fine fellow as well as a very capable printer, and will undoubtedly give satisfaction. I don't know how long ago this occurred. Did you ever notice how many old friends of mine have become foremen? That is because my friends are generally of the class that would be chosen for such positions,

A friend of mine, alluding to that story of Henry Noyes that "Illinois" was named after his grandfather, "Ill Noyes," said to me the other day:

"Henry told me that idiotic story two or three years ago and I believed it. Then I told it to another Illinois man down at one of the hotels and he said that I was a d-d fool."

That is what Henry must have thought when he told him the story.

In 1881 there were 58 employes of the "Job or Executive Room," of which H. Groshon was foreman. At the present time Foreman L. C. Hay has about 135 employes.

Of those of 1881, according to R. W. Kerr's History of the Government Print ing Office, there are now to be found on the rolls of the Union, according to the last Year Book-I haven't seen the new one-T. J. Alleger, W. S. Baker, S. T. Bates, J. E. Bright, F. E. Burnside, W. Y. Clarke, W. B. Donaldson, Greenwood, G. W. Howland, C. A. H. C. Underwood, and R. H. Whitethe Job Room.

Of the remainder the following are dead, according to my recollection W. R. Baum, D. M. Covey (suicide), J. W. Deneane (not a printer), F. C. O'Neill, Frank Pritchard, A. O. Silvey, A friend of mine related to me an in- J. C. Spurgeon, John P. Tyrrell, J. W. Work, and B. F., Wright (suicide)-10.

P. M. Becker is a clerk in the "front eau clerk at last account; O. W.

This leaves the following unaccounted for, so far as I am concerned: G. B. "Here are the shoes you wanted me Atkinson, Robert Boulden, G. W. Fugitt, J. H. Fletcher, L. D. Hatch, F. Such was the fact, and who broke in A. Marsh, J. D. McClintock, C. J. Miles, Some of these are undoubtedly dead, but I do not feel sure enough about it to so designate them.

This is the first mortuary statistics I have given in some time, so don't kick.

While we were reading a good deal about the Appalachian region of the timate personal acquaintance, and South the other night I asked my righthand neighbor, Phil Wiley, if it did not know by the testimony of those who get its name originally from being a famous apple growing section. "No," he answered, "the name was originally Appaljackian, the j being afterwards eliminated and the k transformed into h by the philologists and lexicographers."

A. F. BLOOMER.

AFTER-DINNER DILATIONS.

The largest church may contain the fewest christians.

The real value of money is the real good it may do.

in establishing the Christ principle. ***

Union-made cigars are more plentiful since the demand grew less for the non-

Statistics prove that half of the popu- common people must be content with injured arm, caused in some manner in a century, and I have never done one- to sleep both hungry and cold. Where

"Cap L" has chosen a field just adapted to his strenuous proclivities, and the multitude hope he may not weary of well doing.

The street-sweeper or scavenger is more to be respected than the drone who eats the bread of idleness and looks upon all labor as dishonorable.

Brother Oyster is putting up a good argument in favor of popular suffrage in the District of Columbia, for, come to think about it, the term "popular suffrage" is supposed to bear some relation to a republican form of govern-

If everybody were rich there would yet be sorrow in the world. If all were honest there would be less need for jails and penitentieries, and if justice was not blindfolded at times by the administrators of justice the other fellow would be looking through the bars.

 When I observe the cruelty of some of these colored boys and the full grown men who drive cart-horses, I wonder if they fully appreciate the sacrifice that was made for them, and the lashes they possibly escaped by the one message that proclaimed freedom to their race.

It is unfortunate that he who devotes himself to hard labor for eight, ten, or twelve hours each day should sometimes indulge too freely in the liquid brewed. He should pack these nickels away until finally the total will furnish a capital sufficient to live on untaxed investments, rent a front pew, give Seeley dinners, own a little "Egypt," and move in polite society.

The exact figures are not at hand to show the total number of applications filed for divorce from matrimony in the District of Columbia on the last day of 1901, but the number staggered the community. Had it not been the last day of a golden opportunity there's no telling where the epidemic would have ended. In singular contrast, on the same day an unusually large number of applications for license to marry were recorded; and so the world wags Ralston; "Printing Sixty Years Ago," on, each imagining that he may improve on his neighbor's efforts in the play of "great expectations," while in Congress," by Amos J. Cummings again and again the question arises, Is marriage a failure?

My good friend, John Sturgis, who holds the keys to all the side sorts and W. J. Dow; "Why is Columbia Typo is in the A class as an all-around printer, graphical Union, No. 101, Represented is never so much at ease as when con- in the Central Labor Union?" by John structing a difficult cast or while delving B. Dickman; "A Cosmopolitan Office," omable propositions. The other day a to Union and Confederate Soldiers," question arose in his laboratory which by R. W. Kerr; "Linotypes in Newscalled for the exact meaning of "Correlated bodies," and turning to the Century as the very best authority be Century as the very best authority, he "The Union Printers' Home," by E. was made up of a batch of home made found the term explained in these words:

W. Patton; "The Birmingham Conre confocal ellipsoids." Sturgis was so struck with the sentiment that he gave it a place on top in his storehouse of scientific vocabulary and choice epi-

The announcement of the death of Percy Moore was received with genuine sorrow by all who had enjoyed an inthose who were not so privileged may best knew him that one of God's noblemen has departed. Endowed by nature with those best gifts which are shown by an unselfish devotion to duty and a sympathy which recognizes all men as brothers, he made the world better by his influence and left an example which all may heed and follow with profit. A man who, in addition to all the The members of Specification chapel The Times devoted a double-column good things to eat on his table, has were liberal in their floral offering; but and all of them good, knows how to pressed in these symbols or in words,

That was a very good talk by Mr. Robert E. Speer, of New York, last Sunday afternoon at Chase's Opera House, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. While the doors were open to men only, there was nothing in the speaker's remarks that could by any possibility have of-Selfishness is the greatest hindrance fended the most delicate sensibilities of the gentler sex. In fact, the speaker paid a worthy tribute to those women who are contributing their time and influence in all departments of reform work. Mr. Speer has spent some time over J. H. Smith by ten votes. in far off India, where, as he said, the

FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES.

Parker, Bridget & Co. Washington's Leading Outfitters, . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

one meal a day. These and kindred statements made me wonder if in course of time, when the English Government has blotted out the little Dutch Republics and the last of the fleeing mothers with babes have perished from hunger, by the sword, or the torch, the "mother country" will find time and means to care for the poor of India, or will she be content with the knowledge that in America money is being sent to keep her subjects from starvation and to Christianize them, while the "mother" continues to pillage and murder that royalty may thrive. CYCLE.

Columbia Union's Yearbook,

With a copy of the yearbook publication before us we note the committee in charge of its execution states it is to be a permanent fixture. And well it may be as it no doubt excels all pre vious publications of its kind.

The style, typography, cutwork, and presswork are all that could be expected from first-class workmanship.

The publication, besides containing advertisements, artistically designed, of the principal merchants and business men of our city, is replete with the following contributed articles, each writer demonstrating the perfect knowledge of his subject in hand:

"The Year's Review of the Affairs of Columbia Typographical Union, No. day. 101," by Charles W. Otis; "Printers in the Professions," by Jackson H. by Theo. L. DeVinne; "Job Composition," by A. H. McQuilken; "Printers "Our Home-Typographical Temple," by Joe M. Johnson; "The Government Printing Office-Old and New," by O. J. Ricketts; "Philippine Printing," by into the mysteries of apparently unfath- by Bernard H. Lane; "A Monument "Bodies whose kinematical exponents wention," by William M. Leavitt; also sample: extracts from the annual reports of President Lynch and Secretary-Treasurer Bramwood; the prosperity in international affairs. This article embodies in tabular form the total membership by unions, in the international jurisdiction. A page is dedicated to 'Our Honored Dead."

The work also contains half-tone cuts of nearly all of the elective officers of the union accompanied with short biographical sketches, and is free y interspersed with colored half-tones and a full-page half-tone picture of the Union Printers' Home, at Colorado Springs, Colo. Several pages are illumined with fac-similes in tint of "The Cairno," "Oral Tradition," "Picture Writing," "Egyptian Hieroglyphics," "The Manuscript Book," and "The Printing Press," the subjects being made from photographic reproductions of tympanums which grace the walls of the east corridor of Congressional Library (paintings by John Alexander). Lastly, a list of all of its past officers and delegates and a complete roster of the organization.

The publication was produced from the Wilkens Printing Company, and is a credit to both the union and that establishment.

Fifth Division.

Eugene Smith has been transferred to the night force.

F. C. Chase was assigned to this division last week. He is a medical stu-

In the quarterly election for chairman held a week ago R. A. Nelgner won

J. D. Mets is on the sick list with an

Union Made Cigary ARMY & NAVY AFTER DINNER 5¢ DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer

504 Winth St., N.W.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2005 Brightwood Ave.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539-

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

The Yearbook is out, and the printing committee is entitled to much credit in furnishing us with such a handsome souvenir. A novel feature in color work is the reproduction of subjects from the walls of the Congressional Library. We also note that the Don't Buy a Hat Fifth Division is represented on the staff of writers by W. J. Dow, who fur nished a comprehensive and well-written article on the Government Printing Office in the Philippines.

T. J. Rowe received a letter from his printer friends in Boston a few days ago that was quite a curiosity. The address on the envelope was printed

There was a young man named Rowe, Who to the capital decided to go. Now the Capitol he can Deliberately scan, This capital fellow-John Rowe.

Che busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space

S. KANN, SONS & CO. *******

BREAD

To all Judges of Good

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredient-by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN.

Boston Baking Co.,

Be sure Bread bears our Label; others test

119, 121, 128, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitel Grounds alighting from a street car the other MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN. Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. ies and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad when calling.

Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS

In Retail Stores

ARE COUNTERFEITS. The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece?

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician

Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches. B. LOCRAFT & BRO.,

Wood, Coal, and Coke. All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C.O.D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

-VISIT-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts.

Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes
of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR,

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets M. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G St. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

| E. A. M. LAWSON | Presiden |
|-----------------------------|-----------------|
| WALTER V. SMITH | Vice-President |
| W. M. GARRETT | Secretary |
| JOHN R. BERG | Treasure |
| C. C. HIPKINS | Organizer |
| D. E TYRRELL | ergeant-at-Arms |
| D. E. TYRRELL | Doorkeeper |
| FRANK HART | Doorzoop |
| TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, c | hairman; Joe M |
| Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E | . A. M. Lawson |

and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION -J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman.

DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-C. E. Clark. AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W.

Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard. COMMITTEES

Business-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. Boucher.

NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANOS-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank

D. Seiffert. man; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Har-

W. F. Reed CONFERENCE George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor.

LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly.
RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Len-

hart, and Hugh Reid. CHAIRMEN. First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division-John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-William McEnancy. Fourth Division—('harles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements Job Room-J. K. Davison. Record Clerks' Division-J. L. Alverson Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Omcial Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division—A. M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry.

State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-R. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien Census-H. L. Shyrock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-H. C. Pool. Globe Printing Co.-H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's—Alex. England.
National Publishing Co.—F. S. Rousseau.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig.

Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher.

Down Town.

Are you a candidate or simply a private in the ranks?

Columbia Union had seventeen deaths in its membership last year.

Many new and old compositors are again with us, the demands of the great printery upon the Civil Service eligible list being attributed as the cause there-sending out of the city for compositors. Waters, Artemus N. Venable, Frank large interests there. He is connected all who had strayed into fields and pas-We hope this good condition—that is, E. Thornburg, Edwin H. Tabler, with the Daly stable, owns a large tures new—or old—came back from the demand for printers and other Charles H. Rockwell, Louis C. Quin, farm stocked with fast horses, and also their excursion with smiling faces and craftsmen will continue.

"Shorty" Griffith, of Chicago, is a "Shorty" Grimin, of Chicago, is a before adjournment, exnew-comer to our city and is well D. Mills, E. S. McKenna, A. R. Lind Colorado. Mr. McFarland was at one cept that we welcomed heartily Messrs. new-comer to our city and is well-comed heartily Messrs.

The sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with its general makeup. He sey, Samuel B. Kleindienst, Charles time in charge of a division in the Agpleased with the sey of the s the Windy City as doing well.

President James M. Lynch, of the I. this week. He is a candidate for re- Andrew J. Campbell, Thomas H. Bradelection, and his past record as presid- ley, H. E. Bartle, H. F. Bart, Percy S. ing officer of the International Union Anderson, Benjamin P. Craig, Frank has demonstrated that he is fully capa- O. Hart, W. W. Gates and George C. ble of handling the weighty affairs of Dorrell. that body.

Table board, $18 per month, at 810 Cap. and G. High Balls. New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O. MRS. M. T. WORK.

First Division.

"Snapper Garrison, late of this division, more recently of the "Spess," has resigned and gone West.

on Monday. Mr. Moynihan is an old opposition. and proficient offender. Messrs. Maynard and La Pell are cutting their eye

Timekeeper Harding was absent for

I heard several stories of marriage scarlet fever in his family. bells, elopements, etc., but investigation proved them false. Clem is still 'foot loose and fancy free."

Mr. and Mrs. Sizer wish to thank their friends in the First for the kindness and sympathy shown to them during their recent bereavement in the loss of their only son. The little fellow spent his last evening in joyous holiday play, and retired as usual. During the night he was taken with spasms and died.

"Oh! old times come again," was the remark of the old-timers on Sunday, when the old Bruce cases were unearthed and the type, like hail upon a tin roof, began to part from the nimble fingers of the distributors into the long empty boxes. The old type and extra J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and hours were a reminder of "ye olde time," of long hours and lots of money. Eight hours a day, though, seems to satisfy the majority of the youngsters.

"Gee whiz, Bo, how would you like to have been a Morgan clerk instead of a Government classified, last New Year's eve?" was a greeting the day after the holiday between a First and Second Divisionite; "wish't Teddy was that liberal." "Teddy is all right," sent back the Secondite; "didn't he give us two half-holidays? Didn't he give each of the White House employes EXTERTALMMENT—Thomas L. Jones, chair- an eighteen-pound turkey? Didn't he vel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and he give Admiral Dewey the cold shoulder? Didn't he-" and here the whistle blew.

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free.

JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street.

Night Bill Force.

Joe Zimmerman is on the sick list. Charles E. Young, in charge of this division, is as handsome and vivante as

William F. O'Brien, John Harper and Pete Ellis have been transferred to the

The pressure of G. P. O. business has made it necessary for "Bob" Sim- this talent was altogether accidental rel to grow six toes on his "sort" feet.

Monday night the Bill Force reported to their new slugs. The Record as to admit of sound injected by wind force was told to be at old places. No pressure and larynxial exertion with Second Division now.

George C. Keller, who was formerly ington (Ky.) Observer. E. H. Andrews had a new dish for dinner Christmas called "skun 'possum." He did not know how to scald the feathers off, so he had him skinned.

Jim Brodnax, who conducted "Sailor Farwell's" campaign, is up in arms over the report circulated that his can- for laboratory purposes, have removed didate would have won had it not been my office to No. 316 H street northwest, for the fact that he was indorsed by the just opposite old location. Lobster's League. Brody is satisfied with second place.

Last Thursday night the following day, George W. Duvall, Clarence K. had many friends. T. U., made this office a pleasant call Dow, E. W. Davison, Joseph Cohn,

Specification Notes.

The Record boys were "called back" with the reassembling of Congress.

Miss Bertha Tellyr has been granted on the Record. thirty days' leave of absence without nard were sentenced to the Proof Room tinuing Mr. Gutelius as chairman—no large circle of friends.

George Gerberich was re-elected chairman of the Gazette branch, or 'side show," on Monday.

T. H. Gosorn will be detained at coll's, N. Cap. and G.

a few days at the end of the year, and home for a couple of weeks, owing to

Clarke has expressed indifference about going on the Record since he was given a new side partner.

By a strange coincidence, three Wilsons were employed in the Proof Room last week-Tug, Bug and Jug.

By mistake last week the name of Miss Louise Gunton was substituted for Miss Laura Gordon in the announcement of directors chosen for the sym

The over sensitive tympanum of the new-comer to alley I has abolished the discordant sounds and all hands go tiptoeing in and out.

We learn with deep regret of the misfortune which recently came to Mrs. Richards, relict of the late J. M. Richards, formerly of the Specification force In descending a flight of stairs she fell and sustained a severe fracture to one

Some one contributed a half column to the daily Times, under the "Scat" head, giving in full the pedigree of our office cat, who, at the present time, is devoting her spare moments to the care of a fine family of kittens. Suspicion points to "Fatty" Payne.

Miss Josepha Lange, who has been absent the past six months, returned on Monday. Her tour of travels extended over portions of Mexico, Texas, and the Western States. She bears evidence of improved health, which is a matter of congratulation by her many

The following named have been elected to look after the affairs of the Union Mutual Relief Association of this division for the ensuing year: President, Fred E. Weber; Vice-President, class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's Miss Charlotte Miner; Secretary-Treasurer, Ed. R. French; Directors, Fred Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cook- E. Weber, Miss Charlotte Miner, Ed. ing to order. Your patronage solicited. R. French, George M. Ramsey, Miss Laura B. Gordon, S. A. Wakefield, James W. Carter, Joseph Steker and George W. Hall.

"Windy" Evans is the star attraction in his wonderful imitation of the phonograph. The laugh begins with the inimitable introduction: "Washington Post March, asplayedfortheColumbiaPhonographCompany, of NewYorkand Paris,' and then the cogs begin to move and slip, and there's the same buzzing sound as in the real thing. The discovery of and has led to the belief that the vacuum formed immediately underneath the supposed dome of thought is so great The ways of truth more clearly comprehendpossibly some automatic valve mechism operating on the sensitive smaller chairman of the Night Bill Force, is cells or cavities which go flip-flop, and now editor and proprietor of the Lex- in their order or disorder emit amusing sounds easily controlled by the will of the operator.

> Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room

DR. T. J. McConnell.

Success of a Compositor. Mr. J. W. McFarland, formerly of the named gentlemen were added from the Specification Room, has met with redown town contingent, some of them markable success since leaving the G. strangers: George E. Wysong, William P. O. a year or so ago. "Billy" affili-M. Wright, W. M. Wood, Alex. M. ated with the horsemen of Richmond,

Smith-McNamara.

On Wednesday evening, January 8, 1902, at St. Aloysius parsonage, Mr. Eugene F. Smith and Miss Katie Mc-Namara were united in matrimony, the Rev. J. B. Kelleher, S. J., officiating. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Miss Lizzie Weigel acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Thomas J. Fitzwilliam as best

> The groom is a well known and popular attache of the Government Printing Office, being at present employed

The bride is an estimable and popular young lady of this city, who enjoys We began the new year right by con- the acquaintance and friendship of a

May their life be as pleasant as anticipations have been painted and they live long to enjoy the same.

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS.

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

TWISTED PROVERBS. resent unmined riches.

Love thy neighbor as thyself, and if she says no let her be a sister to you. Still waters run deep, but after all it's the mad, glad, boastful, boisterous rapids that make the mill go. Death loves a shining mark, which perhaps is the reason why we are all so anxious to get hit.

The Lord loveth a cheerful giver, especially if the gift is not in the nature of a personal advertisement. Even the devil is not as black as he is painted, and the knocker has no reason to paint his neighbor as black There is nothing new under the sun, but nevertheless it requires considerable effort to keep the old things from getting dusty.

A stitch in time saves nine, which arouses the hope that the Washington baseball management will take a stitch mighty blankety quick.

Let the dead past bury its dead: Provided, however, That so much thereof as may be deemed necessary shall be reserved for use in "Flotsam and Jet-

LINES TO 1902.

Oh, new-born year, the lives of years are fleeting! The farewell echo mocks too soon their greeting, Life's round in seeming emptiness complete

Yet age by age the circling earth has flour

And man, by nature's genial forces nour ished, Has thrived while gross and evil things have perished.

Year, may your moments with the future blending See man, the tireless climber, still ascending, man, by needless strife less madly blinded,

Still growing kinder-hearted, broaderminded: Still less wrapped up in self, more open-handed. May those who toil, in brotherhood combin-Maintain their rights, no faithless act design-

Lead better lives in scorn of base repining. And may the wise from duty's path cease straying, The sacred trust of brotherhood betraying.

For this, oh, new-born year, we're hoping

STATIONERY. Writing Paper in white and the latest cints-from 10 cents to $1.50 a box. at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest

Record Notes.

The Sixth Division was again merged Down town offices are reported as Willingham, Joseph Williams, R. M. and, as a consequence, he now has into the Record Monday night, when John J. O'Hern, John H. O'Brien, W. quented principally by sporting men in the same as before adjournment, ex-Jaques, Marcus P. Jackson, H. E. Hali- ered the prince of good fellows and been our friends and fellow-workers for years.

Quite accidentally, owing to innate modesty of the contracting party we learned Tuesday of the impending marriage of our genial comrade, Eugene F. Smith, to Miss Kate McNamara, now doubless un fait accompli. The writer having been instructed to act for "the boys" in selecting a fitting testimonial of their genuine regard and best wishes. And as the selection must be so very eloquent, time is precious. Long live, and happily, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Smith.

Had intended preparing--it could be made interesting-a few data concerning the work of issuance of the publication on which we are employed. Time and space being limited this GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, week, I will only mention what we all know, but scarcely realize, that outside of the Record proper, the getting out Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris- of its Index alone would tax many of its Index alone would tax many offices. So far as included in the Index, the Record had contained about 600 pages, yet, so perfect is the system of indexing, the "History of Bills" con-Silence is golden, and yet it may rep- tained 298 pages and the general index 299 pages, or almost page for page equal to the Record's covered. These two portions of the Index are bound together, and when wired, without cover, weigh four or five pounds per volume. About 60,000 pounds of book paper are required to print the entire edition. On Tuesday morning, after an affecting service by Rev. Muir, of Union Lodge, K. of P., all mortal of the late Percy L. Moore, for years connected with the Congressional Record as clerk in charge of its mail lists, was accompanied by loving, sorrowing friends to the Pennsylvania station, whence to be transported to his dear Southland and finally interred at his former home in Mississippi, beside those of his dear ones, to rest "in the sleep of peace." Accompanying the remains on the saddened journey homeward were his sorrow-stricken wife, brother and sisterin law, to all of whom just now mere words of sympathy would be no comfort. So brief was his illness, so sudden its termination and so bitter the parting, that even now the full sense of loss is scarcely realized; that, with the kindly touch of time, will come, and then, a little after, submissive recognition of a Father's will must "pluck from memory a rooted sorrow."

L. J. CLEMENTS.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas;

for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

X-MAS GIFTS

-in China, Glassware, Silver Plated Ware, Pottery, Porcelain, etc.-that combine beauty and long service with very inexpensive prices.

A great many articles in Ster-ling Silver for 50c., 75c. and $1.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS,

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA George L. Humphrey, Joseph P. Patton, owns a half interest in a hostelry fre-Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREET

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his GLOVES & HOSIERY are supremE

nowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

Is now open. It contains all that is up to date
A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch. Pay me a visit, Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings, Fine Wines and Liquors. Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL,

WASHINGTON, D. C. ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

~~~~~~ Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE SHERWOOD Specialties.

1233333

BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 21c. PER CUE. THOMAS WALSH.

407 Tenth Street Northwest.

Cool Lager Beer on Draught

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. and Binding of every description. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Pine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Wheels stored, eleaned and repaired $1 per ma and cleaned ......... 75

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel.

Every Laboring Man

--requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of— Cream Blend Flour

It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers,

J. L. KERVAND,

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

1012 Penns. Ave. - Washington, D. C. Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Cheeks, Drafts, Etc. Certificates of Stock.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive smeals antice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

MUNN & Co. 36 * Broadway. New York

M. WRIGHT

Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood

111 Seventh St. nw., Washington. D. C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY,

605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00. Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'i Supt.

B. F. WARNER.

DLUB LABEL GRAPS 1210 E Street Northwest.

LUNCH

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

"Old Third" Division Banquets. On New Year's Night the members of the Old Third Division to the num- Percy L. Moore, Well-Known Union ber of 35 assembled in Fred & Brockway's commodious banquet hall and or less amusing which they had parti- Percy L. Moore, well known in the cipated in before their dispersal by the printing fraternity and lodge circles of change of administration in 1894. This this city, on Sunday last, January 5 reunion of the members of the Third 1902, after a brief illness, aged 41 years Division as it was constituted prior to the above date is an annual event, this Mississippi about nine years ago, have being their third meeting. The menu ing been appointed to a position in the presented by the firm above mentioned | Government Printing Office, where h was elaborate and excellent in quality, was employed up to the time of h and the service was all that could be death. desired. After partaking liberally of At different times he served as com the good things cigars were served and positor, proof-reader, time-keeper Mr. O. J. Ricketts, who was chairman the Specification Division, from which of the Third Division chapel when it he was promoted to the position was almost bodily "separated from the record clerk, and from that to clerk to service," called the chapel to order in Congressional Record, which position a few well chosen remarks, which were he held at the time of his demise. more quietly received than were many he made when he presided at the Columbia Typographical Union No stormy meetings of the same chapel | 101, and, up to the time the union too during the troublous days of piece- such action as to compel him to with work. All were in good humor on this draw from the active list, was a pro occasion, however, and the chairman gressive member in its ranks. H did not find it necessary to inflict a fine served that body in the capacity of on any one, and even Percy Rhodes auditor for several terms, and was on did not rise to a point of order. For of those responsible, by hard labor, for over two hours there was an unbroken the reorganization of that body, and will of all his fellow workmen, and was flow of eloquence, more or less elo- enjoyed the satisfaction of the realiza. one of the oldest bookbinders in the quent, and poetry, more or less poetic. tion of his ambition-that the printers G. P. O. Every man was given a chance to talk have a temple free from debt. Always | Charlie Weston's Binders' Minstrels (an unusual proceeding at most chapel a devoted and consistent adherent to are now in demand, and several remeetings), and every one of them ac- the principles of unionism, he will be quests have been received to repeat cepted the opportunity with an anec- greatly missed by his fellow-craftsmen. the performance. The Woman's Binddote or some remarks suitable to the He held an honorable withdrawal card ery Union have the first call, and prepoccasion. Charlie Warren gave a in this organization. reading from "Hamlet," in which he showed himself a deep student of residence, 310 E street, northwest, carefully selected the men and drilled Shakespeare. His conception of Ham- Tuesday at 9 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Muir them thoroughly, and the result was let differs widely from that of most am- officiating. His remains were con- that the thirty voices blended and harateur Shakespearian readers, who seek veyed to the Pennsylvania Railway, monized, and the usual discords prevato impress their hearers with the belief whence they were removed to his lent in amateur minstrel performances that Hamlet was as "bug-house" as home, Winona, Miss., at which place were absent. As every member of the some of the men in the padded room today, under the auspices of Montgomat St. Elizabeth's. Mr. Warren's Ham- ery Lodge, K. of P., interment was binders' Union, the show, from a union let is not offensively buggy, nor yet de- made. lightfully sane, and between these two extremes Mr. Warren can afford to rest T. A. Bynum, George W. Boynton, S. the good work he accomplished from on his laurels. Lawyer Ennis was in W. Edmunds, and S. W. Langford such raw material. his happiest vein, and his remarks were acted as bearers. well received. When Congress decides to allow the Public Printer a law clerk his wife and brother, who have the the Third Division will urge the fitness sympathy of a large circle of his acof Mr. Ennis for the position. Space quaintances and friends, and their sorforbids recording all the hits made by row might well be lightened to receive the jolly company, but it was voted the the assurances that Percy L. Moore most successful and enjoyable banquet was a good, conscientious and consistyet given by the Third Division. After ent man. drinking a silent toast to the departed members who have answered to the his associates in the Specification Divicall of "30," and the singing of "Auld sion, Myrtle Lodge, K. of P., of which Lang Syne," the chapel meeting adjourned, to meet on the evening of Mississippi, and the Rathbone Sisters January 1, 1903.

The following were present: Harry Hayne, Phil Nachman, Chas, Ennis O. J. Ricketts, P. A. O'Brien, W. G. Brower, Ma Ben Williams, Ellis G. Myers, John Roberts, G. D. Ellis, Charles (Pi) Warren, Will Frye, Bobby Robinson, Ben Shannon, W. M. Hamilton, Frank Schwing, Dan Miller, D. W. Fleming, James Welty, Fred Brockway, Jefferson Davis Garland, Tom Wright, Ed Saxton, P. M. McCallum, James Irwin, Dan Prosser, W. H. Lewis, W. W. Stanford, Hugh Griffin, H. O'Donnell, Ed Bunker, John Berg, Louis Cornwell, Percy Rhodes, and Holtz

NOTES.

Daosovik.

punch.

Hugh Griffin spoke of the beauties of "Georgetown" by the brewery.

Ben Shannon's remarks were brief, but then Ben aint so long himself.

Jeff Garland wore a beautiful red necktie and an immense diamond. Foreman Al Cottle was unable to be present on account of an attack of grip. Stanford was very sorry he drank so much beer before he got on to the

Ed Saxton sung an Irish song, but as Pat Haltigan was not there, Ed did not receive an encore.

Dud Fleming was at his best, and as an after-dinner talker he ranks with Chauncey Depew.

Phil Nachman started to tell a story but was so overcome with laughter that he decided not to tell it until the looked jaded and careworn. They are and being introduced he was positive greatly disturbed over the unfortunate he had never seen or met him. It was internal dissensions in the Republican party in Ohio.

Both Harry Hoyme and Percy Rhodes

of the District's Sherlock Holmes) that terested in in the last Congressional the head waiter was none other than campaign. Dorsey Foultz, but Benny received the clew in scornful silence.

Harry O'Donnell has improved as an orator since he attempted a set speech on this occasion.

PAT FLUSH.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

GONE TO HIS REWARD.

Printer, Dead.

It is with deep regret that we are for four hours recounted incidents more compelled to chronicle the death of Mr. Moore came to this city from

He was for a long time a member of

Messrs. F. B. Crown, S. L. Battles,

His remains were accompanied by

Floral tributes from his fellow clerks, he was Past Chancellor, friends from were in evidence and bore silent witness of the esteem in which he was

May he rest in peace.

FOR RENT .- Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Bindery Notes.

Watch the next issue of THE UNION-IST; we will have something hot. George Barnes is writing up a press notice about John Burns.

Bill Lang is now playing the bones by note. He was invited to a show this week and was fed on pork and beans, and has been swelled up ever to fight the Geary law at Washington.

Rush Conklin, better known as 'Carrie Nation,' would rather die than drink anything that would steal his senses, but poor "Carrie" visited a friend New Year's night at Hyattsville, and was induced to imbibe some home-made wine, which made the farmers laugh, and sing, and dance. Next day he remarked that a fellow can have a good time if he takes just a little-not too much, just a little.

One of the Representatives of the Quaker City recently visited the Bindery. Major Quay Fredericks was asked if he had ever seen the gentleman before. After taking a good look the same member of Congress that the Major had been telling the boys he was Somebody told Benny Williams, (one so well acquainted with and was so in-

Charles P. Wroe died December 22, at his residence, 36 I street northeast, of pneumonia. He was in his sixty-ninth year, and was laughing and at a chapel meeting some years ago. joking with his old friends the day be-At that time he luckily escaped with fore his death. Mr. Wroe joined the his life. Nothing was thrown at him Union forces at the outbreak of the war and served three years with distinction in the First District Regiment. He was promoted to first lieutenant, and in several of the campaigns was acting captain. He had the respect and good coll's, N. Cap. and G.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| 01  | NAME.                                                 | BUSINESS.                    | LOCATION.                      |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| ne  | OUR SOURING                                           |                              |                                |
| of  | Hainaal Cautharat Ctana                               | Description of the same      | Pichth and Donne samue a       |
| _   | Haines' Southeast Store                               |                              |                                |
| 5.  | Keenan Bros                                           |                              |                                |
| S.  | Rufus H. Darby                                        |                              |                                |
|     |                                                       | Printer                      |                                |
| m   | H. L. McQueen.                                        | Cigan manufacturar           | 1011 Poppe evenue n w          |
| V-  | N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).E. Gundershiemer | Baker                        | 516 Cocond street n W and ste  |
| V-  | E. Gundersniemer                                      | Daker                        | in Center Market.              |
| ne  | Peter Grogan                                          | Cornet declar                | 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w. |
|     | J. Mangan                                             | Uargeshoer                   | I street het 16th and 17th n   |
| ne  | John H. Fitzgerald                                    | Horseshoer                   | 443 Prather's alley n.w.       |
| is  | S. S Daish                                            | Cool and wood                | Florida ave and Third st. n.e. |
| 19  | Wilbur F. Nash                                        | Most desler                  | Center and O st. Markets.      |
|     | C. E. Hencke                                          | Fleetrician                  | 711 G street n.w.              |
| n-  | Sheets & Miller                                       |                              |                                |
| 11- | James A. Bennett                                      |                              |                                |
| at  | Louis A. Dieter                                       |                              | F street northwest.            |
| -   | National Mosaic Company                               |                              |                                |
| ch  | I. Grosner                                            | Clothing                     | 914 F st. and 803 Market Spa   |
| of  | M. Minster                                            | Gents' furnisher             |                                |
| -   | A. H. McGhan                                          |                              |                                |
| to  | A. Minster                                            |                              |                                |
| on  | Charles Walters                                       |                              | Fourteenth and D streets n.    |
| )11 | A. Markward                                           | Contracting painter          | 609 G street n. w.             |
| 130 | Cyrus B. Reese                                        | Employing steamfitter        | 1519 Fourteenth street n. w.   |
| -6  | C. A. Schneider & Sons                                | Union Iron Works             |                                |
| of  | Boston Steam Laundry                                  | Laundry                      | First and G streets n. w.      |
| 0.  | Tolman Steam Laundry                                  | Laundry                      |                                |
|     | Wash. Traction & Electric CoMinster & Paterson    |                              | 1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w    |
| ok  | The Famous                                            |                              |                                |
| h-  | Chas. A. Muddiman & Co                                | Cas fixtures                 |                                |
|     | Joseph Mathey                                         | Stove dealer and tin worker. |                                |
| 0-  | A. S. Reavis.                                         | Tin stove cornice works      | 715 Second street n. e.        |
| Ie  | A. Molnoti                                            | Stone works                  |                                |
| -   | Castelberg                                            | Jeweler                      |                                |
| of  | Palmer, S. C                                          | Bottler                      | 1066 Thirty-second street n. w |
| ne  | Joseph a cheerful mater.                              | int lodge 1300               | and the same state of          |
| ile |                                                       |                              |                                | arations are now under way for a repe-Funeral services were held at his late tition of the show next month. Weston minstrel circle is a member of Bookstandpoint, is all that could be desired. and Charlie deserves great credit for Cow Boy.

STATIONERY.

A fine line of Box Paper and Tablets at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Labor Notes.

New York City has a workwomen's

Michigan produces the largest celery

Denver plumbers have a co-operative Masons of Valencia, Spain, won the eight-hour day. Barmaids will not be employed in Calcutta saloons after April 1.

The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners has nearly 10,000 members.

Philadelphia labor men will nominate a full ticket for the February election.

Hospitals are being erected in Pennsylvania coal mines as ordered by the legislature.

German employers have started a movement to abolish beer drinking How can it minister to pride during working hours in the factories.

The Chinese Six Companies, of San Francisco, are collecting assessments Denver, Colo., carpenters, who have been receiving 41 cents per hour, have made a demand for 50 cents per hour. The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers distributed $96,000 in the famous fight against the billion -dollar steel trust.

A Chicago man has invented a machine that is cracking 200 pounds of nuts an hour. It is claimed that it is the only automatic nut cracker in the world.

Congressman Grosvener has introduced a bill favoring the placing of the Allied Printing Trades' label on all publications issued by the United States government.

Edwin S. Pitzman and James R. Slater, of St. Louis have constructed an automatic telephone and telephone exchange that does away with "hello girls" and central office force.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, of the Episcopal Church at New York, will cost, when completed, nearly $30,-000,000. It is expected to be completed in about three years.

Philadelphia labor men consider the recently formed arbitration board in New York as a trick to secure the labor vote for the Republican party in the 1904 election. They think it will be in opposition to President Roosevelt.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris-

ENGLAND CHAMPIONED,

FOR THE TRADES UNIONIST. Come on, my valiant Dudlee, come! Produce that scorching brand! Your braggart threat don't strike me dumb-I stand for old England

And stand to guard her deathless fame From slanderers like you-To vindicate that honored name Against your mongrel crew! Thou off-spring of malignant hate, Whom falsehood has defiled, A feud you would perpetuate With mother and her child!

In truculence your brain you rack Some old offense to seize, And venomously wander back Through olden centuries!

What though New England fought the old-What though New England won? Twas but Old England's spirit bold Within her noblest son

On hist'ry's page it has been writ How Burke, of fair renown, And England's commoners, in Pitt, Held George, the tyrant, down.

Just king from commoner divorce, And e'en the fool may see Twas England, 'gainst a tyrant's course Won English liberty!

And tell us, you of base intent, Who England has abused, What nation more from sin exempt-What one of less accused?

Her heritage of ancient laws May bind with custom's chains; But one stern fact should give you pause; Her liberty remains!

Go search her colonies, and say Where freedom she denie From New Zealand to Canada-Thou trafficker in lies!

Remember, when inclined to scoff, 'Twas England first-not we-From human limbs struck shackles off, And banished slavery!

And now her missionary guns Are thund'ring to restore The freedom wrung from Briton's sons To Briton and to Boer!

And success on that fight awaits, Though all her foes may band; He who for this old England hates Is not the friend of man!

America can not deride. Or England's name disgrace; To prove our lineage base?

Your threats, your hate, who cares to heed For, oh, the burning shame! It is a filthy child, indeed, Defiles its mother's name!

Bring on, bring on, your falsehoods brand! Make answer to my call! I proudly stand for old England, And can defy you all.

-DAVID ECCLES.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, JAN. 6.

The Famous Russell Bros. Presenting for the first time in Washington THEIR NEW ACT.

Jennings & Alto. Patterson Brothers

Miss Vera King. GIRARD LEON'S DONKEYS.

The Bijou Bulesquers, HEADED BY Bert Leslie and Sam J. Adams in New Burlesque.

Ladies' Matinee every Friday. No Smoking Allowed.

Ladies and Children's Hair Cutting.

N. D. CHRISTENSEN, Antiseptic Shaving Parlor

805 NORTH CAPITOL STREET. Agency for Franklin Steam Laundry. ja9

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293. Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

RANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK
'The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave.

BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. BOOTS AND SHOME.

CROCKER'S SHOES, 989 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand.

52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1847 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers.

Tom Keene Sc. Cigar. Phone E 755 COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, ennsylvania avenue N. W

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO. 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 800 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. DRY GOODS.

LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & MCCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. 010 HECHT & CO. 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

PIRE INSURANCE. FIRMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisians Ave. FLORIST.

Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180. FURNITURE AND CARPETY JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

1904 G St. N. W. 616 12th St. N. W GROCHRIES. "Good things to cat." 1210 F St. N. W

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisians Ave. GROCER AND COFFEE BOASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1842 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS. S. H. HINES & CO., 1315 14th St. N. W. Phon Phone, Main 1879. HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS. 1801 Pennsylvania Ave.

H. STINEMETZ & SON, Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats. HARDWARE AND TOOLS.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W. HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN,

487 Seventh Street Northwest LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 18th St. and Ohio Ave.

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS, Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS.

GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's), 418 7th St. N. W PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PREBER CO.,

456 and 400 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS M. F. DROOP & BONS, 926 Pennsylvania Ave. W. W.

PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sta PRINTERS.

JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO

Machine-made Rollers. 686 G St. N. W RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 5th and Georgia Ave. S.E

TEAS AND COFFEES. PREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. 00. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH SAMUEL G. STEWART, Brewing Co's. beers and popular whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, rands of whiskies JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 2009 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qs.

WHITE BARBERS J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

NUF CED.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 31.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

The Elks' Midwinter Carnival.

Washington Lodge, No. 15, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks are

The program will be both interesting

Madame Pauline Devere and her group of pumas and leopards; Japanese and

Chinese performers; refined equestrianism from St. Petersburg, Berlin, and London, specially engaged from a in number, following their unprecedented tour of the many capitals of the world; "The Crystal Maze;" "Moorish Palace;" "Electro, Maid of the Air;"" Prismatic Phantasma;" "Edison's Moving Pictures;" "Dog and Monkey Circus;" "German Village," with a refined vaudeville performance, and the Elk's "Country Store," a new and fascinating feature, and many other

The purpose of the carnival is to replenish the charity fund of the Order.

for adults and 10 cents for children

What a Proofreader Must Know.

In reply to the question of the educational requirements of a good proofreader, the query man on the Balti-

"The educational requirements of a good proofreader are all embracing.

Besides the technical education the printer's trade gives-a factor of prime importance in the making of a 'good proofreader'-one must have a thor-more Sun says:

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Received.

RELATIVE TO UNFAIR LIST.

President Hamerstrom Presides-A Large Attendance-Resolution Relative to Carpenters and Joiners' Matter-Matters Referred to Committees-Communications From Laundry Workers and Glass Bottle Blowers' Association.

The meeting was called to order at 8 p. m., President Hamerstrom in the chair.

A roll call of officers showed all pres-The minutes of the previous meeting gate from Glass Bottle Blowers' Association were approved.

By unanimous consent Messrs. A. F. Kinnon, John McPaul and Dr. Patten, of the Brookland Citizens Association, who submitted the draft of a bill authorizing certain municipal improvements in the District of Columbia, were given the privilege of the floor.

Credentials were received from Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, No. 68, certifying Harry Ale; also from United George Miller, jr., William Meyers, F. K. Poch, John Handlas and Frank Rom; also from Retail Clerks' Association, No. 262, certifying J. Moser, G. A. McCathran, E. A. Bachrach and Daniel F. Manning; also from International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, No. 4, certifying P. R. Flanagan, vice G. B. Hedges; also from Printing Pressmen's Union, No. 1, certifying N. C. Sprague, W. N. Pickard, J. N. Wright, W. C. Dean and H. F. Mooney; also from Carriage and Wagon Builders' Union, No. 72, certifying J. W. Baker, C. S. Mason, J. L. Stevens, W. A. Oldfield and J. H. Brinkman; also from Paperhangers' Union, No. 420, certifying H. J. Wells, W. F. Coggins, J. S. Dorsey, W. J. Tubman and C. L. Hickman; also from Registered Drug Clerks' Association, certifying W. S. Klemroth, W. C. Sparks, W. H. Bradfield, J. H. Kell and W. F. Kerfoot, jr.; also from Theatrical Stage Employes, No. 22, certifying Leonard Rubel, John Vialle, Percy Low and Frank D. Sturgiss; also from Douglass Assembly Engineers, certifying J. W. Stockton, Joseph John-

Howard. 'he credentials were referred to the Committee on Credentials, who reported favorably on all except from Douglass Assembly, Engineers, which was referred back to that organization for correction. The recommendations of the committee were received and concurred in and the delegates obligated and seated.

A communication from Douglass Assembly. Engineers, requesting that a committee composed of delegates from the Bricklayers, Hoisting Engineers, Local No. 14, I. U. S. E., and Douglass Assembly be appointed to settle important matters concerning those organizations. The request was granted and the following delegates appointed: Bricklayers, Milford Spohn; Hoisting Engineers, Delegates Gorrie, Mc-Cracken and Develin; Local No. 14, Delegates Venable and Lorch; Douglass Assembly, Delegates Stockton and Johnson.

The request of Journeymen Barbers' (white) Union, No. 239, to place a certain shop upon the unfair list was referred to the Grievance Committee.

The communication from the Shirt Waist and Laundry Workers' Union of Troy, N. Y., was referred to Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262.

The communication from Branch No. relative to Whittmore Bros. & Co., their bottles made by non-union glass a creditable one. blowers at Minotola, N. J., and requesting this body to use their influpolishes until such time as they have greater financial and social success their bottles made under fair condition was referred to the Label Com-

The report of the special committee coll's, N. Cap. and G.

to investigate the affiliation of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners was taken up, it being under special order of business for 9 William S. Klemroth, was discharged. decadence of English chivalry and glory the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Amalgamated ociety of Carpenters and Joiners, tral Labor Union.

An amendment was offered by Delegate Dickman, substituting March I for Feb. 1, but was lost. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 54 to 13.

The special committee having in charge the investigation charges filed by Retail Clerks' Union relative to violation of obligation on the part of delegates unknown, reported that they were unable to obtain sufficient proof were read and after correction by dele- to warrant action, and asked to be dis-

The report of Suffrage Committee was made the special order of business for next meeting at 9 o'clock.

Delegate Deitrich offered the following amendment to the constitution:

Sec. —. No affiliated union shall be allowed to have more than two names upon the Unfair List of the Central La-old man, not having knowningly inbor Union; provided, that upon a jured any one; but am not of that three-fourths vote of all delegates opinion now. I am an "offspring of present the list may be increased to certifying Harry Ale; also from United three names if said vote be in the af-Brewery Workmen, No. 118, certifying firmative. Provided further, that all you," "you of base intent," "thou

Pressfeeders Elect Officers.

At the regular meeting of the Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union, No. 42, held Friday evening, January practice of mud throwing, you have 10, 1902, at Typographical Temple, the following officers were elected for the say moss at first. This is my apology ensuing year: President, Daniel J. Seane; Vice-President, Mrs. Alice M. Zook; Secretary-Treasurer, Ida Van lines which may appear disrespectful Arsdale; Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Eleanor C. Burgess; Organizer, Daniel J. Seane; Sergeantat-Arms, Henry J. Flynn; Executive Board, Josephine Mulcahy, Elizabeth Flaharhan, Elizabeth Dillon, Annie M. Mills, and Henry J. Flynn.

At the December meeting a new constitution was adopted, making a change in some of the officers.

The members of the union regretted to see Albert S. Nolen relinquish the gavel as he had done so much in the past for the betterment of this body, and is due to him that the body took the stand it did in the bringing into the son, C. H. McDowell and John H. fold the feeders of the Government Printing Office, its branches, and the down-town offices. Though a com paratively young man in labor circles he is very conversant upon the feeders and other conditions and is a ready debater, and always used his best efforts to the cause of the toiler. May he be spared many years as he is always an aid in the cause of right.

The new president, Mr. Daniel J. Seane, is young in age and experience in the labor field, yet he has demonstrated he is fully capable of caring for the trust and honor conferred upon him. He is at present a delegate from this body to the Central Labor Union.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Carriage and Wagon Makers' Hop.

The Carriage and Wagon Makers' Union, Local No. 72, gave a very successful and pleasant dance at National Rifles' Armory, on Tuesday evening, January 14, 1902.

This was the first annual ball of this organization and the management and organization are to be commended for the able and entertaining manner in which the affair was conducted.

The project for which the ball was given-for the benefit of the relief fund-was a most worthy one and the 68 of the Glass Blowers' Association, attendance gave the assurance that the different organizations and friends were manufacturers of shoe polish, having in faver of assisting to make the fund

From experience gained and the appreciation shown by the public by their ence in advocating the non-use of their attendance we predict a larger and awaits them at their second annual.

More Merrie England. EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: In writing "Ho! England!" that apeyes scintillating fire. His Byronic rip and tear and invective really shrivelled me all up and I had to get the assistance of a friend to rub me down and sponge me off before I could realize that this was "me." I learned some years ago not to fool with a buzz saw, and therefore have given such dangerous and strange instruments a wide berth. But who could have conjectured that a few harmless lines could bring down such a cyclone of invective. I had believed till I read your issue of the 9th inst. that I was a middling fair unions having more than the above number shall elect the names they desire retained, the others to be dropped. It am. Now, my friend Mr. Eccles don't go for me quite so That's what I am. Now, my friend Mr. Eccles, don't go for me quite so hard. Leave a little for another time, for you may need it; and although believing it unbecoming in a gentleman to at any time descend to the vulgar forced me to mildly throw-well, we will to your readers, Mr. Editors, for anything I may have said in the following

SIDNEY T. BATES.

HO! ENGLAND'S CHAMPION! HO! TUNE—" YANKEE DOODLE DANDY."

to a fellow-craftsmen, as I understand

Mr. Eccles to be. If Mr. Eccles desires to come again, tell him not to be quite so rough, for it takes me longer to catch my breath now than it did thirty years ago.

Go back to your effete old pap

And be his servile tool: He'll tog you out in bell and cap And take you for his fool!

He'll send you on to Afric's shore (He needs you very much); He hasn't quite enough of gore And too-too much of Dutch!

You're just the kind to cringe and crawl (I judge you from your bark); And, judging also from your scrawl, Old Dudlee hits the mark!

Go cast your mask and leave the land And join Old England's crew, Whose iron heel and bloody hand Will gladly welcome you.

We sing the pæns of the brave And have no time for you: We toss a flower on your grave And bid you glad adieu!

* * * * * * * Forbid that in this wiser age That man should tribute pay To aid a worthless, pamper'd few To subjugate and sway: But rather let him rise to strike The rotten fabric down.

And owe no fealty but to him Whose Manhood is his crown, For only thus can we be free And thus our fathers willed-And thus for aye our destiny nd thus for aye out.
As freemen be fulfilled,
—W. H. DUDLEE,

Women's Bindery Union to Entertain.

The Mutual Relief Association, Women's Bindery Union, No. 42, I. B. of B., are to give an entertainment and hop on Monday evening, February 10, 1902, at Masonic Temple.

help the worthy organization along.

Music will be furnished by Caldwell's

Record Notes.

As other pens have recorded the par- and "deles," depending largely on the ticulars of the death of my late friend, inflection (or infliction) of his copyholdpeared in your paper two weeks ago, I Percy L. Moore, I will only ask space er's voice. The proof is now ready for Gredentials of Many New Delegates o'clock. The report was received, and had only one aim in view, and that was for a too brief tribute to his genuine the silent man, and can, for "second the form of a midwinter carnival for the committee, composed of John to mildly rebuke by friend Boner for worth, his ready generosity, and his mourning," wear a few tasty trimmings their many friends and the public gen-Hamerstrom, Jere F. McCarthy and his evident solicitude at the apparent constant friendship. In all ennobling, in purple. They are commas, most erally, to be held at Convention Hall, "he was a man." Long ago, before I probably. And to lend an air of cheer-beginning February 3 and continuing Delegate Van Ness then introduced as evinced in his late poem entitled had met him, I listened to a tribute of fulness, several black-tailed draperies to February 15, 1902, inclusive. England! England! Awake!" It gratitude paid him by a mere stranger are incidently dispensed with. The was a very great surprise to me to learn befriended. Twelve years have passed; umpire then reviews the work (if he has and entertaining, among its many featthat the son of Revolutionary ancestors I met him, knew him, and loved him time) and then makes a graceful "H," ures being the Bostock-Ferari Mighty Washington Branch, be required to withdraw from the Carpenters Executive Board on or before Feb. 1, 1902, or withdraw its delegates from the Central Lagrangian and loved him, and loved him, and loved him, and loved him, and loved him more with lapse of time. Never did respect lessen with familiarity; never was his manliness belittled by aught that the son of Revolutionary ancestors that the son of Revol generally, in prolonging a war so un- was his manliness belittled by aught the whole with a few ornaments in ox- unique as to surpass all previous atjustifiable and inhuman as that waged ignoble; always was he ready to relieve blood. The proof is out of mourning, tempts in the amusement line in this by England against the Boers. But it the needy, assist the weak, and befriend but not so with "46." And yet, when city; "Princess Dalaware," with her seems that I have roused up a lion—a the helpless. Widows and orphans the same galley returns from the sacred large group of full-grown performing real, Simon pure British roarer—tail will voice prayers for his repose, called hands of the departmental reviser the lions; Capt. Steve Lawrence in the up, mane bristling, jaws clamping, and forth by gratitude; for deeds of a mercy proof is so mutilated with commas "Lion Hunt," with three lions; the

Percy L. Moore.

so unobtrusive that many knew not in mockery by the doubting; were all would be the title! Sleep on, my wars. Where is there another family friend, in peace. No more fitting epitaph than these words of the great student of mankind, he of Avon, could describe Percy L. Moore as I knew him. He that is thy friend indeed,

Will help thee in thy need; If thou sorrow, he will weep; If thou wake, he can not sleep; Thus with every grief in heart He with thee doth bear a part. These are certain signs to know Faithful friend from flattering foe.

Brother Bloomer's recent criticism so pertinent that I congratulate him the case for forty years. He and I restrict the reform to mere catalogues also Mr. Boring, who is now a watchand indexes? Why not adopt some man at the Government Printing Office. work on punctuation so as to assist author, compositor, and reader? We Washington, D. C., Jan. 13, 1902. have a versatile "Manual of Style" governing much of the work issued from this office, dealing with capitalization, etc., allaying impatient curiosity as to weights of paper stock available; showing height, breadth, and nick of type fonts, "lest we forget;" spelling such bewildering words as "indispensable," "feasible," and their ilk; informing us that "9 horses" is statistical and should be expressed in figures, but every expression under 10, not statistical, should be spelled. But alas, except in testimony, there are no rules for punctuating. Each succeeding reader differs from his fellow, from umpire down to first reader, and there is but one standpoint of mutual agreement-the infallible axiom, "The compositor is wrong." And he frequently is, and thinks so himself, but punctuates according to his interpretation of theory of the final result exhibited on his last proof. Why should this be? There are good grammars accessible; any sixth-grade pupil could follow a given style of punctuation, if clearly and concisely framed, based upon grammatical constructon. I am sure Judge Bloomer could write for us such a 'style," and follow it, too, if adopted. True, a few compositors-and others -might have to consume a few feet of midnight gas or attend a night school, but all good workmen, from readers As the Bindery Minstrels, under the up, would hail with delight some greatest good for the greatest number. political action. direction of Charles F. Weston, will standard on this vexed subject. Even furnish part of the entertainment it is the less studious would learn more unnecessary to state that it will be a from a few carefully read and consissuccess. However, we hope that a tently marked proofs than from years of Columbia Union, 101, containing the large sale of tickets will be made to misspent in "correcting" (?) rainbow- names of the following printing offices, hued galleys mutilated in the present which should not receive the patronage conflicting, variable, haphazard man- or moral support of trade unionists: orchestra. Tickets, admitting lady and ner. Say "46" sets a take, punctuating gentleman, 50 cents; extra lady's tick- it according to his fallible idea of proof northwest. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris- ets, 25 cents. Lunch will be served in room standards; the conscientious, hard-working first reader very gravely west.

drapes it with somber black commas killed, dashes strewn around, etc., that boxing kangaroo and Prof. Briggs; it resembles a civil service diagram. Real economy, progress, and satisfaction could be realized and fame achieved from the adoption of this suggestion. "Bloomer on Punctuation" is anxiously awaited by an expectant star European trip; aerial artists, six public.

L. J. CLEMENTS.

STATIONERY.

A fine line of Box Paper and Tablets atoWM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Son of a Family of Warriors. EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST:

There is working in the Government Printing Office a young man by the attractions. name of Monroe C. Moxley, who belongs to a samily of warriors. His great grandfather, on his father's side, The general admission will be 25 cents served in the Revolutionary war; his grandfather served in the Mexican war; under 12 years. their benefactor. Such lives as his his father, Casper C. H. Moxley, whom make "Christian" no phrase to be held we all know, served in the Civil and Indian wars; and Monroe C. served in claimants such, what a patent of nobility the Spanish-American and Philippine who have served their country so faithfully as this one? And their records show that they have seen service long and hard. The record of the family of warriors is in print in the hands of C. C. H. Moxley and is worth reading. Monroe is a kind and quiet young man, strictly sober and industrious, and liked by all who come in contact with him, and I have been told that a braver boy never wore the blue. Mr. C. C. H. Moxley is confined to his house. I am of library-catalogue punctuation was an old printer, but have not worked at thereon; but why, oh sapient judge, worked together fifty years ago as did

I. H. ISACH.

Bubbles.

Philadelphia Bulletin.

It tells on asperson—gossip. Free of charge-an empty gun. Does the potato wink its eye when it sees the masher? Even the most prominent musician has to play a minor part.

Misery loves company, but none of us care to have her visit us.

The dentist's taste runs to fees as the most toothsome thing he knows.

Is it because we are "shy" of money that we get financially embarrassed? After all, it seems too bad that Lot's wife couldn't have had a fresh start.

The undertaker makes coffins for a living when he makes them for the dead. Even the independent auctioneer is entirely subject to the bidding of others. philologist's workshop-these are the

At the Convention.

The Thirty-sixth Annual Convention of the Bricklayers and Masons' International Union is now in session at Pittsburg, Pa., the body having convened there on the 13th instant. Local Union, No. 1, of this city, is represented by Messrs. John G. Wolfe, H. Mack Shook, and Dan McMahon. As there is much important matter to come before this body we trust our representatives will assist in legislating the

Notice to Trades Unionists.

Secretary Garrett has caused to be published a card for the use of members second Thursday in November, 1902. Rufus H. Darby, 508 Fourteenth st.

ough knowledge of the language of his native land. These essential points acquired, the novice has a foundation laid on which to build. His range of studies, properly to fortify himself against the impish tricks of the types, should comprehend everything readable. Facts, data, statistics, the names of men and women prominent in the world's affairs since Adam's time should be stored away in his brain-cells, to be called into requisition at a second's notice. Keenness of eyesight and of perception, and a tenaciously retentive memory are Nature's gifts to him, without which he is foredoomed to failure. The names of the birds that fly in the air, the planets in the blue canopy above them; the fishes that float in the sea, the history of all the earth above and beneath them; the animals that roam the plains, and the beasts that rear their young in forrest and jungle-the correct spelling of these should be as easy to him as the spelling of the names of distinguished persons. Science in all her forms, the art, the drama, music, politics, religion, the commercial world, finance, athletics, 'sports' on land and grim destroyer gathers him in." EDWARD EVERETT HORTON.

Labor Notes.

Canada has 1,000 labor organizations. Three years ago there were but a little sea, a working knowledge of all the languages living and dead, the interminable pages of lexicons and of grammars, the intricate windings of the 'good proofreader's' inheritance-a nucleus of that further knowledge the pursuit of which ends only when the Philadelphia unionists are discussing the question of taking independent

The next convention of the A. F. of L. will be called in New Orleans on the The time has been changed from December to November.

Montana seems to be the banner union State of the country. The Legislature has just passed a law establishing the eight-hour day among all the H. L. McQueen, 1108 E street north miners, millers, and smelters of the Official Organ Central Labor Union and Build

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON..... Editors. A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising. -JOHN WANAMAKER.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known

-FRANKLIN.

Last week a large amount of correspondence and news was crowded out owing to the space given to our interesting Manila letter. However, it is our desire to have all the trades and chapels represented in our columns, and to insure publication contributors will confer a favor by having their matter at this office not later than Tuesday night, closing as we do our columns to press Thursday morning.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

Wednesday evening, that we may get

The Post last Sunday had a half-column article about the close personal resemblance of President Roosevelt and John R. Sturgis, of the Specification Room, each of the other, and goes on to tell how Sturgis was taken for the President while on a recent Sunday fishing trip, narrowly escaping a call for a speech at the station where he and his friends were waiting for a train. I have never seen the President at close quarters, but if he is as goodlooking as Sturgis he has no cause for complaint on that score-not that John R. is a $5,000 beauty or anything of square, manly-looking man.

I feel sure John will not let himself come swelled up over this, for there his salary or lessen his grocery bill, ago who was famous as a "Shy." but it may bring in a few drinks from sea-lion (after a sudden haircut). The world is full of doubles, and as a general thing both the doublets are offended to him and said: at reference to their resemblance.

Bob Christian told me the other morning, on our way home, about his wants $2 more than I've got." first (and possibly last) tramp. As soon as he graduated at his trade at Richmond, Va., he bought a half-fare being Philadelphia, there being a semior sesqui- or some other old kind of Nat hailed him celebration going on there. When he arrived at Baltimore he had just $2 left, thing? and as it was at a very dull season he was unable to "catch on" anywhere. Falling in with an old rounder, though he had money enough to buy a ticket to Philadelphia for himself, the two started to walk there. At Wilmington he got work on a morning paper, and the next morning, after three or four hours' snooze, he went to work on the to you." Every Evening. He then shipped his helpless partner on to Philadelphia, remaining at Wilmington several days.

"They were so impressed with my integrity and general desirability," said Bob, "that they wanted to make a citizen of me at once, and even offered me a bonus of $10 if I would go to the polls and vote."

generally, and he says he has never aggerated, apochryphal, forty years old, and never happened. Thus are we hat. newspaper men taken in by our friends; they tell us a good, apparently plausible story, with names and dates, and we find later on that we've been goldbricked. I am going to confine my stories in the future strictly to dead men. They never get mad nor deny. * * * *

Feeling that our great, good, generous mother country, England, is in danthe poetical attacks that have been my good friend David Eccles in her mittee. defense, and as the question seems more easily and advantageously treated in the short-line style of writing occawriters thereof), I will use the same weapon. So listen:

Oh, noble, noble Angle Land, That never did a wrong, Or e'er oppressed a nation brave Because it was less strong!

Sav. has she not in India A loving mistress been? Sepoys she blew from cannon's mouth, But then where was the sin?

Sure, in fair Australia
The black she grants a grave. She never yet a land oppressed! (That she could not enslave.)

Old Egypt, too, has she not blessed By taking her in charge? She never wants more than there is, But takes it "by and large.

South Africa has been to her A source of trouble much. But did she not her holdings take From soul-destroying Dutch Auld Scotia, in olden days, By her was mauled a lot. Most loyal Englishman to-day, If scratched, is found a Scot.

To cherish Ireland is her work. No matter the "talk back By those who only faces make At hated "Sassenack."

The sull Boer she's got to trounce— Hark to the cannon's roar! Modern civilization knows No right to be a Boer.

These feeble few, who dare to hold In check, as now appears, Old England's legions, must be whipped If it shall take ten years, (Except with helpless foe!) Which shows that she's a land of peace— If not, I'd like to know. It's by disinterestedness

For eighty years she's not had war,

That she most brightly shines. And often, much against her will, Advances bound'ry lines.

She's affability itself. (To those who her out-man.) No nation does she e'er oppress, (Unless she's sure she can.)

Fear not, fear not, old Angle Land! Your honor we will save From onslaughts such as have been made-Dave Eccles-me and Dave!

Now, then, Mr. Dudlee, will you that kind, but he is a good, decent, kindly climb a tree? And you, Mr. Bangs, just cover your fangs!

is really nothing in looking like some last week there occurred the name of reviewed carefully each day and spent by Mr. Wallace in the Record body else. It will not add a cent to one among the employes of twenty years adopted section by section. generally had out from one to two tuft-hunters. Even I have been said thousand dollars at "10 per." At one to resemble others, as follows: Senator time my friend J. Nat Steed (sometimes Hanna (when smooth shaved), Captain called "J. Insect Horse") had a small Lemly (when the barber wouldn't stand | transaction with him-a ten or so-and for it), Dud Fleming (rear view), and a when pay-day came around he promptly liquidated it, principal and interest. A few days later the "banker" came up

"Say, Nat, have you got $2 that you won't need till after lunch? I'll bring it to you then. Here's a man who

"Certainly," said Nat, passing over the money.

After lunch the "banker" brought ticket to Baltimore, his objective point him the $2, thanked him for the accommodation, and was walking off, when

"Say, haven't your forgotten some-

"No; I guess not. What have I forgotten?'

"The 20 cents," said Nat.

"The 20 cents?"

"Yes, sir; the 20 cents," said Nat. I pay you so per cent. when I borrow of you, and as a matter of principle I demand the same of you when I lend

The money was grumblingly paid.

This same money-lending gentleman Bob has been over the country pretty day they added another, and continued introduction. His record as a union enough when he wants to sell beer or seen the time since his first trip when head. In disgust he sold it to a drughe wanted to work and could not get it. gist whom it fitted, for $3, and he probably never would have known of the Dan O'Connell says that story of his game that had been played on him had breaking in another man's shoes is ex- not the druggist discovered it and "necked" him for selling him a stuffed

> What has become of the proposition to add another story to the Temple as soon as the old indebtedness was worked off? I think we ought to run her up about two stories more and put in an elevator.

The articles in the Yearbook this year, both by our own membership and by our friends, are particularly good. ger of being embarassed and hurt by Typographically it is most creditable, too. The Committee on Printing has made on her in the columns of this reason to be proud of its work, and the journal, I think it is up to me to join Union has reason for pride in its com-

The Columbia Union Debating Society is starting off the year in good sionally mistaken for poetry (by the shape, having reorganized on the lines of the House of Representatives, with Shelby Smith as Speaker and E. B. Meritt as Clerk. The first debate will take place next Friday, the question being based on the desirability of the annexation of Cuba-I have forgotten the exact form of the question, Later on we will discuss the advisability of re-enacting the divorce laws of the District, recently repealed without submitting the question to the Society. There will be no end of interesting subjects and able debaters, and anyone who has nothing else to do will find amusement and possibly instruction of the committee. The little shavers by dropping in at Typographical Temple about 2:30 on Friday afternoons.

Specification Notes.

A. F. BLOOMER.

There's but one Mann in the Proof Room.

Galboy Austin who has credited to him about sixteen summers, is six-footfour and still growing.

"Holding widow in position by springs" passed second reading, but later was changed to window. The captain of the watch has discovered signs of an unusually large issue of patents for next week. There are now five Wilsons on the roll of this division. The Smith family will have to look to its laurels. Alley 3 enjoys the reputation of being the quietest alley in the room.

Next comes Alley I. (Not shown.) Alley 2 claims the best looking girls, which is true if we except alleys 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, not to mention the "side

Miss Cromelien has been absent from the office nearly three weeks on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Each member of this chapel has received a copy of the Yearbook for 1901, and the unanimous opinion is that it excels anything heretofore attempted.

annual report was dropped at the end specifications continuously since those In my remiscences of the Job Room of each alley last Friday. It is being dates, with the exception of a few years > the symposium list of charter members, was first to reach the wicket at the another quarter of a century. That opening hour of business, and declares such may be the case and that their his intention to stand by it to the very

Judging from the amount of mail matter received by Slug 58 in a single day, there is reason for believing that there has been a snow-slide or blockade of trains between this point and South Dakota.

The correspondence in THE TRADES UNIONIST from the Philippines last this division at present. week, detailing the voyage of the Washington crew and the progress made in the work of establishing a printery in the new possessions, was well received by readers here.

At present writing there are 220 male on specifications, including proof-readers and copy-holders-80 per cent male and 20 per cent female. Twenty years ago there was not a woman employed on specifications. If the single men ately upon his return he was called really scent danger ahead and feel themselves slipping they know what they can do. The older ones have not be so "frisky" in the future. done their share and have troubles of their own.

The announcement is made that G. was quite dressy and always wore a A. ("Yorkie") Rhinehart, by the ex- account of sickness. Miss Martin looks silk hat, for the storage and keeping of pressed wish of his many friends in this remarkably well, considering her long which he provided a manila-paper re- chapel and elsewhere, will submit his and serious illness, and her many ceptacle under his frame. He had just chances for election as a delegate to friends were delighted to welcome her bought a new one for $8, and "the represent Columbia Union at Cincin-back. boys" stole it and put a single paper nati. Mr. Rinehart is not a stranger to insert under the sweat band. The next the members, and therefore needs no this till it would only ride on top of his man is unimpeachable and his uniform get married.

······ FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

-FOR-

Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

CONSULT-

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading Outfitters, . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

courtesy has won him many friends who will work for his success and rejoice if he is among the winners.

Mr. Bloomer's good-natured announcement that he is a candidate for favors in the delegatorial race this year elicited favorable comment by the older members of this chapel, who have long enjoyed a personal acquaintance. His "Flotsam and Jetsam' papers in THE TRADES UNIONIST, besides other matters contributed, have interested to a marked degree and proven his capacity and experience beyond question. Columbia Union will be honored by honoring Mr. Bloomer.

The office cat and cateens are prospering finely under the fostering care now have their eyes open and "take out" very naturally. Billy Ball looked them over carefully with only the remark that while the mother and the young were evidently having a good time and surrounded with every comfort, nine chances to one the old man is crouched away somewhere under a dry goods box, shivering and bewailing his fate. But such is life.

The Specification Division is fast getting there. It was only last Sunday that the Washington Post gave prominence to the fact that President Roosevelt bears a striking resemblance to John R. Sturgis of this room, or tr. if objection is made to the order of procession. Sturgis came to work as usual on Monday morning and no change in chest measurement has been noticed. Salary and perquisites considered, the discrepancy is more noticeable, but what are all these to regular hours and a good night's rest?

Friday, January 10, was the anniversary of the birthday of two of the veteran employees of the Specification Proof Room-John P. Morse, who entered upon his seventy-fourth year, and Frank B. Wallace, who entered upon his seventy-third. Father Time has dealt gently with both, and each of them is to-day more active and vigorous than many younger men in the room. Mr. Morse entered the office in 1869 and Mr. Wallace in 1874, and they have A single copy of the Public Printer's been wrestling with the intricacies of Proof Room. Both are to-day, to all Pollock claims the honor of heading outward appearances, enjoying perfect health, and are apparently good for last days may be their happiest is the wish of all in the room.

Treasury Branch.

Misses Marie L. Jolley and Mary E. Mangan have been transferred to the main office.

Red waists seem to be the prevailing epidemic among the young ladies of David Eccles and William J. Galbraith were transferred to the main office Monday, and assigned to the First Division.

Messrs. McClure, King, and Whitney, of this division, attended the New and 44 female compositors employed Year's reception at the White House with their organization, Grand Army

William M. Holeman was on the sick list several days recently. Immedidown by a young lady while coming up in the elevator. The "Judge" will Miss Sarah Martin, forelady of the folding room, returned to work this week after a three months' absence on SUBSCRIBER.

The poet's poetical license isn't

Union Made Cigary

OF THE FINEST QUALITY. 5¢ ARMY & NAVY 10¢ AFTER DINNER 5¢ DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer 504 Ninth St., N.W.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Sold by all Grocers-Refuse Substitutes. Mother's Bread. Bakery 2836 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made. For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

"ALL BUT JERRY,"

When the whistle cease its tooting And the toil of day begun, When the comps are just commencing Their wild race against the sun; Then Bill Leavitt with his "time-sheet"

Is a very busy man, As he goes his rounds, according To the customary plan. With his little trusty pencil He'll proceed to indicate,

By a simple dot or fish-hook If you're early or if you're late; When he comes to Alley? And there propounds his query, You can hear the chorus ringing "All here—all but Jerry."

If Jerry works in the morning, Yes, if Jerry works during noon; It depends, its the same old story A white man is not a coon; Good, a coon is always cautious, He'll hardly betray his train. But, Jerry, as old as he is, Will ne'er be the same again

Oh, Jerry, you are a dandy. A chip from the pure old block. As sure to be 'mongst the missing And when the command goes forward For Gabriel to comb his pate, I'll bet my two weeks' wages That Jerry will be late.

Fifth Division, G. P. O.

-HANNIBAL

The busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO.

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma' and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredients by Skilled ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imitate it because it's good.

119, 121, 128, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Do you want an accurate time-piece? ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY,

Jeweler and Optician Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches. 632 G St. N. W.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C.O.D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

-VISIT-

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . . .

Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets M. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.: 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON.... President WALTER V. SMITH ...... Vice-President W. M. GARRETT.....Secretary Treasurer JOHN R. BERG...... ... Organizer C. C. HIPKINS..... D. E. TYRRELL.....Sergeant-at-Arms FRANK HART..... Doorkeeper

TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett.

DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION -J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and C. E. Clark.

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard. DOMMITTEES.

BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt James R. Armstrong. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A.

Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chair-D. Seiffert. man; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Har-vel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

W. F. Reed CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H.

Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis,

and B. M. Connelly.
RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman; J. M. Lenhart, and Hugh Reid.

CHAIRMEN. First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-Frank E. Wright. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements. Job Room-Geo. B. Tallman. Record Clerks' Division-J. L. Alverson. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette—George Gerberich.

Document Proof Room—Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division-S. W. Taylor. Navy Department Division-R. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-H. L. Shyrock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times—Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-H. C. Pool. Globe Printing Co.-H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl. Patent Record-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Alex. England. National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau. MoGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES.

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Down Town.

Union meeting Sunday.

The London printers' union has 12, ooo members and $385,000 in bank. Daniel McDowell, one of the swifts stopping in the city. W. C. Watson, who has been in the working on the Night Bill Force. The way to make union members is to get labor papers and pamphlets into the hands of workingmen. Are you doing it?

William H. Touhy, lately of the Baltimore Herald chapel is now located on the Night Bill Force at the big

T. C. Parsons, one of the operators on the Times, has been transferred from the night to the day side of that

Now let the ladies come forth and show their union qualities. We are in need of ladies who will aid in the deare great. Agile, versatile, sarcastic, mand for the label. "Jack" Davelir, who represented Salt Lake (Utah), Typographical Union I. T. U., was elected a member of the Salt Lake city council recently.

ald in Baltimore, is making calls upon ganizing "subject, how would it do to his many friends in this city. Jack is organize a Dramatic Club? There is always welcome.

"Eddie" Charles, formerly of the Times, but of late located at Salt Lake City, Utah, is again with us. He states that one wishing to board a street car of Bertillion system and stamp out on the street! The old stalliou on the coll's, N. Cap. and G.

holiday?

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free. Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cooking to order. Your patronage solicited. JOHN E. BONINI,

727-729 N. Capitol street.

First Division.

The "paper came out" last Thursday, as usual, though work was not the paramount issue with the busy boys of the First. It was election day and the campaign was a hot one. As for chairman it was a contest not so much between men, for both Mr. Sizer and Mr. Harris are able, popular, and proficient, as it was between sections, the West L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and being represented by Iowa, and the East and South by Maryland, Maryland won out, and Mr. Sizer will serve another term as Mr. Chairman. The secretaryship developed an unexpected nonor of the chairmanship of the catalogue section of this division, and but are now dead 'uns. Messrs. Nachman and Moyer were the aspirants. Both hustled for himself from the drop of the last dying echoes of the nominating speeches until the last ballot was cast. The count showed Mr. Moyer to be the choice by a very hear. narrow margin. Mr. Harris and Mr. Nachman are not in the least crestfallen but feel flattered over the vote given them, and will keep their organization in working order and have another try at it next April.

In this division there is a handsome and intelligent black cat that makes his daily circuit as regularly as the time-keeper, and is looked upon as a member of the secret service. His visits are so quietly made that he frequently passes by unnoticed, but those 821 North Capitol street, northeast. who have kept a watch on Tommy's rounds can tell almost the minute that he will pass certain stations in the division. In his mute way he seems to greet each one, and will pause and chair. ook at a vacant frame as much as to ask the reason why. He has his favorites who treat him to bits of ration or a sip of fresh sweet milk. But Tommy has an unfortunate faculty-one prone to his human brothers-that of giving offense, unintentionally, and making enemies even in doing his duty. One night recently, after the departure of the night force, when the office was in charge of the watchmen, a big rat gained entrance. Tommy, whose card is up to date, saw the rodent and demanded his working card. Failing to matum, and a conflict ensued. The union cat won and Tommy was covered his fatal error, and gave offense. He carried his spoils to the frame of one of his friends and deposited the carcass on the floor. At the call of time the aforesaid friend became furious, and Oh! no; but he is a washee-washee. in the linotype game, of Baltimore, is claimed some secret enemy meant an insult. Chairman Sizer was called upon to clear up the case, which he did city of Chicago for the past year, is gracefully by causing the office to aschalk ring aroung the offending error of the cat, and calling a colored laborer to remove all evidence of the efforts of a union cat to keep the office pure from the rodents. Moral-A rat, human or otherwise, will have no show in the BAB. G. P. O.

STATIONERY.

Writing Paper in white and the latest tints—from 10 cents to $1.50 a box. at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Fourth Division.

Some of your regular correspondents mark and scratches him and roasts him while new. Bloomer waits until he is dead and then picks his bones apart.

Brother Clements, of the Sixth, is the Government Printing Office, but endeavoring to organize a Debating aspirants of the mimic stage. Let us would end in a wild stampede on the hear an expression on the subject.

That is a great team, "Pard" and "Old Spav." See them come down the transfer a face resembling nearly, offside has been a sturdy animal in his or as near as the conductor can judge, day, but wind galls and spavins have that of the passenger. My! but would spoiled his action. He trots in front it not require a number of faces to fill and paces behind, and the saddle mark the bill on the Washington lines after a is plain on his back. The little burro on the near side is thin. His ribs show; but he takes the bit in his teeth and trots merrily on, his ears keeping time to the music of his feet. As they pass the corner you hear the old darkey on session of Congress. Everything first the seat call, "Gee, Pard! Whoa, Old Spav!" and the garbage can rattles in the wagon behind.

> Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, .N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Any Old Thing.

I understand the Manila delegation wants to wander oack again.

A word to "Cycle:" Don't butt in Keep on the fence.

Down-town Man Sudwarth is being Lord Paunceforte know this? touted" as one of 'em.

without him this Spring.

Adam Bugg calls for Moynihan, to again see your fine Italian hand, and treats all subjects brought before 'Mogny." Mr. Ottinger, I overlooked Bill Tan-contest as it carries the additional be it's what you are to-day." There gets along with the force good, he are several here who are used-to-be's, turns out a lot of work and is a rapid When a man is deposed as president of an assemblage and proceeds to having for its object mutual benefit and decide a point of order when his successor is in charge, wouldn't that jar this chapel. At present it numbers Headquarters for you? Such happened at the Spess, I twenty five souls.

Adam Bugg, in speaking of me doing actually had a certain assistant foreman (they are rated as revisers, how- praise for their labor. ever), looking wise for a couple of days. CAP L.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

If you want to get a warm lunch or first-class board, go to Mrs. Turner's, Observations.

Although full and wider, yet he was not able to retain possession of the John Campbell, at the present time,

Kelly and Moran, in their great whistling and dancing act, is the talk of Swampoodle. Several editions of recently broken resolutions can be seen in the vicinity of the big printery. Whether Ottinger is a pup, or the pup is named Ottinger, it matters not;

both can bark and bite.

Henry Noyes, of Illinois, being one of the boys, is, without boast, the uncrown'd king of Bonini's pan-roast.

Lanky Fitz surely must feel lonesome produce one, the decision that he could in the midst of such heavyweights as not work in this precinct was an ulti- Judge Tallman, Whitehead, and the Troy giant.

After so many attempts at being lowing applications for membership will with glory. But that was not the end good, it is surprisingly unfortunate to of the affair, and here Tommy made hear so many mumbling: "Show Me the Way to Go Home."

If all Chinamen were excluded from the country, what would become of Tenn.; G. E. Wysong, age 29, Charles Patsy O'Brien? Is he a Chinaman?

and waterways will not diminish the Cookus, Shepherdstown, W. Va.; output of the distilleries; if any, it will Francis de S. Smith, age 29; William increase the demand. The subject is Sweeney, age 24; Jos. W. Becker, age number of foremen, and at the same 28; James B. Siggins, age 26; Patrick time facilitate business, why not start J. Siggins, age 29, of Washington. a benevolent society? Surely there is a growing need for such an institution. Until a recent issue of THE TRADES Unionist I never heard of a bookbinder being able to indulge in "witty sayings." I knew of them being proficient in the art of "binding" what other people said.

It has been clearly demonstrated that in the distribution of over-time plums, the emblem of a certain fraternity is mightier than your paid up union card. Of course, we are not supposed to notice such small things, Sundays

My leg getting rather tired, I shall kick no more this time. Await develop-THE KICKER.

LONG PRIMER SORTS.

It will hardly be disputed that, if the British would fire a few stanzas of plenty of talent in the big office and it Assistant Laureate Eccles' poetry at should be utilized. Step forward ye the Boers, the war in South Africa part of De Wet's followers.

ADAM BUGG.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris-

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS.

Night Bill Force.

It is reported that Sefton was robbed of a ton of coal the other day.

Tommy Dougherty flies the British flag when riding his wheel.

Our genial friend, Chris. C. Aura-The Dick Croker of the Union being cher, presides at the "bank" as of n Manila we will have to worry along yore, and resides at the "Sangerbund." Soap-suds, Chris.

Mr. A. L. Huss, chairman of this That's right. We all will be glad chapel, is a very popular young man him with fairness and justice.

Mr. White, assistant foreman Third ner because "it's not what you used to Division, is a very pleasant person and walker.

> A new society styled the "C. L. C., entertainment, has been organized by

The members of this force all speak highly in praise of the Yearbook, and the bouquet-tossing act, reminds me of Mr. O J. Ricketts' picture seems to be Hot Scotch," who was a dandy. He a favorite. The colored pictures are superb. The committee deserve great

> After a tortuous passage to the case, Henry Taylor is at last back to his old anchorage, as assistant to Chris Auracher. His successful trip has caused such a swelling that he will have to be sent to the cooper's for a new set of

> The occupants of alley 17 have offered a pig as a prize for the best record, contest to close February 22. leads by several thousand ems. Brodnax says he will have to measure the floor to stand any show.

> About ten years ago a young man from an Eastern State went into a Washington drug store and asked for 5 cents' worth of compound cathartic pill, and flashed his Rochdale card, and asked for a cent rebate. He still carries his Rochdale, but gets his pills gratis from a printer-doctor.

> > Punchinillo.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Stated Meeting.

Columbia Union, No. 101, will meet Sunday, January 19, 1902, and the folbe acted upon:

W. B. Leslie, age W. B. Miles, jr., age 33, Sullivan, Ind. A. N. Venable, age 22, Jonesboro, Town, W. Va.; T. H. Bradley, age 24, Wilmington, N. C.; Jas. H. Knox, All this talk on the hill about water age 38, Rochester, N. Y.; Albert 23; Joseph Gibson, age 37; William To accommodate the ever-increasing Busey, age 23; Geo. L. Pumphrey, age

Reinstatements-A. A. Braddock, age 47; H. E. Haliday, age 41; Chas. W. Kirkley, age 36; John M. Wilson, Apprentice membership-Charles E. Castle, age 21, McGill & Wallace; Wm. F. Harris, age 20, and Leonard Washington, age 21, Wilkins Printing Co.

The following deaths have occurred since last meeting: S. C. Presley, December 16; John E. Sullivan, December 17; N. Sardo, December 20, and Thomas H. Greenfield, December 29.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Request Granted. The following postal card communication (followed lit.) came with other mail to this office on January 13, and the request is cheerfully granted:

Sir-My name appearing in your Paper, TRADE unionist a number of Times. Please omit me from your Colums if not i will Resort to other Means to have it stopped from Bindery Jan 13th Capt John H Frederick.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Changes in the G. P. O.

Ben Shannon has relinquished the foremanship of the (day) Record room, he going back to his former position as assistant foreman of the Second Division; W. J. Dow, former assistant to Foreman Bowen, assumes charge of the (day) Record force; Thomas F. Harris, of the First Division, succeeds Calvin Hummel in the Record Clerks' Division, Mr. Hummel filling the vacancy as clerk to the Congressional Record, caused by the death of Percy L. Moore.

Table board, $18 per month, at 810 New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O.

MRS. M. T. WORK.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

Kitchen Utensils.

Whatever is necessary to properly furnish your kitchen can always be found here at the very lowest price.

TLowest Prices for Glassware, China Silver-Plated Ware, Lamps, Etc.

DULIN & MARTIN CO... Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ideA  $N^{\mathrm{eat}}$  and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE

Renowned for choicest Underwear, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe. (Late James Sullivan's.) en. It contains all that A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor, ourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland. Men's Furnishings, Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING. ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, JAN. 20. The Famous and Original

BISONCITY QUARTETTE STINSON & MERTON M'LLE FLORA

JOHN E. CLARK

Lottie West Symonds The Bijou Bulesquers,

Bert Leslie and Sam J. Adams in a New Burlesque.

Ladies' Matinee every Friday. No Smoking Allowed.

Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher 1012 7th St. N. W.

ONE PRICE.

*****

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL, WHISKIES AND CICARS.

MELVALE Specialties. SHERWOOD Cool Lager Beer on Draught

THOMAS WALSH,

407 Tenth Street Northwest. EDWIN F. PRICE,

BOOKBINDER. 628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description.

A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

Strongest flat opening blank book made

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

27 300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel. Every Laboring Man

-- requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of-

Cream Blend Flour It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands—therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy. Your Grocer will supply you.

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers. 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

J. L. KERVAND, Engraver, Lithographer and Plate

Printer. - - Washington, D. Q Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Scientific American.

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood.

MUNN & CO. 36 1 Broadway. New York

Opposite CENTRE MARKET. EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 605 F Street N. W.

111 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER,

Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00.

Fine Wines and Liquers. BLUE LABEL GIGARS. 1219 E Street Northwest.

FOR LUNCH TRY THE

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St, nw.

Bindery Notes.

The Boag-Mattimore coffee trust has Frankie Pfirman says there will be "something doin" if Jack Farrel don't let up.

The Women's Bindery Union wil give an entertainment and ball on Feb ruary 10, at Masonic Temple.

Prof. Engene Patsch has received a large number of gifts from his friends at home which he has carefully laid away until he gets married.

A number of bookbinders would like to have John Cunningham, of the Press Room, tell them about the bottle o wine and the pound of candy.

Bill Lang borrowed a dress suit from a printer friend when he played the bones at the Congressional Council National Union banquet. Bill made a hit but will have to pay for cleaning the suit. Too much cheese on it.

The following bookbinders are being groomed for the delegate race: Kirch, Fraily, and McCausland, of the Union Building, Wallace, of the Treasury Myers, Cassidy, Nelson, Mattimore Hedges, Flanagan, Kelley, Stockman, thoroughfare. He became bewildered. and Feeney, of the G. P. O.

Cow Boy.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

Bindery, received the following letter NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1902.

ME DEAR FRIND CHUCK: Touchin' on and appertainin' to my me heart in two. It is tough to be the morning they dispersed. drivin out of an honest livin' and have me reputation ruined by guys like dese.

got dead on to the policy joints and the compassion of a good Samaritan, he's got de blokies up a pipe. I have gave him a lift and shortly thereafter a little dust left and will be down and deposited him in front of his hotel bite off a few wid you on Washington's where the anxious friends were found

Say, Chuck, does a man have to pass police force in Alexandria? Please let me know. Regards to all me frinds. Your old pardner.

WILLIAM DIVIRY.

Pan Roats, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room for laboratory purposes, have removed my office to No. 316 H street northwest, just opposite old location.

DR. T. J. MCCONNELL.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

A Stranger in a Strange Land.

In the telegram to his friends announcing his intended visit he had neglected to state the hour, likewise Allied Printing Trades Label. the road on which he was traveling to the city, consequently he found no familiar face at the depot upon his arrival.

He was alone! A stranger in a strange land! This was his first visit East and his first glimpse of a large

Stepping into a cab he asked to be driven to a certain well known hotel where he affixed his signature and was duly assigned to a room. After washing off the stains of travel and partaking of a good dinner he lounged around awaiting the appearance of his friends whom he thought would be sure to know just where he was.

Having admired the beautiful interior of the hotel he began to carefully scru
12. THE MAURICE JOYCE CO..

Evening Star Building tinize the countenance of each person who entered, hoping thereby to find some one he knew. All strangers!

throngs passing up and down the Avenue attracted him. He longed to stretch his cramped limbs and breathe a bit of 18. THOMAS P. MOORE, 623 F street northwest, fresh air. Stepping out on the sidewalk he carefully surveyed the building, fixing it in his memory, then gazing for awhile up and down the street, he 22. J. L. PEARSON, Ninth and D streets northwest. boldly plunged in and was soon swallowed up in the crowd.

Frequently stopping to admire the magnificent display in the shop win- all printing done for them. Patronize dows and giving himself up entirely to the above firms and Unionists the city this enjoyment he strolled far up the over will reciprocate. Avenue. Turning to retrace his steps he wandered off into one of the many streets that find an exit on the main

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, made an assignment.

Billy Casey claims to have learned his trade in a pool room. Whoa, Bill!

Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur.

The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| 1       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | The state of the s |
|---------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| e11 | NAME.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Business.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Location.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 11      | Haines' Southeast Store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Department store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Eighth and Penna. avenue s.e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|         | Keenan Bros                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Gents' furnishers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n.v                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 11      | B. Solomon                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Gents' furnisher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 708 Seventh street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| )-      | Rufus H. Darby                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Printer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 508 Fourteenth street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|         | H. L. McQueenN. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | PrinterCigar manufacturer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1011 Penna. avenue n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|         | E. Gundershiemer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Baker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 516 Second street n.w. and stall                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| -       | 23. O undorshiomor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Dunot                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | in Center Market.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| a       | Peter Grogan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Carpet dealer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| S       | J. Mangan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Horseshoer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| d       | John H. Fitzgerald                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Horseshoer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 443 Prather's alley n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| u       | S. S Daish                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Coal and woodMeat dealer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Florida ave. and Third st. n.e.Center and O st. Markets.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|         | C. E. Hencke                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Electrician                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 711 G street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|         | Sheets & Miller                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Electrician                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 804 E street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| e       | James A. Bennett                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Tinner                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 2008 H street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| S       | Louis A. Dieter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Paperhanger and decorator.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 9 F street northwest.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| of      | National Mosaic Company                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Mosaics                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 207 Fourth st. n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| )1      | I. Grosner                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Clothing                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 914 F st. and 803 Market Space1343 F st. n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|         | A. H. McGhan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Painter and contractor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 817 E st. n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|         | A. Minster                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Gents' furnisher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 499 and 501 Penns ave. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| n       | Charles Walters                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Carriage Builder                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Fourteenth and streets n.w                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| e       | A. Markward                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Contracting painter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 609 G street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| il      | Cyrus B. Reese                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Employing steamfitter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1519 Fourteenth street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 11      | C. A. Schneider & Sons                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Union Iron Works                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 212 Twelfth street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| a       | Boston Steam Laundry Tolman Steam Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | First and G streets n. w.491 to 499 C street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| or.     | Wash, Traction & Electric Co                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Street Railway                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| g       | Minster & Paterson                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Gents' furnishers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|         | The Famous                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Gents' furnishings                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 437 Seventh street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|         | Chas. A. Muddiman & Co                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Gas fixtures                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| g       | Joseph Mathey                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Stove dealer and tin worker.Tin, stove, cornice works                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1918 Pennsylvania avenue n. w. 715 Second street n. e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 1,      | A. Molnoti                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Stone works                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | First and M streets n. e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| n       | Castelberg                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Jeweler                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Pennsylvania avenue.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A.A.    | Palmer, S. C                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Bottler                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1066 Thirty-second street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| ;       | The second secon | The state of the s |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| -3      | A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Trades Unionist.

Union Directory.

To Secretaries: Please notify this office of any change in officers' addresses, time or place

of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

Morrison, Secretary.

International Association of Machinists,
Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building,
Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James
O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson,
vice-president and editor of the Journal;
George Preston, Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple.
C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street northwest. Residence, 106 I street northwest.

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest.

Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America, Division No. 161, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight, alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street northeast

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U.

west. Jere F. McCarthy, ath street southwest.

Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No.

A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street

day in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Capitol street.

Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Belligk's Hall. 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer, Secretary, 245 North Capitol street.

Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets

Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers, No. 77, I. U. S. E., meets every Thurs day, at Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street north west. S. J. Foreman, Secretary, 2223 Cleve land avenue northwest.

sey avenue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. Charles G. Myers, Secretary, 605 E. street southeast

Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers

Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bie-ligk's Hall, 787 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists, meets first and third Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest.

Seventh street northwest. William Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

c and kneadsto il Union, No. 12, meets second and fourth days of each month at Bieligk's Hall, 737 days of each northwest. William Keith

Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tues-

He was lost!

With the "hope that springs eternal SUBSCRIBE FOR THE within the human breast," he accosted one of the blue-coated minions of the Chuck Connor, of the Government law. Alas, for his hopes! On he went. Presently he found himself in the midst from his friend, the ex-chief of police of a pushing, jostling crowd. "All of New York, the day after his dismissal: skeegy now," he muttered to himself, 'here's the crowd; I'll just follow them." He did.

His friends made inquiries at the difdismissal from the police department, ferent hotels and at last recognized his I must admit when de dudes wid red signature. "He has just stepped out," neckties, kid gloves, and falsetta voices was the clerk's reply to their question. trun me down (I couldn't help it) the "Let's wait awhile," said one. "All lemon juice came in me eyes, and I right," chorused the others. They never felt so bad in all me life. When waited long and they waited patiently. I tinks of all de good grafts I lose, and The hands of the clock marked the dat I aint going to get de good tings to hour of one and he had not yet arrived, cough up any more, it nearly breaks so with an agreement to meet there in Morning broke. A passing milkman found him stumbling around on the Your leader, Capt. Norton Goddard, hills near the Soldiers' Home, and with awaiting him.

"Where have you been, Jim?" was a civil service examination to get on the question that greeted his disheveled appearance.

> "Why, I became tired of lounging around here last night and started out or a short walk. Being a stranger I got confused with your streets and I suppose I got lost. I-"

"I found him out near the Soldiers" Home," interrupted the milkman.

"I was lost so, I asked a-" A peal of laughter cut short his story. His friends knew the rest. Poor man! He had asked a Washngton policeman.

THIN SPACE.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast.

The following publishing houses are legally authorized to use the Allied Trades Union Label:

1. THE LAW REPORTER, 518 Fifth street northwest. 2. THE TRADES UNIONIST, 441-443 G street northwest.

3. GLOBE PRINTING CO., 341 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. 4. THE ALONZO BLISS CO., 39 B street northwest.

39 B street northwest.
5. THE COLUMBIA PUBLISHING CO.,
518 Twelfth street northwest.
7. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.,
628 Louisiana avenue northwest.
8. JUDD & DETWEILER,
420 Eleventh street northwest.

9. GEORGE E. HOWARD & CO., 305 Tenth street northwest.

11. PATENT RECORD CO., 719-721 Thirteenth street northwest.

13. NATIONAL ENGRAVING CO., 508 Fourteenth street northwest.

14. PRICE'S BINDERY, 628 Louisiana avenue northwest. It was Saturday night and the vast 15. JOHN F. SHEIRY. 413 Ninth street northwest.

16. T. J. McCORMICK, Rooms 25-27 Atlantic Building.

19. BUNCE, PRINTER, Sixth and Louisiana avenue. 20. THAYER & KATES, 511 Fourteenth street northwest.

All who are in sympathy with Organized Labor should have the Label on

For further information address

A. THOMAS CAMPBELL, 1012 Twenty-fifth Street, N. W. ple 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett, Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of tilway Carmen, meets second and fourth iday of each month at 425 Twelfth street rthwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, ceretary, 939 G street southwest.

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E., meets second and fourth Wednes-days of the month at 609 F street northwest. John W. Stockton, Secretary, 411 Twenty-fourth street northwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets second and fourth Saturday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, 117 Fifth street northeast.

Fire Department Employees P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a. m., at Union Veterans' Hall, 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C. Egloff, Secretary, 614 Sixth street southwest.

I. U. S. E., Hoisting and Portable, Local 77, meets every Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, Hare's Hall, 404 Elghth street northwest, Jas. J. McCracken, Secretary, 493 Maryland avenue southwest.

Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No 8097, meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Masonic Fall, Anacostia, D.C. C.W. Teates, Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia. Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers'

Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory, 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec-retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest. International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No. 5, meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac extract.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 26, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tary, 200 E street northwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. W. T. Malloy, Secretary, 943 C street southwest.

International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Wednes-day night at Eighth and D streets northwest, N. A. James, Secretary, 3612 O street north-Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Setters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Sec-retary, 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers— Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re-cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest. Iron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, mee 10th and 25th of each month at Masonie Hall, corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secre-tary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest.

Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meets first and third Wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest. American Federation of Labor—Headquarters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'l Gompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary. Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17, meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E street northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters'
Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple. 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary. 1312 Twentyninth street northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters' Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Cos-tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. Joseph Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place

Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161, meets every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth

National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. John A. Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424, Station G. Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Monday evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I street northeast.

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Local No. 148, meets every Thurs-day evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith. Secretary, 3315 Operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets firs and third Friday evenings at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast. Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of P., D., and P., meets every Tuesday evening, 600 C street northwest. C. L. Hickman, Sec-retary, 944 L street northwest. Bakers Union, No. 118. meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple. 423-425 6 street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street southwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee, Sec-tary, 907 E street southeast.

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first

3akers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. C. meets first and third Thursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Secretary, Kensington, Md.

Pipe Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets every Thursday night at 1208 E street northwest.

A. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street northwest. Fourth street northeast.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p.m. at 430 Eighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310

Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets first Saturday of each month at Typographica Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Emil Petersen, Secretary. 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macabee Temple, Ninth street northwest, the third Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secre-tary, 717 Seventh street northeast.

Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty-pographical Temple, 423 G street northwest J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north-

Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gaut, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Columbia street northwest. avenue northwest.

Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest.

H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-

Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Fri day at 8 o'clock p. m., at 922 Pennsylvani avenue northwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers, Local Union. No. 368, meets every Friday night at 430 Eighth street north-west. John L. Cochran, Secretary, 510 E st.

tone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first and third Friday of each month at St. Mark' Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos Rose, Secretary, 40 Fenton street northeas United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local Union, No. 190, mee every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth stree northwest, top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secre tary, 936 Fourth street northeast. Carriage and Wagon Workers' International Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor, Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jer-sey avenue northwest.

United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on

Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourth floor) Ninth street northwest T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs stree

Washington Branch Granite Cutters' National Union, meets every fourth Monday in each month, at 1204 Pennsylvania avenu northwest. Wm. Silver. Secretary, 49 Massa-chusetts avenue northwest. Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union

Vashington Feeders and Friday in each month No. 42, meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 Q Washington Lodge of Machinists, No. 193.

meets first and third Tuesday evenings at southwest corner of Tweifth street and Penn-sylvania avenue northwest. C. G. Miller, Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest.

Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Monday night at Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh street northwest. Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Tem-

Silver Medal

Chr. Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUENCHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man—»

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations. Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twenty-four bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293. Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F N. E. Phone 1203.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

010

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK.

Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up. BANKERS.

UNION SAVINGS BANK
The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave. BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS.

S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. BOOTS AND SHORE.

CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand.

52 H Street Northwest. CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave.

LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755. COACH FINDINGS.

J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. AL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W.

CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD, 477 and 900 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

> DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & MCCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W.

HECHT & CO.,

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Telephone, 2180. FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES. 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W.

GROCERIES. Good things to eat." 1210 F St, N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS. S. H. HINES & CO. 1315 14th St. N. W. Phone, Main 1879. HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats.

HARDWARE AND TOOLS. 1004 F St. N.W. S22 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS.

FOSBURG & MURRAY,
Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers.
8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W

NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news.

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. (Late Ryneal's), F. MUTH & CO. 418 7th St. N. W PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO.,

458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN,

Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter,

Southeast Corner Second and H sts. PRINTERS.

JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E. TEAS AND COFFEES.

GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores. TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W. TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND.

WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS. TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART,

Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M. JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market, WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

J. WILLIAM LEE.

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

NUF CED.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 32.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE GENTRAL LABOR UNION

President Hamerstrom Names Committees for Ensuing Term.

MANY CREDENTIALS RECEIVED. Request granted.

Master Painters and Brotherhood of Paint ers and Decorators Contract-Grievance Committee Busy-Castelberg National Jewelry Company Again Fair-Suffrage Committee Report-Labor Day Prize Matter-Several Communications Received-Douglass Association of Engineers' Application for Charter Indorsed.

The meeting was called to order at 8 p. m., President Hamerstrom in the

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Credentials were received from Bakers' Drivers certifying J. R. Buezyard and Henry Sohad; also from gan, E. J. O'Brien. J. H. Brinkman, and Journeymen Horse-Shoers certifying J. P. Martin, Jerry Lynch, W. O. Ginzell, Andrew Wise and J. M. Horigan; also tion certifying Thomas Foster; also L. Hickman. from Photo Engravers' Union certifying W. P. Hall, E. G. Leicht, T. O. Crown, F. C. Betts and W. Colfax; also from Tile Layers' Helpers certify- Clark. ing Sam Beckett, Frank Curten, Frank Fowler, H. Elliott and J. Locktee; also from Bottlers' Union certifying C. R. Waldecker, H. J. Kittenger, N. B. Wigginton, F. Eberly and B. Bussink; also from United Brotherhood of Leather-Workers certifying Samuel Abbott, vice F. W. Kneissi; also from Bakers and Confectioners certifying P. Melchior, Charles Johnstone, J. Thoma, Felix Stocks and G. F. Harrold; also from Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers certifying T. A. Hill, Thomas W. Traber, G. D. Osgood, F. Deacon and J. O'Brien, J. M. Barrett, H. Bean, Fred Koehler and F. J. Hagerty; also from Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union certifying B. T. Birch, W. F. Cooke, W. Roberts, H. Schweitzer and M. Weismuller; also from Hod Carriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers Cookes, Peyton. Thomas I. O'Brien, J. M. Barrett, H. Bean, certifying Moses Peyton, Thomas Johnson, H. Dandrich, William Scott and H. Anderson; also from Upholsterers' Union, No. 58, certifying J.

Nauck and Percy Baxter. made that contract between Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators, No. 368, and said association be indorsed.

Maier, F. Kirchnea, T. R. Bowie, E. A.

Request granted. Communication from White Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, requesting this body to place the name of Martin Pro upon the unfair list was received and referred to Grievance Com-

Communication from Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Union, Local No. 9, was read and referred to the Grievance Committee.

A communication from San Juan, P. R., relative to the action of the courts in the case of Santiago Iglesias and seven other workmen was read and ordered placed on file.

the building of warships of the U.S.

Delegate Manning, of Retail Clerks' granted.

order of business. Delegate Kennedy erty, throwing missiles and assault. submitted the report, and after discussion, it was received and the recommendation of the committee concurred

Delegate Ratigan reported that all the prizes drawn at the drawing of the Central Labor Union Excursion Committee had not been called for, and that another drawing would take place on the first Saturday in February. Special Committee appointed on behalf of Douglass Association of Engi- 821 North Capitol street, northeast.

neers made their report and action was taken thereon.

Delegate Spohn requested that the Chair fill the vacancies on the Suffrage Committee so that said committee would have one delegate from each organization as some of the former members were not returned as delegates.

Delegate Lorch, of Steam Engineers No. 14, requested that the Central Labor Union indorse the application for a charter from the Douglass Association of Engineers. Granted.

The chair announced the following

GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE. J. B. Dickman, chairman; William Silver, Charles W. Winslow, Fred Fletcher, and E. A. Bachrach.

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE. Milford Spohn, chairman; Henry W. Szegedy, W. E. Kennedy, Charles E. Dietrich, and J. E. McCracken.

CONTRACT COMMITTEE. J. H. Babcock, chairman; E. J. Rati-Frank Rom.

ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE. E. J. Ratigan, chairman; J. T. Mcfrom Glass Bottle Blowers' Associa- Carty, J. Nesmuth, W. Roberts, and C. knowledging the receipt of a set of res-

> LABEL COMMITTEE. John Brahler, chairman; W. Gibb, Trades Section of the Central Labor B. Caldwell, H. J. Lambrack, and J. Union, conveying congratulations on CREDENTIAL COMMITTEE. J. M. Heisley, chairman; Thomas I Gaut, and Charles E. Barbour.

STATIONERY.

Writing Paper in white and the latest tints—from 10 cents to $1.50 a box. at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents, Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

All Aboard for Dawson.

E. K. Sargison, who writes "Printers" It is also my painful duty to announce the death of Mr. Percy L. Moore, an old and honored member of this and John Newcomb; also from Journeymen Record, has this to say of our new other typographical unions. Mr. Moore John Newcomb; also from journeymen and Gas Fitters certifying C. union up in Dawson, Alaska, says the plumbers and Gas Fitters certifying C. Interventional Journal Contraction of the law in section needs.

Nauck and Percy Baxter.

A communication from Master PaintA communication was read and request ers' Association was read and request ers' Association was read and request ers' Association was read and request ers' between Brother
The son of an old and invalid member of the union in the office. The request has been complied with and the young man is at work.

The son of an old and invalid member of the union in the office. The request has been complied with and the young man is at work.

The son of an old and invalid member of the union in the office. The request has been complied with and the young man is at work.

The son of an old and invalid member of the union in the office. The request has been complied with and the young man is at work. machine operators.

Sec. 5. Foreman and heads of departments, job and admen shall receive $250 a month. Sec. 6. Nine hours shall constitute a be $1 50 per hour.

Wages shall be payable in currency or gold dust at the bank's buying rate, private family $15 per month; also fur- Porto Rico, whereby it was made a nished room for two; near G. P. O. 819 New Jersey avenue, northwest.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Printer in Trouble.

William H. Gilliland, a printer forty-An extract from an article relative to nine years of age, was arrested last Saturday evening for raising somewhat of the building of warships of the U.S. and U streets, northwest. It seems been paid by the Board of Trustees,

Mr. Patton offered the following which read and referred to the Legislative and U streets, northwest. It seems Gilliland had been separated from his wife for some time and called at her Union, stated that the Castelberg home, III3 U street, to arrange matters pleted, the cost of which amounted to Union, stated that the Castelberg nome, 113 o street, to an additable of the Retail Clerks' would not admit him he threw an would not admit him he threw an board will be able to pay.

$1,907, exceeding the amount appropriated by the Union $300, which the board will be able to pay. the contracts of the Retail Clerks' would not admit him he threw an Union and requested that said firm be empty bottle through a plate glass winremoved from the unfair list. Request dow. He also assaulted William L. Collins, who was visiting at the house. The report of Suffrage Committee He was arraigned in the police court to was then taken up, it being the special answer the charges of destroying prop-

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

The brewers of the James Hanley Brewing Company, of Providence, R. I. went on a strike for shorter hours and won. The new arrangement agreed to by the company will last until May,

If you want to get a warm lunch or first class board, go to Mrs. Turner's, the day before Christmas and New If you want to get a warm lunch or

PRESIDENT TO PRESIDENT

Theodore Roosevelt Talks to E. A. M. Lawson on Labor Matters.

COLUMBIA UNION'S MEETING.

Report of President-Many New Members Obligated—Report of the Entertainment Committee-Body Indorses Secretary Garrett for Delegate to American Federation of Labor-Hon. R. J. Tracewell, Edwin C. Jones and John S. Leech Placed on Honorary Roll.

2:30 p. m. by President Lawson. The minutes of the last stated meetng were read and approved. meeting were read and received.

The usual bills for printing and stationery were read and ordered paid.

The following communications received since the last meeting were read and ordered filed: From the Speaker of the House of Representatives, acolutions pertaining to labor difficulties in Porto Rico; from the Building account of the repairs recently made on the Temple by the Board of Trustees; also from Central Union notifying this and that organization.

The following report from President Lawson was received:

Four of our members have died since our last meeting, namely: S. C. Presley, on December 16; John E. Sullivan, December 17; N. Sardo, December 20, and T. H. Greenfield, December 29.

I am pleased to be able to state that conditions have improved and now seem to be entirely satisfactory in the newspaper offices. The action of the union at the December meeting has day's work and eight hours on Satur-day, lunch time not included—fifty-day, or 54-hour law is being strictly day, or 54-hour law, is being strictly delegates in the convention of the

I called upon President Roosevelt and presented the resolution adopted on the first and fifteenth of each month. at the December meeting, protesting TABLE BOARD.—Good table board in brutal Spanish laws in the Island of Typographical Union, No. 101, presents against the enforcement of the old and crime to organize a trade union, and under which Santiago Iglesias, local organizer of the Federation of Labor, was sentenced to a term of imprisonment. He promised to give the matter his careful consideration. I also thanked him on behalf of Columbia Union for the manner in which he alluded to organized labor in his first message to Congress.

final note on the Temple, and the building is now entirely free o debt. The repairs ordered at the November meeting are now about com-

The lodge and committee rooms have 3 15, 1902. been repapered and the ceilings painted, curtains and draperies furnished, the roof repaired and the chairs recovered. They now present a splendid appearance. The members are invited after the meeting to personally inspect them and pass judgment. I believe, though, that they will notice that the furniture of the room is not in keeping with the improvements made. The chairs have been in use about ten placed on honorary roll. years, and a great many have been this time, but I suggest that the furniture be renewed as quickly as possible.

To Columbia Union is due credit for ington. I believe it would be proper to pass a resolution thanking the President for his liberality in issuing such order. Frequently having business with and coming in direct contact with the Secretary of State, I took the liberty to call upon him Thursday, December 19, in the capacity of President of Columbia Union. I called his attention to the fact that up to last year the employes of the Departments and the Government Printing Office had always been given a half holiday on the days preceding Christmas and New Year's; that, by the action of the Cabinet, that custom had been deviated from. I reuested him to bring it to the notice of the President at the Cabinet meeting the next day (Friday). He did so, and called me up to his room on Saturday, and notified me that the President had readily consented to the closing of all departments the afternoon before each The meeting was called to order at resolution thanking the Secretary for his efforts in our behalf, as well as the President.

I believe every member of the Union The cards deposited since the last determined were read and received.

The cards deposited since the last determined were read and received.

The cards deposited since the last third Yearbook. It is unnecessary for me to comment upon the quality of the last determined by the greatly appreciated by the membership.

The Board of Trustees were directed to present estimates of the cost to refurnish the halls and office rooms of the Temple at the next meeting.

Mr. Onyun offered the following which was agreed to:

Resolved, That a hearty vote of thanks is hereby tendered the President of the United States for granting the employes of the several Departments also from Central Union notifying this union that the National Theater had been removed from the unfair list of that organization. mending the same.

> The Nominations Committee's report | sonal tax law. was adopted with the exception of one case; seventeen were obligated, and several applicatious were laid over. Company was adopted.

20, paragraph 2, newspaper scale, at next meeting.

Mr. Chisholm, of Grievance Commithence had no report to make.

regularly employed, he shall receive not less than $1\text{*per hour.}$
Sec. 2. The scale of linotype, monoline or any other typesetting machine operators shall be two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) per month on morning, evening, and weekly papers.

Sec. 3. Beginners on machines shall receive the following rate of wages: First month, $4.50 a day; second month, was agreed to.

Mr. Dickman offered the following which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The International Typonext: and.

WHEREAS, Ability, integrity, and business capability are prime requisites to properly fill such position, Columbia such a candidate for delegatorial honors in its able, efficient, and business-like secretary, William M. Garrett, who has filled every duty with credit and honor to this Union; therefore, be it Resolved, That Columbia Typo-graphical Union, No. 101, give its unanfor the favorable consideration of all sister unions under the jurisdiction of

Mr. Patton offered the following which was indorsed:

Resolved, That the executive officers of the Union make the necessary arrangements for the Union to attend for the support of the government of be to encourage the building of more to be held in Convention Hall, February

The resolution offered by Mr. Brooke asking the appointment of a committee sick leave for employes of the Government Printing Office was lost.

S. Leech, and Edwin C. Jones were everywhere, because it is so extremely of moderate means might secure homes

Several amendments to the Constituon the call.

Year's for all the departments in Wash- 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Shall Bond Issue or Land Tax Meet Deplorable Financial Condition?

Many Ways Here Cited for Improving the District-District Assessor Recom mends Repeal of Personal Property Tax-Personal Property Escapes Taxation-A Tax on Land Values, Exclusive of Improvements, and on Franchises as an Equitable Plan.

cial condition" of the National Capital 1900 it was discovered that he left to his be met and overcome by a $10,000,000 heirs over $50,000,000 of such property. bond issue, by an "advance" from the United States treasury, by a higher and a statement showing that twenty five work or contents—the book speaks for itself. I desire to thank the Printing Committee for their splendid work, and assure them that their efforts are tax law, or by a tax on land values ex- $5,850,000, their estimated wealth in clusive of improvements? This is the such property being $234,000,000. problem pressing upon the people of the District of Columbia, or, rather, personal tax laws for two (to them) upon the Congress of the United States, good and sufficient reasons. They do for a proper solution.

tions. Some of the "best citizens" Truly, "love of money is the root of all favor a bond issue, some favor an ad- evil.'

The report of the Business Committee exclusive of improvements; on fran-courages rich tax-dodgers from other upon the case of The Charles F. Crane chises, and on such occupations as it cities to come here and build fine resi-The Laws Committee, upon motion lic welfare," for the purpose of supply- dodge the personal property tax was of Mr. Kidd, were directed to render ing the necessary revenue for all public held out to them as another inducement

If the people of the District of Columbia were not denied their inalienable actment of an "inquisitorial" personal right of local self-government, these property tax law is that it would turn tee stated that committee had not suf- different propositions could be sub- the tide on which millionaires are ficient time upon the cases before it, mitted to a popular vote, but under ex- drifting into this city ln another direcisting political conditions all they can tion, and would tend to drive those Secretary Garrett stated that the do is to humbly petition Congress to be already here to other places where asploy the necessary help; this motion deliberately perjure themselves rather than obey the law.

During the past twenty-five years the than injured by their departure. District assessors have recommended the repeal of the personal property tax trict of Columbia a just and equitable graphical Union is entitled to three law, which law the possessors of such system of taxation, then the proposed three hours per week. Overtime shall be $1 50 per hour.

day, of $4*hour law, is being strictly adhered to, and overtime is being equitably distributed.

day, of $4*hour law, is being strictly adhered to, and overtime is being held in New Orleans, La., in November impunity. Only a comparatively small lining should be adopted at the collision. impunity. Only a comparatively small Union should be adopted at the earliest number of conscientious persons paid the tax.

report for the year ending June 30, vicious, unjust, and impracticable"

"Being well satisfied that an equitished. able enforcement of the law relating to personal property is absolutely impos- trict of Columbia from taxation and sible, I deem it my duty to make to place the tax on real property on recommendation for its repeal. I claim land values alone would do more to imous indorsement to William M. Garrett for Delegate to the American Federation of Labor, and presents his name it invites perjury and is calculated to it invites perjury and is calculated to tal in ten years than the present system

> On January 21, 1901, the House of Representatives having under consid-ments from taxation," says the Central eration a bill to authorize advances Labor Union, "and raising the public from the treasury of the United States revenues by a tax on land values would the District of Columbia, Mr. Jenkins, and better houses, to take from land of Wisconsin, in reply to a question by its speculative and monopoly value, Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, said:

of three to secure a thirty days' annual Illinois that my judgment is, and I so than under the present system of taxaexpressed myself to the officers of the tion." District recently, that the law is ample; The names of Hon. R. J. Tracewell, but personal property escapes its just Under the system of taxation indorsed first comptroller of the Treasury, John proportion of the taxes here, as it does by that body five, possibly ten, persons difficult to find it. A man will go to of their own where one can do so under church and bow his head and worship the present system. tion and scale of prices were introduced God when the minister prays and go to recommend another appropriation at and accordingly were laid over until before the board and commit perjury to cently passed a resolution presented next meeting, the same to be printed get rid of paying his taxes. Human by its committee on taxation favoring nature here is the same as elsewhere. the exemption from taxation to the ex-* * * We discover everywhere that tent of $1,000 of the value of houses oc-Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at people will try to escape taxation, just as they try to escape death, and they

In 1878 the personal property of the District was assessed at $17,239,051, and in 1898 at $9,780,658, a loss of about 45 per cent.

In 1878 the real property (land and improvements) of the District was assessed at $97,609,890. In 1898 the same SUFFRAGE WOULD BE A REMEDY class of property was assessed at $181,-256,284, an increase of nearly 90 per

It is generally believed that from 80 to 90 per cent of the personal property here and everywhere else escapes taxation, and that those who honestly and conscientiously comply with the law are those least able to bear the burden.

The late Cornelius Vanderbilt, of New York City, paid tax on $400,000 of Shall the present "deplorable finan- personal property. After his death in

A New York paper recently printed

The wealthy classes are opposed to not want to pay the tax and would The residents of the District are not rather not be put to the trouble and inunited on either of the above proposi- convenience of committing perjury.

vance from the treasury, some have no The rich are perfectly satisfied with choice as between a bond issue or an the present system of taxation in this 'advance," and nearly all of that class District. They escape taxation on oppose an "inequitable, meddlesome, nearly all of their personal property, vicious, unjust and impracticable" per- and their real property is assessed from 30 to 50 per cent lower than the prop-The Central Labor Union, represent- erty of their poorer fellow citizens. ing 20,000 workingmen and women of The excuse for this unjust and unlawful the city, favors "a tax on land values, assessment of property is that it enmay be deemed wise to tax for the pub. dences, and the fact that they could to locate here.

One of the arguments against the en-honest tax-dodgers are thereby driven away the city will be benefited rather

If it is desired to establish in the Dispossible moment. Then all other forms of taxation, including the "in-The present District Assessor, in his-quisitorial, inequitable, meddlesome, personal property tax, could be abol-

To free all improvements in the Disdemoralize the standard of public mor- of taxation will accomplish in the next fifty years.

"The effect of relieving improveand thereby enable many more of our "I will say to the gentleman from people to secure homes of their own

The Central Labor Union is right.

The Washington Board of Trade re-

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

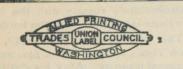

E. W. PATTON..... Editors. A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two central bodies

THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy.

If you can do business, let it be known. -FRANKLIN.

ALL labor legislation which has been secured in this country to protect the workmen against the unjust conditions of industry has oeen secured through the efforts and influence of trade

A VIRTUAL settlement of the bitter book to suit themselves. struggle for shorter hours which has the garment-workers will continue ef- reached. forts to secure an eight-hour day, but that they will abandon all ideas of striking.

AFTER-DINNER DILATIONS.

When some men get boys of their own, they seem to forget that once upon a time they were boys themselves.

Duke has made paramount.

This is indeed a reform age in which we live. Time was when a man would throw away a good corncob pipe and tween the acts" and lies when he points to the hour of his conversion.

lady who has a fancy for dogs and whose husband had indulged her in the pick day the woman again put in an appearance, not with one dog but the full seven, when again with seven-fold fury the chase was renewed, just to illustrate to the proprietor that this is a free to the proprietor that the prop the whole. A poor woman with one the predicament of the retail dealers dog would have been shown the door, who are merely serving in the capacity hustled off to police headquarters and of clerks to the great octopus, someone outranks a poor one.

remains to locate the spout.

elevator, Columbia Union would be getting up in the world. The "yeps" have it, and up she goes!

The "cheap skates" do not appear to have a monopoly of the rink this *** his voice while relating an incredible tempt of court, but should be given a base ball experience or war story.

*** suburb of Boston, and who, by the ists employed in its factory. Judge way, was a very eccentric and vain Ghetlain made the injunction against man and whose early education had the machinists permanent, but in so been sadly neglected, conceived the doing took occasion to say that he did of "A Pickle for the Knowing Ones." threats and violence. His honor held Having had some kind of a disagree- that striking workmen have the right ment with his printers about the punctu- to use peaceful methods in their fights, ation-points in his book, he refused to and declared that patroling or pickethave a single point used in it, but he ing does not necessarily imply force or lines were handed me by Mr. George printed a page of nothing but punctu- threat of bodily harm. The decision F. Halsev, the "brainy juggler" thereation-points in the back part of the of the court is of interest, because of in referred to. Their acceptance as a book, and informed his readers that the several points it emphasizes. The veracious pen picture of the subject is they could "pepper and salt" the idea that persons charged with violat- justified by the action of that modest been waged between the Garment may or may not make use of it, as a judge as a progressive jurist. The The gem (?) is as follows: Cutters and the clothing manufacturers timely suggestion in his efforts to hit force of his thought will commend itself Here's to the man with no crown in his hat, of the United States for months has upon a correct solution of a uniform to every layman, and should be apparbeen reached. The result was that style of punctuation. I can see no ent to even the most prejudiced and President Marks receded from his de- earthly objection to the scheme except biased of the federal judiciary who mands for an eight-hour day, but that it would reduce the force of proof- have expressed contrary views. It is sought a reduction of the time to eight readers; but a fatality of that sort manifestly improper for the court issuand one-half hours. To this Secretary would have its compensation in greater ing an injunction to sit in judgment White agreed. It is understood that uniformity, which is the goal to be and pass sentence upon those accused > remarkable memories for all things ex- allowing the desire to uphold his digcept the date when payment was due nity-as well as his injunction-to bias for money borrowed.

day gave prominence to an article by court's injunction or the most trivial B. L. Duke, founder of the American transgression of the law. - Typographi-Tobacco Company, in which he deliv- cal Journal. Apology is offered, with hope of its ered himself of some strictures directed acceptance, for space consumed in treat at the young men of the South who fail ing the tobacco question, which brother to look with favor upon the trust evil. With a brazenness which amounts to parable of the talents, and attempts to Indianapolis, in which especial mensacrilege, this Duke cites Christ in His prove by inference that the Saviour of tion is made of the benefits of unionmankind had in this parable pronounced ism, The Typographical Journal and his stock of tobacco and swear never a curse upon the steward who failed to to again return to the filthy habit, and double his money or that His benedicthen, in a day or so, with shame in his tion rested only upon those who desface, would go prowling around in the troyed competition and made it impostall grass in impatient search for the sible for others to continue in business. object of his previous disgust. Now Then this same B. L. (Black Listed) he avoids humiliation by smoking "be- Duke, in a fit of indignation, which grows upon him as he proceeds, gives it out in solid form that unless the young men of the South wake up (by inference) and gladly bring of their week, $600, $700, $800 and $1,000 per week, $600, $700, $800 and $1,000 per The story is related of a Washington (by inference) and gladly bring of their yield to the American Tobacco Company (at a fixed price, of course) all that of seven. While the lady was shopping the soil can be made to produce and so recently at one of the most fashionable help on the "strident hum of comstores, one of these dogs took a sudden merce" they (the young men of the liking to the cash-boxes, which were South) will "not even have the talent making their circuits from clerks to to dig up when Gabriel blows his horn cashiers, and being bold of pnrpose on Judgment Day;" and this same and fleet of foot, the dog began chasing blasphemer, who seeks to strengthen the boxes over tops of counters, never his position as monopolist by distortion once stopping at the entanglements of and misapplication of the words of the lace or fancy articles that lay in its lowly Nazarine fails not to mention route. At this unusual proceeding that at the beginning himself, his father, the clerks screamed, the customers and seven brothers constituted the were horrified, and visions of mad firm, and had only a kitchen table, two printing and mailing semi-annual statedogs let loose, and hydrophobia ram- knives and a small stock of leaf tobacco ments by the subordinate unions was pant well nigh created a panic. Finally, as their total assests; and then he goes when the cash-boxes had no longer an on detailing in pitiful tones the hard- gate $12,000 or $15,000 a year to the loexcuse for running and quiet was restored, the owner gently chided her erevery comfort, living off free lunch ring "Juliet" and the proprietor of the counters, and the tortuous abstemiousstore politely requested his rich cus- ness from Pullman sleepers, until now but of the entire membership in our Intomer to thereafter leave her dog home they have factories in every country ternational congregation; its general information is invaluable; its trade or in the carriage when making pur- where tobacco is grown. He might chases. Woe be he to whom the of- well have added a very interesting ter, and its social features are calcufense cometh, for early the following paragraph, if he had been so disposed, lated to bring the whole craft into

THE TRADES UNIONIST. | country and that an insult to one mem- | can Tobacco Company, and so he might | ber of the kennel would be resented by continue, if he only would, to describe there detained to answer to the charge times called a Trust. This Duke has of insanity or vagrancy or both, and evidently made himself believe that he very properly too, for the dog privilege is engaged in a business which has all should be granted only to those who the virtues and carries with it all the are able to extend to them the fullest blessings that could be vouchsafed to a chosen people who have talents to improve, and that all laws restricting A poor excuse may be better than the sale of tobacco to the youngsters of none, yet the fact remains that a good | the South and those elsewhere of tender age have been invoked by evil-minded mothers and selfish people who think It has been definitely settled that more of their boys than they do of any Dorsey Foultz is up the spout. It only Duke or his power to control. This Duke, like all others of his kind, apparently imagines himself a philanthro-Let's see; yes, by adding another pist and will make that point plain story to the Temple and providing an when he begins to let go of some of his vast accumulations by erecting library monuments to the A. T. C., or by building yachts for other dukes or CYCLE. dukesses.

Another Injunction Decision.

Judge Chetlain, of the Circuit Court of Cook county, Illinois, recently declared that persons charged with violat-Beware of the weak church-prop ing an injunction should not be tried who prays in muffled tones, but gets by a magistrate on the charge of conjury trial. The opinion of the judge was rendered in connection with the A wealthy man named Timothy Dex- injunction case of the Robert Tarrant ter, who once lived at Newburyport, a Company against the striking machinidea that it would add to his fame to so because there was unquestioned write a book, and he gave it the title evidence that the pickets had used I offer this to Brother Clements, who trial, though not a new one, marks the naries to securing their publication. of violating its orders. It is seldom that the presiding judge has sufficient I have known people who possess of character to review the case without his judgment. A jury trial is the only fair way of dealing with men accused The Washington Times of last Sun- of any offense, be it the violation of a

The Journal and the Home

The Omaha Western Laborer, of January 4, contains an interesting article from the pen of Sam L. Leffingwell, of Columbus (Ohio) Typographical Union No. 5, in July, 1850, and is still an active member. We quote as follows:

In the fifty-two years, estimating dues and assessments, I have paid in less than $200, while I have received in year, a sum approximating between $35,000 and $40,000; truly an exhibition justifying the organization and mainte-nance of a trades-union, without which and without whose protection many men in the various trades and callings in unorganized form would be now working for $6 or $8 per week, or $300 or $400 per year, which, in the time I figure on, would be about $15,000 or

The Typographical Journal should receive some attention at Cincinnati. I am strongly in favor of its continuance and for the provision of means and methods by which it can be placed more nearly upon a self-supporting ba-Before its inception the cost of something of an item-amounting to a sum which at this time would a not only of the separate local bodies news of the most enlightening charac-

^^^^ FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

-FOR-

Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading

Outfitters, . . . Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W. $

necessity of ever going there myself my heart goes out in holy sympathy with the helplessly exhausted and weak who are striving to be contented there not as dependents nor as paupers, but as in the enjoyment of reward and com pensation due them for long, faithful and worthy service in honorable toil; for the upholding of principles sacred to reputation and integrity, of tenets of devotion as holy as the church, of a fraternity of loyalty, fidelity, brotherly love and affection.

Record Notes.

Sikken and Cotter, both of alley 6, have reason to regret the lack of a sick leave allowance. Hope neither are Outcault had his first experience, as bater familias, with the croup last Tuesday night. Fortunately, the little sufferer was-as usual with such first experiences-not seriously ill. Never mind. "42." when you will have had II other "darlings," you will not be so unnerved by these little incidents.

The following eloquently descriptive ing an injunction are entitled to a jury gentleman in taking all proper prelimi-

> But plenty of brains in his head; Yet, is the man who always wears that, Just simply a "juggler" of lead?

Now, from realism to sentiment. Everyone knows that in so talented an aggregation of star performers as the Record and there must be some to whom Pegasus is no unbroken steed, but who ride him, barebacked (the steed and barefaced (the perpetrators), as tamely, an' ye will, as though wings were an affair of daily use. Brother Dietz-of whom who'd a thought it?has committed (to my care) the following, which must speak for itself; I am

WOMAN. [BY ALFRED DIEZZ.]

Oh, Woman, fair messenger of Love divine Can ever mortal man unfathom Thee? weetest flower on whom the sun doth shine To the mysteries of Life thou art the key.

Thou art the fountain from which we spring,

And art sole possessor of a magic wand, Whose power no mortal can withstand; A scepter fair Thou needst' but wave To instantly make him your slave.

And blest is he on whom Thy smile is passed Thou art the messenger that God hath sent And softly whisper to us of hope, of life, To give us courage in this worldly strife. From cradle to the grave our counsellor and friend.

Our life, our hope, the Angel God doth send. L. J. CLEMENTS.

Labor Notes.

Herr Krupp's income is $25,000,000 a

Brooklyn labor unions are erecting a $150,000 home. Indianoplis' old building trades council may be revived. Cincinnati is organizing a $150,000 cooperative wagon factory.

A London syndicate is after the entire tobacco industry of Cuba.

Union machinists will renew their demands for an eight-hour day on May I Toledo's union of coffee, spice, and baking powder workers is the first of its kind.

Minneapolis city council approved the eight-hour workday for team owners

Ohio has 26,920 working women whose average weekly wages are $4.83 and savings 14 cents.

The total increase in the membership of the American Federation of Labor in the year of 1901 was 364,410 members Philadelphia United Labor League has set July I for all members of organized labor to begin to wear nothing

ARMY & NAVY AFTER DINNER DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer 504 Winth St., N.W.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product. Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2335 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

TEMPLE CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

The busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space S. KANN. SONS & CO. *****

To all Judges of Good

BREAD

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredients by Skilled

ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imi-tate it because it's good,

Boston Baking Co., Doyou want an accurate time-piece?

119, 121, 128, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

This publication is printed on paper supplied by

WHOLESALE

Paper and Stationery Dealers 627-629 LOUISIANA AAE. N. W.

Geo. W. Barry Coal Co., Wood and Coal.

Main office and yard: 14 and 16 H St. N. W

WHITE BARBERS Ladies and Children's Hair Cutting.

N. D. CHRISTENSEN,

Antiseptic Shaving Parlor 805 NORTH CAPITOL STREET. Agency for Franklin Steam Laundry. ja9

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc.

ies and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates. Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

> LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY, Jeweler and Optician Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO., Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

-VISIT

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . Everything the Best.

BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round. JOHN CONNOR,

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets N. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON..... WALTER V. SMITH ..... Vice-President W. M. GARRETT.....Secretary JOHN R. BERG.....

Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett.

DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION -J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-J. F. McCormick, chairman; Ira Taylor, and C. E. Clark.

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

DOMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free.

Nominations-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt NOMINATIONS—H. O Donnell, Chairman, and ing to order. Your patronage solicited.

L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and Andrew Keiner.

FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A.

Bynum, and C. G. Morrison.

GRIEVANOB-J. L. Rodier, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank

ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; W. C. Hinton, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and

CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks. LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H.

Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and B. M. Connelly.

RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman ; J. M. Lenhart and Hugh Reid.

CHAIRMEN. First Division—Charles M. Sizer. Second Division—John E. Fulenwider. Third Division-Frank E. Wright. Fourth Division-('harles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements. Job Room-Geo. B. Tallman. Record Clerks' Division-J. L. Alverson. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas. Specification Room—W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division-Frank L. Manderfeld. Navy Department Division-R. S. Morris. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-H. L. Shyrock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES.

Down Town.

Spring meeting in March. Printers in demand in this town.

Morning Post-O. T. Pierce.

Evening Times—William E. Dix Morning Times—Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter—H. C. Pool.

Globe Printing Co.-H. R. Shields.

Wilkens Printing Co.-T. N. Surguy.

McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig.

Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher.

National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau.

Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Columbia Publishing Co.-W. F. Jones.

Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl.

Pearson's-Alex. England.

Thomas M. Lawler, of Sunbury, Pa., was in town last week. Tom looks prosperous and happy.

The down-town man is still in the dark. If rotation is observed it will go to the Times this year.

William B. Prescott, ex-President of the I. T. U., has changed from the Baltimore Sun to Baltimore News as proof reader.

The Elks' Midwinter Carnival at Convention Hall, February 3 15, should be liberally patronized by members of Columbia Tppographical Union. The Elks attended Columbia Union's fair in a body.

Johnny Atkins, who is a candidate for delegate from Bookbinders' Union, Local No. 4, to the next convention of the I. B. of B., is going to run on the mathematical proposition of "two in Inadvertedly in mentioning the changes in the Government Printing Office last week, the name of George R. Boone, who, in the line of succession, was promoted to assistant to Foreman Bowen in the Filth Division in the place of Mr. Dow, who took in the Mr. Dow, who took in the place of Mr. Dow, who took in the place charge of the Day Record, was omitted.

Fourth Division.

Frank Watson, the only true "sport"

lish an interesting publication without and Mexico.

OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES running any "Blooming Bam-lets" and ' Pottinger's Pointers."

The Government Printing Office Draaspiring amateurs of the histrionic art men ever agreed? in any of the divisions are invited to there is plenty of room for you.

Union, because he says that he thinks, I was told by a friend that the Fifth Organizer that after having paid for the Temple Division of the G. P. O. is the "fishiest" D. E. TYRRELL.......Sergeant-at-Arms and the necessary repairs, the Union section in the big institution. They FRANK HART...... Doorkeeper should continue the present rate of have been working on fishes there so TRUSTEES—J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. dues until as many thousand dollars as long that you can smell those fellows

The small salary of $1,400 per year is much liked by the employes of this dimay be found necessary shall be ex- from the main room. And this is not pended in repairing the down town a fish story. scale and situation.

Open at 4 A. M. class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's been settled. Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cook-

727-729 N. Capitol street.

Fifth Division.

P. M. McCallum is locking forms in the Y.

Arthur Jacobs went home with a chill last Monday.

Charles Purdy is stripper in the Record Room.

C. B. Huse, after a few days' illness, is at work again.

A. L. Bowen was transferred to the Spec. last Monday.

J. W. Mathers and L. P. Kenney urtstag Kalendar."

David Smith, of Egypt. Ill., was assigned to this division last week as laborer at the boiler.

D. L. Mackloy, who has been sufferseveral weeks, is back on the zone job.

I. H. Smith is doing service in the Y. Henceforth he cannot watch the interesting process of Slug 44 adorning his

The wife of the late Jonn P. Boss member of this division when he died, foremanship of the Sixth Division.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

STATIONERY.

A fine line of Box Paper and Tablets at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Specification Notes.

"Goosey" will not sign the paper.

alley 5. That chicken story of Colonel Slack's

George Wilson was confined to his home two days last week through sick-

Owing to the indisposition of the regular correspondent, I will sub for him this week. By reason of Captain Smoot being absent a half day last week, we are now behind with this issue. The friends of Edward Mulleny, a helper, who has been confined in a hospital since Christmas, are pleased to see him back to work. The "sym" is doing a landoffice biz. The officers had to borrow money recently to meet the demand. We will come out all right if "Goosey" will horn at the rate of forty miles an hour only sign. "Doc" Hauer, besides being a thirtythird degree baseball rooter, is a star performer at the Union meeting. He date; Masonic Hall the place. It is a doubled up with Jake Fechtic last Sunday and made a hit, so he says.

Mr. F. E. Buckland, of the Proof Room, contemplates a trip abroad this spring; he having purchased his ticket.

A few of the friends of Mrs. Josephine obtain a copy. in this division, was seen willing along Shinpson garden and enjoyed theming along Saturday evening and enjoyed theming along Saturday evening and enjoyed theming along the saturday evening and enjoyed theming the saturday evening and enjoyed theming the saturday evening and enjoyed theming the saturday evening the saturday eveni Saturday evening and enjoyed Manila Bindery, and will sail from of the Third Division, is generally affa-Asy. Where did you get it?

Selves at a party given by the land usually agreeable in his manner.

The present Printing Committee has turned from a six months' trip in Texas | Suez Canal. Hedges and Randall are ners. Everything. The present Printing Committee has demonstrated that it is possible to pubdemonstrated that it i

Mr. Clements' remarks on "punctuation" were timely and to the point. matic Club has been organized. All But then, what's the use? What two

A short while ago a certain individual SECRETARY'S OFFICE. 423 G St. N. W. join. See Luitich and he will tell you ran so hard for the chairmanship of the Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. all about it. Don't be at all backward; Fifth Division that he was obliged to stay home for about five days so that We know that Doten has no aspira- the perspiration could be wiped off. I tions for an elective office in Columbia do not say so, but he might be a smith.

The substitution of one man for another in that Record controversy I will open my Cafe and Saloon on showed that the course of a famous Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December river was too obstrusive, or that a scow 3, 1901, and continue same during the can navigate in pretty shallow water. session of Congress. Everything first Still, all is a boon, and matters have Manila's prominent millionaires.

If certain black and white niggers who go through the big shop with their formed "The Camera Fiend's Club" ice carts, would bear in mind that they would confer a favor on a suffering community.

be contented with "picking bones" as shown by their photographs. Billy you are a goner. "Stitch in time," old the factory for some wholesale supboy, saved the pants from ripping; can plies, and is going to "take" every yet be made as good as new.

that some people, under the idea of the others to watch Billy and make being promoted, think that because some by-law against such practices, or went to the Sixth Division as makers-up. they are assigned to do labor work in he will have them on the run in no Slug 34 is still busy trying to digest a a "Y" department, swell so that a time. joke-book entitled "Der Frauen Geb- double frame is too small for them. Of course they'll come down as summer advances, and finally find their level; yes, and where they belong (?).

If J-, of the G. P. O. Press Room, is not the best "bean" turned out of ing with an attack of indigestion for Boston town, "show me the way to go ported as follows: home," gentlemen. The other day an old time print, who keeps a respectable booze-house somewhere in the airyhills of Pennsylvania, visited friends in this city, and naturally knowing the inclinations of some of our growing-up would be-pressmen, he espied the gendied last Monday. Mr. Boss was a tleman aforesaid, and after imbibing drunk beverages, they concluded to George R. Boone is now assistant to visit a down-town place of amusement. our foreman, Mr. Bowen. W. J. Dow, All agreed that $1 seats would suit the who held that position, was given the combination, and so they started. They got to the vicinity of the playhouse when J- suddenly excused himself. The gentlemen waited his coming, and thinking their would-be-friend would follow, they took their seats and still waited. Sometime during the play one of the party turned around for observations, and to his amazement he espied the gentleman from Boston in the "nigger gallery" enjoying himself on a 25-cent seat. If this do not "beat the band" I should like to know what W. P. Murphy is now doing stunts in does. These Boston guys are great. THE KICKER.

> Pan Roats, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room for laboratory purposes, have removed will be pleased to learn that his boy is my office to No. 316 H street northwest, just opposite old location.

DR. T. J. MCCONNELL. FOR RENT.-Fully Furnished Rooms and the other is "Punchinillo." second and third floor front. Rent #### reasonable; 451 G street northwest. Bindery Notes.

The binders of the roof garden will give an oyster supper on February 21. Jack Atkins is making all the arrangements.

Capt. Quay is still blowing his fog on the bindery floor. How us poor cow boys suffer.

Monday evening, February 10, is the minstrel show and dance given by the to attend.

I am now engaged in writing a new novel which will be ready next week. He will visit England, France, Ger- It is an interesting love tale, intermany, Ireland, Italy, and Switzerland. spersed with exciting scenes, dashing The following were transferred to encounters, brilliant exchanges, and Scott Young, Ivins Davis, Monroe "The Meeting of the Giants, or Why

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X=mas Present!

·····

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS. ***************

not the inducement that takes them to vision. the Philippines. Randall is an experisome day succeed in becoming two of stated Monday.

Jack Hasson, Felix Belair, Henry Hoiby, and Billy Parry have lately of Minnesota for the purpose of adwhistling is more conventional to the vancing amateur portrait photography. ear of canines than to human beings, They picked out this branch of the art much against Billy's wishes, as there is a hot rivalry between the other three If "Pard" Bloomer would try and as to which has the best looking kids, leave "poetry" alone, the different objected because he has no kids, and chapels might take mercy upon his the neighbors object to him practicing delegatorial candidacy. If not, "Pard," on theirs, but we hear he has sent to kid on Bates street that he can borrow, It is curious, nevertheless a fact, bribe, or kidnap, so we would advise

Cow Boy.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Entertainment Committee's Report. The Entertainment Committee re-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19, 1902. To the Officers and Members of Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101: LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: Your committee submit the following report of receipts and disbursements on account of the entertainment held No vember 21, 1901:

Balance on hand..... $ 64 40 Respectfully submitted, THOMAS L. JONES, J. M. WEAVER, W. F. REED, REED, G. W. HARVEL, Committee.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Night Bill Force.

Densmore is always showing the boys in his alley the style-fashions.

Mr. Boss swears he will never leave the alley till the time-keeper passes by. DRY GOODS, NOTIONS. There is one man on this force who will not fail to take out on rush copy hereafter. Charles E. Young, foreman in charge of this division, has been indisposed for several days.

The many friends of "Doc" Tabler rapidly recovering.

There are two people at whom you must not get offended-one is Puck Our genial little friend Doyle, slug 13, is a very busy and happy man, caused by the arrival of a baby boy at his home on Tuesday. Some of the boys say that when N.

H. Lytle and "Windy" Brooke get into an argument on Tom Paine and religion it is sad. No -Joe Farwell vacated Slug 93 the other night. A bank man was needed in White's division, and the "Sailor was promoted thereto. Thad Stevens dropped down from the Job Room the past week (for good, Women's Bindery Union. Do not fail it is said), and is a welcome addition to the "N. B. F." as well as to the "C. L. C."

> The new organization, the "C. L. C.," is steadily growing in numbers, and those wishing to become members should hand their names to "Sailor" It is agreed that everybody who works the hook shall be fined heavily, GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, Scott Young, Tylus Bayne. She Loved Another." Do not fail to so that those who do not work the hook can hook a good take from the Simpson gathered at her home last George B. Hedges and Jerome Ran- hook-Hook! Hooker! Hooking! C. W. Burnett, one of the head men

Charles Estep, who resigned last enced gold digger, as he spent a few spring to accept a position on the Baltiyears in the Klondike, Hedges is also more Evening Star, and more lately of POOL 21c. PER CUE. a prospector of considerable experi- the Times of this city, is again a memence, and we believe that they will ber of this chapel, having been rein-

> It is rumored that Charles P. Peake, one of the most popular men on this force, will be a candidate for delegate in the coming election. That he will receive a large vote goes without saying, as he has many friends.

M. Q. Jackson, father of M. P. Jackson of this division, died of Brights' disease last Sunday, aged 66 years. For a period of twenty years Mr. Jackson was foreman of a printing office in Lynchburg, Va., and was a life-long member of the Typographical Union.

Joseph I. Keefer's idea of providing banking facilities for the Government Printing Office is progressing nicely, and a meeting of the directors has been called for Friday, January 24, at 8 p. m., at the Union Savings Bank, Bond Building. A number of leading people from the G. P. O. has been invited to attend.

The Bill Force boasts of having among its numbers some of the best amateur photographers in the office, of which I may mention I. Walter Sharp, Tom Doty, A. P. E. Pugh, John Handiboe, De Witt Corkins, George Sehorn, A. H. McKnight, H. C. Yetter, Frank Smith and several others. They are thinking of having an exhibition shortly, at which they will display their best works.

PUNCHINILLO.

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

Headquarters for Kitchen Utensils.

Whatever is necessary to properly furnish your kitchen can always be found here at the very lowest price. Lowest Prices for Glassware, China,

Silver-Plated Ware, Lamps, Etc.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop,

Style and Durability!

TANZER'S HATS, for value true, are unsurpassed the City througH

Admirable makes we find right here, to sell the best, is his ide

Neat and fashionable, of materials best in every Weather they stand the tes T

Zeal and attention patrons meet at corner of N and SEVENTH STREE T

Excelling in Furnishings, 'twould seem, his Gloves & Hosiery are supremE

Renowned for choicest, UNDERWEAR, M. A. TANZER'S prices are just & faiR

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.) It contains all that is up to date A Choice Line of LIQUORS AND CIGARS

An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor, ourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings,

Hats, Umbrellas... UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, 728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

ASSESSES Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

***

Specialties. SHERWOOD

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR.

THOMAS WALSH, 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. and Binding of every description. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

G. P. O.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO. Salesroom, 33 H st. n. w

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES.

Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per me.

300 1-lb. Loaves to the Barrel

ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

Every Laboring Man -- requires pure, wholesome, ## nourishing food such as is made of— Cream Blend Flour

not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO. Wholesalers, 1106, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E.

be essess a sesses ad J. L. KERVAND.

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer.

Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafte,

- - Washington, D. Q

Etc. Certificates of Stock. 50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE TRADE MARKS

COPYRIGHTS &C. sending a sketch and description may see that our opinion of the control of the c

Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 1 Broadway. New York Branch Office, 625 F St., Wasnington, D. C.

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's

ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood. 211 Seventh St. nw., Washington, D. C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET.

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $321,187.00.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER.

Fine Wines and Liquers. BLUE LABEL CHARS. 1219 E Street Northwest.

FOR LUNCH TRY THE

Pure Dairy Lunch, 935 D St. nw.

MAY OPPOSE PERSONAL TAX

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

cupied by their owners, for the follow ing among other reasons:

"The effect of such exemption would be to increase the number of home owners in the District. * * * The construction of more and better houses will be stimulated, and every industry connected therewith will feel the quickening effect of such a step, and the whole community consequently share in its benefits. * * * In facilitating the purchase by our poorer citizens of better houses than they now occupy, the tendency of this measure will be gradually but surely toward the abolition of slums and raising the standard of morality.'

The Board of Trade is on the right trail, but it is to be hoped that said body will not grow weary in well doing, but that it will join the Central Labor Union in urging the exemption of improvements entirely from taxation, for if the exemption of only $1,000 worth of improvements from taxation will accomplish half of the good results predicted by the Board of Trade, then the good results which would follow the exemption of improvements from taxation entirely would no doubt exceed the expectations of all, even the expectations of "single taxers" themselves.

Among the business and professional a House committee, in 1892, that they believed the exemption of improvements from taxation entirely would be of very great benefit to the community were the following well-known and highly respected citizens: Mr. John Joy Edson, then secretary, now president, of the Equitable Co-operative ployment. Building Association; Mr. Benjamin P. Snyder, president of the National Safe Deposit and Trust Company of C. Henning, president of the Traders' National Bank, of Washington; Mr. Roswell A. Fish, for several years pally affected. District assessor; Dr. Robert Reyburn; Mr. Jackson H. Ralston, and the late Paul T. Bowen, one of organized labor's ablest, bravest, and most effective supporters.

The monopoly or speculative value of land in the District of Columbia is about $1,000,000,000, but the true value is only about half that sum. A tax of $1.50 per hundred on two-thirds of the true value would yield a revenue of $5,000,000 per annum, which, together with the tax on corporations, and "on such occupations as it may be deemed wise to tax for the public welfare,' would, with an equitable contribution by the Government, afford ample revenue for all public purposes. As the need for larger revenues increased the value of land would also increase, and thus a never-failing source of revenue would always be within reach of the It has been estimated by men of the people.

largest experience in real estate transactions in this District that the average yearly increase in land values for many years has been from $30,000,000 to $50, 000,000. This value is created, not by the land owners, but by the whole community. Then why should not the people appropriate by a tax on land values at least a sufficient amount of the "unearned increment" to meet the public needs?

It is asserted that there are only about 31,000 tax-payers in Washington, and that this number of residents bear the whole burden imposed by Congress upon the people of the District. The fact is that every person who owns a house and occupies it, or who lives in a house and pays the rent, or who lives in "apartments," or in one room, is a taxpayer to the extent of the value of the property or space occupied.

All who purchase and pay for merchandise, groceries, clothing, boots and shoes, fuel, cigars, tobacco, beer, a half peck of steamed, "a dozen in a box," or a half dozen on the shell, are not only taxpayers, but rent payers and labor payers, for without patronage the "business man" could neither pay his rent, his taxes, nor his labor.

All persons who spend money for the necessaries, comforts, and pleasures of life are taxpayers. E. W. OYSTER.

Table board, $18 per month, at 810 New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O. MRS. M. T. WORK.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris-

coll's, N. Cap. and G.

at Hartford, Conn., have won their over will reciprocate. nine-hour work day. The city of Duluth has appropriated

$1,000 to start a free labor bureau.

For further information address

1012 Twenty-fifth Street, N. W.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of eigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| Haines' Southeast Store. Keenan Bros  B. Solomon  B. Solomon  Rufus H. Darby  H. L. McQueen  N. Siekles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).  E. Gundershiemer  Peter Grogan  J. Mangan  Horseshoer  H. Horseshoer  Coal and wood  Wilbur F. Nash  C. E. Hencke  Sheets & Miller  Lectrician  Sheets & Miller  Louis A. Dieter  National Mosaic Company  Louis A. Dieter  National Mosaic Company  A. Minster  A. Minster  Carriage Builder  Contracting painter  Contractin and contractor and ost Markets  City and Suburban Lines.  Ci |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| A. Moinoti Stone works First and M streets n. e. Castelberg Jeweler Pennsylvania avenue. Bottler 1066 Thirty-second street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

Trades Unionist.

Union Directory.

To SECRETARIES: Please notify this office of my change in officers' addresses, time or place of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

American Federation of Labor-Headquar ters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'lGompers, President, Frank Morrison. Secretary.

International Association of Machinists, Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson, vice-president and editor of the Journal; George Preston. Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple. C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street north-west. Residence, 106 I street northwest.

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest.

Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America, Division No. 161, meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo. A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street northeast,

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 718, meets every other Monday evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I

Workmen Lead N. 100

Workmen, Local No. 148. meets every Thursday evening at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith, Secretary, 3315 Brightwood avenue northwest.

Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local Union No. 102. meets second and fourth Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. J. A. Daly, Secretary, 914 Twenty-sixth street

Bakers Union, No. 118. meets first and third Saturday in each month at Typograph-ical Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street southwest.

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third 'hursday evening of each month in Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Equation 5.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets every Sunday at 2 p. m. at 430 Eighth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy, Secretary, 310 Seventh street southwest.

Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street southeast.

Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tuesday in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Capitol street.

Capitol street.

Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall. 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer, Secretary, 245 North Capitol street.

Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Avenue northwest.

Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers, Local Union, No. 368, meets every Friday night at 430 Eighth street north-west. John L. Cochran, Secretary, 510 E st.

Brotherhood of Hoisting and Portable Engineers, No. 77, I. U. S. E., meets every Thurs-day, at Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street north-west. S. J. Foreman, Secretary, 2223 Cleve-land avenue northwest.

Carriage and Wagon Workers' International

urion, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor, Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jer-

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. Charles G. Myers, Secre-tary, 605 E. street southeast

Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Lavers

and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. William L. Hageman, Secretary,

Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bie-ligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton avenue.

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists, meets first and third Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest.

ue northwest.

Fourth street northeast.

Absolute freedom from industrial disputes will be sought by the building laborers of Denver in a conference to be held with the master builders.

Denver's Housemaids' Union will establish a training school for housemaids. men of Washington who testified before Working girls will be trained with literary and social features as as an ad

> The Texas Penitentiary board has decided to buy a 25,000 acre plantation and place all the State convicts at work raising beet sugar. This will remove all convict labor from any contract em-

The Mexican government has ordered that all railway employes coming into contact with the public must be able the District of Columbia; Mr. George to speak the language well enough to deal directly with the passengers. Pullman car employes will be princi-

> The annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America began at Indianoplis, January 20. Nearly 1,000 delegates, representing more than 200,ooo miners, are in attendance.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, JAN. 27.

Coming:

Ladies' Matinee every Friday. No Smoking Allowed.

Allied Printing Trades Label.

The Hard one

The following publishing houses are legally authorized to use the Allied Trades Union Label:

1. THE LAW REPORTER, 518 Fifth street northwest

2. THE TRADES UNIONIST,
41-443 G street northwest.
3. GLOBE PRINTING CO.,
341 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.
4. THE ALONZO BLISS CO.,
39 B street northwest.

5. THE COLUMBIA PUBLISHING CO.,
518 Twelfth street northwest.
7. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.,
628 Louisiana avenue northwest.

8. JUDD & DETWELLER,
420 Eleventh street northwest.
9. GEORGE E. HOWARD & CO.,
305 Tenth street northwest.

11. H. E. WILKENS PRINTING CO., 719-721 Thirteenth street northwest. 12. THE MAURICE JOYCE CO., Evening Star Building.

13. NATIONAL ENGRAVING CO., 508 Fourteenth street northwest.

14. PRICE'S BINDERY, 628 Louisiana avenue northwest. 15. JOHN F. SHEIRY.
413 Ninth street northwest.

16. T. J. McCORMICK, Rooms 25-27 Atlantic Building.

18. THOMAS P. MOORE, 623 F street northwest,

19. BUNCE, PRINTER, Sixth and Louisiana avenue.

20. THAYER & KATES, 511 Fourteenth street northwest.

22. J. L. PEARSON, Ninth and D streets northwest.

All who are in sympathy with Organized Labor should have the Label on all printing done for them. Patronize Paper makers in the Burnside mills the above firms and Unionists the city

A. THOMAS CAMPBELL,

ple 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett,

Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, Secretary, 939 G street southwest.

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E., meets second and fourth Wednes-days of the month at 609 F street northwest. John W. Stockton. Secretary, 411 Twenty-fourth street northwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets secon and fourth Saturday evening of each me at Typographical Temple, 423 G street no west. Miss Clara G. Smith, Secretary, Fifth street northeast.

Fire Department Employees. P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morn-ing at 10 a. m., at Union Veterans' Hall, 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry C. Egloff, Secretary, 614 Sixth street southwest.

I. U. S. E., Hoisting and Portable, Local 77. meets every Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwest Jas. J. McCracken, Secretary, 493 Maryland avenue southwest.

Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No. 8097, meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Masonic Hall, Anacostia, D. C. C. W. Teates, Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia. Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers

Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monda evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No. 5, meets every Friday night at Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1062 Potomac street northwest. International Brotherhood of Electrical

Workers, Local Union No. 25, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall. Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tary, 200 E street northwest. International Brotherhood of Electrical

International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Wednes-day night at Eighth and D streets northwest. N. A. James, Secretary, 3612 O street north-

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set ters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Friday nights of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest. C. W. Magill, Sec-retary, 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers— Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1904 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re-cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest.

Iron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, meets 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secretary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest.

Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meets first and third Wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest. Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17, meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. M. Horigan, Secretary, 934 E street northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary, 1312, Twentyninth street northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters' Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Cos-tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. Joseph Blasey, Secretary, 214 Arthur Place northwest.

Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161, meets every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansiil, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest. National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. John A. Gayer, Secretary, P. O. Box 424, Station G.

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. Harry E. A. Gutshall, Secretary, 326 I street southwest

Operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets first and third Friday evenings at Typo graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of P. D., and P., meets every Tuesday evening, 609 C street northwest. C. L. Hickman, Sec-retary, 944 L street northwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast, first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee, Sec-tary, 907 E street southeast.

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets firs Wednesday in the month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts, Secretary, Kensington, Md. Pine Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets ever

Thursday night at 1208 E street northwest. A. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street

Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets first Saturday of each month at Typographica Temple, 423-425 G street northwest. Emi Petersen, Secretary, 2000 Thirteenth st. n. w Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macabet Temple, Ninth street northwest, the thirt Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secre-tary, 717 Seventh street northeast.

Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of Columbia, meets second and fourth Fridays at Jolly Fat Men's Hall, 933 D street northwest. W. D. Kerfoot, jr., Secretary, 1034 west. W. D. Kerfoot, Seventh street northwest.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty-pographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north-

Steam Fitters, R.A. Lanis Association, L.B.

No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gaut, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Columbia street northwest.

Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Fri-day at 8 o'clock p. m., at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. L. C. Hewitt, Secretary, Ridge Road, Station A. Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos. Rose, Secretary, 40 Fenton street northeast. United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local Union No. 190, meet every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth street northwest, top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secre-tary, 936 Fourth street northeast.

United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods, No. 87, meets every Tuesday at Heare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwest. Louis Turner, Secretary, 301 Pomeroy street Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets

second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourth floor) Ninth street northwest. T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street Washington Branch Granite Curters' Nat ional Union, meets every fourth Monday in each month, at 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Wm. Silver, Secretary, 49 Massa-chusetts avenue northwest. Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union

No. 42, meets the second Friday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street north-west. Mary B. Dunbar, Secretary, 1524 Q Washington Lodge of Machinists, No. 193,

Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Monday night at Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Temstreet northwest.

Silver Medal

Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels.

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUEN-CHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and FN. E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST. Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up.

BANKERS. UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave. BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS.

S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. BOOTS AND SHOWS.

CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY,

Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand. 52 H Street Northwest. CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO., Phone E 755. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar.

COACH FINDINGS. 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER. E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W. CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD,

477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W

SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. 010 HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest.

ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Pelephone, 2180. FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W. GAS FIXTURES.

1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W. GROCERIES. "Good things to eat." 1210 F St, N.W

T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave. GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS. S. H. HINES & CO., 1315 14th St. N. W. Phone, Main 1879.

HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS. 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats.

HARDWARE AND TOOLS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 523 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN,

437 Seventh Street Northwest LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave.

MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS. FOSBURG & MURRAY,
Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers.
8th and Water Sts. S. W.

MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS. JOHN B. ESPEY,

1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W HEWSPAPERS.

THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO.. (Late Ryneal's), 418 7th St. N. W PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS H. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts.

PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W.

PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. 686 G St. N. W

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM. JOHN M. BECKER. Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E.

TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest. Eight Branch Stores.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

TOBIAS BUSH 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's beers and popular rands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

NUF CED.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 33.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

President Hamerstrom and Delegate Van Ness Voted Moral Support.

UNFAIR LIST AMENDMENT LOST

Large Attendance-Credentials Received-Communications Disposed of—The Copyright Law Resolution-The Legislative Committee Soon to Report-Grievance Committee Acts-Resolution Pledging Moral and Financial Support in Pending Conspiracy Case.

The Central Labor Union met in weekly session, on Monday evening last, at Typographical Temple, President Hamerstrom presiding.

The session was largely attended, there being present 119 delegates, representing 44 affiliated organizations.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Credeutials were received from Bricklayers' Union No. 1, certifying P. H. Shugrue vice William Pollard, and Frank Thompson, jr., vice W. Brown; also from Electrical Workers, Local No. 26, certifying W. E. Kennedy, J. Patterson, C. Brenner, and J. A. Hess; from Brotherhood of Bookbinders, No. 4, certifying Peter Whitelaw vice John Wiedman; also from Federal Labor Union No. 8193, certifying Misses E. Marschalk, C. C. Costigan, Nettie M. Tolson, E. J. Cooksey, and Lillie Smith. neys in the case.

A number of bills were read and or-

A communication from the Eightorganization. This organization wishes the uniforms about to be contracted for. Is worth, while in England the same individual's intelligent interest in his to bring together delegates from each State representing all branches of social and industrial life. This communication was referred to the Organization

A communication from the Tri-City Labor Congress at Rock Island, Ill., calling attention to discrimination either in the laws of the United States or the method of administration by its officers which operates as official opposition to the principle and practice of adjusting differences through official committees. Referred to Legislative

A communication was received from Hod Carriers' Brick and Mortar Wheelers requesting this body to indorse a resolution adopted by them to the effect that on and after April 28, 1902, no member of that organization will be allowed to work' with a non-union man of the same calling. Request granted and communication placed on file.

A lengthy communication from the Metal Polishers' Union, Local No. 5, of that body: Dayton, Ohio, relative to statements being sent abroad that the unfair National Cash Register was fair to orthe Label Committee.

The communication from Brother-America, Local No. 190, relative to the and A. M. Butler succeeds J. F. Mcemployment of non-union men by one Cormick. Dahle, restaurant keeper at P and North Capitol streets, requesting he be placed upon unfair list, was referred to Grievance Committee.

The Custom Clothing Makers' Union of America communicated relative to lockout by Royal Tailoring Co., at Chicago, of their members and the unfair conditions now existing there. This communication was referred to Label

A communication relative to change of secretaries of Fire Department Employes' Protective and Beneficial Union was ordered filed. Ex-President Sullivan, of Buffalo Central Labor Union, was accorded the privilege of the floor and made tellresolution relating to the copyright law, which was offered by Delegate WHEREAS, On the 18th of December last Mr. Dayton, of West Virginia, introduced in the House a bill (H. R. 5777) amending the copyright law, and WHEREAS, Said bill destroys the pro-WHEREAS, Said office was and Overcoats to order. Whereas, Said office was and overcoats to order. Whereas, Said office was and overcoats to order. In the said of the additional was and overcoats to order. Wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages. It is a fact discreditable to said of the wages.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION by the present law and would be seriously detrimental to their interests;

therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Central Labor
Union of the District of Columbia protest against the passage of said bill, test against the passage of said bill, and earnestly requests the Committee on Patents, to which the same was re-ferred, to report it unfavorably.

The above was indorsed and the secretary was instructed to forward a copy of same to Hon. Walter Reeves, chair man of Committee on Patents.

Under call of unions, Delegate Mc-Carthy, of Bartenders' League, stated that the treasury of that organization was at the disposal of the Central Labor Union in the defense of President Hamerstrom and Delegate Van Ness.

The Building Trades Section reported that the election of officers would take place on Tuesday, January 28, and requested all delegates to at-

The Legislative Committee reported progress, and stated that they would sent to the recent convention of the report in full on several measures now pending at the next meeting.

The amendment to the Constitution offered by Delegate Dietrich, restricting the use of the unfair list to three names from each organization, was the same was defeated.

was indorsed unanimously by a rising

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union pledges its moral and financial support to President Hamerstrom and Delegate Van Ness in the conspiracy case, and that we call on affiliated unions to extend their financial and moral support, and that the Executive Committee act in accord with the attor-

It was reported that the uniforms of K. of L. organization, and a committee Hour Day Supreme Grand League of consisting of Delegates Sprague, Cald-America was received announcing that well, and Dietrich were appointed to that body would hold its first National wait upon Postmaster Merritt and re-Convention, September 22-26, 1902, at quest that the label of the United Gar-Minneapolis, the parent home of the ment Workers of America appear upon is worth, while in England the same > Cold Feet? Two pair mixed Wool Hose for 25c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Sts. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room my office to No. 316 H street northwest, just opposite old location.

DR. T. J. McConnell.

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent reasonable; 451 G street northwest.

STATIONERY.

Writing Paper in white and tints-from 10 cents to $1.50 a box.

at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Committee Changes.

President Lawson, of Columbia Typographical Union, has made the following changes in the committees of

On the Laws Committee James N. Miller succeeds B. M. Connelly.

On the Entertainment Committee ganized labor, was read and referred to Clint C. Price succeeds William Hin-

In the delegation to Allied Trades hood of Carpenters and Joiners of Council C. E. Clark becomes chairman

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris-

coll's, N. Cap. and G. Building Permits.

The following building permits have been issued: planing mill at 461 Maryland avenue southwest; cost, $3,000.

J. Vance Lewis, brick bowling alley, Oak avenue, Takoma Park; cost, $800. stable, Queen's Chapel road, near Bunker Hill road; cost, $450.

story and attic addition to frame house drudgery than the more highly paid wage, the American employer takes the privilege of the following ing remarks in favor of the following at 1518 Howard avenue northwest, Mt. and independent Americans. One the ordinary or average capacity of Pleasant; cost, $2,000.

back building at 3548 Brightwood avenue northwest; cost, $215.

Maple street, Lincoln sub.; cost, $5.

TILLETT ON AMERICAN LABOR

Trades Union Representative.

UNIONISM MORE RAPID HERE

Nearly Every Article of Daily Use Bears the Union Label--Intelligence Counts in this Country-The American Opposition to "Red Tape"-No Racial Opposition-Shares the Interest of Employer-No Minimum Bogey-Workmen Here Enforce Recognition and Respect.

Ben Tillett, one of the representatives of the trades unions of England, American Federation of Labor, in writing his views of the American workman to the London Express from New York, has the following to say:

"We are not as lively or so imaginative a race as the American continent is called up, and after a spirited debate producing, but the American, although he may not be worth two cents, will The following by Delegate Feeney speak with easy grace of millons. Carnegie, Rockefeller, the Goulds could not believe more in their own personal worth than the American of moral support, and that the Executive try. The individual worker is less of a subordinate in America than he is at home in England. He takes a great pride in his work, encouraged to do so the letter carriers bore the label of a not only by more wages according to merit, but because he feels he is part and parcel of the economy of industrial ism, being consulted by the management whenever capacity is shown.

"His intelligence is taken for what it work would be taken as presumption, and he would likely be discharged for his impudence in daring to use his brains. Although the specialization and division of labor here is really a science, yet at the same time most of the intelligent workmen take an interest for laboratory purposes, have removed in the product, which may be the result of combined labor, subdivided into minute simplicity. The erection of a huge building towering up thirty and more stories is a matter of interest keenly debated.

"The American workman will sit at ministration, his very desire to be con- loyalty. sidered an important part of the greater of social duties.

formality, his synicism for red tape, in men, with reward and increased wages may be exercised, save him from little- particular workman or workmen. ness. The press of America, although it may flaunt his power, never treats his rights with contempt-that, at more or less like other employers, least, may be said of the typical American press. No one whines about him, lowest cost, he is more mathematical of himself.

"There is but little racial exclusive- his horses. Valentine Kline, two-story frame all in his working life. His opposition American and British labor relationship Mrs. Ida A. Prescott, to build two- fact that these are more slavish in their mum of energy and skill for a minimum J. Wineberger, to build a one-story told by the numerous critics of British rewarding the individual or individuals, will do more work, will consent to do ability out of the normal. Philip Snowden, repairs to house on so without grumbling, so long as it "The encouragement thus given inadds to the effective competitive duces a loyalty and interest much be-

DER ROYAL VELCOME!

PRINCE HENRY-"Gesundheit, Sam." UNCLE SAM-"Drink hearty, Hank."

against competitors, but the employer

"The minimum bogey, so much "His audacity, his contempt for any of the minimum for the average work- label of the union being attached. whatever manner or place the latter in ratio to the increased value of the

"The results may be easily guaged. Although the American employer is anxious to obtain efficient labor at ness in his social habits-hardly any at "The essential difference between to the 'Dagoes' (Italians), or the lower with capital is that, while workmen in order of Jews, is entirely owing to the England are expected to give the maxipoint also which has only been half workers as deciding the minimum rate, workmen is that American workmen being only too pleased to pay extra for another country who may be a trade British employers that the Americans have hit the weak spot of our national "There is certainly some truth in the vanity, and are anxious to see another supper with the richest, at the same fact stated that the American workman big fight undertaken, so that the spoils maid is made up. hotel, or take part at any civil, social, or shares the interest of his employer of dislocation may go to America. Yet our press and our employers let loose "Being an individual forever aspir- depends less upon sentiment to induce all the viciousness of class prejudice in ing to comprehend and take part in the such interest than he does upon ma an attempt to break down the institubusiness of trade, government and ad- terial recognition and reward of such tions which have been made for the improvement of the people's condition.

"Trade unionism is making more whole or social life compensates for his wagged before the British public, scar- rapid strides in America than in Engincompetence often for the lesser part ing them out of their trade wits, is laid land, and hardly an article of daily use low in America by the entire acceptance among the people is sold without the

"The whole secret of the superiority in America is the fact that workmen enforce recognition and respect, and at all times, where organization exists, if the voice of conscience used a megcommand the confidence of employ-

In conclusion, Mr. Tillett says: "If only our supposed leaders of thought sneers at him, preaches to him, con- in his estimates of what is cheapest at home or leading press and statesmen $2.25 Derbys and Flanges in all latest demns him; and perhaps that is largely labor by results. He does not, on the would learn that the best way of makshapes, $1.65. Tanzer's, 1300 7th N. W. the reason why he has such an estimate whole, begrudge the worker something ing a nation really great is to make the more than a beggarly pittance, and as people themselves proudly indepen-"He is just a good talker, eater, a result he obtains a willing and loyal dent, self-confident, with a love and drinker, dresses well, works hard, servant. I should be the last to believe belief in the nationality, then, and then wants a lot of leisure—gets it, too—is a that he does this out of mere sentimen- only, can the potentates of will-power, robust, boastful, energetic fellow; tal interest in the workmen. Far from of energy, and resources command an first-class board, go to Mrs. Turner's, swears by the constitution he has, per- that, he is materialistic, and values the unassailable position such as in evi- 821 North Capitol street, northeast. Martin Wiegand, brick addition to haps, never read, and in consequence productive results of a good wage to dence here. The all-conquering, strenknows but little of, and is altogether a the toiler exactly as he would measure uous American people have as mighty durned proposition' not to be ignored. the productive results of good feed to a future as they have a mighty belief in themselves."

> It is announced that all the new locomotives ordered for the Harriman roads enforced, a strong moral sentiment can will be of the compund type.

Batwings, Butterflies, Shield Bows, Imperials, Scarfs, and Four-in-Hands, 25c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Streets N. W.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

TABLE BOARD.—Good table board in private family $15 per month; also fur- the non-reading members the necessity Nobby Suits and Overcoats to order. powers of the manufacturer, either yound the mere value of the additional nished room for two; near G. P. O. of posting up and giving loyal aid to # Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News

It often happens that the up-to-date

A divorce-court judge plays shortstop in the matrimonial The deadly parallel is doubly fatal when it tackles love letters. When a man resigns himself to fate his resignation is always accepted.

The man who wakes up to find himself rolling in wealth soon rolls out

There is such a thing as a woman of few words, but she is apt to be reiter-

What a different world this would be

It isn't necessary for a man to be a hypnotist in order to get his mind concentrated on the toothache.

Interest of the public in a man's private affairs increases as he climbs the ladder of fame.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

If you want to get a warm lunch or

A crying need in the industrial field is a strong rule in every union to enforce upon the membership the support and reading of labor literature. While such a rule could not well be arbitrarily and should be impressed upon the membership. There is a sufficient number of wide-awake intelligent members in each union to exert a salutary influence in their unions if they will only take up this question of a more thorough dissemination of union literature. The working members in every union should make it a point to urge upon the press of organized labor.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

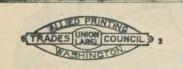

E. W. PATTON ..... Editors. A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - $1.00

Six months (in advance) - - - 50c. Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as central bodies

THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER. Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy.

-FRANKLIN.

If you can do business, let it be known.

WE note with pride the change in make-up of Labor's Friend, published at Niagara Falls, N. Y. The publication was formerly of magazine style, and is the official labor organ of Niagara County, N. Y. May it continue to

AFTER-DINNER DILATIONS.

The game seems fair enough so long enlarge and prosper.

gain is apparent.

as we are winning. Some builders are honest just so long as the building inspector is present.

The zeal of some people is manifest

The man who first introduced the mirror certainly did his share toward perpetuating vanity.

Effort is the ladder by which we by the number of rounds gained.

these words: "To do good is my re-

Some people are pleased to argue that capital is superior to labor, which is equal to saying that the created is greater than the creator.

I am chided by a very good friend because, forsooth, I last week referred to Newburyport as a suburb of Boston. A spoke of the hub, my good fellow, to be more explicit.

Printers are willing to sit up nights and print the speeches of Congressmen and otherwise inconvenience themselves, because Congress has done so much for the printers.

A man may belong to a union for half a century, pay dues regularly, and meet all formal requirements, and yet not possess a grain of principle in full accord with true unionism.

In looking over some of the rods recently taken from pickle there are indications which point to a very lively session of Congress. The "warm member" is ever alert to prove that he can earn his salary.

after these tax-dodgers.

the appearance of a real blessing.

and steal bases in order that he may become so rich that his remaining days are rendered miserable from fear lest at last he may die in the poor-house?

In the list of those multi-millionaires who, from their tall towers, have jarred the earth by dropping moneybags for monuments to self, I do not now recall one who has donated so much as a candle to light the attic or sick-chamber of the lowly poor.

The Salvation Army people are doing the work of the Master by reclaiming wayward souls along the highways and in the byways, and for this they have met persecution by religionists who pray from the housetops and who need watching when a square deal is called

The optimist who basks in sunshine, even when there is no sunshine, has and decorations unusually brilliant. not half the reason for the faith that is within him that the pessimist has who views with suspicion things that are seemingly real, yet not clearly proven, as he looks out upon humanity with its unique design. false eyes, false hair, false teeth, heart, arms, legs, feet-false things to eat, drink, and wear, false bottoms, false accounts, false witnesses (including Celery gas-meters), false alarms-everything false. Only by great faith may a man hope to become an optimist, or rise about his misgivings as a pessimist.

Until Bill Clarke was assigned to main track clear and to avoid much which leads to the water-tank, has made it necessary to "slow up" to avoid a header or rear collision while making the curve. I was discussing with Clarke the feasibility of a double track when the artist pushed the but-

Uncle Sam's great printing-office is the haven for a little squad of ex-edionly as the opportanity for individual tors who have been swept in from the tempestuous sea of journalism to accept a refuge of safety remote from the typhoon-visited districts and away from an admiring constituency who were long as subscribers but short on sub scriptions, and so, unconsciously, of course, invited a collapse of the Village climb. Success or failure is computed Bazoo. This is the majority report. Of course the exceptional ones come on here to get a good safe place to One of the most persecuted of men bank their savings, and these are now was he who declared his life creed in picking type or putting in the time in some capacity or other, not wishing to be classed as idlers. The schools and churches of Washington are in the McKean, W. F. O'Brien, John R. Pur-Comic songs.... reckoning among the desirable things for a man of "retiring" disposition, Smith, H. S. Sutton, C. E. Tompkins, and, too, Washington is considered a very healthy place, is abundantly sup plied with doctors, and pharmacies are located at convenient points-just the place for a man with a family and a good place for a man with a family to F. A. Kidd, and William McEnaney. get. The longer the ex-editor stays here the more he becomes attached to the town. For instance, he enjoys nothing better than a good library, and every time a new one is staked off he is inclined to stay on until it is completed, and is loath to leave even then for fear that another one will be started in his absence, and then the business of the $29, he says. Government keeps on growing, and his interest in these things naturally increases till finally, and before he realizes the fact, he finds his name recorded in the list of the oldest inhabitants, and he still stays on because he knows the Quaker said, "It is a puttering job." streets of the old town, and-because,

in a way, he has to. Proportions of Type.

Fonts of job letter put up and advertised as 24 a, 36 a, etc., are often deceptive as to the true strength of the If we may believe current reports, font for ordinary use. To make a big little. It is a shame the way they leave Washington is a haven of exemption showing of a's and cutting down the the quad boxes. from taxation for those who are best other sorts, so as to reduce the weight able to pay. It would be a dogoned and diminish the price, may induce good scheme to set the dog-catchers sales of two fonts where one would answer the purpose if the sorts were all he is as happy as ever. relatively proportioned to ordinary re-I received from a little child friend quirements, and thus work to the profit the other day a letter with a blot of of the type founder, but it is not ecoink upon it, which at first sight was un- nomical for the printer. The relative pleasant, but later on the blot was ex- proportions required in the English plained to mean a kiss, and then it had language are these: A, 85; b, 16; c, 30; d, 44; e, 120; f, 25; g, 17; h, 64; i, 80; j, 4; k, 8; l, 40; m, 30; n, 80; o, jaundice, 'Joe' says, things were What profiteth it a man to place him- 80; p, 17; q, 5; r, 62; s, 80; t, 90; u, mighty yellow with him for a while. self on low diet and squeeze and pinch 34; v, 12; w, 20; x, 4; y, 20; z, 2.

BORN AT BARTON'S.

Initial Meeting of the Twentieth Century Knockers' Society.

The event of the season in typographical circles was the banquet of the Twentieth Century Knockers' Society, held at Barton's on last Sunday evening, where in the Oriental room of that |; institution, 'mid song and story, wine and witticism, was born the above named organization-not a club but a society, with constitution, by-laws, ritual, and initiatory exercises.

Before proceeding to the dining hall, Mr. W. S. McKean, jr., the projector of the society, in a neat speech, outlined its views and object, which as evidenced by the applause, was thoroughly acceptable to those present. To the tune of the Rogue's March, the assemblage was conducted to the Oriental room, a happy conceit, with its tapestry, flowers

On being escorted to the chair, Toastmaster Bloomer was presented by Mr. McKean with a handsome gavel, Manager Key also presenting one of

The following was the menu offered by "Barton'

Cocktails.
Consomme Entasse.

Fillet of Bass, au Hollandes.
Salade, Waldorf.
Filet Mignon, French Peas. Crackers. Coffee. Cheese.

Cigars.

When the cigars were reached a Specifications was there occasion for business session was held, selecting hoisting the danger-signal in Alley 5, officers for the coming term, and elect and collisions were seldom known. ing Messrs. Frank Morrison and Wil-He was given an end frame to keep the liam M. Garrett to membership. The following program was rendered:

> 5 Instrumental Duet-Serenade Rococco......Farwell and Green
> "A Knock in Verse"..W. S. McKean Trio-From Atilla...

Greene, Purvis and McElfresh In response to a call for an encore, Mr. McKean gave a creditable contribution in the shape of a "knock" on the Washington police force. The numbers on the program were interspersed with "short talks" from the tative. guests and members, many of the offerings being very appropriate. The officers-elect and their respective titles are here given: Supreme Superlative Senior Prince Knocker, A. F. Bloomer; Jovial Jubilant Junior Prince Knocker, John R. Purvis; Scribbler of the Scroll, Prince Knocker F. D. Smith; Gatherer of the Gelt, Prince Knocker W. S. McKean, jr.; Chief of the Chappie Conductors, Joseph Farwell; Flunky Patrol, No. 1, W. F. O'Brien; No. 2, John Desmond; No. 3, G. O. Atkinson; No. 4, A. L. Huss; Watcher of the Wicket, Prince Knocker J. H. Brodnax. In addition to the guests-Messrs. Miller, VanHessen, Whitney, Huss, Rodier, Schertzer, and Whiteheadthe following gentlemen constitute the charter members of the society: W. S. vis, E. H. Ryan, F. D. Smith, Shelby G. A. Atkinson, J. J. Atkinson, A. F. Bloomer, J. H. Brodnax, H. Y. Brooke, Baritone solo... W. E. Burchfield, E. Burkholder, J. F. Desmond, George D. Ellis, Joseph Farwell, John Greene, jr., A. L. Huss,

The next meeting will be held at Barton's on the evening of February 23, when several well-known gentlemen will be initiated.

Night Bill Force.

ing a lady's raglan. It cost as much as said

Mr. Stevens, slug 330, is authorized to act as chairman of Mr. White's divi sion of the Night Bill Force.

We all have been working on 10-point Bruce or long primer lately, and as the

J. H. Brodnax, on account of sickness, has been absent the past week from his usual place. "Brody" old man, cheer

Some body ought to do something to the day men to make them distribute a

Mr. Doyle, slug 12, who had the baby boy at his home, has had a very sick know how much less he knows than he wife, but she is now out of danger and thinks he knows then he knows some-

The C. L. C. is square "up against it," and is increasing in numbers. There is talk of giving a progressive euchre party along in Lent.

Joe Zimmerman is at his post again after a five weeks' struggle with the Everything goes with a rush when

······ FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

Man, Woman and Child

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES,

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading Outfitters, . . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W.

our actor (Solan, of the proof press,) dons his white sweater and rolls up his sleeves. He travels when he printeth

Mr. James H. Ross, assistant, does not show up in the other end of the room very often, and when he does, it is to give out solid copy. The boys like him just the same.

Mr. Chas. E. Young, foreman of the Night Bill Force, is about and again resuming his duty as of old. While he was sick, Mr. Ross performed the work of the office quite creditably.

It takes some ability as a rule to run a "bank" for printers, and Mr. Wild ("Puckey") fills the bill about as complete as can be asked. We find it easy to reach his method of arranging the galleys. He is all right.

The meeting of the Government Printing Office folks and the Union Savings switching; yet with all these precautions the heavy traffic and much travel along this intensely busy thoroughfare which leads to the water-tank, has which leads to the water-tank, has made it necessary to "slow up" to "slow u special check sent from the bank. Success to Mr. Keefer.

L. A. (Gus) Wisener, of this division, is mentioned as one of the chosen four members to represent No. 101 at the I. T. U. convention at Cincinnati in August. As Gus is a popular fellow and well liked by his comrades, it is quite likely that he will be a represen-Punchinillo.

National Union Smoker.

On Monday, January 27, Northeast Washington Council, No. 755, National Union, had its annual installation of officers, Mr. Cohen acting as installing officer and Mr. Hazen as marshal. After the regular ceremonies the council and its friends adjourned to the large and spacious hall of Northeast Temple and indulged in a few refreshments. While the refreshments were being passed around and consumed the following program was carefully rendered:

Overture...Messrs. Kirkland and Dougherty .Mr. Robert Green Recitation ... Piano and cornet duet ... ......Messrs. Krens and Golden

Mr. Lanman .Mr. Farling Comic song. ... Mr. Hanby .....M . Buzzy Mr. Russell, Accompanist.

An enjoyable evening was spent and all adjourned, voting Northeast Washington Council an entertaining host.

Printing Committee Eulogized.

Mr. James L. Norris, the well-known patent attorney, in transmitting a letter to Secretary Garrett in which was a check paying for a page ad in Colum-Slug 41 came to work, recently, wear- bia Typographical Union's Yearbook

"I examined the Yearbook closely and was much pleased with the manner in which the matter was selected and arranged. It is an excellent publication and those who did the great and good work in compiling the matter should have the hearty thanks, not only of every one connected with your Union, but of everyone who look with favor upon good work of man.

"With good wishes, I am, "Yours very truly,

"JAMES L. NORRIS."

Never estimate your peach crop from a census of the buds.

When a very young man begins to thing that is really worth knowing.

**************** A FRIEND

GRANVILLE RYE

OF UNION MEN, QUIGLEY'S, 406 9th St. N. W.

union Made Cigary ARMY & NAVY DEER HEAD Henry T. Offterdinger, Manufacturer

504 Ninth St., N.W.

CORBYS'

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions. The FIRST and only BAKERS is the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2005 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

CIGAR, 5 Cents.

Union Made.

For Sale by Leading Dealers.

W. B. WHEELER, Distributor. 739 Seventh Street Northwest.

The busiest spot in the busiest part of town is the

8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO.

To all Judges of Good

We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredients by Skilled ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others instante it because it's good.

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitel Ground

This publication is printed on paper supplied by

WHOLESALE

Paper and Stationery Dealers 627-629 LOUISIANA AAE. N. W.

Geo. W. Barry Coal Co., Wood and Coal.

Main office and yard: 14 and 16 H St. N. W.

WHITE BARBERS Ladies and Children's Hair Cutting.

N. D. CHRISTENSEN,

Antiseptic Shaving Parlor 805 NORTH CAPITOL STREET. Agency for Franklin Steam Laundry.

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. s and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad, when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label. .

And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat.

> LOOSE LABELS In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

Doyou want an accurate time-piece? ANDRUS O. HUTTERLY,

Jeweler and Optician Phone m. 2201-4. 632 G St. N. W. Ask to see the Hamilton watches.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO.,

Wood, Coal, and Coke. All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

-VISIT_

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE. The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts.

Everything the Best. BOBINGER BROS., - - Proprietors.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Ports and Sherries for Family Use-* * Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes of Beer. Leading Brands of
Cigars. Ales and Porters on
Draught all the Year Round.

JOHN CONNOR, New Jersey Ave. and G Streets H. W.

Columbia Typographical Union,

No. 101.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G St. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.; 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

B. A. M. LAWSON.... WALTER V. SMITH ...... Vice-President .....Secretary W. M. GARRETT.... .Treasurer JOHN R. BERG..... C. C. HIPKINS..... D. E. TYRRELL.....Sergeant-at-Arms .... Doorkeeper FRANK HART..... TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson,

and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-C. E. Clark, chairman; Ira Taylor, and A. M.

AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard.

COMMITTEES. BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. Lerch, G. A. Meyer, W. N. Brockwell, and R. B.

Nominations-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt Boucher. L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and

Andrew Keiner. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman; T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor.

PRINTING-Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T. A. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison.

GRIEVANCE-P. S. Steele, chairman; J. A. Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; Clint. O. Price, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and W. F. Reed CONFERENCE-George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks.

LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and James H. Miller. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman ; J. M. Lenhart and Hugh Reid.

CHAIRMEN.

First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division-C. N. Travis. Third Division-Frank E. Wright. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements. Job Room-Geo. B. Tallman. Record Clerks' Division-H. G. Brown. Night Bill Force—A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room—E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette—George Gerberich.

Document Proof Room—Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division—Wm. McHenry. State Division—Frank L. Manderfeld. Navy Department Division-Albert E. Ogg. War Department Division-C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-H. L. Shryock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times-William E. Dix Morning Times-Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-H. C. Pool. Globe Printing Co.-H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl. Wilkens Printing Co.-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Henry W. Kottmann. National Publishing Co.-F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's-J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES.

▲rmy and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Columbia Publishing Co.-W. F. Jones.

Down Town.

The disease was general this week. Cause, the snow.

Fred Lucas, of Norfolk, is now one of our down town additions.

Tuesday night and Wednesday about book. 5 inches of the "beautiful" landed in

Mr. J. Kavanaugh, of Baltimore, is located at the Government Printing

Printing business continues good, as does also the scarcity of compositors about the city. W. Lyle Griffis, of the N. B. F., says this weather the past week reminds him of springtime up north-Green Bay, Wis. The many friends of Chas. J. French will be grieved to learn that he is confined at Sibley Hospital with congestion of the lungs.

town of Chicago for the past year, ar- submit to an operation. rived in the city Wednesday. Louis looks prosperous and happy.

composer, well and lavorable and lavorably impressed with the long respect and is a fine piece of art Musicians, Local 161, of this city.

Bailey will regret to learn that he is to complete the work. Bailey will regret to learn that and their friends who narrowly escaped concise form the periods when man's and their friends will meet at 922 Penn-left the city Sunday last for all ext wanded with the given at tended stay of two months in Augusta, and grandmother, respectively, of W. There is no calculation which recognized to which a number of professional people nizes "second wind." Ga., in quest of bettering her health. S. Cady, of this division.

what incapacitated.

Open at 4 A. M.

class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's life is the wish of all. .Organizer Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free. Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cooking to order. Your patronage solicited. JOHN E. BONINI, 727-729 N. Capitol street.

Fourth Division.

Senor Yater is reported as being very sick.

another club. Jim Healy will make a fine president.

He fills the chair nicely as it is.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Maddox's young child. Mr. Maddox has our best wishes for the speedy recovery of the youngster.

The Morgue Chapel is beginning to assume its old-time proportions. Dud and his hosts of jolly fellows have their regular noon sessions.

Professor Harvel and marionettes were missed at the entertainment given by the Northeast Washington Council. National Union, Monday evening.

Applications to the Dramatic Club are constantly being filed. Come right along boys; you are welcome and there is plenty of room. Let us try and make the Club a success.

50c and 75c High Grade Neckwear, 39c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Sts. N. W.

Pan Roats, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

STATIONERY.

A fine line of Box Paper and Tablets at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Fifth Division.

Alley 5 might appropriately be the variety and quantity of drugs consumed by its occupants.

William Lewis thinks his is a coughin' nating from the Y one might suppose coffins are in great demand.

A. M. Warner, of Syracuse, N. Y., 30. He is lately from the Syracuse bered. Money preferred. Herald,

I. Mr. Gunn worked in the G. P. O. work was done by contract. for a time in the latter part of last cenrevealed the fact that this division has Melick stepped in as referee pro tem. who may live after their works. This poets' corner is located in Alley 7, and the poetical effusions that come to light there under the inspiring theme of 'Jerry' might some day fill a rare

Tanzer's Special Brace, the most pretzel twist. durable suspender made, 25c.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Treasury Branch.

list for ten days. At last accounts he was rapidly improving.

Miss Lucy Morrison was elected chairresigned.

went to the Garfield Hospital Monday house next week. for treatment. He has a chronic Louis O'Neil, who has been in the stomach disorder and may have to

of this chapel, now connected with the tation, with sorrow depicted in every spied a stray chicken in the road and, Jacque Heithenheimer, a Washington Weather Bureau at Galveston, Texas, line of his youthful face, as, standing after an hour's chase, he captured it, Jacque riettiennes, atter an hour's chase, he captured it, composer, well and favorable known, to friends convey the impression that in the deep snow, he sees it slowly diswhen his next door neighbor came out above-named city nor with the long respect and is a fine piece of art. The many friends of William H. hours of labor required by the Bureau confined to his house having higher with their lives from a burning aparthimself by a fall received a few days with their lives from a burning aparttific calculation he is declared to be in ment house at the corner of Forty- tific calculation he is declared to be in on the evening of February 21. The Miss Bertha C. Hunter, of the Gov- sixth street and Calumet avenue, Chi- prime working condition between the chef promises some rare dishes and Miss Bertha C. Hunter, of the Government Printing Office press room, ernment Printing Office press room, wallace and Mrs. E. A. Duncan, aunt minimum and maximum periods. ernment Printing Onice piess foolis, eago, will be given at left the city Sunday last for an ex- Wallace and Mrs. E. A. Duncan, aunt minimum and maximum periods. a vaudeville show will be given at Washington had the appearance of a Miss Margaret Turley, of this divi- There was a good attendance from snowbound Canadian town Wednesday sion, was married to Mr. Paul Profe morning, a heavy fall of snow the Monday afternoon, January 20, at St. night previous necessitating many to Paul's Episcopal Church. Miss Turley walk to their respective places of em- was employed here several years; was ployment, as the car lines were some- well-known to all, and was much admired because of her happy and jovial disposition. As a token of the esteem I will open my Cafe and Saloon on in which she was held the employes Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December remembered her by presenting a hand-3, 1901, and continue same during the some set of sterling silver knives and session of Congress. Everything first forks. A long and happy married

SUBSCRIBER.

Mr. Quigley, formerly of the firm of Quigley & Hart, who conducted a saloon at the corner of Sixth and C this room at the entertainment given streets northwest, favorably known to by Pressmen Council, National Union, our readers, has lately purchased and on Monday evening. As a result Dr. modernized the old established prem- Ed Murray was frequently consulted "Lucky Curve" Luitich is busy with ously occupied by Mr. Bien. He makes those suffering from head trouble, a specialty of Granville Rye Whiskey stomach difficulty, and nerve affection, and his ad appears in our columns.

> "Pluck" is one of the best Unionmade 5-cent cigars on the market. It is manufactured by H. T. Offterdinger, 'Army and Navy " and " Deer Head," ro-cent Union-made cigar.

> Messrs, Cole & Swan will open a first-class jewelery store at 43 H street northwest, opposite the G. P. O. See ad in another column.

Specification Notes.

The mention of "blue eyes" has the effect to stir 'em up.

Miss Aylward, of Boston, was added to the force yesterday. Schmaling is the acknowledged Chesterfield of Specifications. Slug 148 will hesitate a long time before again consulting Dr. Murray.

dency to make the boys "smoke up." The sub of last week, who signed himself "Trade-Mark," is excused, as it was his first offense.

Connor received the congratulations of the whole force yesterday by a general handshake. The first boy.

Major Dodge, who occupies the proof dubbed "dope alley," judging from room pulpit, has all there is in the franking privilege. What he says goes.

"The cathode does not show any trace of altercation," was caught, and the 20 per cent increase for night work ob. From the hammering noise ema- the alteration made was intended to aid the meaning.

same day as the launching of the was assigned to this room last Wednes- Kaiser's yacht, and he is anxious that been honored, why not he? He is a day a week ago, and is located on Slug it shall be a day long to be remem-

Mr. Buehler, a binder employed in liamentarian. Charles Gunn, lately from the Na- the Union Building, has been a memtional Publishing Company, came to ber of the binders' union since 1857, work last Monday and answers to Slug and his service dates from 1854, when Chairman Gutelius was vaccinated last week, and it "worked" so well The appearance of "Hannibal" in that he could imagine he had the very these columns several issues back has thing that he sought to avoid. Mr.

a poet's corner. So has Westminster The friends of Harvey J. Southwick Abbey, as you may know. But while are assured by letter of his recovery the latter is peopled with the dead, from an illness which has extended whose works live after them, the one in over a period of several months. He the Fifth is inhabited with living beings, will return to Washington in a few badge and will meet Prince Henry, of days.

> Schott was getting along well with his imitation gotee, but when it was for mending pants. He glues them inannounced that Prince Henry was com- stead of sewing them. ing this way he directed a change in The Champion Bone Player of the the block to better conform with the District laughed when he saw Bill Lang

J. A. Gibbs, of the "Side Show," contortionist and not a bone player. fell and sprained his wrist the morning last week that it was so slippery, and wonder. He was giving an exhibition has not been able to set type since. He of cutting glass with a pair of shears is now sorry that he is not a member under water when he nearly lost a James Willis has been on the sick of the Union Mutual Benefit Association. finger.

Tickets are on sale for a choice lot in southwest Washington, to be dis- Charles McEnany and William C. Conposed of by lottery. If I was as confi- nor. They appeared at four smokers man of the pressfeeders' chapel Tues- dent of winning the prize as Captain of the National Union during the week, day to succeed Mrs. Profe, nee Turley, Smoot appears to be, I would build a and attended a pink tea on Sunday. high fence around the premises imme-N. S. Howser, helper in this division, diately and break ground for a new trated New Year's card in which is appeared in the issue of January 16? presented in minature form a boy of Letters from Fletcher Bowden, late interesting age engaged in silent medi- attack of heart disease recently. He

> A local clothing company has issued shoulder. a calendar for 1902, which presents in

SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X-mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS. ***************

for which caffeine was administered.

William Leahy, who was employed 504 Ninth street northwest, and the ago but now conducting a prosperous his death. business at Milford, near Boston, came in on Tuesday to see if any of his oldtime acquaintances were yet on deck. Mr. Leahy is associated in business with his brother Dan, who was at one time employed in the Job Room at the Government Printing Office. Mr. Leahy preserved.

The sweepers often run across articles of use or ornament which have been dropped upon the floor or carelessly placed by employes. All such articles are turned over to the desk and finally are placed with Mr. Carter, who is known as the "property man," and who places them in a conspicuous The last quarterly report had a ten- place for redemption. Some of these articles are of value and are quickly claimed, but more frequently they are of minor worth, and so the stock of hairpins, collar-buttons, and elastic bands accumulate.

Strange as it may appear, Columbia Typographical Union has honored every man who has rendered good service in securing increase of pay in the Government Printing office except one, Mr. H. Y. Brooke. The printers and all other employes are to-day enjoying as the result of Mr. Brooke's labors. Would it not be an act of justice for the Pollock's birthday comes on the Union to send Mr. Brooke as a delegate to Cincinnati. All others have fluent speaker and an able man, and, in addition, he has few peers as a par-

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Blow yourself and buy three fine Cambric Handerchiefs for 25c. Tanzer's.

Bindery Notes.

Charlie Colne is now a rival of Patsy Mann. He is in the soap business. Shady Burns would like to have some one tell him all about the fairies in Julius Greibel was presented with a

Germany. John Gantley has a new preparation play the bones, claiming that Bill is a PAIRING, CLOCK AND JEWELRY MAK-

Billy Casey, of the roof garden, is a

Last week was a very busy one for

Will the gentleman who writes for THE TRADES UNIONIST over the signature, "The Kicker," please explain Gompers received an unique illus- his squib about a bookbinder which

Little VanHorn nearly died from an

The bookbinders of the roof garden

Death of B. J. O'Brien.

At his late residence, 504 L street SHERWOOD northeast, Tuesday, at 3.30 a. m., after modernized the old established premises on Ninth street northwest, previses on Ninth street northwest, previses on Ninth street northwest, previsions of Tuesday by O'Brien passed to the Great Unknown. POOL 2½c. PER CUE. A life long resident of this city and one of the oldest employes of the superinduced by loss of sleep, etc., and Weather Bureau, he was widely known among the craft. For a number of years he was chairman of that chapel on Specifications some fifteen years which position he held at the time of

Two daughters, Mrs. Grace Reuth and Miss Beulah O'Brien, survive him; his wife died several years ago.

He was a member of the Catholic Knights, in which organization he was an active member. He was an honored member of Columbia Typographical bears evidence of thrift and years well Union, No. 101. Members of the Weather Bureau chapel will act as pall bearers.

> The funeral will take place Friday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Aloysius church, and interment will be made in Mount Olivet cemetery. His age was 60 years.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Fine fitting laundered Shirts, open or losed front, 73c. Tanzer's, 7th and N.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas; for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast.

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

Headquarters for Kitchen Utensils.

Whatever is necessary to properly furnish your kitchen can always be found here at the very lowest price.

Lowest Prices for Glassware, China, Silver-Plated Ware, Lamps, Etc.

DULIN & MARTIN CU., Successors to M. M. Beveridge, 1215 F Street and 1214 G Street.

Woodward & Lothrop,

DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH; ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

A NEW JEWELRY STORE, 43 H STREET N. W. OPEN NEXT WEEK.

Believing that Watch, Clock, and Jewelry Making and Repairing in all its branches in a Skilled workmanlike manner is very much needed in this locality we have decided to locate here permanently. We GUARANTEE to give the very Best Satisfaction possible, and for a very reasonable price. We are THOROUGH
IN THE ART OF WATCHMAKING AND RE-ING AND REPAIRING, and besides our sin cere aim is to give you perfect satisfaction.
We also handle a nice line of Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Etc., Etc. Everything guaranteed as represented, or ve will have your patronage ever afterwards.

NEW JEWELERS, Cole & Swan.

Bush's Cafe,

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of

LIQUORS AND CIGARS An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit. Strictly Union. GEORGE BUSH, Proprietor,
701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

J. A. Sauerland, Men's Furnishings,

Hats, Umbrellas. . UNDER NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.

GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, 728 Seventeenth Street Northwest,

Special attention given claims of employes of the Government Printing Office for pay for un-used leaves of absence.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

**** Union Hat Store. H. KRAEMER, Hatter and Men's Furnisher 1012 7th St. N. W. ONE PRICE.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

Specialties.

Cool Lager Beer on Draught

EDWIN F. PRICE, BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Ruling and Binding of every description Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Salesroom, 33 H st. n. W Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

paracocococo 28 300 1-lb. Leaves to the Barrei.

Every Laboring Man

--requires pure, wholesome, nourishing food such as is made of--

Cream Blend Flour It not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands— therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

8. B. EARNSHAW & BRO., Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S. E. 1000 and 1002 M Street S. E.

J. L. KERVAND,

Engraver, Lithographer and Plate Printer. 1012 Penns. Ave. - - Washington, D. C.

Scientific American.

MUNN & CO. 361Broadway, New York Branch Office, 625 F St., Wasnington, D. C I. M. WRIGHT

Washington and Heurich's ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood. 211 Seventh St. new., Washington, D. C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET.

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 605 F Street N. W. Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $321,187.00.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER,

BLUE LABEL GREAKS. 1210 E Street Northwest.

Fine Wines and Liquers.

LUNCH Pure Dairy Lunch,

935 D St, nw.

Barber Colleges.

One of the many matters in which organized labor is interested which will come before the state legislature is the bill providing for the licensing of barbers, a bill by the way, on which the master barbers and the journeymen are a unit The proposed law is similar to that which has been enacted in several other States, notably Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri, Washington, and Nebraska.

The one evil more than all others which barbers are forced to fight is the pernicious barbers' schools, numbers of which are springing up throughout the country and which offer to teach the barber trade in eight weeks for a nominal sum, generally $50. There is no reason why the old fashioned period for learning this trade should be reduced. The Journeymen Barbers' Union requires an apprenticeship of not less than three years.

Here is a good discription of one of these barbers' schools, against which this bill is directed: The room is about 200 feet long by 12 or 15 feet wide. A stand running through the center of the room like a horse trough was used as a workstand. They claimed that 260 students were at work in the room. No charge was made for shaving and Toledo, Ohio.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Table board, $18 per month, at 810 New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O. MRS. M. T. WORK.

A Strong Union Town.

Alton, Ill., in proportion to its size, is probably the strongest citadel of organized labor in the country.

Out of less than 3,500 voters 2,500 are trades unionists. There are thirtythree unions, and twenty-seven of these were organized by one man who four years ago moved into the community from St. Louis.

He is Joseph Giles, a printer by trade and an accredited organizer for the American Federation of Labor. It is while working at his case that he has found time to make Alton the model city in industrial organization.

The trades which he has formed into urions are the bricklayers, the carpenters, the painters, the decorators, the brewery workers, the bartenders, the boot and shoe workers, the butchers, the bakers, the electrical workers, the hod carriers, the laborers, the mining Allied Printing Trades Label. tool workers, the plasterers, the plumbers, the quarry workers, the retail clerks, the stone masons, the stationary engineers, the stationary firemen, the teamsters, the tinners, the clay workers, the powder mill workers, the tailors, and the unskilled laborers.

While Giles' genius for organization is remarkable, the conditions which he found in Alton when he went there were favorable for his undertaking. There was already a union of glassblowers 500 strong, whose national organization is credited with being the strongest in the world.

Such a successful organization was in itself calculated to recommend trades unionism to other workers, and they readily enough fell into line when Giles 11. H. E. WILKENS PRINTING CO., 719-721 Thirteenth street northwest. 12. THE MAURICE JOYCE CO., Evening Star Building. appeared to lead them.

There have been several results from There have been several results from this wholesale organization of the town. 14. PRICE'S BINDERY, 628 Louisiana avenue northwest Better wages, fixed hours for work and a systematic method for settling disputes are credited to it. The difference in earnings has been all the way 18. THOMAS P. MOORE, 623 F street northwest, from 10 to 50 per cent. The smallest wages paid in any branch now is the $1.50 for a day's work of eight hours on 20. THAYER & KATES, 511 Fourteenth street northwest. the city streets. Teamsters are getting 22. J. L. PEARSON, Ninth and D streets northwest. $2.40 a day.

tion of all the unions in a central body the above firms and Unionists the city known as the trades assembly, which, over will reciprocate. when any dispute arises, treats with For further information address employers and satisfactorily averts a strike.

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur. The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor

| NAME.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | BUSINESS.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LOCATION.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Haines' Southeast Store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Department store                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Eighth and Penna. avenue s.e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Ceenan Bros                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Gents' furnishers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n. v                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 3. Solomon                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Gents' furnisher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 708 Seventh street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Rufus H. Darby                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Printer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 508 Fourteenth street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| I. L. McQueen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Printer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1108 E street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 1011 Penna. avenue n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| L. Gundershiemer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Baker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 516 Second street n.w. and stallin Center Market.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| eter Grogan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Carpet dealer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 817 to 823 Seventh street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| . Mangan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Horseshoer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | L street, bet. 16th and 17th n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| ohn H. Fitzgerald                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Horseshoer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 443 Prather's alley n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| S. S Daish                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Coal and wood                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Florida ave and Third st. n.e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Wilbur F. Nash                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Meat dealer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Center and O st. Markets.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| E. Hencke                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Electrician                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 711 G street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| heets & Miller                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Electrician                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 804 E street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| ames A. Bennett                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Tinner                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 2008 H street n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| ouis A. Dieter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Paperhanger and decorator.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 9 F street northwest.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| National Mosaic Company                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Mosaics                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 207 Fourth st. n.w.914 F st. and 803 Market Space                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Grosner                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Clothing                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1343 F st. n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A. H. McGhan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Painter and contractor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 817 E st. n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Minster                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Gents' furnisher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 499 and 501 Penne ave. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| charles Walters                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Carriage Builder                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Fourteenth and D streets n.w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| . Markward                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Contracting painter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 609 G street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| yrus B. Reese                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Employing steamfitter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1519 Fourteenth street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| . A. Schneider & Sons                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Union Iron Works                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 212 Twelfth street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Boston Steam Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | First and G streets n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| olman Steam Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Laundry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 491 to 499 C street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Vash. Traction & Electric Co                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Street Railway                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | City and Suburban Lines.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| finster & Paterson                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Gents' furnishers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| he Famous                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Gents' furnishings                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 437 Seventh street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| has. A. Muddiman & Co                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Gas fixtures                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| oseph Mathey                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Stove dealer and tin worker.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1918 Pennsylvania avenue n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| . S. Reavis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Tin, stove, cornice works                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 715 Second street n. e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| . Molnoti                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Stone works                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | First and M streets n. e.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 'almer, S. C                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Bottler                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1066 Thirty-second street n. w.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| MINI DOLLARS HARRY CANELLY                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | THE PARTY OF THE P |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE | AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER, THE OWN | AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PARTY OF |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Number of Carpent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | ere Extrac                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | ordinary Precaution.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

the waiting customers were a sight journal of the United Brotherhood of which can only be recalled by a rogue's Joiners of America says that the total fuss getting upstairs last night. gallery. The stench was almost un- membership of the organization in the bearable and dirt and filth were most United States and Canada is 94,000. prominent everywhere. One attendant There are 952 Locals, distributed as folacted as teacher for these 260 students, lows: Alabama, 21; Arizona, 1; Arwho were to become expert workmen kansas, 7; California, 36; Canada, 33; in eight weeks. If five minutes' time Colorado, 15; Connecticut, 20; Delawas given to each student once a day ware, 2; District of Columbia, 1; it would require 22 hours of actual Florida, 13; Georgia, 19; Idaho, 2; work on the part of the attendant to Illinois, 97; Indiana, 37; Indian Terrisee them all. As they only worked 10 tory, 2; Iowa, 17; Kansas, 11; Kenhours and as they were certain hours tucky, 13; Louisiana, 7; Maryland, 2; in the day when there were no cus- Maine, 7; Massachusetts, 65; Michigan, tomers, it can safely be stated that the 26; Minnesota, 6; Missouri, 17; Montime allotted each student did not aver- tana, 9; Nebraska, 3; New Jersey, 47; age one minute per day, a total of 40 New Hampshire, 4; New Mexico, 2 minutes during the full eight weeks. New York, 137; North Carolina, 11; Can any living man learn a skilled Ohio, 53; Oklahoma, 5; Oregon, 3; trade in 40 minutes?-Labor Union, Pennsylvania, 83; Rhode Island, 5 South Carolina, 12; South Dakota, 2; Tennessee, 3; Texas, 40; Utah, 2; Vermont, 5; Virginia, 11; Washington, 9; West Virginia, 8; Wisconsin, 16; Wyoming, 1.

BIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, FEB. 3.

JOHN KERNELL

CAITA

HARDING and AH SID

NELLIE BURT and HER PICKANINNIES M'LLE OLIVE

-AND THE

Ladies' Matinee every Friday. No Smoking Allowed.

Charles The County The following publishing houses are legally authorized to use the Allied

Trades Union Label:

1. THE LAW REPORTER, 518 Fifth street northwest. 2. THE TRADES UNIONIST, 441-443 G street northwest.

3. GLOBE PRINTING CO., 341 Pennsylvania avenue northwest 4. THE ALONZO BLISS CO., 39 B street northwest.

5. THE COLUMBIA PUBLISHING CO., 518 Twelfth street northwest

7. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.,
628 Louisiana avenue northwest.
8. JUDD & DETWEILER,
420 Eleventh street northwest.

9. GEORGE E. HOWARD & CO., 305 Tenth street northwest

13. NATIONAL ENGRAVING CO., 508 Fourteenth street northwest

15. JOHN F. SHEIRY.
413 Ninth street northwest. 16. T. J. McCORMICK, Rooms 25-27 Atlantic Building.

19. BUNCE, PRINTER, Sixth and Louisiana avenue.

But perhaps the greatest benefit to ized Labor should have the Label on the community comes from the affilia- all printing done for them. Patronize

A. THOMAS CAMPBELL,

1012 Twenty fifth Street, N. W.

Witherby-That's strange. I never

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

used so much care in my life.

Trades Unionist.

Union Directory.

TO SECRETARIES: Please notify this office of of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly

American Federation of Labor-Headquar ters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'l Gompers, President, Frank Morrison, Secretary.

Morrison, Secretary.

International Association of Machinists,
Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building,
Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James
O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson,
vice-president and editor of the Journal;
George Preston, Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday
evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple.
C. E. Dietrich, Secretary, 425 G street northwest. Residence, 1061 street northwest.

Allied Printing Trades Council meets leat

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest. Amalgamated Association of Street Rail way Employees of America, Division No. 161 meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight atternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street north

Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, Branch 747, meets every other Mon-day evening, Hotel Royal, 7th and N streets northwest. Fred Hook, Secretary, 1229 I street northeast.

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Vorkmen, Local No. 148, meets second and urth Thursday evenings at 922 Pa. avenue prthwest. Geo. Bakersmith, Secretary, 3315 rightwood avenue northwest. Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Loca

Thursdays at 609 C street northwest. M. I. Ashe, Secretary, 935 Florida ave. northwest. BIJOU BURLESQUERS

40—STRONG—40

Bakers Union, No. 118, meets first and third Saturday in each month at 430 Eighth street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street southwest.

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third 'hursday evening of each month at Costello's Hall, 610 G street north-west. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meet first and fourth Sunday of each month at 2 p.

m. at Macabee Temple, 513 Ninth street northwest. Jere F. McCarthy Secretary, 1017
Maryland avenue southwest,
Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No.
234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast.
A D. Monger, Segretary, 208 Teach

A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tues day in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North

Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall. 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer, Secretary, 245 North Capitol street.

Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom, Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest, H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers, Local Union, No. 368, meets every Friday night at 430 Eighth street north-west. G. J. Murray, Secretary, 507 10th st. s.w. Carriage and Wagon Workers' International Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor. Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jersey avenue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. Charles G. Myers, Secre-tary, 605 E. street southeast Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C street northwest William L. Hageman, Secretary, northwest. William L. Hage 1007 Fourth street southeast. Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers

Local Union, No. 12, meets second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at Bieligk's Hall, 787 Seventh street northwest. William Keith, Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast. All who are in sympathy with Organ- Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bieligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists. meets first and third Wednesday of each month in McCauley's Hall 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthuu H. Chase, Secretary, 201 C street northwest. Columbia Typographical Union meets third | Sunday in each month in Typographical Temple 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett, Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway ('armen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker, Secretary, 939 G street southwest.

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, U.S. Proposed and Steam Engineers, U.S. Proposed and Sounds Wednesday I. S. U. E., meets second and fourth Wednes-days of the month at 609 F street northwest. J. W. Webb, Secretary, 341 Maryland avenue

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets fourth Saturday of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Miss Emma G. Miller, Secretary, 1011 First street n. w. Fire Department Employees P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a.m., at Union Veterans' Hall. 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. O. B. Kelly, Secretary, 24 5 H street northwest.

Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, Branch No. 68. Alexandria, Va. Frank Michelba Secretary, 1808 Duke street Alexandria, Va U. S E., Hoisting and Portable, Local 77

Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No. 8097, meets first and fourth Saturday nights of each month at Masonic Hall. Anacostia, D. C. C. W. Teates, Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia. Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers'

Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory, 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec-retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No 5, meets every Friday night at Seventh and N streets northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1212 Potomac street northwest. International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 26, meets ever Tuesday night at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre tary, 200 E street northwest.

Haternational Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. G F Mc-Bride, Secretary, 1005 Tenth street northwest. International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Wednesday night at Eighth and D streets northwest N. A. James, Secretary, 3612 O street north-

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Set ters' Association. No. 8855, meets first and third Tuesday nights of each month at 95: Pennsylvania ave. northwest. C. W. Magill Secretary. 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers— Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Re-cording Secretary, 355 C street southwest. Iron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, meet 10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvanic avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secre-tary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest.

Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meets first and third Wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest. Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17 meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. C. Lynch, Secretary, 955 Florida avenue northwest.

fourneyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary, 1312, Twentyninth street northwest.

Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters' Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. E. Casev. Secretary, 130 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161, meets every Sunday at 11 a.m., at 914 E street north-west. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest.

National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. F. D. Sturgess, Secretary, 511 Eleventh street northwest.

Negative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. W. L. Ashton, Secretary, 1212½ Eleventh street southwest.

Derative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meetiffs and third Friday evenings at Typo graphical Temple. 423 G street northwest Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of P. D., and P., meets every Tuesday evening, 609 C street northwest. C. L. Hickman, Sec-retary, 944 L street northwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast first and third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee, Sec-retary, 907 E street southeast. Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first Wednesday in the month at Typograpical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts, Secretary, Kensington, Md.

Pipe Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets ond and last Saturday of each month a Sixteenth street northwest. A. C. New Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street northwest Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets firs Saturday of each month at Typographic: Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. Georg M. Ramsey, Secretary, 1228 G street northeas Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macab

Temple, Ninth street northwest, the thir Tuesay in each month. John J. King, Secre tary, 717 Seventh street northeast Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of Columbia, meets second and fourth Fridays at Jolly Fat Men's Hall, 933 D street north-west. W. D. Kerfoot, jr., Secretary, 1034 Seventh street northwest.

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty-pographical Temple, 423 G street northwest J. Moser, Secretary, 926 Fourth street north-Steam Fitters, R. A. Lanis Association, L. B.

No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gaut, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 1516 Columbia street northwest. Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers,

Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Fri-day at 8 o'clock p. m., at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Thomas F. Flanagan, Secretary, 38 G street northeast. tone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first United Brotherhood of Carpenters and northwest, top floor. C. H. Sch tary, 936 Fourth street northeast. United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on

Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourth floor) Ninth street northwest. T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street

Washington Branch Granite Cutters' National Union, meets every fourth Mor in each month. at 1204 Pennsylvania ave northwest. Wm. Silver. Secretary, 49 Mar chusetts avenue northwest.

Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union No. 42, meets the first Thursday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street west. Eleanor C. Burges, Secretary, 1107 Park Place northeast.

Washington Lodge of Machinists, No. 193, meets first and third Tuesday evenings at southwest corner of Tweifth street and Penn-sylvania avenue northwest. C. G. Miller, Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest.

Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Monday night at Hare's Hall 404 Eighth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh street northwest.

Silver Medal

Heurich Brewing Co.

Heurich's Beers have competed with the world, and Maerzen and Senate were recognized by competent judges of the Paris Exposition as the purest of all malt and hop beverages. As a result of this rigid investigation, a silver medal was awarded to

HEURICH'S BEERS

for purity and excellence. Medal beer is on draught everywhere. Ask for it.

14th and D S. E.

Capacity 100,000 Barrels,

Public opinion goes a long ways towards the right way. That's why the National Capital Brewing Company's "DIAMOND" and "MUENCHENER" Beers have such enormous sale—because the public asks for them and will have them.

The Laboring Man-...

—is quick to appreciate "a good thing" and to avail himself of it. That's the reason that "CHAMPAGNE" and "CULMBACHER LAGER" is so popular with all the labor organizations.

Champagne Lager $1, Culmbacher $1.25 per Case of twentyfour bottles delivered. Write, or telephone 1293.

Washington Brewery Co., Fourth and F.N.E.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST. Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up. BANKERS.

UNION SAVINGS BANK The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave. BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS.

S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. CROCKER'S SHOES, 939 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

CIGARS. MCGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand. 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers. Tom Keene 5c. Cigar. Phone E 755.

COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER.

E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W. CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD. 477 and 209 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

DEY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W SMOOT, COFFER & MCCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO.

513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. ENGRAVERS. THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRAVING CO. Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W.

FIRE INSURANCE. FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave.

FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Felephone, 2180. FURNITURE AND CARPETS

JULIUS LANSBURGH, Interocean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W GAS FIXTURES. 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W

GROCERIES. Good things to eat." 1210 F St. N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS. S. H. HINES & CO... 1315 14th St. N. W. Phone, Main 1879 HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS, 1201 Pennsylvania Ave. B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats.

RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 522 10th St. N. W. HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN. 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

MARRWARE AND TOOLS.

LUMBER AND MILL WORK. THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Boilers. 8th and Water Sts. S. W. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE TOOLS.

JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS.

THE WASHINGTON POST. All the news. PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's), 418 7th St. N. W

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS. THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS E. F. DROOP & SONS. 925 Pennsylvania Ave. M. W.

PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN, Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter, Southeast Corner Second and H sts. PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER, 420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO Machine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM.

JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E TEAS AND COFFEES. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. 501 and 503 Seventh Street Northwest.

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W.

Eight Branch Stores.

TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND. WM. H. LIVERMORE, 101 H St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS.

THOMASICOLLINS, 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

JOHN MEINIKHEIM, 209 Seventh St. N. W. Opp. Center Market. WM. CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. N. W. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WILLIAM DIETZ.

NUF CED.

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 34.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Branch 747 Dropped.

RETAIL CLERKS' RESOLUTION

The Legislative Committee Makes Lengthy Report-Chair Names Suffrage Committee-Delegate Dietrich Reports on Letter Carrier Uniform Matter-Many Communications Received-Amendment to the Constitution Offered.

The regular meeting of Central Labor Union was called to order Monday evening, President Hamerstrom in the

One hundred and nine delegates, representing forty-one organizations were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Credentials were received from Bakers and Confectioners, No. 118, certifying Frank Sabatka, vice G. F. Harrold; Hospital Attendants' Protective Union, No. 8097, certifying John R. Hood, Charles Doran, H. M. Conrad, M. P. Griffin and A. W. Leonard; Painters and Decorators, No. 368, certifying E. Dement, vice G. J. Murray; Electrical Workers, No. 26, certifying

H. W. Sherman. A communication from Registered Drug Clerks' Association, calling attention to the fact that they had organized and are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the Central Labor Union, and requesting that the members of this body demand the clerk to show his card whenever they purchased anything from the druggists, was received and the request granted.

The Hospital Attendants' Protective Union, No. 8097, communicated relative to reduction in salaries the past three months, and requested this body to aid them to avoid further reductions. Matter referred to Grievance Committee.

The Retail Clerks communicated relative to the firm of the Castelberg Jewelry Company being again fair, and asked for the firm the patronage of union labor. Matter placed on file.

The Musicians also communicated in the same strain on above firm and same action was taken thereon.

The body was notified of the election of H. B. Anderson as secretary of Local No. 148, I. B. E. W. The communication was filed. communication from President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, stating that resolution No. efficient organization ment and protection. 89, introduced by the delegates from this body had been referred to the Legislative Committee, with the request that such action may be taken thereon as will best tend to attain the aiding the Fire Department Employes 821 North Capitol street, northeast. in securing, by legislation, a twelvehour day instead of twenty-four, as is now the case. A letter asking assistance from the Custom Clothing Makers' Union of America was referred to the Label Committee. The Legislative Committee, composed of Messrs. Spohn, Deitrich, for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast. Szegedy and McCracken, presented a very lengthy report upon the following

I. The draft of a bill authorizing certain improvements in the District of Columbia, and the anticipation of the revenues of said District on account

2. A bill to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States and territories. 3. A bill to provide homes and employment for the homeless poor. 4. A bill to amend the immigration laws of the United States. 5. A proposition that some of the war vessels provided for in the next appropriation bill be constructed in the navy Cap. and G. High Balls.

yards of the country. 6. For the irrigation of arid public

The measure classified as No. 1 provides for the appropriation of $7,500,000 of government funds and of the revenues of the District of Columbia, in equal parts, for constructing a filtration reservoir, completing a system of sewage disposal, reclaiming and parking the Anacostia flats, and erecting addi- Cap. and G. High Balls.

tional school buildings. It is provided TO BEAUTIFY THE CAPITAL commenting on the figures presented be to enormously increase the price of that during a period of thirty years from and after the fiscal year 1903, until the improvements are completed, one-Amalgamated Carpenters and Joiners the improvements are completed, one-half of the amounts advanced shall be charged to the District at 2 per cent per annum from the dates when such sums were advanced from the United States treasury, the same to be refunded in ASSESSMENTS IN OTHER CITIES the value of all Omaha, more than three efforts to "improve and beautify the GREAT BLAZE IN BRISTOL, TENN. thirty annual installments.

Delegate Deitrich reported that the special committee had called on Postmaster Merritt in reference to having the union label on letter carriers' uniforms, and that Mr. Merritt would do whatever the letter carriers requested in the matter. He further reported that the committee would visit the letter carriers in the near future.

The chair announced the committee of one from each organization to further suffrage in the district.

The secretary read a letter from the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, which had been laid on the table until Feb. 3.

Delegate Feeney moved that the matter be taken from the table and acted larging its sewerage system, extending the present rate here. The fact is that those who enjoy the common proupon. Carried.

not deny the right of the Central Labor facilities by the erection of a sufficient Union to expel them.

of Carpenters and Joiners be stricken the erection of a municipal building from the roll of the Central Labor large enough to take in all branches of Union, and the support of this body the District government. be withheld from them until such time as they comply with the request of the central body. Carried.

The secretary was directed to notify all parties having contracts with Central Labor Union that the Amalgamated Carpenters and Joiners were no longer connected with this body. Delegate Manning offered the following, which was adopted: Whereas, The history of the Retail Clerks throughout the world has been but the record of constant struggle against oppression; and

WHEREAS, These troubles have ers, and misunderstanding the true withstand all attacks, and that, without intelligent organization, we cannot acquire the discipline which enables us to not less than three times that amount ington against inequitable and unlawact together, concentrate our strength and direct our efforts toward the desired end, and also acquire the patience.

we pledge our united and individual support and co operation to the Retail Grocery Clerks in their effort to create ing the past twenty five years, or $500,- themselves in court by setting up the better conditions for the members of ooo,coo during that period. One dollar plea that there are burglars and higheir calling, and build up a strong and efficient organization for their advance was received, and, under the rule, laid given the people of the National Capital every other city in the country has its over for two weeks.

thereon as will best tend to desired result. This matter refers to first-class board, go to Mrs. Turner's, future generations.

Pan Roats, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

50c and 75c High Grade Neckwear, 39c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Sts. N. W.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window,

Pittsburg Pressmen.

ing officers were elected: President, with the "deferred" payments on perganizer, John J. Dolan; correspondent the erection of greatly needed school disposal will make life in the District pictures, dog and monkey circus, and tage of history bequeathed to us by our to American Pressman, R. L. Smith .-Labor Tribune.

Batwings, Butterflies. Shield Bows, Imperials, Scarfs, and Four-in-Hands, Tanzer's, 7th and N Streets N. W.

STATIONERY.

Writing Paper in white and the latest tints -from 10 cents to $1.50 a box. at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N.

By What Method Shall the Necessary Funds Be Raised?

Taxes or Rent a Sufficient Amount to Supply the Public Needs.

By what method shall the necessary revenue be raised to meet the expense of the contemplated "extraordinary municipal improvements?

There appears to be no division of sentiment as to the propriety and necessity of increasing and purifying the District's water supply, improving and enits streets and avenues, enlarging its Delegate McKay stated that they did park area, increasing its educational number of school houses to give every Delegate Feeney then moved that child in the District a full day in school

> The only question on which the peotake issue with the Congressional District Committee is as to the best and increased revenue necessary to meet $11 84; in Chicago, $12.80. the expense of the improvements above enumerated.

during the past twenty-five years will discover that the taxes have not only classes of property has almost wholly escaped taxation; that personal prop-Causes of oppression; and Whereas, Unity, guided by intelligence is a source of strength that can at about $10,000,000 per year—about $250,000,000 in twenty-five years—while property a year escaped taxation dur- lars and highwaymen cannot justify and fifty cents per hundred on that waymen in other cities, nor can the $7,500,000, a sum sufficient to have selves behind the well-known fact that all of the contemplated "extraordinary" full quota of tax dodgers. improvements years ago, and that, too, second story, front room, well furnished, property during the past twenty-five value of that class of property. in a private family, with heat and gas; years has averaged $132,083,562. An At a recent meeting of the Board of additional assessment of twenty-five Trade a resolution was adopted opposper cent on one-half of this property ing the bill now before Congress to tax would have increased the District's personal property or any other bill pro-At the last meeting of Pittsourg, Pa., revenues about $248,000 a year, $6,200,- posing to tax such property.

dying rich. require more than ordinary intelligence property of the District." to "discover the tax dodger."

ington, Chicago, Detroit, New Orleans, ent system of taxation, the Star said :

show that in 1890 the assessed and increased value, due entirely to the taxed fraction of Washington (less than growth of the community, goes to the one-half the entire area, the govern- land syndicates and speculator's. And ment owning the exempted remainder) this is the principal reason why certain was assessed at more than seven times persons are making such strenuous times the value of all Indianapolis, 75 National Capital." All that the people per cent more than the value of all the will get out of the deal under the pres-The Tax on Land Values Exclusive of Im- great city of Cleveland, and ten millions ent unjust and inequitable system of provements the Only Just and Equitable more than two-thirds of the assessment taxation will be an opportunity to pay System of Taxation-The Community of Chicago, with its vast area, more a largely increased price for the land. Creates Land Values and Should Take in than a million inhabitants, and its A large and rapidly increasing numnumerous costly buildings and fine resi- ber of people in this and all other civil-New Orleans, and 43 per cent more only just method of taxation, and be than that of Milwaukee.'

it makes no difference to a community perty should bear the common burdens be raised by taxation whether it has a primary cause of the monstrous inequal apolis, $10.49; in Allegheny City, $9.04; sally recognized by the veriest savages the patience to thoroughly investigate of real estate. Their grievance is that over their fellows. And so some are the system of taxation in this District the most valuable land and buildings gorged, while some go hungry and more are assessed very much lower, on the is wasted than would suffice to keep all basis of value, than other property, and in luxury." been unjustly and inequitably levied, that the city has thereby been deprived forced upon the District a most "deplorable financial condition."

The complaint of the people of Washwhich enables us to wait for the results, therefore, be it Resolved, By the Central Labor Union of the District of Columbia, that Union of the Union jority of the owners of such property figures to prove that which needs no been as honest and conscientious as proof whatever-that is, that there are reasonable; 451 G street northwest. tax dodgers in other cities besides enormous sum would have produced Washington tax dodgers shield them-

The Board of Trade, the Business If you want to get a warm lunch or without throwing the burden on the Men's Association and the numerous Citizen's Associations are bitterly op ance to the committees having the But this is not all. In flagrant viola- posed to the enactment of a personal tion of law, one-half of the real prop- property tax law, and many of their erty-land and improvements--of the members believe that the increased District has been assessed, on the basis revenue needed should be raised by of true value, at from twenty-five to increasing the tax on land values, for on naming the three cub lions. This fifty per cent less than the other half. the reason that the contemplated im-The assessed value of this class of provements will materially increase the Dalton; secretary-treasurer, F. G. enabled our rulers to have made all Board's committee on taxation and as-Yentsch; recording corresponding sec- necessary and desirable municipal im- sessment, said that "the direct result retary, Edwin M. Joyce; sergeant-at- provements, but would have left a nest of putting up a municipal building would Held, Joseph Lewis, and J. White; or- which might have been expended in around it. Water filtration and sewage houses and a much more commodious more pleasant and increase the value of free public library than the city will land. Improvements of streets and Cold Feet? Two pair mixed Wool Hose for 25c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Sts. can citizen, who is making desperate crossings will make life in the District efforts to escape the "disgrace" of more pleasant and increase the value of land. That is what should bear the From the above figures it does not burden of this tax and not the personal

It is conceded by all persons who On January 31, the Star, under the have given this question enough attenhead of "Tax Dodging," and above tion to form an intelligent opinion that the words, "from these figures discover the whole financial benefit which acthe tax dodger," printed a tabular crues from the growth of the commustatement showing the population and nity and the improvement of the city Corner First and H Streets Northwest. assessed value of real estate in Wash- goes to the land owners under the pres-

Milwaukee, and Cleveland in 1890. In The effect of opening Thirteenth, be to enormously increase the price of "The latest available census figures land on and between said streets. This dences, 16 per cent more than that of ized countries favor a tax on land Detroit, 40 per cent more than that of values, exclusive improvements, as the lieve, with Henry George, that "the The other very important figures not way to make land common property is printed in the Star show that the rate simply to take rent for the common of taxation in 1890 in all the cities benefit," and that, to do this, "the easy named was very much higher than in way is to abolish one tax after another Washington. The rate in Cleveland until the whole weight of taxation falls was $2.93, in Omaha, $5 61, in Chicago, upon the value of land, * * * the $6.42, and in Washington $1.50 on $100, just system recognized for centuries, when a certain amount of money is to * * * Private property in land is the high assessment and a low rate, as in ities which are developing in modern Washington, or a low assessment and society. * * * The squalid poverty the name of the Amalgamated Society during the whole school season, and a high rate, as in Cleveland, Omaha, that festers in the heart of our civilizaand Chicago. For comparison of tax tion, the vice and crime and degradaburdens the fairest figures are those tion and ravening greed that flows from showing per capita tax levy. In 1890 it, are the results of a treatment of land the tax levy per capita in Washington that ignores the simple law of justice, a ple are divided among themselves and was $10.75; in Omaha, $7.98; in Indian- law so clear and plain that it is univerin Cleveland, $11.17; in Milwaukee, What is by nature the common birthmost equitable method of raising the $11.65; in Newark, $11.21; in St. Louis, right of all we have made the exclusive property of individuals; what is by The people of Washington cannot natural law the common fund, from reasonably complain of the rate of tax- which common wants should be met, Any person who has the time and ation or of the total assessed valuation we give to a few that they may lord it

If the people of Washington really dearisen almost entirely from lack of unity and confidence in each other as worktled, and that this "tax dodging" has tem of taxing land values, exclusive of has been no other equitable system yet devised.

E. W. OYSTER.

coll's, N. Cap. and G

FOR RENT. - Fully Furnished Rooms second and third floor front. Rent Payne, "Andy" Jackson, "Light Horse

THE ELK'S CARNIVAL.

The Attendance Demonstrates That It Is an Assured Success.

The throngs that have visited nightly the Midwinter Carnival of the Elks a Convention Hall, beginning Monday, February 3, and still in progress, is a first class indication that the Washington public know when they have a good thing, and also by their appreciation and attendance give ample assurmatters in charge that their efforts are

One of the unique methods to create a little enthusiasm is a voting contest contest will begin next Monday.

The nightly program affords diversion and pleasure for any person no matter how fastidious his or her taste.

group of full grown performing lions, Captain Steve Lawrence in his lion hunt act, Madame Pauline Devere and their dreams in sleep profound and pos-Pressmen's Union, No. 64, the follow- ooo in twenty-five years. This sum, In the course of some very forcible her group of pumas and leopards, the John Powell; vice-president, E. J. sonal property, would not only have Jackson H. Ralston, a member of the Japanese and Chinese performers, relies eternal—and the bent and trend of a fined equestrianism, aerial artists, the free people's life must live forever!q "Crystal Maze," "Moorish Palace," Country Store, "Electro," the maid of dust, and sweat, and drunk, let us stoparms, George Thomas; trustees, Aug. egg in the shape of a million or two, be to increase the value of land all the air, "Prismatic Phantasma," the amoment from our fun making and many other features are among the at- valliant forefathers. tractions.

> in the laudable purpose of replenishing that it was "impossible to move a step the charitable fund of the order and without feeling convinced that the irregets their money's worth besides. The sistible, progressive march of nature admission is 25 cents for adults and 10 requires an immense population to culcents for children under twelve years tivate some day this large extent of of age. The carnival is open daily groundlying idle now, indeed, but only from I to 5 p. m., and 7 to II p. m.

> private family $15 per month; also fur- good year of grace, the most celebrated nished room for two; near G. P. O. English statisticians are writing articles 819 New Jersey avenue, northwest.

$2.25 Derbys and Flanges in all latest shapes, $1.65. Tanzer's, 1300 7th N. W.

PATRIOTISM ON RAMPAGE!

Colonel Slack, of Specifications, as Orator of the Day.

Reference to the Early Patriots Stirs the Hearts of the Sturdy Mountaineers, and Meution of the Great American Eagle is the Signal for Tumultuous Demonstra-

Col. C. H. Slack, now employed on Specifications, was for years associated as editor and publisher of the Bristol, Tenn.) Courier. On the occasion of the celebration of the Fourth of July, 1895, Slack was selected as orator of the day, which, according to the programme before us, was the greatest of all days in the history of Bristol. We here produce the Colonel's speech, as reported for the Courier, and which is entitled "Slack's Spasm"

My fellow fourth of-julyers:

It is worth a dollar to any man who likes fun to be alive now a-days. Fortunately, most fortunately, indeed, none of us had to pay in advance-or show our poll tax receipts! So, we are all here, and we are glad of it! There may be better people than we are-but we have never seen them!

As a matter of fact, and not as a piece of startling news, I feel impelled to announce to you that Washington, George Washington, the father of his country is dead! Yes, George is dead. Thomas Jefferson the formulator of the Declaration of Independence, has gone to his long home. Benjamin Franklin, the editor, philosopher and friend, is over on the other side of the river. Tom Paine, the patriot thinker and writer (the football of ecclesiastical scrubs and ignoramuses), who had more brain and did more effective writing that any man who lived in those days that tried men's improvements, is near at hand, for there souls, has crossed the portals where the darkness greets the dawn! Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett, the great Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Dris- pioneers, are enjoying an eternal scout in the happy hunting grounds. Yes, sirs, Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Harry" Lee, Boone and Crockett all 'sleep beneath the low, green tent whose curtains never outward swing." "Princess Delaware" and her large They are dead, buried, and all but forgotten! But their spirits stalk abroad and the immortal ideas that haunted

In the midst of this summer day's "German Village," Edison's moving money loving to recall the glorious heri-

More than a hundred years ago, the In attending this carnival one assists French fugitive Talleyrand declared wants the hand of man to produce TABLE BOARD.—Good table board in everything in abundance." And, in this in which they frankly declare that WE. ARE THE PEOPLE. The population

[CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

A. J. E. HUBBARD .....

E. W. PATTON .....

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - $1.00 Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C., as Second-Class Matter.

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as by the various locals connected with the two

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.

-JOHN WANAMAKER. Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known -FRANKLIN.

ALL consistent Union men take THE TRADES UNIONIST and pay for it.

WE are in receipt of the official program of "Our New Minister," given by Bartenders' Union, No. 136, of Norwich, N. Y. First of all we notice it bears the Allied Printing Trades Council Label. The ad. display is very good and it was printed at Binghamton, N. Y. Why does it not bear the label of the Norwich Typographical Union?

Our Sentiments, Too.

The telling rebuke to the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu, by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, when, before the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House, while stating his reasons why the working men of this country demanded the reenactment of the Chinese exclusion law, on Monday last, can not help but find ready response in the bosom of every American workingman. So good is the same that we here quote:

"I resent the sneering remark of a foreign diplomat that I am an agitator, or a labor agitator, or that the laboring people of this country who are endeavoring to protect themselves from Chinese labor are agitators.

"I deny the right of a representative of a foreign government addressing himself to an official of our government and referring to American citizens by ticularly when such reference is of a derogatory character.

"The Chinese minister is treated in this country with every becoming courtesy, and he has no right to make in-Upon behalf of the laboring men of repeat that I resent these remarks on the part of the Chinese minister."

Striving for Better Conditions.

The struggle for shorter hours is one The contention is made that an exces- hands, or at better wages. sive tax upon the physical energies is not only a detriment to the individual mere beast of burden to be whipped cup drained to its bitter dregs. and spurred to greater activity for the sake of gain with no reference to com-or corporation who grudgingly yields such a motto naturally excited curiosity to the slightest appeal and is rarely the and Pollock and his touring companion first to suggest a vantage point in the concluded to pay their respects to the economy of physical energy, the forces editor and look the plant over, for they of organized labor are too often con- harbored the idea that their efforts fronted by the orthodox irterpretation | would be rewarded by the price of one which seeks rather to impress the meal at least. They found the editor workers with a sense of dependence and in his easy chair, as free from care as councils submission to a condition editors are. He received them gladly which, while it is to be regretted or deplored, might be worse. It requires little courage for ministers of the Gospel to stand in their places and cry out against Sabbath breaking, but they are few and not often heard who are courageous enough to advocate a shorter work day for those who find little time for recreation on any one of the six days of the week and who are not easily attracted to places where matters of practical life with an allowance of comfort find scant consideration. But the shorter work day will finally embrace all the workers, in spite of these untoward influences, and all as the result of organization!

The influences of the forces at work throughout the country is here reflected by members of Congress in their ready acceptance and advocacy of the various measures of restraint and relief.

AFTER-DINNER DILATIONS.

If thy son offend thee give him a snow-shovel.

When the ground hog sees his shadow the coal dealer begins to hope there is something in the old saying.

Mr. Gompers' kindly criticism of the Chinese minister should have the effect he was before in doubt he may now know that the seats in the rear are not vet all taken.

civil service order the number amounted tempting and most enjoyable feasts to several of those who soon had dand- he ever stood up before and that neither ruff on their shoulders and coat-collars. he nor his partner were once inclined and the man with a grievance is in search of something appropriate.

The wife should carry her own pocketbook, and to equalize the burden, the husband should carry his.

Many a soul is serving a weary life entence not imposed by judicial auth-

The tear that rests in the shadow may contain the greater sorrow.

The startling recommendation is made by one William Melican providing pathy." for the legal killing of all workingmen over forty-five years of age who are unable to support themselves. In this scheme I find a very grave objection.

Some people really believe that Admiral Schley fought and won the battle of Santiago, and we might think that the Admiral is of the same opinion only that he is so reticent.

junior weather prophet who ventured Club. Don't miss it. name in such a matter as this, and par-to predict a blizzard, due sometime this month. He produced no map or dent of the "C. L. C.," is wearing out diagram, but simply talked through the bags on Slug 117. his bones.

There is yet room on the register for sinuations upon American citizens. those rich of purse who, on the side, admit that U. S. Senators should be this country, whom I represent as elected by direct vote, but who in their president of the Federation of Labor, I heart of hearts realize that they would game of checkers. We will pass it up, not stand a ghost of a show if Senators as we are not on to that kind of moves were chosen that way.

of the experiences of organized labor. before did he employ so many hired cently.

who yields to the extortion, but experipassing of the hat to garner the idle T. E. Melvin, J. D. Gustin, and J. B. ence has demonstrated that the em- dollars and dimes laid aside by the G. McElroy. ployer is likely to find profit in the toilers for a loving cup to be placed at reasonable suggestion which provides the feet of Andrew Carnegie, the steel for the husbanding of strength to do well king and benefactor; and as labor is in a fewer number of hours that which first to respond to the testimonial it too often is accomplished under strain should have something to say when or by sheer exhaustion. Work, to be designs are called for and the inscripenobling and to carry with it the bless- tion is suggested. There is a wide ings intended, should be relieved as field of facts presented in this entermuch as possible of the exactions which prise, and not a rail should be left un. well they might. In old times the gas place the worker in the category of a turned to give it the appearance of a was bad enough, and the lights now

While in a reminiscent mood recently, fort or allowance of hours for rest and Pollock related to me an incident of the timekeeper passes. He is anxious recuperation. In the strife which has his earlier days as a tourist, which was, for over-time, so he looks sorrowful for its single purpose the amassing of by the way, about his first offense. In from 3 o'clock until time is called; fortunes the chariot of greed has gone the little town of Tennille, Ga., there then he waits until all are gone and axle deep in the rut of precedent, which was published a weekly paper known runs all the way home. began with long hours and continued as the Tennille Error, which flew at Z. L. Jenkins, of the Night Bill Force, because of precedent to the hour when its mast head, the following beautiful is a member from the Proof Room, and organized labor entered its protest. sentiment: "If you don't like it pour is an able reviser. What he does not and extended to them the hospitality of standing room and heard their plea for something to satisfy the inner man. With genuine candor he admitted his inability to set them to work, and made a show down by drawing from his wellworn jeans a bunch of keys and the short end of a pencil as an object lesson and in proof of a depleted treasury; but he was a man of heart and not without credit at the corner store, and so excusing himself he departed only to return quickly, bearing in his arms a burden of crackers, some cheese, and to cause Mr. Wu to guide right, and if some well assorted smoked herring, and spreading them out upon the writing the little brown jug and bade them "take out" to suit themselves. Pollock After reading the President's last declares that it was one of the most The valentine season approaches, the two "jumped" a freight for Atlanta.

Night Bill Force

H. W. Templar is a sweet singer. Eddie Boy Ryan is a swell without

C. B. Nelson got four bottles of medicine for 25 cents. A big meeting of the C. L. C. was held Monday night. H. Y. Brooke, of this force, is quite a favorite for delegate to Cincinnati. Barney Kleindienst, Slug 41, is doing a land office business at the "Sym-

Ed. Burkholder, strange as it may appear, is one of the smartest workers

He'll win sure. Edgar Wilberforce Hopkins is a great editor, but Ed. Burkholder is the best editor of the two. Frank Smith is billed for a speech at I was talking the other day with a the next banquet of the Knockers'

Joe Johnson, orator and next presi-

Thad Stevens is a candidate for delegate or President of the I. T. U. Shelby Smith, beware! C. H. Unger is out with his annual challenge to play any and all comers a

"Funny" Roberts gave a reception to the delegates from the Pacific Coast The bins of Uncle Sam's granary interested in Chinese exclusion at his were never so full as now, and never residence on New Jersey avenue re-

The following gentlemen came to work on this force this week: G. E. With some impatience we await the Locker, Harry E. Graves, Fred Fox,

Mr. Young, foreman of this division, has gone to the day force for a short while, taking the place of Mr. Spottswood. Mr. Ross is "boss" while Young away. Some of the compositors complain of the electric light as being poor; and are not much better. They are called "mock moons."

Lightcap is a funny sight every night

~~~~~~~~~~ FOR THE BEST --READY-TO-WEAR

> Man, Woman and Child

-FOR-

AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES.

CONSULT-

Parker, Bridget & Co., Washington's Leading Outfitters, . . .

Pa. Ave. and 9th St. N. W. $

much. He has handled and given out more learned and valuable copy than anyone living. The boys all speak in highest praise of him, and his agreeable manners make him a general favorite. Punchinillo.

Bindery Notes.

A prominent bookbinder named Meyer Cohen attended a bookbinders convention in New York. He claims he spent fifty dollars of his own money. Meyer never told a lie.

Bill Lang, better known as Calendar Bill, is now working evenings on the avenue in a five cent barber shop. Bill is first latherer. Give him a call.

At the last Union meeting, Messrs. Hedges and Randall, who are booked for the land of the rising sun Philippine Islands, was presented with two beauboard, he brought from its hiding place tiful fountain pens. Orator Albert Buehler made the presentation speech.

National Castle No. 279, Royal Highlanders, is an insurance organization and has met with great success in this city. It was organized by bookbinders and has a large and active membership. to pour any of it back. In the evening On last Wednesday night they held their smoker at Schmidt's Hall, 516 Ninth street, northwest. It was a grand success and well attended. The committee in charge was Messrs. Flanagan, Weidman and Nevins.

A musical and literary recital was given by a number of talented bookbinders to the nurses of the Garfield Memorial Hospital, on Thursday night last in the lecture room of the hospital. It was greatly appreciated by these women, who are ever ready to attend to the wants of the sick. The nurses made a very pretty picture in their regulation dress grouped together and encored every number on the program. The entertainers were: Messrs. Spellburg and Burkhart, guitar duets; tenor solos, Wm. B. Hyde; recitations, Wm. C. Connor; soprano solos, Messrs. C. McCormick (Hustling Mack) has a Howard, Fentress, Monologues and big start on the outsiders this trip. Funnyisms, Charles Weston; Comic songs, Wm. C. Connor.

Cow Boy.

AMANDA.

Amanda is my darling, I meet her ev'ry morning (When coons are hard to reach): I have but one objection Against my little lark-I miss her as companion At night-because she's dark.

O! Daughter of the Midnight, Heir to some dream'd-of throne: O! Shadow of the Moonlight-Knowing and yet unknown-Will thou, if I survive thee, Bequeath to me a treated a pair of mollusks For my boarding-house tough meat! Her orbs of light are beauties-

Yes, all that word implies-They perch 'neath her eye-lashes Like two great pumpkin pies; And when she has occasion To bring them into play, The power of her vision Knocks the stars from an X-ray.

La, la, a great attraction Of 'Manda is her lips; They'll cover a quarter section 'Tween top and lower tips; Some day at my disposal I'll get my old friend Jack To turn this black-muck oval To a dandy cycle track.

Amanda, sweet as honey, The duskiest maid about-Interior of a chimney: A coal mine inside out! I'll willingly obey you, I'll do whate'er you choose, If you'll consent to bury me In one of your old shoes!

Fifth Division, G. P. O.

A FRIEND GRANVILLE RYE

OF UNION MEN, QUIGLEY'S, 406 9th St. N. W.

Union Made Cigary ARMY & NAVY 10 AFTER DINNER 5¢ DEER HEAD Henry T.Offterdinger, Manufacturer 504 Ninth St., N.W.

The Typographical Mafia

BY SHELBY SMITH

SERIAL STORY

giving an accurate, impartial, interesting, and entertaining history of "The Brotherhood of the Union," "The Caxton League," "The Wahneta Association," "The K. K. Club," "The Kickapoos," and "The Circle of Ten." This history is a complete resume of the "inside" organization of the printers' union from 1868, the date of its inception in St. Louis, to 1900.

A statement from the author to the editor: "Every statement made can be proven in court if necessary."

This serial will appear exclusively in THE WESTERN LABORER com mencing March 1, 1902. Subscription $1.00. No subscription for less than one dollar will be received, and NO paper will be mailed to any subscriber in care of any newspaper or job printing office. Send all subscriptions by postoffice or express order to F. A. KENNEDY, WESTERN LABORER,

"Subscribe at Once and Avoid the Rush."

CORBYS

CORBY'S MODERN BAKERY

Bakers.

A Fair Product.

Made Under Fair Conditions The FIRST and only BAKERS in the United States to adopt EIGHT HOURS as a Day's Work for their

NOTHING BUT UNION MEN EMPOYED.

Mother's Bread Is Best!

Mother's Bread. Bakery 2355 Brightwood Ave.

Independent Oil

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN ALL

Grades of Refined Oils, Gasolines, LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.

Give us a Trial Order.

Office and Warehouse, 1st and Patterson Sts. N. E.

Telephone Main 2539.

The busiest spot in the busiest part of sown is the 8th and Market Space S. KANN, SONS & CO.

 To all Judges of Good

BREAD We recommend our Long Loaf "Grandma and Square Loaf "Old Homestead" Bread as being the Best in Town. Made only of Highest Grade Flour and Pure Ingredients by Skilled ORCANIZED UNION MEN. Be sure Bread bears our Label; others imitate it because it's good.

Boston Baking Co.,

119, 121, 123, 125, 127 and 129 First St. S. W. Foot of U. S. Capitol Grounds.

-VISIT-CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.

The Historic and Most Popular of Washington Resorts. . Everything the Best. Aside from the individual employer it back in the jug." Such a name and know about "proofs" isn't worth between the individual employer it back in the jug." Such a name and know about "proofs" isn't worth between the individual employer it back in the jug."

MRS. IRA C. McMILLAN, Select Oysters, Fried Chicken, Etc. s and organizations supplied in any quantity at Special Rates.

Tobacco and Choice Cigars. 1023 H Street N. E., S. W. Cor. 11th St. Help a good cause. Mention this ad. when calling.

Don't Buy a Hat Without the Label.. And See that It Is Sewed In.

Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has Loose Labels on Hand and Offers to Put One in Your Hat. LOOSE LABELS

> In Retail Stores ARE COUNTERFEITS.

The John B. Stetson Co., and Henry H. Roleofs & Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., are non-union concerns.

This publication is printed on paper

WHOLESALE

Paper and Stationery Dealers

627-629 LOUISIANA AVE. N. W.

Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 423 G ST. N. W. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.: 5 to 7 P. M. OFFICERS.

E. A. M. LAWSON..... WALTER V. SMITH Vice-President W. M. GARRETT..... .. Secretary Treasure JOHN R. BERG..... C. C. HIPKINS. D. E TYRRELL..... Sergeant-at-Arms .. Doorkeeper FRANK HART..... TRUSTEES-J. E. Bright, chairman; Joe M. Johnson, Charles W. Otis, E. A. M. Lawson, and W. M. Garrett. DELEGATES TO CENTRAL LABOR UNION-J. H. Babcock, chairman; F. N. Whitehead, C. E. Dietrich, C. W. Herzinger, and J. B. Dickman. DELEGATES TO ALLIED TRADES COUNCIL-C. E. Clark, chairman; Ira Taylor, and A. M.

Butler. AUDITORS-D. W. Fleming, chairman; J. W. Carter, and A. J. E. Hubbard. COMMITTEES.

BUSINESS-Frank A. Kidd, chairman; F. S. Lerch, G. A Meyer. W. N. Brockwell, and R. B. NOMINATIONS-H. O'Donnell, chairman; Matt Boucher.

L. Allison, Z. T. Jenkins, Mark Barnum, and Andrew Keiner. FINANCE-Andrew McGarraghy chairman;

T. C. Parsons, and H. D. Pryor. Bynum, and C. G. Morrison. GRIEVANCE-P. S. Steele, chairman; J. A.

Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank ENTERTAINMENT-Thomas L. Jones, chairman; Clint. O. Price, Geo. R. Boone, G. W. Harvel, Miss Carrie Whitehead, J. M. Weaver, and CONFERENCE—George F. Halsey, chairman; Daniel Hegarty, and Milo Shanks.

LIBRARY-T. A. Mapes, chairman; B. H. Ackert, and S. W. Taylor. LAWS-T. Frank Hall, chairman; C. H. Ennis, and James H. Miller. RELIEF-J. T. Maddox, chairman ; J. M. Lenhart and Hugh Reid. CHAIRMEN. First Division-Charles M. Sizer. Second Division-C. N. Travis. Third Division-Frank E. Wright. Fourth Division-Charles H. Gove. Fifth Division-R. A. Nelgner. Sixth-F. E. Burnside. Record-J. L. Clements. Job Room-Geo. B. Tallman. Record Clerks' Division-H. G. Brown. Night Bill Force-A. L. Huss. Night Proof Room-E. H. Thomas. Specification Room-W. L. Gutelius. Official Gazette-George Gerberich. Document Proof Room-Chas. T. Graff. Treasury Division-A. M. Allison. Interior Division-Wm. McHenry. State Division-Frank L. Manderfeld. Navy Department Division-Albert E. Ogg.

War Department Division—C. B. McElroy. Agricultural Division-Henry P. Slaughter. Library Division-H. V. Bisbee. Weather Bureau-B. J. O'Brien. Census-H. L. Shryock. Evening Star-Joseph C. Whyte. Morning Post-O. T. Pierce. Evening Times—William E. Dix Morning Times—Ed. Breidenstein. Law Reporter-H. C. Pool. Globe Printing Co.-H. R. Shields. Judd & Detweiler's-J. B. Stahl. Wilkens Printing Co.-T. N. Surguy. Pearson's-Henry W. Kottmann. National Publishing Co.—F. S. Rousseau. McGill & Wallace's—J. L. Fechtig. Byron S. Adams'-R. B. Boucher. Army and Navy Register-C. H. Draeger.

AROUND THE PRINTERIES

General Postoffice-Granville Harford.

Columbia Publishing Co. - W. F. Jones.

are about to take up a labor temple sion.

project.

Jerome K. Jones, editor of the Journal of Labor, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting our city this week.

When in want of neckwear of the latest pattern see "Mootzy" Benzler and his twenty five neckties.

It is rumored that the New York Sun keep up the boycott until officially cate to Cinciprosi notified.

WANTED-At this office a First-Class Advertising Solicitor. Good commission paid. Reference and experience required.

We regret to state the illness of a number of the children of J. L. (Cos.) Rodier, of the Times, and trust they may rapidly convalesce.

The question of delegates to the I. T. U. and local officers is beginning to agitate the minds of printers and many rumors are in the air.

of New York, was in the city last week officers. looking after the interest of his union in the copyright law now pending in Congress.

reported for work on the Night Bill begins to show signs of prosperity.

Force, Thursday night. This is the first time Mr. Crow has been in Washington in twenty-two years.

Charles J. French, of the First Diviwho has been confined at Sibley Hospital, with an attack of congestion of the lungs, is now much improved.

favor if you would call and make a self. Organizer settlement. "We need the money."

> The ground hog saw his shadow weeks more of winter.

When you want first-class job printing done by union men only, from com-UNIONIST a call. The only Eight-Hour Union printing office in Washington, D C. The label costs nothing gram of the evening. It is a handsome

Chas. T. Graff, one of our late delegates to the I. T. U, now employed in the Proof Room, is in Reading, Pa., where he will undergo an operation at PRINTING—Dan C. Vaughan, chairman; T.A. one of the hospitals in that city. We wish for him a permanent and speedy

Did you ask the clerk you last purchased of to show his union card? If not, do not let it occur again. Remember the larger the membership of our unions the more goods produced under fair conditions obtain a market; that in turn gives more employment to union labor.

Messrs. A. M. Forrester and F. A. Miller and wives, and Mrs. Fred. Powers leave New York, on February 15th, for Manila, Philippine Islands, the former gentlemen going to accept positions in the Government Printing Office there, and the latter to join her husband, who is the chief electrician in said establishment. They go by way of Suez Canal and will be about fifty. eight days on water, making a journey of half way around the globe.

Open at 4 A. M.

I will open my Cafe and Saloon on Tuesday morning at 4 a. m., December 3, 1901, and continue same during the session of Congress. Everything first Beer on draught. Nice hot lunch free. Hot lunch served at 11 p. m. Cooking to order. Your patronage solicited. JOHN E. BONINI,

727-729 N. Capitol street.

Third Division.

John Ross is laid up with a sprained wrist.

Dr. Trudgian is with us again, after a week's illness. James H. Heslet, postmaster, is now rated as a maker-up. A long while getting there, but appreciated.

weeks, suffering with la grippe.

ferred to a clerical position in the plank. The labor unions of Columbus, Ohio, Treasury Department from this divi-J. E. Colton, a recent arrival from

The Post has installed three new New Orleans in this division, is an exmachines—one head letter and two delegate, having represented New Or-We judge that Director Merriam, of the United States Census Bureau, has been thoroughly convinced that the G. P. O. can get out his census work. The boys naturally "eat" it up.

Col. William H. Bailey is with us again after a ten days' battle with the rheumatism. There is some talk of he will be a winner.

Frank E. Wright struck it rich on be. ing elected chairman. The chapel voted to pay him 5 cents per capita per month and he had three pay-days on his first union card to collect for. So, you see, our "noble chairman" is IT.

President Lawson and Secretary Gar-and amusement of an admiring conrett at the White House to call on President Roosevelt, and the interest mani fested by him in labor affairs generally. "Referendum" Sullivan, of Big Six No. 101 certainly has an able corps of

The many friends of William F. Schooler in the G. P. O. will be pleased to learn of his advancement in the gov-V. M. Hurley, of the Post, who unernment service to the position of storederwent an operation for appendicitis keeper and gauger in the Internal Revat Sibley Hospital, is reported as get- enue Department, by transfer from this ting along nicely and will soon be on office, and is located at Mt. Sterling, Ky. Mr. Schooler is also publishing a Mr. John Crow, of Philadelphia, Pa., weekly paper at Morehead, Ky., which Fourth Division.

Galvin's cocks are now rusticating in Ivy City.

Did you ever notice how the boys can sion of the Government Printing Office, pick the winners when they are not "on."

C. B. Yater is still confined at home recovering from his severe attack of We have on our books a number of pneumonia. He is able to be up, but unpaid subscriptions. If this means with his loss of flesh and a three weeks' you we would greatly appreciate the crop of whiskers he scarcely looks him-

George W. Harvel is the possessor of a fine souvenir presented to him by the Candlemas day, Sunday, late in the Order of Eagles at their benefit at the afternoon, but not too late, if the old National Theater, Sunday evening, each saw holds good, to notify Washington- performer receiving one. It is a ians that they may prepare for six leather folder containing an address of Ball, on his excellent piece of ingenuity signed by the officers of the order. The name of the recipient is printed in positor to customer, give The Trades gilt letters on the outside, being preceded by the name of the order as the donor. It also contains a neat prodesign and a fitting accompaniment to the enterprise shown by the committee in charge of that elaborate event.

> Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Fine fitting laundered Shirts, open or closed front, 73c. Tanzer's, 7th and N. STATIONERY.

A fine line of Box Paper and Tablets at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest.

Rooms and board can be had at 201 K St. N. E (corner of 2d street); convenient to Government Printing Office and H street cars.

Specification Notes.

Colonel Slack was transferred to the main office Proof Room last evening. One of Charley Warren's eyes offended him for nine days. He returned to work on Tuesday.

Miss Ella Wallace sought to mend her health this week by a sniff of the sea breezes at Atlantic City.

Among the papers of a Patent Office specification the patentee made clear his nativity and present whereabouts as and odiferous smells tantalize not the follows: "A Virginian by birth, a Carolinian by adoption, and a Missourian by d-d hard luck."

Doc. Hauer declared in one of his sittings he saw and heard a talking class. Pan Roast, 10 cents. Heurich's crow, which came out at regular intervals to disturb his slumbers. It required some effort to make him believe burg. He was an applicant for the that what he saw was but a cuckoo clock.

> room, employed by the Columbia Phoat Chicago, recently received a testi- will not have so much to say hereafter. monial of his worth by a raise of salary to $1,600. His wages two years ago, at the correspondent of the Fifth said an the time of beginning, was $2.50 per unkind word about Jerry and his poetweek.

Melick on pay days is not unlike the bust are also in dust, and a live crow is Martin N. Evans has shown up for crush of the maddening crowd of belated better than a dead song bird. Give york work after an absence of several passengers at the steamboat wharf on Jerry a chance; as yet he is young and the occasion of a cheap river excursion inexperienc d in ways imaginative, but John G Herndon has been trans. when every eye is focused on the gang- great on "fine work." He has the rest pressed for the enterprise shown by who recently wrote a sermon on "To-THE TRADES UNIONIST in its "royal bacco" seems to be jealous of your welcome" to Prince Henry, and the great faculties, as well as of the impormore because of the fact that the design tant future that is stored away for peoand artistic skill of Mr. Ball of this ple possessing such an abundance of chapel was recognized. Were it not for the fact that "Billy" is so modest I would voice the sentiments of his many friends by an urgent appeal for his consent to become a candidate for delegate this year. I may do it yet.

I would not for a moment rudely disturb the quiescence of that long line of patriots, who, on many a field of valor, have scored heavily, but with the least possible friction would I push the button which rings at the lodging place of "Pard" Bloomer, Javiay Ottinger, D. Eccles-iasticus, "Handy Andy," "Old Prog," "Adam Bugg," and a host of others whose names do not now appear. To the interested reader there is no an parent reason why the pick of the brood It is very pleasing to read the notices should not come off the roost and so in the daily press of the recent visits of earn a good honest living, to the profit

Tanzer's Special Brace, the most durable suspender made, 25c.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Table board, $18 per month, at 810 New Jersey avenue northwest. Convenient for lunch from the G. P. O. MRS. M. T. WORK.

Blow yourself and buy three fine Cambric Handerchiefs for 25c. Tanzer's. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

 SEE US NOW ABOUT THAT

Musical X=mas Present!

PIANOS FROM $150 UP.

Mandolins, Guitars, Etc. Terms to suit all.

Sanders & Stayman Co., 1327 F Street

PERCY S. FOSTER, MANAGER WASHINGTON WAREROOMS.

Observations.

Let me congratulate my friend, Billy thanks to the talent for their services, last week. Bravo, Bill; let us have Printing Office, met with a very painful more. Up to the times, boy.

> If "Cow Boy" is so anxious to know why I referred to book-binders as being devoid of sarcasm, all he has to do is to ponder over his own productions. Too much "Chuck" is as bad as "too much" Johnson.

That pet idea of Prof. Garner's, that monkeys can talk is verified at each session of Congress, when some Tom. Dick or Harry will raise the point that workingmen are overpaid. As the girl from Boston said, "Such an idea!"

Why should the spirit of mortal be proud,' I asked of an undertaker : Because he needs nothing but coffin and shroud," Quoth he, "for his hereafter."

It is time that this "succession" o foremen as Presidents of Columbia Union should be closed up. Among the rank and file we have a surplus of material that can fill the bill to perfection. My advice to all foremen looking for the presidency of the union is, "Go way, way back, and sit down," until called upon; then, as Dick Driscoll said, "Sit up," if necessary.

According to census reports just published, the Seventh Pennsylvania District is the sweetest region in the United States. Only one Simon-pure Dutchman is accredited to the whole district. This being the case, limburger sandwiches are not in demand, sweet breezes of that cold, bleak region. Everything is as "Grandma used to do.'

Mr, Parrott found Waterloo a Waterloo indeed, according to the Typographical Journal, when he antagonized the labor unions in that little postmastership of that town, but labor 'sat' upon him, and he fell by the A son of W. A. Marschalk of this way, a victim of their wrath. Let the good work go on. No. 349 is worthy of nograph Company, with headquarters a hearty cheer. Probably this Parrott

Among other things, I noticed that ical aspirations. Going to London for The eagerness of the symposium a comparison is very tiresome and farcrowd who congregate about I reasurer fetched. Those who are portrayed in of his life before him in which to make There was general appreciation ex- a hit. Keep on, Jerry; the gentleman "grey matter."

The other day, while looking at the 'beautiful' slowly descending and covering the highways with a mantle of purity, obscuring the footprints of the assassin and the pathways of the evil doer, the following gem flitted through my fertile brain: While Driscoll and Bonini.

At four lit up their "joints," And Curtin and Bill Leary Discuss "old whisky" points. The villain will pursue me, And strike an unkind blow. So I have now concluded I can't be white as snow. But yet a little scheming May tend to solve a trick Whereby, through my disguising, I'd fool my old foe, Nick-I'll hire a good white-washer To dab from head to toe: And doughnuts to a dollar-I'll then be white as snow.

THE KICKER. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Open at 4 a. m. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Nobby Suits and Overcoats to order. Price guaranteed. Tanzer's, 7th and N.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room for laboratory purposes, have removed my office to No. 316 H street northwest, just opposite old location.

DR. T. J. McConnell. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Badly Injured.

Mr. A. L. Wood, superintendent of the Folding Room in the Government accident on Saturday afternoon last.

It seems some hitch occurred in the pamphlet covering machine and he attempted to remedy the defect while the power was turned on the machine, which resulted in drawing his right arm into the machinery so firmly that it required the use of a crowbar to extricate Ruling and Binding of every description. the unfortunate man. His right arm was broken in three places and he was removed to the Emergency Hospital, where after the fractures were attended, some hopes were entertained that amputation would be unnecessary.

While this experience was a dear one to Mr. Wood, we think it wise to be more careful in handling machinery that "is loaded," and that a machinist instead of a person of another calling should attend to these matters of out of order mechanism in this institution and all other places where such is used.

Los Angeles berry growers have organized. Minneapolis police have the eight-

Carroll D. Wright urges the incorporation of trade unions.

War on the Chinese cooks has been declared by the Denver unions. The city of Duluth has appropriated

$1,000 to start a free labor bureau.

"Best Goods at Lowest Prices."

Headquarters for Kitchen Utensils.

Whatever is necessary to properly furnish your kitchen can always be found here at the very lowest price. Lowest Prices for Glassware, China, Silver-Plated Ware, Lamps, Etc.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.,

Woodward & Lothrop, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, AND F STS. N. W.

A NEW JEWELRY STORE, 43 H STREET N. W. OPEN NEXT WEEK.

Believing that Watch, Clock, and Jewelry Making and Repairing in all its branches in Skilled workmanlike manner is very much needed in this locality we have decided to locate here permanently. We GUARANTEE to give the very Best Satisfaction possible, and for a very reasonable price. We are THOROUGH IN THE ART OF WATCHMAKING AND RE PAIRING, CLOCK AND JEWELRY MAK-1NG AND REPAIRING, and besides our sincere aim is to give you perfect satisfaction. We also handle a nice line of Watches. Clocks, Jewelry, Etc., Etc. Everything guaranteed as represented, or MONEY REFUNDED. Give us a trial and we will have your patronage ever afterwards

NEW JEWELERS, Cole & Swan.

Bush's Cafe.

(Late James Sullivan's.)
Is now open. It contains all that is up to date.
A Choice Line of

LIQUORS AND CIGARS

An Appetizing Free Lunch.
Pay me a visit.
Strictly Union. 701 Fourth St. Opposite Pension Office

Is becoming more popular every day—people are just beginning to realize its good qualities. "Oronoco" is the best thing you can take for a cold. 50c. full p nt; quat. Delivered anywhere. 'Phone 2134

EDWARD J. QUINN, 604 Pa. Ave.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

THOMAS WALSH Formerly "Steve" Caldwell's. BILLIARDS AND POOL. WHISKIES AND CICARS. MELVALE

Specialties. SHERWOOD

Cool Lager Beer on Draught BILLIARDS 40c. PER HOUR. POOL 21c. PER CUE.

> THOMAS WALSH. 407 Tenth Street Northwest.

B. LOCRAFT & BRO.,

Wood, Coal, and Coke.

All varieties, High Grade, Under Cover. All coal screened. Prompt delivery. Orders by mail or telephone delivered same day received C. O. D. to any part of the city, Telepone, 2334. Main office and Yard 812-16 5th St. NW.

EDWIN F. PRICE. BOOKBINDER.

628 LA. AVE. N. W. Strongest flat opening blank book made A Specialty of Fine Bank Work.

BICYCLE REPAIR CO.

Salasroom 28 H st. n. w Wheels stored, cleaned and repaired $1 per ma. and cleaned75

BICYCLE REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. BICYCLE SUNDRIES. ARTHUR D. BENNETT, Manager.

possess o sessess 137 300 1-th. Loaves to the Harret

Every Laboring Man -- requires pure, wholesome nourishing food such as 1-

Cream Blend Flour

not only makes THE BEST Bread, Rolls, Cake and Pastry, but more of them than other brands therefore it's the cheapest that money can buy.
Your Grocer will sup-

B. B. EARNSHAW & BRO.. Wholesalers, 1105, 1107, 1109 11th Street S h. W

to orono o nonovo J. L. KERVAND.

Printer. 1012 Penna. Ave. - - Washington, D. Q. Letter, Note and Bill Heads. Checks, Drafts, Engraver, Lithographer and Plate

COPYRIGHTS &C. COPYRIGHTS &C. nyone sending a sketch and description may exly ascertain our opinion free whether an ention is probably patentable. Communicais strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents t free. Oldest agency for securing patents, atents taken through Munn & Co. receive cial notice, without charge, in the Scientific American. MUNN & CO. 36 'Broadway, New York Branch Office, 625 1. 3t., Washington D. C.

I. M. WRIGHT Washington and Heurich's

ICE COLD BEER Drawn from the Wood. 111 Seventh St. nov., Washington, D. C. Opposite CENTRE MARKET.

EQUITABLE INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE COMPANY. 605 F Street N. W.

Wm. A. BENNETT, Gen'l Supt. B. F. WARNER. Fine Wines and Liquors.

Life Insurance for Industrial Classes. Claims paid to date, $221,187.00.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS 1210 E Street Northwest

FOR LUNCH Pure Dairy Lunch,

935 D St. nw.

PATRIOTISM ON RAMPAGE!

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

that we did not import has been readily produced at home; and to-day we are the biggest, the richest, the most uni versally educated people that ever oc cupied the earth as a nation.

Let us remember and understand tha the raw-boned people of this mountain country would rather fight any time than eat yaller-legged chicken and open-topped pie at anybody's picnic!

Evan Shelby and John Sevier with picked men and patriots whose stout hearts turned back to ragged, tear-faced wives and prattling babes, with a mind on stumpy new-ground, shouldered their flint-lock rifles and started to King's Mountain. The fierce-faced war eagles darkened the sky as over mountain trails, through valleys deep, with camp-fire jest, through rain and dust, with an earnest determination, they trudged along. They were going some where; and they were going to do something. They got there; they did it! And if tradition tells the truth, the forbears of this merry, exhilarated, fun- will have good time "comin' through GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, were there when they got there by reversing the destructive tide which was about to overwhelm the colonial armies!

Old Hickory Jackson went to New Orleans with a handful of jeans-clad, imperfectly accoutered volunteers from these mountains and wiped the flower of the British army from off the face of the earth!

I tell you, sirs, that there are not enough angels in Heaven nor enough devils in hell to daunt and conquer the innate spirit of manhood and proud swagger of freedom peculiar to these mountain country men! It is born in them! And, Willian Tell on his Switzer heights never felt his heart swell with more inborn courage, nor his impulses throb with more independent manhood than the people who live in this front yard of paradise! Even, even, I say, if our forefathers were thieves and murderers who sought the mountain fastdaring and adventurous spirits seeking a Canaan in the wilderness, they were prototypes of a peculiar people-and we are their blood descendants.

Read and study the history of your country, boys! Your fathers made it -but some spectacled Yankee wrote at Every spot where we now stand is BARNEY FERGUSON sacred ground, hallowed by worthy deeds of worthy sires? That is why I open my Baltic canal of oratory in sober earnestness to-day instead of being everybody's Chauncey Depew and clown!

That is why I doff my hat to the great American eagle-that grand old bird of liberty-that stands with one foot on the Rocky Mountains and the other on the Alleghanies; with one wing covers the calm waters of the vast Pacific, and with the other stills the boistereus waves of the Atlantic-with his great beak he picks ice-bergs from the North pole, and fans the Gulf with his tail! Let the eagle scream!

That is why I say, "All hail" to fair Columbia, with her low-necked shift and good, stout legs! Her costume is a little more decollette than it really ought to be for a prayer-meeting, but it is all right for the Fourth of July; and she means well. She is as beautiful as a mountain sun-rise, as entrancing as an army with banners, and as loving and lovely and loveable as a mother at home with a house full of babies. God bless Columbia!

That is why I think of old Uncle Sam with his high hat, and swallow-tailed coat, and striped pantaloons, and billygoat beard! Hurrah for Uncle Sam!

That is why an involuntary yell bursts from my throat whenever and wherever a brass band troubles the air with the martial strains of Dixie, America or the Star Spangled Banner.

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand

14. PRICE'S BINDERY,
628 Louisiana avenue northwest lation!

Blest with victory and peace, may the heav'n

Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation.

And this be our motto-"In God is our trust:" And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave

O'er the land of the free, and the home of the Why, fellow Forth-of-Julyers, if I should hurl a mountain of ideas and ized Labor should have the Label on should hurl a mountain of ideas and pour an ocean of words, this restless, gay, holiday crowd would only struggle along and say: "It wasn't much of a should have firms and Unionists the city over will reciprocate.

avenue.

Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists. meets first and third Wernesday of each month in McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Arthur H. Chase, Secretary, 126 Sixth st. northeast. shower, after all!" You catch the idea! I wish you well "when the swallows homeward fly," and hope you

DO NOT WANT OUR PATRONAGE.

Following brands of cigars: Cinco, Cremo, George W. Childs, Henry George, Tom Moore, Robert Burns, and General Arthur. The following firms have declared against the interest of Organized Labor and are not regarded as deserving their patronage:

| y | NAME. | Business. | LOCATION. |
|----|-----------------------------------|--|--|
| e | | THE REAL PROPERTY AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY AND | |
| - | Haines' Southeast Store | Department store | Eighth and Penna. avenue s.e. |
| i- | Keenan Bros | Gents' furnishers | 820 F st. and 523 Seventh st. n. w. |
| - | B. Solomon | | |
| | Rufus H. Darby | Printer | |
| | H. L. McQueen | Printer | |
| at | N. Sickles (Nat'l Cigar Factory). | Cigar manufacturer | |
| | E. Gundershiemer | Baker | |
| n | Daton Cucoun | Connet dealer | in Center Market. |
| e | Peter Grogan | Carpet dealer | |
| _ | John H. Fitzgerald | Horseshoer | |
| d | S. S Daish | Coal and wood | |
| | Wilbur F. Nash | Meat dealer | |
| | C. E. Hencke | Electrician | |
| h | Sheets & Miller | Electrician | 804 E street n.w. |
| ıt | James A. Bennett | Tinner | 2008 H street n.w. |
| 11 | Louis A. Dieter | Paperhanger and decorator. | 9 F street northwest. |
| d | National Mosaic Company | Mosaics | 207 Fourth st. n.w. |
| 3 | I. Grosner | Clothing | 914 F st. and 803 Market Space. |
| d | M. Minster | Gents' furnisher | 1343 F st. n.w. |
| d | A. H. McGhan | Painter and contractor | 817 E st. n.w. |
| | A. Minster
Charles Walters | Gents' furnisher | |
| 0 | A. Markward | Contracting painter | Fourteenth and D streets n.w. |
| r | Cyrus B. Reese | Employing steamfitter | 609 G street n. w.
1519 Fourteenth street n. w. |
| | C. A. Schneider & Sons | Union Iron Works | 212 Twelfth street n. w. |
| - | Boston Steam Laundry | Laundry | |
| h | Tolman Steam Laundry | Laundry | 491 to 499 C street n. w. |
| - | Wash. Traction & Electric Co | Street Railway | City and Suburban Lines. |
| , | Minster & Paterson | Gents' furnishers | 1109 Pennsylvania ave. n. w. |
| v | The Famous | Gents' furnishings | 437 Seventh street n. w. |
| - | Chas. A. Muddiman & Co | Gas fixtures | 1204 G and 616 Twelfth st. n. w. |
| - | Joseph Mathey | Stove dealer and tin worker. | 1918 Pennsylvania avenue n. w. |
| 0 | A. S. Reavis. | Tin, stove, cornice works | 715 Second street n. e. |
| | A. Molnoti
Palmer, S. C | | First and M streets n. e. |
| d | 1 dillior, D. O | Bottler | 1066 Thirty-second street n. w. |
| e | | Control of the later of the lat | the late to be designed to the second | the rye!" Every one of you put in today enjoying ourselves-have fun, and lots of it! or
| C | | | |

Cannot be that men who are the seed Of Washington should miss Fame's true ap-

Franklin did plan us; Marshall gave us

And slow the broad scroll grew a people's One land and free! then at our dangerous

Time's challange coming, Lincoln gave it praise, Upheld the double pillars of the cause, And dying, let them whole,—the crowning

Such was the fathering race that made all

Who founded us, and spread from sea to

A thousand leagues the zone of liberty, And built for man this refuge from his past. Unkinged, unchurched, unsoldiered shamed were we,

Failing the stature that such sires forecast I thank you! Let the band play! Let the eagle scream again! Let the nesses to escape the vengeant justice of fun be fast and furious! Let good village pioneers, or if they were the humor flow like a river! I am done 'We shall meet again, Clemanthe!"

DIJOU THEATRE STOCK COMPANY

Week Commencing MONDAY, FEB. 10.

AND WILL MACK

KATE ALLEN FOX

4==Nelson Comiques-=4

ROWE & DOYLE

Chas. Baguley and

Lorraine Armour

Ladies' Matinee every Friday. No Smoking Allowed.

Allied Printing Trades Label.

The following publishing houses are legally authorized to use the Allied Trades Union Label:

1. THE LAW REPORTER, 518 Fifth street northwest. 2. THE TRADES UNIONIST, 441-443 G street northwest.

3. GLOBE PRINTING CO.,
341 Pennsylvania avenue northwesi 4. THE ALONZO BLISS CO., 39 B street northwest

5. THE COLUMBIA PUBLISHING CO.,
518 Twelfth street northwest.
7. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.,
628 Louisiana avenue northwest.
8. JUDD & DETWELLER,
420 Eleventh street northwest.
9. GEORGE F. HOWARD & CO.

9. GEORGE E. HOWARD & CO., 365 Tenth street northwest 11. H. E. WILKENS PRINTING CO.,

12. THE MAURICE JOYCE CO..
12. THE MAURICE JOYCE CO..
Evening Star Building.
13. NATIONAL ENGRAVING CO.,
508 Fourteenth street northwest.

15. JOHN F. SHEIRY.
413 Ninth street northwest

16. T. J. McCORMICK, Rooms 25-27 Atlantic Building 18. THOMAS P. MOORE, 623 F street northwest

Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just, Sixth and Louisiana avenue

20. THAYER & KATES, 511 Fourteenth street northwest. 22. J. L. PEARSON, Ninth and D streets northwest 23. JOHN G HODGES, 420-422 Eleventh street northwest.

All who are in sympathy with Organ-

For further information address A. THOMAS CAMPBELL, 1012 Twenty-fifth Street N. W.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

728 Seventeenth Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

Trades Unionist.

Union Directory.

To Secretaries: Please notify this office of any change in officers' addresses, time or place of meeting. Corrections will be made quarterly.

American Federation of Labor-Headquarters. Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Sam'lGompers, President, Frank Morrison, Secretary.

International Association of Machinists,
Headquarters, rooms 82-85 Corcoran Building,
Fifteenth and F streets northwest. James
O'Connell, president; D. Douglass Wilson,
vice-president and editor of the Journal;
George Preston. Secretary-Treasurer.

George Presson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Central Labor Union meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Typographical Temple. Chasrles W. Winslow, Secretary, 425 G street northwest. Residence, 3206 Wisconsin avenue

Allied Printing Trades Council meets last Thursday in the month at Typographical Temple. A. Thos. Campbell, Secretary-Treas-urer, 1012 Twenty-fifth street northwest. Amalgamated Association of Street Rail-way Employees of America, Division No. 161. meets Wednesdays at 8 p. m. and 12 midnight alternately at 609 C street northwest. Geo A. Heil, Secretary, 1141 Sixth street northimalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Local No. 148, meets second and fourth Thursday evenings at 922 Pa. avenue northwest. Geo. Bakersmith, Secretary, 3315 Brightwood avenue northwest.

Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, Local Bakers Union, No. 118, meets first and third Saturday in each month at 430 Eighth street northwest. Frank J. Link, Secretary, 343 N street southwest.

Bakers' Drivers' L. U. No. 33, T. D. I. U. meets first and third "hursday evening of each month at Costello's Hall, 610 G street northwest. Thomas C. Fox, Secretary, 922 Fourth street northeast.

Bartenders' League Local No. 75, meets first and fourth Sunday of each month at 2 p. m. at Macabee Temple.513 Ninth street north-west. Jere F. McCarthy Secretary, 1017 Moveland avenue southwest.

Maryland avenue southwest, Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No 234, meets first and third Sundays of each month at 314 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. A. D. Manger, Secretary, 208 Tenth street

Bookbinders' Union, No. 4, meets first Tues day in each month at Typograhical Temple. James A. Stockman, Secretary, 735 North Capitol street.

Bottlers' Union, No. 8647, meets first and third Friday of each month at Beiligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. F. M. Farmer, Secretary, 472 Penn. avenve northwest. Brewery Workers' Union, No. 118, meets

Second and last Sunday of the month at corner Third and Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Frank Rom. Secretary, 818 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, meets second and fourth Thursday in each month at Typo-graphical Temple, 423 G street northwest. H. M. Shook, Secretary, 1735 New Jersey Ave-Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers. Local Union. No. 368, meets every Friday night at 430 Eighth street north west. G. J. Murray. Secretary, 507 10th st. s.e Carriage and Wagon Workers' International Union, Local, No. 72, of Washington, D. C., meets every Tuesday evening at No. 1204 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., fourth floor. Thos. H. Brinkman, Secretary, 1729 New Jersey avenue northwest.

Carpet Upholsterers, No. 7597, meets first and third Tuesdays in each month at 516 Ninth street northwest. Charles G. Myers, Secre-tary, 605 E. street southeast Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, No. 2, meets first and third Thursdays at 609 C street northwest William L. Hageman, Secretary, 1007 Fourth street southeast. Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' Helpers Local Union. No. 12, meets second and for Tuesdays of each month at Bieligk's Hall. Seventh street northwest. William Ke Secretary, 435 Fifth street northeast.

Cigarmakers' Local Union, No. 110, meets every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Bieligk's Hall, 737 Seventh street northwest. Henry B. Wisner, Secretary, 3143 Dumbarton

Columbia Typographical Union meets third Sunday in each month in Typographical Tem-ple, 423 G street northwest. W. M. Garrett, Secretary.

Columbia Lodge, No. 68, Brotherhood of Railway (armen, meets second and fourth Friday of each month at 425 Twelfth street northwest (third floor). Charles C. Baker Secretary, 939 G street southwest

Douglass Association of Steam Engineers, I. S. U. E., meets second and fourth Wednes-days of the month at 609 F street northwest. J. W. Webb, Secretary, 341 Maryland avenue southwest.

Federal Labor Union No. 8193, meets fourth Saturday of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Miss Emma G. Miller, Secretary, 1011 First street n. w.

Fire Department Employees P. and B. Union No. 8846, meets every Wednesday morning at 10 a. m., at Union Veterans' Hall. 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. O. B. Kelly, Secretary, 24:5 H street northwest. Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, Branch

68. Alexandria. Va. meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Serepta Hall. Frank Michelbach, Secretary, 803 King street, Alexandria, Va. I. U. S E., Hoisting and Portable, Local 77, meets every Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, Hare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwest. Jas. J. McCracken, Secretary, 493 Maryland avenue southwest. Hospital Attendants' Protective Union No. 8097, meets first and fourth Saturday night of each month at Masonic Fall, Anacostia D. C. C. W. Teates, Secretary, 218 Filmore street, District of Columbia.

Hodcarriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers Union No. 9468, meets first and third Monday evenings in each month at Cadets' Armory, 708 O street northwest. Dennis Brown, Sec-retary, 1237 Fourth street northwest.

International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Local Union No. 5, meets every Friday night at Seventh and N streets northwest. Charles E. Barbour, Secretary, 1212 Potomac street northwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 26, meets every Tuesday night at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. A Langprey, Secre-tary, 200 E street northwest.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 148, meet every Monday night at 430 Eighth street northwest. H. B. Ander-son, Secretary, 807 Eighth street northwest International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, Local No. 12, meets every Wednes-day night at Eighth and D streets northwest. N. A. James, Secretary, 3612 O street north-

Interior Marble and Slate Cutters' and Setters' Association, No. 8855, meets first and third Tuesday nights of each month at 952 Pennsylvania ave. northwest. C. W. Magill, Secretary. 410 Eighth street southwest.

International Union of Steam Engineers—
Local Union No. 14, meets every Thursday evening at Engineers' Hall, 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Henry M. Wagner, Recording Secretary, 355 C street southwest.

Iron Molders' Union, Local No. 215, meets to the angles of each month at Masonic Hall

10th and 25th of each month at Masonic Hall corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvanic avenue southeast. Joseph Stewart, Secre-tary, 1256 Thirty-first street northwest. Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 239, meets first and third Wednesdays in each month at Bieligk's Hall, Seventh street northwest. C. Sproesser, Secretary, 637 H street northwest. Sproesser, Secretary, 63 h Steet northwest.

Journeymen Horseshoers' Union, No. 17,
meets first and third Wednesday of each month at Costello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. J. C. Lynch, Secretary, 955
Florida avenue northwest.

Journeyman Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Local Union, No. 5, meets second and fourth Tuesday evening of each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. A. E. Anderson, Secretary, 1312 Twentyninth street northwest.

fourneymen Stone and Marble Cutters' Union, meet second and fourth Friday at Cos tello's Hall, Sixth and G streets northwest. E. Casey, Secretary, 130 Massachusetts avenue northwest. Musicians' Protective Union, No. 161 n every Sunday at 10 a.m., at Costello's Hall, 616 G street northwest. E. M. Tansill, Secretary, 713 Ninth street northwest. National Alliance Theatrical Stage Employes meets first and third Sunday in each month at southwest corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, third floor. F. D. Sturgess, Secretary. 511 Eleventh street northwest.

Gegative Cutters Union, meetings second Wednesdays at 811 Ninth street northwest. W. L. Ashton, Secretary, 1212½ Eleventh street southwest.

operative Stonemasons' Union, No. 2, meets firs and third Friday evenings at Typo-graphical Temple. 423 G street northwest. Daniel Sullivan, Secretary, 611 G st. southeast. Paperhangers' Local Union No. 420, B. of P., D., and P., meets every Tuesday evening, 609 C street northwest. C. L. Hickman, Sec-retary, 944 L street northwest.

Pattern Makers' League meets at Weller's Hall, Eighth and I streets southeast. first an third Wednesday. James B. McAlwee, Sec retary, 907 E street southeast.

Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 17, meets first Wednesday in the month at Typograpical Temple, 423 G street northwest. F. C. Betts, Secretary, Kensington, Md.

Pipe Coverers' Union, No. 9425, meets s ond and last Saturday of each month at 1507 Sixteenth street northwest. A. C. Newman, Secretary, 1214 Thirtieth street northwest. Printing Pressmen Union, No. 1, meets first Saturday of each month at Typographica Temple. 423-425 G street northwest. George M. Ramsey, Secretary. 1228 G street northeast

Plate Printers Union, No 2, meets at Macaber Temple, Ninth street northwest, the third Tuesay in each month. John J. King. Secre-tary, 717 Seventh street northeast. Registered Drug Clerks' Union, District of Columbia, meets second and fourth Fridays at Jolly Fat Men's Hall, 933 D street northwest. W. D. Kerfoot, jr., Secretary, 1034

Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262. meets second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Ty-pographical Temple. 423 G street northwest. N. Jobes, Recording Secretary, 312 Mechanics place southeast. Seventh street northwest

Steam Fitters, R. A Lanis Association, L. B. No. 10, N. A., meets every Thursday night 430 Eighth street northwest. Thos. I. Gat Corresponding and Recording Secretary, 15 Columbia street northwest.

Local Branch, No. 28, N. A., meets every Friday at 8 o'clock p. m., at 922 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Thomas F. Flanagan, Secretary, 38 G street northeast.

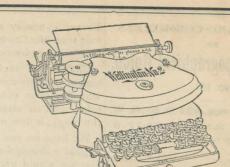

Stone Laborers' Union, No. 9013, meets first and third Friday of each month at St. Mark's Hall, Fourth and O streets northwest. Thos. Rose, Secretary, 40 Fenton street northeast. United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local Union No. 190, meet every Wednesday evening at 430 Eighth street northwest, top floor. C. H. Scherer, Secre-tary, 936 Fourth street northeast.

United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods, No. 87, meets every Tuesday Heare's Hall, 404 Eighth street northwe W. S. Martin, Secretary, 3004 P street n. w. Upholsterers' Local Union, No. 58, meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 516 (fourth floor Ninth street northwest. T. R. Bowie, Secretary, 1306 Riggs street porthwest

Washington Branch Granite Cuzters' National Union, meets every fourth Monday in each month. at 1204 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Wm. Silver. Secretary, 49 Massaetts avenue northwest.

Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union, No. 42, meets the first Thursday in each month at Typographical Temple, 423 G street west. Eleanor C. Burges, Secretary, 1107 Park Place northeast. Washington Lodge of Machinists, No. 193, meets first and third Tuesday evenings at southwest corner of Tweitth street and Penn-sylvania avenue northwest. C. G. Miller, Secretary, 412 Seventh street southwest. Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Local Union, No. 9, meets every Monday night at Hare's Hall. 404 Eighth street northwest. George H. Thomas, Secretary, 2620 Seventh street northwest.

Why Throw Away Forty Dollars By paying $100 for a Typewriter when you can get the NEW MODEL

Wellington Typewriter AT SIXTY DOLLARS.

A strictly high grade, up-to-date Typewriter, the peer of any $100 machine on the market. WRITING ALWAYS BEFORE YOU; permanent alignment, simplicity, durability, and speed.

JOHN WANAMAKER says: "We are using 75 in our Philadelphia and New York stores; they are absolutely THE BEST and have our UN-QUALIFIED indorsement."

Not made by a trust, but made by union men. Made by an old established company, and every machine fully warranted. DO NOT BUY a Typewriter of any kind until you see the Wellington at 509 Eleventh Street Northwest.

Representative Business Houses.

OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The following wholesale and retail firms and professional men are friendly to Union Labor and are entitled to its patronage:

ALTERING AND REPAIRING. MARGGRAF, 631 D STREET, NORTHWEST Suits cleaned and pressed 75 cents. n7

BANKS. THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, Safe Deposit Vaults, $2.50 up. BANKERS.

UNION SAVINGS BANK 'The Bond Building," 14th St. and N. Y. Ave. BANNERS, BADGES AND FLAGS. S. N. MEYER. 1411 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

BOOTS AND SHOME. CROCKER'S SHOES, 989 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W.

CIGARS. McGREGOR & ASHLEY, Union-Made Cigars, Tobacco, and News Stand. 52 H Street Northwest.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO. DANIEL LOUGHRAN, 1347 Pennsylvania Ave. LUCHS & BRO., Wholesalers.

Phone E 755

COACH FINDINGS. J B. KENDALL, 618 Pennsylvania avenue N. W. COAL TAR PRODUCTS AND PAPER.

Tom Keene 5c. Cigar.

E. B. WARREN & CO., 27th and H Sts. N. W. CUTLERY AND SPORTING GOODS. D. N. WALFORD,

477 and 909 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. DRY GOODS. LANSBURGH & BROTHER, 420 to 426 7th St. N. W

SMOOT, COFFER & McCALLEY, 1216 F Street N. W. HECHT & CO., 513 and 515 Seventh Street Northwest. ENGRAVERS.

THE MAURICE JOYCE ENGRA Cuts and Illustrations. 418 11th St. N. W. CE ENGRAVING CO. FIRE INSURANCE.

FIREMEN'S INSURANCE COMPANY, Seventh St. and Louisiana Ave. FLORIST. Z. D. BLACKISTONE, 14th and H Sts. N. W Telephone, 2180.

FURNITURE AND CARPETS JULIUS LANSBURGH, cean Building, 512 Ninth St. N. W.

GAS FIXTURES. C. A. MUDDIMAN & CO., 1204 G St. N W. 616 12th St. N. W

GROCERIES. Good things to eat." PAGE, 1210 F St. N.W T. H. PICKFORD, Ninth St. and Louisiana Ave.

GROCER AND COFFEE ROASTER. SOMERSET R. WATERS.
1342 Seventh Street Northwest, Corner O.

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS. S. H. HINES & CO.,

Phone, Main 1879. 1315 14th St. N. W.

Geo. W. Barry Coal Co., WILLIAM DIETZ.

Wood and Coal.

Main office and yard: 14 and 16 H St. N. E.

Celtic Club Whiskey-

Our Specialty. Never Changes.
Once Tried You'll Always Use
It. Take no Substitute. Porte
and Sherries for Family Use—
Quarts, 50 and 75c. All Makes
of Beer. Leading Brands of Cigars. Ales and Porters ca Draught all the Year Round. JOHN CONNOR,

New Jersey Ave. and G Streets M. W.

Springfield, Mass., now has a fullfledged woman's labor union.

HATTERS AND FURRIERS. JAMES Y. DAVIS' SONS. 1201 Pennsylvania Ave.

B. H. STINEMETZ & SON. 1237 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W. See our $2 and $3 Hats. HARNWARE AND TOOLS. RUDOLPH, WEST & CO., 1804 F St. N. W. 523 10th St. N. W.

HIGH GRADE CIGARS. J. ED. MATTERN, 437 Seventh Street Northwest.

WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY, &c. ANDRUS O. HUITERLY 632 G Street Northwest. Ask to see the Hamilton watch. LUMBER AND MILL WORK.

THOMAS R. RILEY, 13th St. and Ohio Ave. MACHINISTS AND ENGINEERS,

FOSBURG & MURRAY,
Pumps and Elevators. Engines and Bollers.
8th and Water Sts. S. W. MACHINISTS AND CARPENTERS' FINE

> JOHN B. ESPEY, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W NEWSPAPERS. THE WASHINGTON POST.

PAINTS, GLASS, VARNISH, LAMPS. GEORGE F. MUTH & CO., (Late Ryneal's), 4187th St. N. W PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHERS.

THE NORRIS PETERS CO., 458 and 460 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PIANOS AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

E. F. DROOP & SONS, 925 Pennsylvania Ave. N. W. PLUMBING. J. B. LANAHAN,
Registered Plumber and Gas Fitter,
Southeast Corner Second and H sts.

PRINTERS. JUDD & DETWEILER,

420-422 11th St. N. W. PRINTING MATERIAL. NATIONAL PRINTER'S SUPPLY CO achine-made Rollers. 636 G St. N. W

RESTAURANT AND WINE ROOM.

JOHN M. BECKER, Opp. Navy Yard., Cor. 8th and Georgia Ave. S.E

TITLES TO REAL ESTATE. LAWYERS' TITLE & GUARANTY INS. CO. 412 5th St. N. W. TOBACCO AND NEWS STAND.

WM. H. LIVERMORE,

101 H St. N. W. WINES AND LIQUORS.

THOMAS COLLINS, 831 Seventh street northwest. SAMUEL G. STEWART, Heurich Brewing Co's. beers and popular brands of whiskies. 1141 Seventh st. northwest, between L and M.

WILLIAM CANNON, 1225-1227 Seventh St. Northwest. Old Purisima, a find old Maryland rye, $1 per qt.

NUF CED.

J. WILLIAM LEE,

UNION SHOP

Undertaker and Livery, . . .

322 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W.

WHITE BARBERS

Ladies and Children's Hair Cutting. N. D. CHRISTENSEN,

Antiseptic Shaving Parlor 805 NORTH CAPITOL STREET.

Agency for Franklin Steam Laundry. ja9

OFFICIAL ORGAN CENTRAL LABOR UNION, WASHINGTON BRANCH, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Vol. VI. No. 35.

WASHINGTON, D. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1902.

Price, 3 Cents.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Adjourn Out of Respect to Death of Sergeant-at-Arms Sullivan.

OPPOSITION TO PERSONAL TAX

Resolutions Relative to Carriage and Wagon Workers, Personal Tax Bill, Sergeant-atarms Sullivan's Death, and Columbia Lodge of Machinists-Chinese Exclusion Matter-Beer Drivers' Grievance-Many Communications Received - Miscellaneous Matters.

The meeting of Central Labor Union 8 o'clock, by President Hamerstrom.

Ninety-two delegates, representing forty-two organizations, were present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The following credentials were re ceived: From Washington Feeders and Assistants, No. 42, certifying Mrs. Alice M. Zook and Miss Charlotte Seaton; Cigarmakers' Union, No. 110, certifying William Herferth, vice John Ester; Journeymen Stone and Marble Cutters, certifying T. C. Connor, W. W. Danford, T. Fanning, W. Gibbs, and F. Clocker; Interior Marble and Slate Cutters and Setters' Association certifying N. Hart and J. M. Eliason.

They were referred to the Committee on Credentials, and on favorable re- of the Chinese exclusion bill through port the delegates were obligated and members and Senators; the bills are Delegate Brinkman introduced a quest was complied with. lengthy set of resolutions setting forth the trials and oppression and need of and Wagon Workers Union at Cincinnati, in which 2,000 workers are involved, and the following resolutions were adopted by this body.

WHEREAS, The time has now arrived for organized labor to rise up en masse, and prove that their cardinal principles are not to be violated, but, under the banner of freedom and justice, they will march to the assistance of their brothers march to the assistance of their brothers in distress, and pluck victory from apparent defeat, and thereby press, in indelible letters, upon the minds of all who would oppress mankind, our beloved insignia, "Labor omnia vincit;" therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union appoint a committee of two of its

Union appoint a committee of two of its ablest members, to act with a similar committee from the Carriage and Wagon Workers' International Union affiliated with this body, to appear before the officers of the American Federation of Labor, and request that an assessment be levied as provided for in in Article 10, Section 1, of the Constitution, for the benefit of the striking tution, for the benefit of Cincinnati, Ohio: ation of Labor, and request that an ascarriage workers of Cincinnati, Ohio; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary be, and he is hereby directed to communicate is with a feeling of sadness that we exwith the secretary of the American Federation of Labor, requesting that a date be set as soon as possible upon Resolved, Th which the committee can be heard; and be it further

Resolved, That the cause of the striking carriage workers of Cincinnati be laid before the constituent locals of this body, with a view of having them contribute as largely as possible to the support of the strike; and be it further Resolved, That the Central Labor Union of the District of Columbia send greeting to the striking carriage workers of Cincinnati, Ohio, and pledge them their support.

A communication from the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum called the attention of this body to the destruction of their temple by fire on December 20, 1900, and requested aid to rebuild the same; they also requested a list of all local unions affiliated with the Central Labor Union. The latter request was granted and the letter placed on file.

A communication was received from Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, accompanied by the correspondence of Recording Secretary F. Atkinson, of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, looking to the satisfactory and there was a proper assessment or land held for speculation within and cerned, is on in Great Britain. Taking settlement of the strained relations existing between the said organization and the Building Trades Section of the levying of any additional tax whatso-Central Labor Union. The same was ever; therefore, be it read and placed on file.

The communication of the Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, their agreement in the employment of a non-union man, was read and referred to the Grievance Committee.

adopted by Columbia Lodge, No. 174, something like their true value, and by brought against President Hamerstrom in the difficulty with the Carpenters' Union, K. of L., the matter being re-cently nolle prossed in court, were read the District's proportion of our public and this body accepted same with thanks:

WHEREAS, It is with regret that we learn that our brother, John Hamerstrom, is a victim of a malicious attack and willful persecution by an antagonistic labor organization known as the ocal branch of the Knights of Labor;

WHEREAS, Our brother in question has been made to suffer both peace of mind and deep humiliation in being compelled to appear in a police court of the District of Columbia to answer to a charge of conspiracy; and

WHEREAS, Knowing, as we do, that our brother, John Hamerstrom, has always stood for that which is good and was called to order Monday evening, at true, ever ready to sacrifice his own personal affairs for the benefit and the uplifting of true unionism; therefore,

Resolved, That Columbia Lodge, No. 174, I. A. of M., appropriate $50 to help defray the expenses of our brother's

The communication of the Interior Marble and Slate Cutters and Setters' Association protesting against the action of the Encaustic Tile Layers' and Helpers' Association for encroaching upon the lines of trade belonging strictly to Slate Cutters' Association was received and duly referred to the Grievance Committee.

A communication was received from the American Federation of Labor re- in this matter. questing each union to urge the passage H. R. 9330 and Senate 2960. This re-

The communication of Carpet Up holsterers' Union, No. 7596, stating the financial aid of the striking Carriage laxity of different union patrons in demanding the carpet firms of this city to employ union men in that line was read and placed on file.

A motion prevailed that delegates to this body inform the members of their respective organizations that the "Cubanola" cigar is unfair and does not bear the blue label of the Cigarmakers' Union, and that our patronage will be withdrawn from any dealer or merchant who allows one of these signs to be placed in his place of business or who pushes the sale of said cigar.

Delegate Babcock, by unanimous consent, introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously indorsed:

WHEREAS, Through the omnipotent and omnipresent rulings of an All-wise Providence Daniel Sullivan, a faithful and true trades unionist, friend, and councils; therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we reverently bow in submission to His holy will, it tol the many virtues of our deceased

Resolved, That we extend to his bereaved family and all those who mourn his death our heartfelt sympathy in this, their hour of trial and grief, and Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be printed in THE TRADES Unionist and forwarded to the stricken family: and

Resolved, That when we adjourn this evening it be out of respect to our fel-low unionist, friend, and sergeant-atarms.

Delegate Babcock introduced the folowing, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, A bill is pending before Congress providing for a personal tax upon the stock of merchants, the plants of manufacturers, and the household furniture of citizens above a certain value, the money to be raised there-from to be expended in ways calculated to increase the land values of the District of Columbia, but it is not being proposed to levy any tax upon the val-uable franchises of the public corporations of this District; and

WHEREAS, Such personal tax will tend to increase the burdens of the consumers, of the householders, and of the manufacturers of this District, without corresponding benefit to them; and
WHEREAS, If franchises were taxed without the city of Washington, there

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union is opposed to the contemplated the Taff Vale Railway has begun suit personal tax law for the reason that such a law would be detrimental to the best interests of the people of the Dis-& Drury Brewing Company violating trict of Columbia in general, and the amounting to $123,130. The company the Grievance Committee.

The following set of resolutions

Resolvea*, I nat the necessary additional revenue should be obtained by losses indicated were sustained. Resolved, That the necessary addi-

I. A. of M., relative to the proceedings a tax upon the franchises of the gas, electric light and street railway com-revenues by a tax on land values and on franchise privileges, omitting taxes upon improvements and personal prop erty, believing that such a course would destroy land monopoly and speculation, the greatest bar to public improvements in this District.

Resolved, That the secretary is hereby directed to forward under seal copies of the above resolutions to the District Commissioners and the chairmen of the Senate and House Committees of the District of Columbia.

Delegate Dietrich reported from the the Special Committee that visited Postmaster Merritt and the Letter Carriers' Association as follows:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10, 1902. To the Officers and Members of the Central Labor Union: GENTLEMEN-

Your special committee appointed to endeavor to have the label of the United Garment Workers of America placed on the uniforms of the letter carriers of this city, beg leave to report that they have met Postmaster Merritt, and Mr. . A. Gordon, chairman of the letter carriers' committee on uniforms, and received ample assurance that said uniforms must bear the label as requested by this body.

We would recommend that the Secretary be instructed to forward a letter of thanks to Postmaster John A. Merritt and James A. Gordon, carrier 15; also to notify the secretary of the Gar-ment Workers' Union of our success

C. E. DIETRICH, A. R. SPRAGUE, Committee.

Delegate Lewis, of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers requested that Louis A. Dieter, A. H. McGhan, and A. Markward be taken from the unfair list. The request was granted.

Delegate Szegedy, from the Plate Printers, stated that the firm of Chas. H. Elliott & Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., was now fair to organized labor, and thanked this body for the part taken by it in bringing about this state of affairs, and requested that this be published in THE TRADES UNIONIST.

Delegate Gaut, of Steam Fitters, No. 10, stated that an agreement had been reached between that organization and Columbia Lodge of Machinists and Washington Lodge of Machinists, and asked this body to indorse the same. The request was granted.

Delegate McCarthy, reported that a meeting had been held last Wednesday evening and a temporary organizabe held on Sunday evening next, when the day before his death. He was a "Puckey," as he is facetiously called, place.

Graefe, proprietor of the B. & O. barber shop.

The request of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, No. 190, that of the Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania Vol-Ernest Dahle be placed on the unfair unteers, of which he became Captian, list was granted.

Sullivan: E. M. Van Ness, F. Thomp-They were authorized to procure suit- until the close of the war. able conveyance and a floral piece.

body adjourned out of respect to the memory of Daniel Sullivan.

STATIONERY.

Writing Paper in white and the latest ints-from 10 cents to $1.50 a box.

at WM. H. LIVERMORE'S, Corner First and H Streets Northwest. Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Fine fitting laundered Shirts, open or closed front, 73c. Tanzer's, 7th and N.

The greatest legal battle of Modern times, as far as trade unions are conas a basis the recent decision of the would be no possible excuse for the House of Lords to the affect that labor organizations are financially responsible for the acts of officers and members, against the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants to recover damages interests of the working classes in par- alleges that the union is an unlawful just opposite old location combination, and that by reason of boy-

Women's Bindery Union Entertains. Monday night at Masonic Temple an entertainment and dance was given Resolved, That this body favors the under the auspices of Women's Bindery Union, No. 42, I. B. of B., the proceeds of which are to be applied to the Mutual

Relief Association of that organization. The entertainment consisted of a minstrel program by the Government Bindery Minstrels, which met with the same hearty approval as when they first appeared at the Bookbinders' entertainment sometime since; the ability of Charles F. Weston, who directed the performance, as an interlocutor needs no commendation; the end men, Messrs. Esterly, Bergerson, Hart and Spellbring did their parts well. The others who took part in the minstrel program with songs and funny sketches were: S. L. Cooper, Thomas Esperon, William B. Hyde, Fred Seyfferth, Harry W. Paine, Walter H. Oliver, Casper F. Helmig, John A. Weidman, George Warren, Charles McCarthy, John H. Lear, John M. Touey, Edward Stroh, Charles J. Cassidy, William Parry, P. R. Flanagan, Daniel Chute, Wiley M. Reed, William B. Nevins, John D. Hasson, Albert A. Lindstrom, Philip A.

Lester Weidman. The remainder of the program consisted of contralto solos by Miss Alice Shaw; songs by Miss Ina Clair Fagan, the child artist; negro dialect recitations by Miss Bessie Sweet, and selec tions by Master Joseph Dierken, the boy soprano. Each and every artist received hearty encores. The entertainment closed with a short, comic, one-act sketch, entitled, "The Irish Justice."

Deakins, Frank Lanman, and Master

Following the entertainment dancing was indulged in by a large number until 2 a. m., music being discoursed by Prof. Caldwell's union orchestra.

Overholt whiskey 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G.

Nobby Suits and Overcoats to order. Price guaranteed. Tanzer's, 7th and N.

Rooms and board can be had at 201 K St. N. E. (corner of 2d street); con- Address all communications, C. J. U., venient to Government Printing Office and H street cars. 34-35

Death of William E. Post.

William E. Post, for many years employed as timekeeper in the Specification Division of the Government Printing Office, died suddenly on Sunday, The Suffrage Committee, through February 9, at his residence, 1837 Ninth street northwest.

Mr. Post had been in poor health for break of the civil war he enlisted in the very much interested in photography, that they had made a contract with C. ganization of emergency men, which will like him as much as we did down was afterward merged into the Fifteenth here, for he is a good man, especially Pennsylvania Cavalry. After being on Senate Reports and House Documustered out he organized a company ments. and which participated in the battle of The following committee was ap- Gettysburg and others. Becoming dispointed to attend the funeral of Daniel abled he was transferred to the pay department of the army and was sent son, P. Shugrue, and J. C. Lynch. to Nashville, Tenn., where he remained

After the war he engaged in business According to the spirit of the resolu- in the oil fields of West Virginia, but ion adopted earlier in the evening, the met with reverses and came to Washington. He was for a long time employed in the War Department and under the District Government. About July, 1880, he entered the Government Printing Office, where he remained until his death.

Mr. Post was adjutant of Phil Sheri-He leaves a widow and four children.

He was buried at Arlington on Wednesday, and the funeral services were merman, J. E. Harney, Samuel H. Muunder the direction of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Union Veterans' Robbins, Samuel T. Esmay, Edwin P.

Tanzer's Special Brace, the most durable suspender made, 25c.

Pan Roats, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

Removal.

Owing to not having sufficient room for laboratory purposes, have removed my office to No. 316 H street northwest, DR. T. J. McConnell.

$2.25 Derbys and Flanges in all latest shapes, $1.65. Tanzer's, 1300 7th N. W.

Night Bill Force. Bradnax is very ill.

Johnnie Desmond will "butt in." Kliendienst is now chairman Third Thornberg wears a smile now. It is John Handiboe's camera went to Bateman. Lightcap is sore because he didn't get a chance.

Slug 320 and his side partner went to Alexandria, Tuesday, saw the 'Tiger,' and had to walk home.

Slug 41, White's Division, 'Barney Kliendienst has been made assistant chairman, and is a good one.

Somewhere among the newcomers there is a fellow who brakes spaces. He wants to make a note of this. Saw! Sailor Joe Farwell says the "C. L. C." is in fine latitude and is bound to come in several takes ahead. Tackle to 'em

Slug 335 has just returned from his home in Fredericksburg, Va., where he is quite popular-particularly among the 'girls.'

The C. L. C. is growing stronger tion. Big dividends and you are never without a dollar.

always talks war, and how he shot Davis, Charles S. Dennison, J. W. across the street, cut down the road, and skinned up a tree. The price of J. M. Eggleston, Griffith Evans, E. S. coffee is the same.

John Green, Jr., the timekeeper, is very much of a gentleman and has a host of friends. We all wish him well Frank S. Lerch, W. B. Lowd, Fred and would like to have him for a delegate to the International Convention.

We have him dead sure! 'Sam' Musick, of Pennsylvania, the fastest typesetter on earth, came to work on the Bill Force Monday night. No bughouse Sammy beats the record like his U. S. Uncle.

C. J. Uuger is out with a challenge of $50 to be deposited with John Ready or Johnnie Bonini, that he can beat anybody in the G. P. O. at checkers. Slug 66, G. P. O.

A few changes have taken place in the personal head lines of this division: Puckey" Wild has been promoted to assistant to Mr. Barnett, our affable postoffice man; George Tuttle now for rent cheap. 21 L street northeast. gives out copy, and Harry Watkins runs the bank. John Kiernan runs the Third Division bank.

The many friends of "Puckey" Wild some time, but he was able to attend to will be delighted to learn that he is in chairman, 1023 New Jersey avenue; tion effected, and that a meeting would his duties at the office up to Saturday, full charge of Section 2, N. B. F. permanent organization would take native of Scranton, Pa., and at the out- is a good worker, a kind father, and is Ninth street northwest; Frank Bug-The Grievance Committee reported Anderson Troop, an independent or- so we hope the boys in the new section

"Funny" Roberts was promoted to bills last week, so we miss his pleasant smiles, and generous dispensation of style information. When it comes to deciding a point connected with the niceties of our document style, the above-mentioned gentleman can give casino, and make them feel cheap. Old vention. boy we miss you and all desire to express our thanks for your painstaking interest in our behalf.

The following gentlemen have been Louis. placed on the temporary list of the Night Bill Force: Horace Miller, Frank R. Spencer, J. Wesley Dix, Geo. W. dan Post, G. A. R., and chaplain of Patten, Thaddeus A. Smith, John S. Hancock Regiment, No. 1, U. V. U. Thompson, W. J. Watkins, Daniel A. Gillin, Lewis B. Lawton, John S. Marklin, Chas. D. Young, Corwin E. Zimsick, Charles B. Achard, Harry A. Cow, James F. Gambrill and Vincent F. Howard.

SOAP SUDS DIALOGUE:

Chris-Hey, Pucky, you got somedings.

Puck—248 galleys of short docs. Chris-Der rewises come from out der Rothskeller yet, yes?

Puck-I should say not. Chris-Holy Christmas! Der geesers vorking hard!

Punchinillo.

Leave of Absence Pay Matter.

Through Messrs. George A. and William B. King, attorneys, we are informed that they are unable to find the claimants for pro rata pay for leave of absence, and would greatly appreciate if said persons would make known their addresses.

Concerning the status of these cases, we would say that the attorney for the United States made a motion for a new trial some time ago, which was denied by the court last Monday. He thereupon gave notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, where the Messrs. King will endeavor to advance the case as much as possibie.

The following is a list of those whose addresses are wanted: J. Stuart Brown, W. R. Chipley, Thomas D. Davies, J. D. Defrees, Carl Eckdall, A. J. Gallagher, T. B. Hoagland, Richard H. Lyles, Thomas D. Monahan, W. H. McSween, J. R. Smeltzer, and F. C. Tounsley.

The following is a list of those who are entitled to arrears of pay, but who have not authorized the attorneys to take any steps in their behalf: E. N. Bunker, A. P. Beatty, W. H. Bawden, daily. Have a look into their constitu- Wm. R. Bromley, Frank E. Burnside, Robert H. Chase, Jas. C. Cochnower, Brice Coston, Jacob Covert, R. H. In alley 16 there is a 'print,' who Campbell, R. F. Chisolm, Alfred A. Doocy, A. J. Davison, T. A. Dougherty, Farrell, P. H. Gallagher, Charles J. Graf, James Greenwood, Fred D. Heisler, Monroe Hanna, B. F. Hasson, Lewis, H. S. Murphy, M. A. Maloney, William C. McMichael, Lemuel E. Miller, Albert K. Mundheim, Andrew Mc-Garraghy, P. R. Noone, J.W. O'Rourke, W. M. Polk, H. M. Presley, S. C. Presley, J. K. Seagraves, H. L. Standley, Carl R. Tegethaff, George Terwilliger, Thomas L. Wade, S. R. Wall, Will H. Way, George A. Webster, and C. B.

> Cold Feet? Two pair mixed Wool Hose for 25c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Sts.

Pan Roast, 10 cents. Driscoll's, N. Cap. and G. High Balls.

FURNISHED ROOM-A bay window, second story, front room, well furnished, in a private family, with heat and gas;

Bricklayers' Executive Committee.

The following is the list of members of the Executive Committee of Bricklayers' Union, No. 1: John G. Wolfe, John J. McCarthy, 714 Twenty-second treet northwest; P. Horrigan, 727 den, 313 Polk street, Anacostia; J. W. Furtner, 22 Quincy street northwest.

Attention, Workingmen!

The Central Labor Union will hold an open public meeting between 8 and and 9 o'clock Monday evening, February 17, at Typographical Temple, for the benefit of those who wish to hear Mr. John S. Crosby, the noted economist of New York, on a subject relating to his line. Every workingman and those interested in economics should you half the ducks in the so-called attend. Mr. Crosby comes to this city Brainery" cards, spades, and big to address the Woman's Suffrage Con-

Labor Notes.

Nearly 3,000 men are at work on the site of the World's Fair ground at St.

On Brooklyn's new labor lyceum building a corner-stone will be laid in March. It will cost $160,000.

A $3,000,000 shoe factory has just been completed at Torren, Mexico. Workmen from Brockton, Mass., will teach the natives how to operate machines.

For arbitration in place of strikes, New South Wales wants system adopted by New Zealand. To avoid conflicts the measure is framed containing many improvements. Disputants may not resort to strikes or lockouts until the court has been refered to.

The Hercules Gas Engine Company, of San Francisco, agreed to give its employes the nine-hour day and an increase of wages ranging from 71/2 to 13 per cent. The corporation also agreed vill get avay mit all der beer vile I vas to pay the union price for overtimetime and one-half for night work and I double time for Sundays and holidays.

Official Organ Central Labor Union and Building Trades Section, A. F. of L.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Trades Unionist Publishing Company.

E. W. PATTON A. J. E. HUBBARD

Office: 441-443 G Street Northwest.

SUBSCRIPTION One year (in advance) - - - - $1.00

Six months (in advance) - - - 50c.

Entered at the Post-Office at Washington, D. C.,

THE TRADES UNIONIST is heartily and unqualifiedly indorsed by the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section, as well as central bodies

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1902.

I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising. -JOHN WANAMAKER.

Nothing, except the mint, can make money without advertising.

business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known -FRANKLIN.

TUESDAY the Senate adopted by the necessary two-thirds vote a joint resothe same time.

Specification Notes. Monroe Hannah has resigned.

The Specification chapel is the largest in the world.

Miss Simpson, of this room, attended the Whitney-Hay wedding, by invita-

D. W. Beach succeeds to the position of timekeeper in place of W. E. Post, Misses Emma F. Conway, Cornelia Brown and Mary D. White secured temporary appointments last week.

That fellow who has charge of the Night Bill Force potpouri should watch his soft-soap kettle, which shows signs of boiling over.

Roach has exposed a "leader" that we may know the exact Dolly Varden stripe when it comes to the proper fad in the selection of hose.

The current issue of patents bears evidence of an unusually large number, many sandwiches, few heads, and consequently an unusual distance between bases

The uncertainty of life is brought home to us by the sudden death of Mr. Post, who made his last rounds as timekeeper of this room on Saturday evening last.

The members of this force gave expres ion to their sorrow and their sympathy with the family by a floral offering following the announcement of the sent home a few days ago quite ill, but No branch outside of the finishing needs death of Mr. Post.

When a new woman is assigned to Alley 5 the prevailing custom is to obtheir normal conditions.

The following named were transferred to the main office on Saturday last: J. L. Garrett, Ivins Davis, C. B. McCann, F. M. Richardson, Samuel main office a few days ago. They Ferrier, G. G. Wilson, jr., and William S. Carpenter.

The menu of the Twentieth Century Knockers' banquet showed some possible style here in good shape. stomach punches which would do credit out drops as a substitute for Worcester

An advance agent for chewing gum were going out of this building Tuesday evening. It is reported that Tommy Tompkins passed out one door and a large amount of work, no end of the When Mr. Merriam sends in his statismade the circuit by another eleven rebinding being in sight, and the force tics of old tin cans, cobble stones, and times to get in line and to show his ap- has every prospect of having work of highly-colored posters, what a feast preciation of "a good thing."

Fourth of July oration in the last issue of The Trades Unionist was a feature much appreciated. An exception was much appreciated. An exception was brethren, who start the twenty or more binders under Mr. Espey.

of Julyers.'

dence of extra training, and that extra ery, and the newspaper man. instructions in matters of style give rise to a dwelling impression.

Miss Mary Blore last week entertained her sister, Mrs. E. T. Shaw, of bound in elegant binding and have Birmingham, Ala., who was on her return trip south, after a four months' gress. visit to her mother, who resides at Rahway, N. J. Mrs. Shaw is pleasantly remembered by a portion of the Washington delegation who represented IOI an Wednesday at 2 p. m. at Birmingham last year during the sessions of the I. T. U.

by the various locals connected with the two last week's issue were jewels added to there is at the present time. his crown as the author and finisher of every good work he undertakes. He combines gifts with skill of execution, which should bring wealth and fame, and an independence in a particular line over which the Civil Service Commission has no jurisdiction; and, besides, "Billy" is a good printer.

W. J. Brown, a valued attache of this force, successfully passed a civil service examination in stenography and typewriting recently, and has been assigned to special duty under the War Department. He will embark for the Philip-When you pay more for the rent of your pines on February 22. "Doc" will carry with him the best wishes of a large constituency of friends who will be pleased if he finds the new field one of pleasure and profit.

A. J. Arnold had an experience a few evenings since which places him in the lution changing, by amendment to the Hoollihan class. While passing a new Constitution, the date of inauguration school house he discovered on the first from March 4 to the last Thursday in floor of the building a blazing fire, and April at noon, the commencement and in an excited mood he hurried to a termination of Congresses to occur at nearby engine-house to report the case. The effect of the report was electrical, for it was with difficulty that he avoided being run over by the well trained horses, the powerful engines, and other paraphernalia held in readiness at a moment's call. Arnold was later near the engine-house, and heard that the firemen had returned and were in search of the man who had mistaken a bright wood fire to season the plastering for a conflagration. Arnold did not explain, nor will he in the future feel called upon to keep the fire department informed as to their duties.

Library Branch.

land south of Mason and Dixon's lineon paper.

dict in the spring.

little purse to be sent to the Associated we will look after the bindery notes. Charities the other day.

Visitors are numerous and seem to take great interest in the building and tirely too small to accommodate the Chauncey Depew. workings of this great institution.

Foreman Fisher is a regular attendant at the in-door base ball games at the Y. M. C. A., and enjoys them very Lawyer Ward has had his heretofore rather ragged beard trimmed Vandyke, and now presents a rather distinguished appearance.

feeling all right.

The composing and press rooms of the cover and the work on it. We have serve perfect silence for the space of the Library Branch are very busy now, no doubt that these conditions will be one day, after which things assume the work being mostly catalogue matter, with enough job work to keep one building. Chandler & Price running the better part of eight hours per day.

Two additions came up from the were McMullen and Dr. Murphy, of the First Division. Both are good men and have caught on to the almost im-to the masters. One slight omission is genial bachelor friend, Judge Henry seen whether this move will kill the noted. No mention is made of knock. Clay Evans, by a motorman the other "trusts." morning. The Judge was waiting for a car, and the motorman, being late, passed him, saying, "Take the next "goats." Instead of setting up their gave out sample packages while people car, Pap." Judge wants to know his distinguishing feature.

this character to do for years to come. these fellows will have. No wonder The reproduction of Col. Slack's Jack Heelan, the leather-cutter for the Colonel Bailey is so stout. bindery, and incidentally a mighty good flection when the Colonel addressed was recently moved from the northeast the multitude as "My Fellow Fourth, pavilion to the east north curtain, giving us a room 110 feet long by 30 feet in Billy Howland has charge of the width, and has been so arranged as to phat," which now goes around by make a most beautiful display of the slugs; hence his coming is looked for- nickle-plated frames and brass-trimmed ward to with pleasure. It has been ob. oak cabinets and banks. The northserved that with the arrival of each east payilion is now occupied by the new girl Billy's mustasche bears evi-

LIBRARIAN.

Bindery Notes.

Wagon loads of Rebellion have been been forwarded to the members of Con-

W. P. Dowden died of pneumonia at the Emergency Hospital, Februry 10th, and was buried from 435 C street N. W.

Never in the history of the G. P. O. Bindery was there such a large number I had noticed that some of the foreman The illustrations by "Billy" Ball in of books being bound and sert out as very busy of late lettering Congress- burdens of their constituents, expecting ional directory. This work is done by the men to set type out of empty cases hand and consumes a great deal of time. and allowing no time for distribution.

specifications have been held back for such is the case, it reminds one of the the work marked special and this work plight of the Israelites in Egypt-comnow is being rapidly pushed ahead and pelled to make brick without straw. before many months go by we will be My informant stated also that when even with the Patent Office.

The establishing of the Rural Free Delivery has caused the printing and box for a living they were the tallest binding of thousands of tons of paper for that branch of the Post Office De- fellow-workers why this or that should partment, also the Census volumes are being rapidly bound, and sent out as fast as that office can receive them.

Franklin Phirman, who is studying law, wanted to get permission to go down on the elevator so he could get out early and attend a lecture that is given at 430 p. m. He visited the Chief Clerk's office and asked for a pass to go out of the building. He was looked over and informed to go way back, stand up and think over what he wanted. Franklin returned to the Roof Garden in deep meditation after talking it over with a number of the boys returned and explained what he wanted. His wish was granted and the band on the Roof Garden is now playing "Show Me the Way to Go Home.'

It would be well for the gentleman when taking his observations and having one of those sociables by himself to have THE TRADES UNIONIST employ Bill Ball to make a cartoon of him at the free lunch counter, before he criticises a good fellow like Johnson. As for me you can say what you like. Bates and Koons are buying all the I admit you selected a good signature when you sign yourself Kicker. You can not tell a good story or sing a song Report has it that one of our hand- and you make the boys weary, so do some compositors will become a bene- not feel sore when you are not admitted to the society of good fellows, but con-This branch made up quite a neat fine yourself to the printing craft, and Yours truly, keep off the grass.

